Four die in accidents

Four local people died recently in four separate accidents said R.C.M.P. Killam Detachment.

William Wood, 39, of Fort McLeod was killed when hit by a truck on the main street in Sedgewick at 1:00 a.m., October 2. A 19 year old man was driving the vehicle. Police are still investigating.

Dehart Thomas Isert, 52, of Westlock was killed when the gravel truck he was driving hit another gravel truck head on, nine and one half miles south of Killam at 1:45 p.m., October 3. Driving the other truck was Sven Anderson of Sedgewick. Mr. Anderson is in serious condition in University Hospital in Edmonton. The men were working on construction of Highway 58.

Alain Bourget, 26, of Viking was killed when the caterpillar he was driving while at work rolled on a steep hill six miles east and four miles north of Killam. Leonard Vio, 50, of Strome was killed in a farm accident when he was caught in the pick-up. Police suspect that Mr. Vio reached in to unplug the machine.

Keith Sorvansen was injured October 6 when he fell against a spoke in a trench at Alliance. The handle entered his body.

Mr. Sorvansen received medical attention at the scene and was rushed to Camrose Hospital by ambulance. He is now in the hospital listed in good condition.

Sergeant Franke of the Killam R.C.M.P. Detachment said, "Many accidents are caused by an error in judgement." He also feels that because of the current good weather, farm workers are in a hurry to get their crops off and may be sacrificing their own safety in the process.

A two vehicle accident across from The Community Press in Sedgewick occurred the noon hour. The vehicles sustained minor damage and the occupants received no apparent injuries.

Sedgewick History Book needs material

The Sedgewick History Book Committee met in the Senior Citizens' Centre September 28. All members were present.

Material is coming in slowly and hopefully after harvest there will be much more. A master list is being prepared by Dave Black, Art Falls and Helen Whitten so that as the stories come in the names will be checked off. A card system is also being set up so that all stories, pictures, etc. will be recorded and readily accessible.

The Battle River Tourist Association offers a grant covering one third of expenses or $1000 which will be applied for. A form is being prepared to be sent throughout the community. The P.O. Box is 450 and information may be addressed there or given to any member of the committee.

Give your Fire Department a chance EARLY. A tiny blaze, uncontrolled, can become a conflagration. It's the first few minutes that count.

Alberta Agriculture

Three months ago, I would never have guessed I would be writing a column like this.

In May we were being warned that Alberta was entering one of the worst droughts of the century, that 1980 crops might even be worse than those of the toughest years of the 1930's.

How quickly things change. As I write this column, the growing season is nearly completed. And Alberta, in the year of its 75th anniversary, has undoubtedly been the place to be if you're a grain producer. Adequate moisture, in some areas, may be sufficient to make up for the lack of rain in other areas.

Although subsequent rains have helped the original May prediction, overall, I do think that we have been fortunate. Across North America this year's weather patterns have tended to be rather odd: exceptionally long and extremely hot spells of dry weather in the southern area of the United States, a northern drought that remained rather steady at the Saskatchewan-Alberta border, a dry spring that took hold very early even in our Peace River District — a lot of factors have added up to a year when many Alberta farmers will not up doing well.

Province-wide the outlook is for yields which will probably exceed last year's in all major grains, eye being an exception. The one area we have had significant trouble in this year's hay crop. Average yields have been lower across the province, with the most disappointing reports coming from the northeast where yields are down by as much as 50% compared to 1979.

With as little as three inches of rain since spring in some localities, poor hay crops could pose major winter feed problems for some producers. We have started to monitor this situation quite closely, but it will be several weeks before we obtain a definite picture and determine what government action might be required.

Further west, the hay and pasture situation improves, with the best hay crops showing up west of Highway #2 in an area that stretches from Edmonton to the north in High River to the south.

As well, irrigated crops have produced excellent first and second cuts of hay. Indeed, all irrigated crops have performed well, with most irrigation farmers enjoying a bumper crop. Water wheat yields will probably not meet the long term average. Our dry fall and spring led to some thin stands across the country by 250,000 to more than 5.65 million acres. Much of this increased acreage was won in the Peace River and northern regions where the uncharacteristically dry, early spring allowed some farmers to switch crops as they saw market possibilities unfold.

Of course, a great deal of this switch took acres out of expected canola plantings which, in turn, has supported those who predict a shortage of canola for this year's market. Our other significant crop, barley, falling second to total wheat plantings for the second consecutive year, may break provincial yield records if the harvest goes well.

Considering the increased initial payments announced by the Canadian Wheat Board and the potential for increased prices for export grains even beyond today's high levels, Alberta producers should, I think, be able to expect good returns regardless of the crop they finally decided to plant.

Needless to say, we do have some exceptions. Water wheat yields will probably not meet the long term average. Our dry fall and spring led to some thin stands across the 250,000 planned acres. Some grains will probably end up being cut as green feed to replace our short hay crop. Approximately 25% of the 1.8 million planned acres in oats is expected to disappear in this year.

Hail losses appear to have been light. The major damage reported so far is in the Lacombe-Red Deer region where a major storm in the first week of August led to a 100% loss in some areas.

Indeed, Alberta Agriculture's experimental station in Lacombe was one of the hardest hit. We've since undertaken intensive emergency procedures to save as much research material as we possibly can. Altogether, I'm still crossing my fingers since several weeks remain in the prime part of this season.

Despite a rather gloomy start, 1980 is turning out to be a pleasantly interesting year for Alberta grain producers. From the rage of impending drought to the riches of timely rains, this year, I hope, will prove to be one more that will remember as the Anniversary year when good wishes indeed turned out well.

Rombough - Matthews wed

Saturday, June 21, 1980, was the day a beautiful wedding was solemnized uniting Wendy Lee Matthews, daughter of Ray and Sharon Matthews, and William Eugene Rombough, son of Herb and Jean Rombough, in holy matrimony.

The ceremony was performed at St. Paul's United Church, Hardisty, Alberta, by Rev. N.R. Jackson. The bride came down the aisle to the refrain of Here Comes the Bride, on the arm of her father, Ray Matthews. She was given away by her mother Sharon, and her father Raymond.

Wendy's wedding dress was tier on tier white lace with lace and tulle flowing train. She was matching picture hat and carried a bouquet of red roses. William (Bill) was handsomely attired in a baby blue colored tux with jacket trimmed in wedgewood blue and wedgewood blue colored trousers. The bridesmaids were Vicki DeLange, Betty Korol and Kari Matthews (sister of the bride). All were dressed in white lace and tulle and carried bouquets of pink roses and daisies. The groom's attendants were Lee Whidden, Dwight Granger, and Perry Armstrong (cousin of the Grandmother Christine Armstrong wore the royal blue jacket with a white tulle floral design. Her courage was red carnations.

Grandmother Landale was elegantly dressed in tulle and white chiffon shawl, and wore a corsage of red tinted carnations.

It was indeed an honor for Wendy and Bill to have four sets of grandparents at their wedding.

The reception was held at 5:00 p.m. at the Elks Hall. The hall was artfully decorated in white and baby blue colored streamers. The head table was graced with the wedding cake, decorated in pink roses by Brenda LeLanc. Keith Armstrong (uncle of the bride) was Master of Ceremonies.

Rev. N.R. Jackson said grace before the delicious banquet which was catered to by the ladies of the Royal Purple.

Keith Armstrong gave the toast to the bride. Lee Whidden ably toasted the bridesmaids.

Darwin Golla (nephew of the groom) was attired in a three piece baby blue suit, and carried the ring for the nuptials on a satin lace trimmed cushion. Ushers for the occasion were Darrell Matthews (brother of the bride) and Michael Golla (nephew of the groom).

The mother of the bride, Sharon Matthews, looked lovely in a dusty rose crepe, topped with an overcoat of dusty rose lace. Her courage was a rose tinted orchid.

Mrs. Jean Rombough (mother of the groom) looked charming in an apricot colored veil, adorned with seed pearls.

Lougheed News

October bustle

Mary Fersyburgh

October has arrived with nice weather. Hoping it will stay nice for a good while yet, as there is still a lot of harvesting to be done. The women folk are very busy too taking out manure, running to town with grain samples, repairs as well as keeping food in the bins. With all this rushing around let's be careful and avoid accidents.

Don't forget the Lougheed Women's Institute too which will be on Tuesday, October 14.

Mrs. Patricia Krootach is a patient in the Royal Alex Hospital these days where she is undergoing many and varied tests. She has waited for this call since last February, so didn't dare to refuse to go, even if the men folk are in the midst of harvest.

Mrs. Berta Birchall accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Jack Westra of Edmonton last Monday to Penitence, B.C. to visit Jack's sister Ann and friends for a few days.

Robert Burdese of Edmonton spent last week-end with his grandma, Mrs. Margaret Dunham.

Deve and Ida Black of Sedgewick spent last Friday at the Robert Drager farm, also Eadie Drager was out there. They all did some part in a helping hand for the busy harvesting season.

Perry Armstrong (nephew of the bride) was attired in a three piece baby blue suit, and carried the ring for the nuptials on a satin lace trimmed cushion. Ushers for the occasion were Darrell Matthews (brother of the bride) and Michael Golla (nephew of the groom).

The mother of the bride, Sharon Matthews, looked lovely in a dusty rose crepe, topped with an overcoat of dusty rose lace. Her courage was a rose tinted orchid.

Mrs. Jean Rombough (mother of the groom) looked charming in an apricot colored veil, adorned with seed pearls.

The happy couple are residing in Hardisty.

Black of the Auxiliary Hospital, Kilham, and Ida are having birthdays within the week. So happy birthdays to you all.

Mr. and Mrs. Marilyn Kauts and two little girls and Mrs. Agnes Cockburn of Wataskiwa spent the week-end at the Mary Albrecht home. Marilyn and Edwin were lucky enough to get their full quota of ducks.

Nice to hear that Gail Marlow is recovering fairly well from her accident. Gail will be moving to the Kilham Hospital very shortly. Keep on improving, Gail.

The Walter Markwara are back on the farm after holidaying at Provost, Calmar, and the Dakotas for a total of five weeks.

Mrs. Roberta Riddoch and Wilbur Smith are home again after spending a couple weeks visiting with relatives in Illinois. U.S.A. Roberta reported having a good time and also nice weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Grive were away for while visiting in B.C. and Alberta. Nice to see you all back safely. Welcome home to everyone.

Social Club hold meeting

I. Nelson

The September meeting of the Hardisty Social Club was held in the Drop-In Centre on Tuesday evening with 9 members present.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich in the chair. Following the reading and approval of the minutes and financial report, reports were received on the past month's activities.

Monthly bingo and bi-monthly card parties had been well attended. The campground clean up has been kept up, and payment was made for the first three months. Some discussion was held in the short hours available for seniors offered by some travel agencies.

It was decided to invite neighboring seniors clubs to a social afternoon in late October.

The next meeting will be on October 28, when it is hoped to have a better turnout.

Pat and Alan Morrison of Calgary and Barbara Fuller of Three Hills spent Wednesday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Matthews. The Morrisons are leaving next week for Greece, where they plan a hiking holiday in that country and neighboring islands.

It was nice to see Debbie (Carlson) Smith in town again. Debbie lives at Fort St. John and came to Hardisty with her daughter Sandra to visit her relatives and friends.

Seen having dinner at Seto's were Mr. and Mrs. Vic Lidberg. Vic says that it has been three years since their retirement in Olds and they are enjoying themselves. They had been on a fishing trip and stopped in Hardisty.

Get well wishes to Harry Chew who went to an Edmonton hospital by ambulance from Hardisty.

Belva Landay and Isabel Nelson attended the shower in Car for Isabel's niece, Wanda Todd.

A skit represented Wanda's parents waiting for Wanda to come home from playing hockey and she was to be home by six o'clock, and at seven o'clock she came home reminding her parents that daylight time was over and it was six o'clock. It was very original and enjoyed by all.

Marion Melin gave a reading and a trio of girls sang, which made a nice program.

Car does it a bit differently as the groom to be also presides at the table with his bride to be, his mother, future mother-in-law, and the bride's sister-in-law.

Just had a letter from Mr. Alderice, where Fred has the post office and for a small place they surely have a large clientele. Fred delivers mail three times a week and has 250 rural route families as well as 175 general delivery, so imagine how the rural Christmas providing of course that there is no mail strike by then.

Sunday was such a beautiful day that Belva Landay picked up Isabel Nelson and we called on a mutual friend at Car, Jane Edinger.

Another friend was not home, so we called on Isabel's sister-in-law, Ida Todd, who had just taken some beautiful home-made buns out of the oven.

It was nice to see where Student rights

A person in Alberta who has acquired a drivers licence and is driving a vehicle registered and insured has the right to drive it on any provincial or municipal street unless otherwise informed by the respective government.

Every clear thinking person would agree with the above statement, so therefore it is a tough procedure for the Flagstaff School Board to stop students from driving around during the noon hour.

The Board has been attempting to crack down on the problem for a number of years. Students often take a vehicle to school instead of taking the school buses supplied for their transportation. Some of these students need their vehicle to get home after school because they have jobs or other responsibilities and by the time they're done, the buses have left.

Often students are taking a vehicle when they could easily take the bus. Some are also picking up fellow students whose parents think are taking the bus, and drive them to school.

Some students who have access to a vehicle and take it to school, drive around at lunch time. Many citizens have complained about the congestion this causes and the noise it often makes.

The Board and the schools are presently trying to make the parents aware of the problem their children's driving is causing. But it seems that whatever the schools do to put an end to it, fails.

Central High School has previously taken away keys and instructed the students not to pick up passengers for rides at noon. The school feels that the students' safety is its responsibility while they are away from home to learn.

However, neither the schools or the board can force the students not to drive around unnecessarily. Students have human rights and those who have drivers licences know and most often accept the responsibilities of driving a vehicle. It is the local police officers' duty to catch them if they are not abiding by the law, as they would do with any other person behind the wheel of an automobile.

The only way the school can put an end to the students' driving at noon is to provide activities for them at the school that are of greater interest to them than driving. Other than that, students will continue to drive where ever they wish as they have done in the past.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

To say that I was distressed after reading your editorial of October 1, 1980, is to understate my feelings.

Not only has the editorial seriously misrepresented reality, it possesses the potential to turn-off a large number of community-minded citizens.

During my association with the Flagstaff Board of Education and its 130 teaching employees, some 25% years, I came to a number of conclusions: but never one so far off the mark as yours.

Last a number of your readers be tempted to accept your assertions, permit me to advance a number of observations: all of which are readily verifiable.

First, the Board of Education has worked assiduously to ensure that the residents of Flagstaff have direct, unfettered access to the Board. Public meetings, limited use of the "in camera" procedure, open board meetings, planning of delegations, whether one individual or several, on the agenda, annual interviews, etc., all have been used to ensure that the Board policies with respect to community use of schools, school-community libraries, authorization for teaching and non-teaching employees to serve on volunteer fire and ambulance services during the day, work experience programs, etc., etc.

(It is equally noteworthy, I believe, to point out that in 5 1/2 years I never saw a representative of your paper or at a Board meeting.) Your allegations concerning the "classical" tendency of teachers would be amusing if they were not so potentially disruptive. Teachers, as individual human beings, have a right to select their social circle, as you do. However, the circle is no broader than your knowledge.

Who are these "teachers"? They are husbands and wives of local farmers and businessmen. They are members of local towns and village councils. They are active participants in the Lions, Kiwanis, volunteer fire departments, agricultural societies, and community societies. They are, along with many other community-minded adults, coach children in team sports, chore dance, take children to cultural activities in other centres, camp with children, etc.

While it is true that the community and extensiveness of teacher involvement in community affairs varies from long and so forthrightly. He may succeed in that, but it is doubtful if he feels obliged to lay any more golden eggs for a people who have taken him for granted for so long as an unappreciated man.

WELL, THE OBVIOUS place to start is with what we believe us all over the place, the labour situation. Let's start by saying that there was a healthy parity in some areas, and when that was reached and surpassed it failed to bring calm to the troubled scene.

More was demanded, and more, and more of tearing down moats and dissolving clans. Rath-er, it is one of ensuring that those who contribute to the media are better able to reflect the vibrant interest in which we make the community pulse.

Yours truly,
A.A. Cleveland

"WHAT FOOLS WE MORTALS BE!" The mythical goose which has been laying the golden eggs, even though suffering from the pains of hemorrhoids due to over-production, is going to need a massive application of Preparation H to cure the ailment, or retire from the production line. Since the essential part in this case cannot be replaced and the mechanism is rapidly deteriorating, we are shortly going to discover a major shortage in the supply of golden eggs; and when that happens it hurts where we are going to have to be content with the eggs of the ordinary variety. It means of course that we are going to have to live with the change our diet. This is an inevitable consequence for a large number of people who are used to riding the crest and still wants to rise above it.

close down the entire works. If that is not enough, then think for a moment of unions that do not have a present grievance (give them time) refusing to cross picket lines, to aggravate the situation. A move of solidarity, they say, Brothers must stick together, damn the economy. No matter that it is an illegal act, just as a wildcat strike without having gone through the due and required process of law. And then threaten further discipline if any punishment is inflicted, it's just simply like saying we can break the law with impunity and we do dare retaliate. We can hold up the country to ransom, and we will if our demands are not met. We can cause higher prices and we disrupt the delivery of essentials, all in the name of human rights. That's why I find it difficult to distinguish between human rights and the reckless abuse of human privileges. Nobody has the right to inflict the rights of another. That's why any government has the right to properly define, let alone imbue a Charter of Human Rights in any workable fashion, so long as people refuse to be properly guided by it. We continue to cut off our noses to spite our faces. We just never learn. We all suffer when we see the way we even those who impose their demands on others. We never really make it all up. The horns of plenty has been pouring forth its riches with reckless abandon and we never pause to contemplate the possibility of the thing running out of supplies. But it's happening and we better wake up to the fact before it's too late.

IF ANY WONDER then that the great Canadian Goose has run out of its golden egg and feels like a lame duck? If your faith in God is strong for every humble task in which you need and get His aid, then that humbleness of your faith in God. It will make the music of your life more firm and solid.

The golden CANADIAN GOOSE has been laying high in the air, a sign of affluence, where, after time has been a necessity to breathe harder and often in order to function at a satisfactory pace. Nobody has offered the rare bird an oxygen mask to ease the situation, so he was forced to descend to a lower level where the air is thicker and strain on the lungs less painful. And that is where he is today, valiantly trying to breathe some sense into the society he has served so long and so faithfully. He may succeed in that, but it is doubtful if he feels obliged to lay any more golden eggs for a people who have taken him for granted for so long as an unappreciated man.

He feels more like a lame duck. Oh! You want to know why he feels that way? WELL, THE OBVIOUS place to start is with what we believe us all over the place, the labour situation. Let's start by saying that there was a healthy parity in some areas, and when that was reached and surpassed it failed to bring calm to the troubled scene.

More was demanded, and more, and more of tearing down moats and dissolving clans. Rath-er, it is one of ensuring that those who contribute to the media are better able to reflect the vibrant interest in which we make the community pulse.

Yours truly,
A.A. Cleveland

What Others Say

Startling abortion statistics

The fact the 2,314 girls 17 and under became pregnant in Alberta during 1978 will come as a shock to most people. Half ended in abortion and 98.9 per cent of those girls were unmarried.

This startling information was contained in special report from the Alberta Medical Association to the provincial government. One out of three 15-year-old girls will be pregnant at least once by the time they're 19, and half the pregnancies will be an abortion.

Representatives of the AMA have recommended the government reduce the age of consent for medical treatment from 18 to 16 permit doctors to give contraceptive advice and devices to teenagers without parental consent. They also advise that support programs be designed by hospitals to reduce repeated abortions. There were 178 repeat therapeutic abortions at Foothills Hospital in Calgary alone - and 40 per cent were performed on teens.

Without getting involved in the sensitive and age-old controversy of whether or not to approve abortions, we agree with the medical doctors' recommendations. It appears young people have a shocking lack of knowledge about their bodies and methods of contraception. Rather than writing our hands, positive steps should be taken.

Trann's return from holiday

Emery, Luffell, and Emery's mom, Olive Trann, have all returned safely from their Eastern Canada trip. Their flight down to the had them wondering if they might perhaps spend their holiday in Gladys above the plane. There was some uncertainty on the traffic controllers (these are difficult to follow you want to find rest and well in Toronto and rather than a four hour flight, it turned into 20 hours. They attempted to land in Ottawa to refuel and the turbulent weather made the landing impossible. (I wonder if the turbulence was on the way. Trann's made his awe-inspiring announcement to the commission! The passengers ended up spending the night in Montreal and were returned to the original destination the next day. Also aboard the Trann's flight were Robert and Janet Berth. They were attending a convention (pharmaceutical) in Montreal. I wonder if the Trann's and Berth's now realize how much easier it would be to drive to the Alliance and Killam to have a nice visit rather than a 20 hour plane ride! Joyce Bateman will be tomorrow, Friday 10, for Lethbridge where she will pick up her sister Lena, and from there the two of them will motor to Nelson, B.C. to see their Mom for the holiday weekend.

If the air flight rights and controllers believe themselves according to schedule, Almada Lyne and Marisa Paikhan will fly to Ottawa for this weekend to visit with Mrs. Lyne's son David and his family.
I'm happy to report that Arne Reister was seen in town on Wednesday. Arne recently suffered a harvesting injury, causing damage to several fingers. He seems to be doing well and everyone was relieved that the injuries did not extend to the entire hand or arm.
Some of the farmers in the area have completed their harvest with others up to a week or ten days left. Hopefully, the wind that is raging today will settle down before bringing moisture or snow to us.

Sedgewick Central High School First report cards

The time for first report cards is already upon us. Students will receive theirs during the first set of marks on Monday, October 20 and Tuesday, October 21. Our school has adopted a progress report system which provides parents and students with a separate sheet for each course in which the student is enrolled. The sheet includes the student's mark, class attendance and a space for special comments. This reporting procedure takes a great deal more teacher time than our previous report cards but we are able to provide more information. Since there are also parent-teacher interviews next week, the teachers might not be as elaborate in their comments as they would otherwise be. There is a concern that some report cards don't reach home. We provide each student with a progress report which is a way of reporting to parents. If the report card doesn't arrive at home, ask your child about his marks.

From Friday night until Sunday morning sixteen students participated in a Students Union sponsored Wake-a-thon to raise money for the Terry Fox Cancer Fund. When the collections are completed, they will have raised in excess of three hundred dollars. If the weather holds out, the Students are planning a Work-a-thon.

Mini-bulk goes metric-but the savings are still as great!

Now in 900 kg size

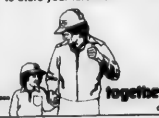

You want to take advantage of POOL's fertilizer savings, but you don't have bulk storage facilities. Your problem's solved with POOL's mini-bulk fertilizer! 900 kg mini-bulk bags are easy to store in your quadrant or machine shed and can even be stored outside under a specially supplied cover — there's no fear of contamination. Mini-bulk can save you time, too! You only have one bag to handle and it's easy to move with a front end loader.

POOL's mini-bulk bags — an easy way to save, an easy way to store your fertilizer.

Mini-bulk fertilizer is available in a wide range of formulations. The rising cost of energy is regularly pushing up the price of fertilizer. So talk to your POOL Manager soon about how you can save on next year's total fertilizer requirements by purchasing now before prices rise again.

Growing better... together

Agriplex Rocktober activities planned

CHIEF Tom Hines
Friday, October 17, Bruce Borel will be hosting a Rocktober dance at the Killam Agriplex. Admission is $9 per person. The dance will be held from 9 o'clock to midnight.

Swap Shop
Goodbye "fall" and hello "winter". To get ready, the Agriplex is sponsoring a swap shop, October 22 from noon to 4 o'clock. This is your chance to trade or sell used equipment, winter clothing, or any other articles that your children have grown out of. Everyone is welcome to attend, but we sell your own articles in conjunction with the swap shop, the Agriplex is introducing the family participation contest. To enter yourself, we will have games available (chess, backgammon, cribbage) plus there is always billiards, bowling and swimming. The Agriplex has entertainment for the entire family. Rocktober

October's excitement is generated by the enthusiastic rollerskaters. For the month of October this madness will exist at the Agriplex. Due to the Town Dance Friday, October 17, there will be no rollerskating that night. Other nights of operation remain the same. To top off the month, there will be the second annual Prize Night on Friday, October 31 (Hallowe'en). Last year some 70 teens dressed up in crazy costumes and attended our Roller Disco. Prizes once again will be offered for the best costumes. Apple bobbing and pie throwing will be fun to watch in the new swimming pool.

The pool will be closed December and January for maintenance. This means there is only a month and a half left to swim.

Good Deed Club

The September meeting of the club was held at the home of Adley McClements on Monday, September 12. President Connie Rietter was in the chair, and welcomed members and three visitors in the person of Adley's daughter, who was in law, Ariana McClements, Olive Lien, and Anne Hagg. Minutes and treasurer report were read and adopted. Treasurer reported a bank balance of $1100.

A thank you letter from Mrs. Swanson for flowers sent to the hospital was read.

Under old business, Connie showed members gifts for kids, Karen and Sharon Oresky, Jo Anne McClements and Diane Miel Wilms who had left the district. These girls had given the club much help in past years with making posters, helping in entertainment and in various projects. We felt they deserved recognition.

A report was read on the Bake Booth that the club had charge of during Heritage Days in Hardisty, and cheque were given to members for prizes won for their baking. Treasurer reported the amount taken in by the club on baking sold by tender amounted to $20.35.

Adley gave the club a cheque for $40 for catering to Calvin and Ariane's open house in late July. Kay handed in four sets of finished pillow cases, and more tea towels and pillow cases were given to members to be worked in time for our bazaar. Our fall bazaar was discussed. Kay volunteered to make posters for it. It will be held October 25 at the Lougheed Hall, at which time our Maple Leaf Guild will be raffled.

Brita was our birthday girl, and Katie donated a birthday money for her August birthday. Hostess draw was won by Margaret Timbim, a box of nice writing paper.

Next meeting will be held at VI Met's on October 16, harvest permitting. Gerry adjourned the meeting, after which a delicious lunch and birthday cake was enjoyed by all.

Helpful Hints on Insurance

Many of the geese have gone south for the winter: are you planning on joining them?

If so, before you migrate, see your insurance agent or us about "Excess Medical Insurance," as a short visit to a U.S. hospital or doctor can be very expensive.

Managing our Energy Resources

So we can live with nature.

Environmental protection and power at the flick of a switch — two major responsibilities of your electric utility. More than 10 percent of Calgary Power's capital investments have been directed toward environmental controls. For example, to protect the air, electrostatic precipitators (ultra-sophisticated air purifiers) have been installed on all our thermal generating plants to remove 99.5% of the coal flyash from exhaust gas. Our concern for the environment is not only up in the air — it's a down-to-earth commitment we take seriously!

D.K. Seney of Saskatoon said that 22 freight cars and three engines were derailed. He said that "19 cars will be destroyed" but the three engines would likely be repaired. The engines were scorched inside.

The crash occurred about 150 meters from propane tanker cars on a railway siding, causing concern of further explosions.

Train engineer Mike Kasperik of Wilkie was shaken up but said he was not injured.

Nearby residents by the name of Anna and Roy Fontaine were away from home at the time and thought it was their house burning when they returned shortly after the crash. Mr. Fontaine said that "it looked like a toy train crashed up."

R.C.M.P. shortage

At the recent Cabinet Tours, two briefs were presented stating the public's desire to have more policing in the County of Flagstaff. It seems though, that it is easier said than done.

Ross Lamoria of Dayland complained about young people in Dayland "devastating" the town by driving wildly. The Village of Forestburg said that in the 12 years the village has had an R.C.M.P. detachment there has not been an increase in manpower.

Both briefs were well researched with complaints supported by facts. The main solution suggested was that there should be an increase in R.C.M.P. constables.

Many people in the county and for that matter in Alberta agree with an increase in police officers. In fact, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police themselves agree.

But, why then is the force not significantly enlarged? Well, first the head of a detachment must apply with the R.C.M.P. K Division in Edmonton. From there, all applications are sent to Ottawa where the federal government decides how many men can be sent to Alberta. The K Division then assesses the specific needs of each detachment and assigns constables.

Sergeant Franke of the Killam Detachment said that he could "use an extra man". He said, "policing involves not only apprehending the criminal, but preventing the crime." Right now, he said, the detachment doesn't have the manpower for prevention.

His application is for an increase in staff for 1992. It presently takes that long for a police force to be enlarged. The Killam Detachment currently with one sergeant, four constables and a stenographer has applied before, but was not accepted. The detachment covers an area of 2,000 square miles.

Forestburg's R.C.M.P. Detachment has only two constables. Its area is half the County of Flagstaff and 4,600 people.

A sergeant on the K Division in Edmonton agrees that there should be more R.C.M.P. in Alberta. He feels, however, that there may be a lot more places in the province in need of police. He said, "Fort McMurray has a population of 36,000 and has only four officers per shift.

True, but hardly comforting. The R.C.M.P. are civil servants, and when the public is not happy, something must be done and fast.

"We Know It Please"

Yes, I did. Sure I did. One upon a time I ran away from home. I decided I could steer my own boat, miss all the same here, with a rapid and all the rest of the treacherous things that beset mankind (the world). I was going to (like Tom Sawyer) board my raft and sail down the serene blue waters to carve out my own destiny unhindered by the unrelenting and unwanted demands of others who were trying to arrange my destiny. Yet before I could launch my raft the pains of hunger took hold and I lacked the wherewithal to relieve it. The result was that I got back home well in time for supper. Others have been shaping my destiny ever since, and have most likely done a better job of it than I would have done by myself. So much for philosophizing with the love of freedom, and independence. Sometimes it takes hunger or loneliness or regret to bring one back to his senses and a proper perspective on life.

THERE ARE DRINKING PARENTS (Alcoholics) who have learned more time plugging a bottle than maintaining a home or any kind of amicable surrounding. No wonder the child gets frustrated and pulls out. No meals prepared, the mother passed-out on the chesterfield, the father coming home and beating the mother and then getting drunk himself. But that's not all.

THE REAL SHOCKER comes when you learn the true extent of sexual assaults on teenage girls (and boys) by their own PARENTS. That's the shocker of shockers. A father who sexually abuses his own daughter, thereby committing a crime because he is the father of his daughter, is a reprehensible reptile who spreads a poison worse than his father, and is only fit to be stomped upon as one would any poisonous snake. Some girls keep silent in fear, some simply "pull out" in agonizing shame. But what happens to them? Some get jobs, others don't and become wards in a welfare home. But most, most sadly, for want of sustenance take up prostitution, knowing by now that they are the daughters of parents, something that is fast becoming unacceptable in a world where everyone wants to fly free with the wind. Many teenagers refuse today to accept restrictions on their activities and any imposed curfew, yet

Killam U.C.W. plans a rummage sale

Flagstaff Drama Club

Kicks off new year

A new year has dawned for the Drama Club and already we are hard at work rehearsing for two plays, a Christmas theme, for December 20.

The club meets regularly, Monday at 7 o'clock in the Sedgewick Public School. This year's cast consisted of the old faces and a number of new ones. Any one is interested in joining the club please contact Ken Affolter or Lax Newbury in Sedgewick. With all of us are not suited to actual stage work, the production of drama requires much more than just acting.

A normal production requires stage hands, make-up people, costume designers, prompters and a variety of other people. Call us if you are interested.

This year the club has decided to broaden its horizons by sponsoring at least 3 cultural activities in the area, plus beginning a film club in November as well as presenting the classic, Matron on the Bounty (Marilyn Brande).

In terms of actual drama, our two plays for Christmas are as follows:

1. Scrooge (modern adaptation) directed by Rev. R. Courad.

2. The Bishop's Candle (directed by Ken Affolter).

If you are at all interested in helping the club or wish to find out what we are doing, please feel free to contact us. Lax Newbury

Loughed W.I.

Post summer meeting

The first meeting of the Loughed W.I. after summer recess was held in the club room of the Welcome Centre on October 14. Twelve members and Mrs. Niskaum and her two little daughters were welcomed to the meeting by the President, Mrs. J. Johnson.

After repeating the Creed in unison, the minutes of the June meeting were read and adopted, and financial and committee reports given. The secretary report given by Mrs. G. Marlow showed a good bank balance remains after paying for the upkeep report during the summer, and the president of the new member.

A letter of appreciation was read from a Hardisty visitor commending the appearance of the comestery, with a donation extended to the library. The Secretary was instructed to write a letter of thanks to the Town Council for lending the S.T.E.P. students to assist in moving crates at the comestery. The assistance of others was greatly appreciated, with special thanks to the assistance of Brian Toes, and Mr. J. Brown.

Mrs. M. Fernyough, card convener, reported three cards having been sent.

In correspondence, several "thank you" notes were received, and a letter of appreciation for the successful canvass held in the spring from the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Mrs. H. Shoberg also displayed a special citation certificate from the Loughed W.I. from the Red Cross Society.

Mrs. D. Costes had presented the W.I. Scholarship Award to the Junior High winner, and was thanked for doing so by the President. It was reported that a donation had been received from the Good Deed Club for the Library funds. Considerable discussion regarding library matters took place, and with regard to the kindergarten children coming earlier on Fridays, it was decided the same hour of 2 o'clock be kept. Commencing in November the library will be open on Thursday and Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:00 p.m.

Mrs. H. Shoberg announced that a display of quilts, covered by the Education and District Quilt Guild, made by any individuals or groups in the province of Alberta, is to be held in the Executive House, 10168 - 106 St. Judging of the quilts will take place prior to the display being open to the public on November 7 to 16 from 10 to 6 o'clock a.m. to 8 o'clock p.m. daily. Mrs. Shoberg has her "Quilt Show" quilt entered, and all jobs in wishing for the top award.

The President asked if the members would be willing to do a quilt if one was put together by her. It was agreed to do so after Christmas.

Mrs. V. Probst and Miss M. Fernyough are the nominating committee to present a state of officers for the coming year at the next meeting. Since November 13 falls on the second Tuesday this year, the next meeting will be on Wednesday, November 5 at the Welcome Centre.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. D. Costes gave a very interesting talk and showed pictures and souvenirs from the delightful trip to the Bahamas during the summer for a week. Sedgewick Ag Board meets

On Wednesday, October 18 the Agriculture Recreation Board met at the Sedgewick Recreation Centre to discuss this year's operation.

The financial statement was presented to the board and costs are low. The board discussed at some length how to keep user costs down but find that it is impossible with the rate of inflation. The winter staff was hired and the board is ready for the new season.

The artificial ice plant is now running and we are starting to make ice in the curling and skating rinks. The afternoon ladies bowling is to begin on October 27 for the new season, with the Mixed Bowling League reorganizational meeting being held on Tuesday, October 28 at the Rec Centre.

It is hoped to have the ice ready for use by November 3 and will again be ready for ice time to interested hockey teams. Also season skating tickets must be paid before skaters will be allowed on the ice.

With the onset of operation being up the board is looking for new ways of generating revenue to help defray some costs.

A general meeting will be held on Monday, October 27 at the Sedgewick Recreation Centre at 8:00 p.m. to discuss this year's operation.

The mayor and town councillors are invited and all potential users to this meeting with the hopes of gaining new ideas on how to improve the maximum usage of this facility at a minimum cost to all concerned.

TO ALBERTA CORPORATIONS REGARDING THE NEW ALBERTA CORPORATE INCOME TAX ACT

HAS YOUR COMPANY SENT BACK ITS INFORMATION RETURN?

In September, each corporation registered with Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs Commission Branch was mailed information on the new provincial corporate income tax system, including an "Alberta Corporate Income Tax Information Return" (form AT-7).

The completion and prompt return of this form is needed to facilitate the smooth transition of corporations in the new provincial system, which takes effect next January 1.

If your company's "Information Return" has not yet arrived, or if you need help in completing it, please contact Alberta Treasury as soon as possible at the address or telephone number below.

HOW TO LEARN MORE

The Corporate Tax Administration will be accessible to corporations in the province. To help achieve this, a pamphlet describing the programme was included in the September mail. Davis - Sand exchange vows

On August 22, 1980, a beautiful wedding took place at the Knox United Church in Killam. Janet Lee, daughter of Lloyd and Gladys Sand of Killam, exchanged vows with Darryl Leslie, son of Ray and Theresa Davis of Stettin.

The bride was radiant in a white floor length gown of lace over satin, with a trailing lace-edged veil, as she escorted the church on the arm of her father. She carried a bouquet of two dozen red silk roses with trailing buds, accented by sprays of baby's breath. Her gold heart-shaped necklace and earring set was a gift of the bride.

The maid of honor was her oldest sister, Marla Sand, and Colleen Fossen, friend of the bride and Karen Davis, sister of the groom, were her bridesmaids. All were charming in their long peach dresses with short jackets. They were white-brimmed with white lace faces and carried white lace fans with silk peach flowers. Jody Davis, sister of the groom, was a lovely flower girl in her peach dress and jacket, carrying daisies and baby's breath in a woven basket.

The handsome groom was dashing in a three-piece grey tuxedo, white ruffled shirt and grey bow tie. His boutonniere was a white carnation centered with a red rose. His attendants, Greg Graft and Bob Borge, were identical tuxedos.

Generous donation received by Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary

The highlight of the October meeting of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary was the presentation of a cheque for $300. Mrs. Nettie Johnson made the presentation on behalf of the ladies of the Guild of St. Mark's Anglican Church. This most generous donation was half of the proceeds from the Annual Kiltie and was gratefully accepted by Mrs. Erma Mathews, President of the Auxiliary.

A result of recent meetings with Mr. West, the volunteer program will once again be offered as a means for teenage girls in the community to gain an insight into working in a hospital, as well as offering further service to the community. The program has been extensively reviewed with the Director of Nursing taking more control of the program guidelines and the overseeing of them. There will be a limited student enrollment and medical services will be given to "credit earning" students; i.e., those involved in the work experience program at the High School level. Weekly students will be used in the work taken by the nursing staff and the graduation, sponsored by the Hospital Auxiliary, will be held in the late spring after a successful period of practical performance and a final evaluation. The program will commence with the usual period of instruction. Girls who are interested in taking part in the program should watch out for information regarding enrollment.

Some concern was expressed that girls from the M.D. of Provost could not take advantage of the work experience credits offered through this program. The Auxiliary will contact the Superintendent of Schools and the Principal of Hughes in support of such a program.

Once again the Bingo Time and this fall the date has been set for Monday, October 27, at the Elk's Hall. It will be a cash game with a jackpot of $100 as well as fourteen games with prizes of $15 each. Tickets are $2 each from any Auxiliary member.

Parent-Teacher interviews

Parent-Teacher interviews on October 30 was a great success with the largest turnout of parents in recent years. Several teachers spoke to thirty-five parents making for a very full day. We recognize that job commitments and other reasons make attendance at Parent-Teacher interviews impossible for some parents. We encourage you, therefore, to phone the school for more special concerns. It is important that the home and school work together in the education of our children.

The Department of Advanced Education and Manpower recently issued a news release outlining the formation of the proposed Alberta Heritage Scholarship Fund. The proposed scholarships include a section for high school achievement. The release stated in part:

"High School Achievement Awards" will provide increased recognition and reward to senior high school students who have demonstrated outstanding academic ability. Awards of up to $1500 each will be made to approximately 1500 first year post secondary students who have maintained averages of not less than 80 per cent in grade 10 (18000), 11 (18000) and/or grade 12 (18000). These awards have the potential of encouraging academic achievements by Albertans studying at and beyond the high school level."

This program is to be implemented in time for the Alberta produces 40 per cent of Canada's honey. Actual weightings have shown that it takes 20,000 trips to bring in a pound of nectar from the blossoms. During each trip about 180 blossoms are visited. One thousand bees must work their entire lifetime to make one pound of honey—each Canadian consumes 2 pounds of honey per year.

A MESSAGE TO THE CITIZENS OF ALBERTA:

Agriculture Week in October 27-31.

As more of our citizens gather to live in urban centres and other issues demand our attention, we tend to lose sight of AGRICULTURE — OUR RENEWABLE RESOURCE.

A firm agricultural base is the backbone of a prosperous society and will increasingly determine the well being of ourselves and our children.

It is our responsibility to maintain an awareness of agriculture — its importance, potentials, and constraints — in order to respond effectively to the issues which face agriculture today and in the future.

During Agriculture Week and throughout the year, please join with us by showing an interest in and support for AGRICULTURE — OUR RENEWABLE RESOURCE.

Yours sincerely,
Dallas W. Schmidt

Sedgewick Rec Board

General meeting

On Monday, October 27 the Sedgewick Recreation Board called a general meeting on the operation of the Sedgewick Recreation Centre.

The meeting was called to order with 40 interested users of the Recreation Centre attending. The financial statement was discussed very thoroughly with insight for those attending as to the cost of operation.

There was a very lengthy discussion on skating tickets for the 1980-81 season. The group was in general agreement with the proposed prices set by the Board but felt that a family ticket should also be implemented.

The following skating ticket prices will be charged for the 1980-81 season:

- under six - $10
- 6 to 12 years - $20
- 13 to 16 years - $30
- 17 and over - $40
- Recreation hockey - $49
- Family ticket - $80
- Single skating - $11

The family ticket is for father, mother and dependent.

Sedgewick History Book

Slow progress

At a recent meeting of the Sedgewick History Book Committee, it was noted that progress is very slow and that it will be necessary to have a great many more people involved in the project. Anyone who has been involved in any particular community activity such as sports, clubs, Guides, C.G.I., W.I. church, etc., in the past or at present is asked to write up the story of that group. We also need someone to write about the industrial and commercial growth of the town.

A seminar is being held at Sylvan Lake November 22 and two members of the committee will be attending.

Flags being mounted on Main Street

J. Nelson

Your reporter is enjoying the many flags mounted at the end of the main street. They are a good wind director or guide as well as being a beautiful attraction on Main Street.

While in the office shop we had a glimpse of Mrs. (Robert) Donnell. She has been away from home for two weeks, so was in a hurry to get back now to Shatin, Saskatchewan.

Tuesday afternoon the fire alarm rang and we found out that the fire was in the basement of the old timers' residence at the Beaton place. The fire was mostly confined to the basement area although the wiring and telephone lines were damaged.

In the account of Neil Nelson's and Blanche McElroy's wedding it was noted that one of the honored guests was Neil's 92 year old uncle, Olaf Nelson.

Congratulations to Andy Formanek on his move to Canmore. We wish him the very best in his new venture.

We were sorry to hear about Gerrie Terry's accident while on the way to Amisk. Gerrie landed in the Hardisty hospital with facial injuries and many bruises but is home now and we hope that she will soon be back to normal again, although she may have to walk for awhile.

It was nice to know that Mrs. Margaret McClements has been a resident of Beatty in Canmore for awhile. Last Friday she came back to Hardisty hospital for a check-up accompanied by her daughter Olive and daughter-in-law, Sadie McClements.

Celebrating Thanksgiving and Harmon Burpee's birthday together brought the family home for that weekend. Verone and family from Sherwood Park shared the weekend with Gus Johnson and visited with David and family of Spruce Grove, also Jack, Beth and family from Rosyth. They all enjoyed being together with their father for his birthday.

Emil Jensen has returned to Redwood after helping Cyril Drever with the harvest. They were fortunate to finish before the snow and rain came.

Linda Drever and children spent Thanksgiving at Drumheller with the Ed. Peaks family.

Johnnie Wells of Port Coumbe has been in town doing a little hunting and visiting his sister, Elsie Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Armstrong of Campbell River, B.C. made a quick trip to Hardisty, due to the rain and snow starting, they hurried back to the warmer climate of B.C.

We are surely sorry to hear that Gerrie (Gibson) Canmore has fallen down the basement stairs and broken both wrists. We all hope that you are well on the mend by now Gerrie. She is in the Royal Albert Hospital in Edmonton.

It was nice to know that the Jim Huddlestons were in town on Sunday. Andy and Dany visited with Joanne Nelson and boys.

Congratulations to the four new members of Hardisty Council. We wish them well in their three year tenure.

Perry and Doris Powell spent the weekend in Oyma helping their daughter Carol Hurley celebrate her birthday.

Margaret Cherran has returned from Winnipeg with her sister Julie and husband Harry Trin. Unfortunately, a very nasty flu bug caught up with the sisters and Julie was hospitalized.

We saw renovations being done to the house recently vacated by Janice Myerston, and known as the Kenny Drever home at one time. We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Stan Lemanski will be residing there after Stan's retirement.

We are happy to learn that most of the lost taken from the Bank of Montreal in Hughton has been recovered. Also some of those involved have been apprehended.

The C.P.R. trucks along here have had this last summer. The latest work was done at the Hughton crossing when an oil tanker and the train collided. Very fortunate that no one was hurt.

Mrs. Dale Goodwin and we saw Shawn called on Doris Powell one afternoon recently.

It was a nice surprise to attend the huge Wednesday night and meet up with Queens (Hobson) Deperson of Sundridge and her two daughters Irene and Mary. Irene went to school in Hardisty and is now Mrs. McPherson, residing on a farm in the Red Deer area. Irene has a family of three and likes the farm, Mary, unknown to me, has been living near Amisk for some time. She is Mrs. Broadner.

Laurel Goodrich from Gooder has been visiting with his folks. Everett and Mary Goodrich.

Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce

October meeting

There were 54 members and two guests at the regular meeting of the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce held in the Lutheran Hall on October 21.

At the September meeting the Chamber extended congratulations to the Senior Citizens on their very efficient handling of the Tourist Information Booth during the summer. A total of 1500 people called at the booth which was open 8 to 5 every day during July and August. This service is a very good advertisement for our town and the Seniors deserve our appreciation for a job well done.

Also at that meeting a good deal of concern was expressed regarding the condition of the secondary highway 8000 leading south from town. Letters were written to the Council and the County Secretary with copies to Mr. Kroeger and Mr. Lyons. A fact-finding committee has now been asked to try and get more response.

A letter to the postmaster was written regarding mail service and a satisfactory explanation was given.

The new Town Council has now been sworn in and their work will begin this week. A brochure regarding the water system will be sent out in the mail soon to all taxpayers. The deputy mayor for this year is Mr. Al Strobel.

The Chamber was asked to support the efforts of the History Book Committee and all agreed.

Instead of the regular meeting in November, the Chamber has invited the

R.C.M.P. pass up offer

The R.C.M.P. Killam and Forestburg Detachments have turned down a County of Flagstaff offer to purchase radar guns for police use, due to a change in police policy.

Council was planning to buy two radar guns for the R.C.M.P. detachments as well as one for the county policeman. Purchasing three would allow for a reduction in cost per gun.

However, the new R.C.M.P. policy now allows the police to obtain guns through the police traffic department. But, the traffic department has recently been assigned a new head officer and he has not yet been sworn in. See Flagstaff R.C.M.P.

Sergeant Martin from the Killam Detachment said that the unit is expecting the traffic department to be coming around to talk with them. He added that they will be discussing the possibility of getting more radar guns at that time. These guns will be distributed according to priorities.

Presently, any town or village under the population of 1,000 obtains R.C.M.P. protection through a provincial government contract.

Killam man heads B.R.T.A. Library

Len Dutton of Killam heads a project attempting to get a copy of every book published about the Battle River Tourist Zone Five, and has already obtained 182 volumes for this historical library.

Several years ago, the B.R.T.A. decided that it would attempt to get one copy of every book published about any part of the zone. Len Dutton has been chairman of this committee since it began.

All books have been donated to the library. However, the donor does get a credit in each book with his or her name and address. The books are catalogued and are available to interested people in the same manner as that in any other library.

Mr. Dutton reported that he has knowledge of several other volumes that have been printed which he would like to obtain, but either he is unable to locate a copy or is unable to locate a donor.

This year, as a 75th anniversary gift to the Battle River Tourist Association, the City of Camrose donated a display case in which the B.R.T.A. feels is large enough to house the complete library.

"We're getting down to the end of it now," said Mr. Dutton. "There are about seven or eight books left that I know of now." Mr. Dutton explains that many of these books come out in limited quantities and some have been out of print for a number of years, therefore he has to rely on donations.

He said, though, if it is going to be a good local historical library, all of the gaps in history must be filled in with these books.

Mr. Dutton also said that the library is spreading out a little. "I never release a book about Alberta or by an Alberta author."

Killam hosts Catholic School Board meeting

Sixteen representatives from five Catholic School jurisdictions met in the St. Joseph's Church Hall in Killam on October 30 as guests of the Killam Catholic School Board to discuss a variety of concerns with education in general, and to examine issues specifically related to Catholic education.

The five member boards from the East Central Alberta Catholic Schools Association - Vegreville C.S.B.D. #16, Wainwright C.S.B.D. #61, Killam C.S.B.D. #40, Provost C.S.B.D. #65, and Vermilion C.S.B.D. #97 - approved proposed actions on a number of items ranging from departmental exams to changes in school fire insurance coverage.

The meeting elected George Treisman, trustee from Vegreville, to succeed Van Novakowski as president for the Killam Catholic School Trustees' Association.

A new constitution for member boards of the East Central Alberta Catholic Schools Association was adopted at the meeting. In addition, the following business was conducted by the Trustees present.

Superintendent Dr. S. Digout was directed to recruit teachers of the availability of an expense paid trip to an international in-service workshop, subject to the conditions set out for reporting procedures on the Workshop.

Outgoing ACTA Director Van Novakowski reported on his activities with the Provincial Organization, and indicated that the pending study on small Catholic schools would most likely be funded by Alberta Education. Mr. Novakowski also reported on the formation of a Religious Education Council which is working with the Bishops of Alberta to try and improve the junior and senior high school religion programs.

Members approved follow up action with Alberta Education and the Alberta School Trustees' Association on concerns with respect to scholarships for high school students and departmental exams. It was felt that the awarding of scholarships based on achievement could only be carried out fairly if marks were based on departmental exams or some other such standardized test.

Members also expressed concern about the number (Continued on Page 9)

Re-establishing survey monuments

While private surveyors are working, they will be on the look-out for missing survey monuments and will replace them with new ones, upon request.

The new monuments, such like the old ones, are pegs and marks in the ground to establish legal boundaries. The County of Flagstaff is endorsing this project and feels that these monuments are essential. It would like the land owners to protect them.

In the late 1900's, Alberta, Saskatchewan and B.C. were surveyed and land was marked off by a stake in the ground with four holes around it. As settlers moved into Western Canada and filed for homesteaded, these survey monuments allowed them to locate their land.

However, over the years, farming and other development has changed the surface of the land. Thus, many of the old survey monuments are gone.

Presently, surveyors in conjunction with governments, both provincial and municipal, are attempting to re-establish these survey monuments.

It is illegal to intentionally destroy these monuments.

R.C.M.P. Report

Quiet Halloween

R.C.M.P. Killam Detachment report a quiet Halloween night. The Friday of Halloween being quieter than most Friday nights.

In Deynfield, R.C.M.P. said that 10 people have been charged with willful damage to teachers' residences.

The teachers had eggs and tomatoes thrown at their homes just prior to Halloween. Those charged were one adult male, six juvenile males and three juvenile females.

In Killam, a car was stolen from a person's home, October 31. The vehicle has not been recovered.

Anglican Church News

Zimbabwe missionary to visit

Theresa Martin
The Reverend Elijah Masheke of St. Columba's Church in Malawi, Zimbabwe, will speak at St. John's Anglican Parish Hall in Sedgewick on November 18. The evening will begin at 8 p.m., and the general public is extended an invitation to attend, and learn from what the Reverend Masheke has to tell us.

St. Columba's is the first of three churches in an established speaker of his particular area of Zimbabwe. It is located in what is primarily a school community, and much of the congregation consists of students and teachers.

Reverend Masheke has been an Anglican minister of several languages. He is highly sensitive to the rural heritage of Zimbabwe.

His message will be of interest to concerned people of all denominations. Letch will be the following senior citizens.

Final reminder: Sunday, November 9 is upon us—our 75th Anniversary of Holy Trinity, Holy Trinity in Highgate, marks her 60th anniversary, and is honoured as the oldest church in continuous operation in the city. Holy Trinity is scheduled for 10:30, with lunch to follow, to be held at the ladies service. The anniversary of the church, the Reverend's ecumenical service at Highgate's Community Hall will feature our ever-popular former rector, Reverend John Osborne, now of Camrose, as preacher. Slides will follow the afternoon service, and then we are all invited to join in a huge pot luck supper. Please bring along your favorite dish to add to the pot luck supper goodies.

Our congratulations to St. Edmund's who recently celebrated their 75th Anniversary Gold Medal. Mr. Gordon Ward of Sedgewick, Mrs. Barbara Matthews and Cyril and Marguerite Dore of Hardisty. Among those awarded 75th anniversary silver medals by the Province are Mrs. Thelma Trench, Mrs. Elsie Cookson, William and Dorothy Cookson, Gwen Weber, Hugh Potts, Bill Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Weber of Sedgewick, Mrs. Mary Routledge of Killam, Mr. and Mrs. E. Richardson, Mr. C.W. McGo, Mrs. Ella Gorton, Mr. E. Boicher of Loughed, Mrs. Muriel Kennedy of Lethbridge, and Mrs. Muriel Kennedy of Lethbridge.

Thelma Trench, Dorcas Cookson and Pat Trench took in the Diocese of Hope's annual Heritage of Hope service on Saturday. Dorcas Trench was forced to withdraw from the trip to draw from the service to assist in the church's pot luck supper with Margaret the night before.

Lest we kid ourselves?

It will soon be that infamous date again, that day we close to call it a day. It is not to be called Armistice Day. It is a day, the significance of which is so lost in history that most people don't care whether it comes or goes. And a lot of us even know why it does come and why it goes.

So do you? Well, it seems that if we know the history of this day, it is in this position. However, it is not proud of what it has only 25th. If the hall has only 25 or 30 people in it, it is not proud of what it has only 25th. If the hall has only 25 or 30 people in it, it is not proud of what it has only 25th. If the hall has only 25 or 30 people in it, it is not proud of what it has only 25th.

Farewell tea held

About 12 ladies from the C.W.I. met for a farewell tea for Mrs. Terry Veld on Saturday, October 18. It was a national day of mourning for the late Mrs. Veld, although not to mourn because of the loss of a loved one, but to mourn because of the loss of a friend.

The Senior Citizens had a most delicious pot-luck supper with 30 members in attendance. Permission was given to the Browns and Guides to use the hall for a bazaar and tea on Saturday, December 6.

Theresa Dore Nattrass, infant daughter of Tom and Loreta Nattrass was baptised during the morning service at St. Paul's United Church in Strome, November 2.

Alice and Susan Poeser spent the weekend in Edmonton with the Michael Lounsbury family.

Doug Wallman, grandson of Marge McDougall, brought his wife and new baby for a visit with Marge on the weekend.

Bill and Laura Giesel, Jim and Ann Peterson attended the 26th wedding anniversary of Wally and Angie Peterson in Calgary recently from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

Also Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Perle Godes from Alliance, Bill and Dionne Browne and girls from Stettler and Lloyd and Barb Stevenson and Amanda from Camrose.

The Strome pupils are an energetic group - in such a short time, they have been so active participation in gym activities, the gym mats in the gymnasium will be replaced.

Through a proposed fire night and white elephant auction planned for the evening of November 18 to be held in the school.

MLA Report

Eventful week in Legislature

This past week in the Legislature has been an eventful one for Albertans. On Monday, October 27, Mr. Loughed read into the record a letter that he delivered to the Prime Minister dated October 17. Mr. Loughed was concerned about the state of the emergency negotiations and said that if there was a shortage in any part of Canada, Alberta will supply the necessary oil and natural gas.

The Alberta will reduce the rate of production of petroleum to 80% of capacity; if there is a shortage in any part of Canada, Alberta will supply the necessary oil and natural gas.

Mr. Loughed was quick to point out that these measures would be revoked if the Federal Government would sit down and negotiate a better agreement.

Earlier this week Hon. D. W. Schmidt, Minister of Agriculture, announced the week of October 27 through to the 31st, was designated Agriculture Week in Alberta. The purpose of this week was to increase Albertans' awareness of the importance of agriculture.

The Federal Budget was brought down on Tuesday, October 26, and has affected Alberta tremendously. On Thursday, October 26, Premier Loughed gave a speech in Alberta's response to the Federal Budget.

BE IT RESOLVED that because of the discrimination against the people of Alberta in the Federal Budget, the proposed energy program of October 28, 1980, the Legislative Assembly of Alberta request:

Alberta children who need foster homes aren't far away; they aren't always somewhere else in the province; in fact, right now some of the children whose greatest need is for a stable, caring home environment are here in our own province.

The homes they need may be temporary in some cases, in others a longlasting period of fostering will be necessary.

Perhaps you have considered becoming a foster parent to children like these, but you may not have had encouragement to do anything about it. But now, because the need is so great and the opportunity is so personal, you may wish to learn more about what is involved in being a foster parent.

If so, please join us for the following evening of information-sharing and discussion on the subject of foster care. Everyone is welcome.

Personalize your kitchen

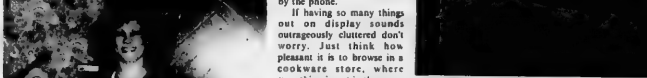

The cold sterile look of the laboratory kitchen is a thing of the past. Gone are the days of locking up all your pots and pans behind closed cabinet doors. Kitchen utensils and accessories are as decorative as they are practical and deserve to come out of the closet and into public view. And hanging things up can also solve some storage problems when space is at a premium.

Glass jars filled with tins, beans, seeds or dried fruits and vegetables are interesting decorative items when set out on the kitchen counter. Wooden spoons, spatulas, wire whisks and other handy utensils look great in a bowl and are always close at hand.

Different sizes of wire baskets for spin drying salad greens can be hung by themselves or used as containers for onions, which keep better away from the counter. Overhead racks suspended from the ceiling can provide ideal storage for bulky items like woks, baskets or large pots. Semi-circular racks that lie flat against the wall are also available.

Groups of things make the most interesting and attractive arrangements. Be bold in mixing things together in your groupings and don't worry if you have one (frank) pot, one chipped enamel pan and one stainless steel whisk.

If having so many things out on display sounds outrageously cluttered don't worry. Just think how pleasant it is to browse in a cookware store, where everything is out in the open.

Sedgewick Public School UNICEF collection: $435

We are very pleased with the efforts of our elementary students in their UNICEF collection on Hall-ween night. Many thanks to all who supported this venture. As an added incentive for the UNICEF collection, the class which collected the most on a per student average was promised a free swimming outing. In total, our elementary students collected approximately $435.

From UNICEF we will be giving the following information on what your UNICEF money can do:

8 cents buys penicillin to cure a school
27 cents buys a pound of skim milk powder
$1 buys vitamin A for 50 children, to prevent blindness
$7.50 buys a blackboard for a school

We join with other members of our community in expressing our appreciation to parents and students for the limited amount of vandalism shown in our community this Halloween. Vandalism is never a job and we encourage a change from vandalism to humor at Halloween.

On Saturday, November 8, Sedgewick Public School will host its annual invitational basketball at 9:00 a.m. Six boys teams and six girls teams will be competing for the trophies. The Junior High students council will be in charge of

One day during berry picking time Connie McKen-sen phoned Helen and invited her to pick raspberries from Connie's fruit garden, but Helen couldn't get there that afternoon.

Later Connie's sister-in-law Marjorie called so she and Emmie did the berry picking and Marjorie delivered the berries to Helen the same afternoon.

For such kindness, Helen decided that a tea party was in order, so a few more friends and relatives were included as follows: Mrs. Hilda Simpson, Mrs. Shirley Simpson, Mrs. Jean Peters, Mrs. Molly Anderson, and of course Emmie, Marjorie and Marjorie's sister Edna, who has been visiting Marjorie for some time. They all gathered at Helen's Wednesday afternoon for a happy get-together.

Shirley, Edna and Molly were the contest prizes and by all accounts a sumptuous lunch was enjoyed.

A big thank you to Marjorie for the lovely bread buns and to Edna for that special dannon plum jam. Unfortunately, Mrs. Swales had other plans so could not be present for the afternoon.

"Canada Book Week" is November 17-21, and to promote further leisure reading we have two activities planned. On Monday morning November 17 the author Joan Little who wrote such books as "From Anna" and "Look Through my Window" will be here to talk to some classes about her work. We will also have a book sale with books from two bookstores available for sale. Since we do not have a local bookstore many of our students do not have the opportunity to buy their own books. There is a special job in choosing and reading one's own book and we will have a large selection of books available for student selection.

Report cards will be given out on November 28 with parent-teacher interviews to be held December 1.

Berry picking

Mrs. Helen White hosted a little tea party on Monday afternoon for Mrs. Brita Birchill, Mrs. Inga Haugen, Mrs. Molly Parnborough and Mrs. Essie Drager.

Essie and Inga won the contest prizes and all enjoyed lunch and a chat before Brita returned to her home in Sedgewick.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Wylie were Violet's sister Mrs. Georgina Greenwell of Inverness, and Kathleen Dahlberg of Wetaskiwin.

Congratulations to Robyn Schmidt of High River, Robyn had the lucky ticket for the Good Deed Club's maple leaf quilt. Also congratulations to the lady that won the lunch club at the same occasion.

Mrs. Donna Kaufman and her mother Mrs. Oshak of Killam and family of Calgary were the official opening of the Lions Guild Manor in Ryer on Thursday afternoon, October 30. It was sponsored by the Ryer Lions Club and Alberta Housing Corporation. The program was in the Ryer Hall with a delicious lunch after. Then we all went over to the Manor and toured around the units. Mrs. Verna Black of Hinton was the first to visit. The first resident in there was 80 years old that day. At the lovely lunch they all sang happy birthday to him. It is nice to know there are such wonderful homes as these for older people.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Edgerton and family of Calgary were here last weekend to attend Mr. Charles Costall's funeral. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Those attending the wedding of Kevin Humber and Suzanne McNeill in Foreburg, Saturday, October 26 were Mrs. Margaret Denham, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Grieve, Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Hinkley, Mrs. Agnes Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Grace.

Congratulations to Miss Susan Sax who is getting married November 1. Hope to have more details on this next week.

Mr. Jack Westra of Edmonton was down to his house a few days last week cleaning up the garden and putting things away for the winter.

Helpful Hints on Insurance

Multi Vehicle Owners

Do you own more than one vehicle and feel insurance is costing you too much money?

Here's an idea that may help. If you don't plan on using one of these vehicles until next spring, you should ask your agent about "Winter Cancellation" on that vehicle (saving only specified per cent coverage).

This could reduce your insurance bill by up to 35%, depending on the situation. Remember to re-insure before using.

Sedgewick Central High Participating in Career Week

Central High has joined the hundreds of other schools across Canada in focusing on careers during Career Week. Monday morning, started with an assembly to explain the aims of our participation in Career Week. All students spent part of the first period completing a "Career Interests" questionnaire. This information will be used as a starting point to assist students in working with teachers on their career planning.

During the next six to eight weeks students will be expected to complete a career investigation. They will be given assistance and guidelines for thoroughly investigating a career of their choice. A career investigation is a required part of N.A.T. applications but is also a valuable exercise to help students learn about a career.

Grade twelve students will be encouraged to complete a personal career resume which they will be able to use as the personal portion of job and post-secondary education applications. A copy of this resume will be kept in the student's file to assist the school in completing reference forms.

Economic alternatives meeting

The firm of Woods, Gordon and Company were hired by the province to study the economy of East-Central Alberta, and held meetings in Killam and Sedgewick on November 6.

A number of municipalities from around the county attended the two meetings. Most of them came to listen to suggestions made by the firm and had few suggestions.

The purpose of the meetings was to identify the potential opportunities for expanded or new growth and ways in which the Province of Alberta can encourage growth in the communities of the region and maintain a healthy, self-sufficient growth, major industry, its expansion, and the province's potential opportunities to diversify its economic base.

The consultants' objectives were "to obtain an assessment of the region and maintain a healthy, self-sufficient growth, major industry, its expansion, and the province's potential opportunities to diversify its economic base."

New Hardisty Council holds first meeting

Highlights of the first regular meeting of the new Council of the Town of Hardisty on November 6, 1980, are as follows:

Louis J. Golka was appointed as the representative to the Hospital District Board for the next three years.

A letter to be sent to the Hospital Board indicating what the Town agrees to in the exchange of property to provide a location for the new Hospital.

Council will request extensions to 1981 regarding completion of certain projects funded by Alberta 78 in 1980.

Fire News

A second fire alarm is to be purchased and installed on the Arden.

A letter from Mrs. R. M. Thompson was tabled, wherein she pointed out that lack of public information on the progress of the new hospital; and the requirement of more public knowledge regarding Town affairs.

Industrial Development Council met earlier with Woods, Gordon and Co., in connection with a study being done to analyze

County may have curriculum changes

A new math may be in the curriculum at county schools for the new year but it's never for sure, said Central High School Principal Manfred Jespersen, November 6.

The school board has been getting ready for changes of this kind for three or four years though. "He may change the curriculum in the curriculum," said Mr. Jespersen. "It's difficult to gear up for them."

He explains that sometimes the teachers and the board can be ready for a new course to be brought in, and for revision, the books aren't printed.

Recently, Robert B. Houshield was asked by the Assistant Superintendent of Schools to pilot a Science 11 course. A decision has not yet been made on this, but these pilot courses apparently are often being tested in Alberta schools.

Besides the new math a number of other changes, being looked at for change, however not in the near future.

Bill Kinghorn (left), Manager of the Lougheed Co-operative Seed Cleaning Plant was presented a trophy by Orville Zwack, Regional Director, at the Lougheed plant, November 7. The trophy is for the best machine cleaned sample of flax shown at the Roundup '80 (Seed and Stock Show) in Calgary last week. The seed was grown by Lloyd Outburt of Hugenbuen.

Sportsmanship?

Another example of illegal hunting is illustrated in the finding of the above box full of ducks, one-quarter mile from Bellshill Lake.

The lake has a half mile protected zone for ducks. The hunters of these ducks are not sportsmen, but criminals.

Illegal hunting of this kind should be reported to the police at once. It is the only way to stamp-out these people, before they stamp-out the sport.

More money wasted

The Alberta government has spent almost $75 million to celebrate the province's 75th anniversary, but the money has often been thrown away.

In the latest waste, the government will distribute plaques to each Alberta municipality in recognition of the contribution made to the 75th anniversary celebrations.

These plaques will be presented to 1,100 such municipalities by M.L.A.'s at a staggering cost of $35,000. These will be nine by 12 inch photo engraved metal plaques mounted on walnut.

The government explains that the gift, which will be given out by the end of 1989, is presented because the municipalities were handed the $20 per capita grants and told to distribute them accordingly.

Sure, it was an extra load on the municipalities, but whatever happened to a thank you or a hand shake?

Besides, there was little public input in the County of Flagstaff as far as ideas on where to spend the money goes. But the money was spent, one way or the other.

The people in the county were given almost $200,000, but where was it spent? There is very little evidence as far as long term benefits for the communities.

Surely the plaque money could have gone to a more worthy cause, if the provincial government insisted on spending it; say a cancer fund.

BY TRUCATE

"I Wish as I Have"

IF YOU HAVE reviewed the long history of the past relations between East and West (Canada) and have studied the results therefrom, you can be accused for looking with apprehension at some of the latest plainclothes and conciliatory utterings coming from the Central part of the country. We have long since learned that when Ottawa smiles toward the West, we keep our hands on our waists.

HERE, AS IN THE rest of the latest thrusts made by the Prime Minister; analyse them for yourself and see if they don't match some of the past, and then study the results: "I defend here in Toronto the right of the West to receive fair value for its resources." "The West has been offered compromise not confrontation." "The West demands a new deal from Confederation and the federal government must help bring it about." The Prime Minister further asked for a "laying down of regional grievances and an acknowledgment that Canada is not two economies but one 'economic union'."

THESE ARE some of the things that the West has been saying for years, but nobody out there was listening, simply because we were not "tuned in" to the West. Now that the economic door is slightly ajar, the West is being listened to. But the West is not the only one listening. The East is listening too. The West is not the only one listening. The East is listening too. The West is not the only one listening. The East is listening too.

IN THE PAST Mr. Prime Minister, the West has not received fair value for its resources. We honestly believe that and we believe you know it too. Do you mean what you say? Or are you trying to sell us into territorial forgiveness? We have been hearers of wood and carriers of water for too long not to know that what we get from here on in will be gained by our own initiative. The budget was not very compromising, but

Killam ladies win Camrose bingo

On Saturday, November 8, Mrs. Allen McNeil, Dr. Anna McKeith, Albert McGeary, Ruth Freadrich and Ruth Doyles of Killam attended a bingo game in Camrose. Congratulations to Ruth Doyles who won home $100 richer and Ruth Freadrich the big one of $3000 in 52 numbers. Nice work girls.

Deepest sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Laughlin and family (nee Lorus Kueber) of Sledonia, California in their loss of mother Mrs. Fred Kueber (Nell), also to Mrs. Frances Kueber and family and Mr.

and Mrs. Lawrence Hoffman and family and all Kueber relations in their loss of a sister-in-law and aunt. Neil passed away at the age of 84. She was an old timer in our district and lived a number of years here.

A good crowd attended the Elks turkey supper on Sunday night. I think everyone enjoyed the delicious supper.

Mrs. Ron Murray is visiting friends and relatives at Clatskanie and Calgary. Nice to hear Mrs. Dick Kiehl is home from Camrose Hospital. Mrs. Bill Mongers of Sherwood Park brought her home and visited parents for a couple of days. Mr. Marvin Erickson and Mr. Dan Kelsdorfer of Calgary were visitors with mother Mrs. Ted Erickson, Mrs. Bill Morgans and Vern Erickson. They brought Mrs. Glen Bergstrom of Sedgewick home, as she had been visiting in Calgary with the Gordon Kelsdorfer.

Mrs. Brian Koski and boys. Mr. and Mrs. Reg Outey. Truss and Dana have left to make their new home at Fort St. John, B.C. Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chris Engjoh and Gordon were Mr. and Mrs. K.K. Nielsen of Sledonia. Mr. Ted Nielsen of Lloydminster and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Engjoh of Red Deer.

Rollerskating masquerade at Killam

Over 70 teenagers spent Halloween 80 at the Killam rollerskating masquerade at their favorite tunes on the juke box. A large number of the teens came in excellent costumes. Prizes of popular albums and tapes donated by several of the businesses in Killam were awarded to the teens with the best costumes. First prize was awarded to the rock group "Kiss". Their picture was displayed in last week's edition of this paper. November 5. Ron Picia, Dave Matthews, Bob Conrad, Deb Scott and Chris Scott are to be commended on the excellent job they did in applying their make-up.

After hearing the RCMP report that the skating was quiet overall, we feel that "Frite Nite" was even a bigger success.

Mad Scientist North and Wicked Wild Gals reported they had a pretty good time as well.

The last session of swimming lessons for children is a conclusion this past week. A total of 186 candidates received instruction twice a week for the past six weeks. The instructors reported that the season went extremely well.

Closing date for this year's swimming season is Sunday, November 30, the day everyone else again has the chance to go fishing. Gold-fishing, that is. Last year when the $50 goldfish was released into the pool, pandemonium struck. We hope you won't disappoint us this year. Don't miss it.

It is best to avoid earth-colored eye shadows such as browns, blacks or grays. Light colored shadows would draw less attention to under-eye circles, such as soft pink or peach. Parliament's responsibility

There has never been a more controversial figure at the head of Canada's government than our own Prime Minister Pierre E. Trudeau. An intelligent, shrewd and widely educated man, the P.M. has the compulsive desire to deliver the unsatisfied people of Canada from the darkness of their doubts, uncertainties or sheer ignorance.

While Mr. Trudeau wishes to carve his mark in history as being the man responsible for "re-patriating" Canada's constitution, he shrewdly conducted controversy over it to take away attention from the sorry state of the economy, and the delay and confrontations in settling some sort of national energy policy. He succeeded quite well.

If one were to regard the constitution situation at arm's length, it would appear quite logical that only the parliament of Canada could bring it home from Britain. What contribution can a group of bickering premiers make to ease such a transfer? It is none of their doing or responsibility.

No deals should be made on amending our new constitution, however, until it's home and

Letters to the Editor

Dear Student Council,

We are writing in reply to the article recently printed in the Community Press in regard to the renaming of Central High School.

All the Keith kids know Fred, and like so many others, Fred had made the time to know us. He represented so many things to so many people, and lived for Central.

This is one of the reasons that we think Central High should remain just that. It was because Central High was a centralized school that Fred found it necessary to do the things that he did. It was the fact that Central High is a joint effort between towns, that it managed to maintain its spirit for so long.

Fred has been remembered in the best way possible—in the hearts of the people that knew him. The present student population of Central knows little or nothing about the wonderful little man that was Fred Sparrow. It was shown by the number that were pre-occupied at his final tri-

Mr. and Mrs. Don Davidson went to Regina, Saskatchewan last Tuesday where they attended the United Grain Growers convention. Enroute home on Friday they stopped for dinner at Roseview, Saskatchewan and met up with Mr. and Mrs. Bish formerly of Fergusburg who now reside in Regina.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller of Calgary came up to Alliance last Friday and spent the long weekend with Bruce's sister Irene Towers and the other members of the family. On Sunday night they picked up Stan at Loughheed and all had a supper at Seto's in Hardisty.

I am happy to report that Mrs. Margaret Davidson was able to return home from the Killam Hospital on Saturday.

Congratulations to Kenneth Cameron and Anita Davidson of Loughheed who were married in Sedgewick on Saturday, November 8. The open house and wedding dance were held in Loughheed and many from the district attended the happy event.

Future 4-H regional events

Executive workshop will be held on November 30 at Forestry House Conference for a week.

50 million acres in Alberta are used for crop and livestock production - an equivalent land mass to the combined areas of England and Scotland.

There will be sessions for secretary/treasurers, club reporters, etc. There will also be a short session on photography.

Best constitution meeting is planned for December 8, 1980. Time and place to be withheld until further notice.

Public speaking workshop is planned for January 26, 1981. Details are withheld until more information has been acquired.

District speak-off is planned for March 22, 1981, at least, one week before regional speak-offs.

If any 4-H members are interested in a 4-H exchange this year, inform your group leader or regional representative to bring it up at the next regional meeting on January 18, 1981.

The three best 4-H club reporters of last year were: first place - Ned Martz of Heister; second place - Jane Hirdlicka of Dayland; and third place - Michael Kroetch of Heister.

Toy buying by Paddy Mills

Why do children play? They play to expand their knowledge and understanding, to communicate and to discover their limits and capabilities. Play is a child's work - through play they develop physically, mentally, and socially.

Manufactured toys are the major source of children's play equipment. Canadians spend over $200 million a year on toys - and so it appears that the modern child's learning depends heavily on the toys in his environment.

Not that it's necessary for children to have a large number of toys in their environment. In fact, it would probably enhance family life if toy buying was reduced. But, toys are a fact of life, and hence a great influence on most children's development.

So, if we're not prepared to revert to days gone by when children's play things were limited to the basic doll or hand carved truck, then we should at least consider the influence toys have on our children - and spend more time and thought in selecting them. There's a lot of things to consider when buying a suitable toy; but, the one most important is not the child's age, but rather his level of ability, including intellect, motor skills, attention spans - things only a parent would know. Manufacturers do not know your child; therefore, when they put "toy suitable for eight year olds" on their labels it does not necessarily mean it's right for your eight year old. More people ask, "what age is this toy suitable for?" than anything else. Age has nothing to do with it. It's your child, and only you can decide what's best for his ability.

Enrolment ceremonies

It was a special night in Strome on Sunday, November 9 as Brownies, Guides and Pathfinders held their enrolment ceremonies. Many parents were present to witness the promises made by the girls "to do my duty to God, the Queen and my country, and to help other people at all times."

Five new Brownies were enrolled: Michelle Rawe, Cindy Stahl, Tina Zimmel, Janet Pfeffer and Angela Edgington. Leanne Miller was unable to be present.

The Guides are Joanne O'Toole, Janet Zimmel, Wendy Graham, Shirley Weischorster, leader Eva Rasmussen, Violet Pfeffer, leader Dorothy Weischorster, Robin Steiger, Patty Simmons, Janet Pfeffer and Diane Hamm.

The Pathfinders in the pack are Tracy Zimmel, Karen Mohler, Lisa Stahl, Denise Weischorster and Valerie Miller. Their leaders are Mrs. Sherry Zimmel and Mrs. Janet Bricker.

To entertain their guests, the Brownies sang a song, the Guides had a skit, and the Pathfinders "taunted" the Brownies and Guides with two hilarious skits. All the girls joined in singing "On my Honour".

The evening concluded with ice cream and coffee and the young people present enjoyed some games.

Learn about the Children who need you

Alberta children who need foster homes aren't far away; they aren't always somewhere else in the province; in fact, right now some of the children whose greatest need is for a stable, caring home environment are here in our own area.

The homes they need may be temporary in some cases, in others a longlasting period of fostering will be necessary.

Perhaps you have considered becoming a foster parent to children like these, but you may not have had encouragement to do anything about it. But now, because the need is so great and the opportunity is so personal, you may want to learn more about what is involved in being a foster parent.

If so, please join us for the following evening of information-sharing and discussion on the subject of foster care. Everyone is welcome.

Hardisty marks book week Canadian books are worth discovering "November 15 to 22, 1980 is Children's Book Festival Week across Canada - a week set aside to celebrate the many outstanding new and classic Canadian children's books that are available."

The goal of the fourth annual Children's Book Festival is to reach Canadian children, parents, teachers, librarians, booksellers and community organizations and give them an opportunity to become involved so that they may learn about the world of Canadian children's books.

Hardisty Public Library is involved and has several special festival events planned for the week November 15 to 22 to help you get involved with Canadian children's books.

This year, 100 outstanding Canadian children's books have been chosen by a committee of four children's book specialists as the focus of the 1980 Festival. Hardisty Public Library has 50 of these. A display of the Festival books will be in the Library on November 18, 19 and 20 from 2 to 5 p.m.

Planned for this year's Festival are 100 author readings as eleven authors criss-cross Canada on reading tours. Hardisty Library is very pleased to announce that they will host one of these author readings. Canadian children's author, "Jean Little", will visit the Hardisty Public Library and Drop-In Centre from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. on Monday, November 17.

As a bonus event, the Library is running a "Meet Patti Stren" competition, where four students from grades 4 to 6 will be chosen to go to Edmonton to meet Canadian children's author.

Patti Stren, who will be the Village Bookshop on Saturday November 16. And finally, on Wednesday, November 19, the Library will feature "Choosing Books for Children" for all interested adults at the Hardisty Library and Drop-In Centre from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

At this time, Mrs. Judy Rutledge will present ideas for you as parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles who are looking for help choosing books, records and magazines for children ages 1 to 12.

Join Hardisty Public Library as we celebrate Canadian Children's Book Festival 1980. It could be your introduction to exciting children's books!

Lougheed News Lions plan rummage sale

The Lougheed Lions club are having a rummage sale in November. If anyone has anything to dispose of, why not give it to this sale. The proceeds of this sale goes to the Community Hall building fund. The Lions were the ones who put the board fence up. Some of the good friends also got busy too, the Mad and Kathy Larson who painted the fence between the Post Office and Bill's Cafe. The Legion and the Auxiliary ladies did their part on the fence around the playground. I know there are many thanks that go out to these people.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Alspaugh from Valleyview were visiting at the H. Loewens and E. (Sonny) Loewens home this past week. Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Mista from Alir and Mr. and Mrs.

Now that winter is drawing near, there are many evenings take up with courses such as paper toys, Christmas, etc. We have just finished the bookshelves and natural in Lougheed. There are courses in other towns, too, that are interesting - why not try some of them? The Lougheed Welcome Centre is open afternoons and evenings now.

Albertans who may not be direct owners of Calgary Power common shares can also participate by acquiring rights to purchase these shares. If interested you should contact either your investment dealer, or Merrill Lynch, Royal Securities which is co-ordinating the issue.

During the past five years, more and more Albertans continue to participate directly in Alberta's economic development by acquiring shares in Calgary Power. Today, almost one-third of all shareholders of record are in Alberta.

Cambridge Association meets

On October 28, the Cambridge Community Association held its meeting at the home of Elaine Black. There were 10 members in attendance and two little visitors, Margaret and James Martin.

The meeting opened in the usual manner with secretary and treasurer reports. The correspondence included a new letter from the 75th Anniversary, Regal catalogue, news letter from the blind, written by Wendy Edie (Cookson), and several letters ordering home-coming pictures.

Quite some time was spent looking over and ordering home-coming pictures. Many thanks to Jean Burden for donating her school pictures to our club. (Group pictures of her pupils when Jean taught at Cambridge.)

A belated fruit basket was given to Greg Martin. A thank-you is extended to Dorothy Lane and Rosemary Kampen who gave donations to our club.

New business included discussion on the making of a history book. Varona Cookson is to get further information for us. The club is ordering two mystery boxes for Christmas.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Varona Cookson with Dorothy Lane as co-hostess. This meeting is our annual meeting and will be held on Monday, November 24 at 7:00 p.m.

The roll call for our next meeting will be to guess our silent sisters.

The draw was then made for our hostess prize, Varona Cookson being the winner.

Dorothy Lane adjourned

our meeting, and then we all stood and repeated the Lord's Prayer. A contest, directed by Elaine Black was won by Elaine Cookson and Donna Martin being high winners, and low winners were Dorothy Lane and Valda Stor-lakham. A lovely lunch was served by our hostess Elaine Black.

You helped us find special young Albertans

For the 19th year, Alberta's investor-owned electric utilities recognize the vital contribution to society of Alberta's young people, by awarding them Alberta Junior Citizens of the Year Awards for 1988.

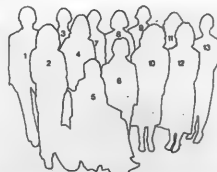

We honour the outstanding individuals, pictured above, who have shown remarkable courage, determination, selflessness, initiative or responsibility.

Many award-winners have endangered their lives performing acts of physical heroism, or have overcome physical handicaps. Others have acted like responsible adults, when circumstances forced them to assume a grown-up role.

Like the many people who wrote letters nominating so many admirable young Albertans, we are proud to acknowledge the achievements of these fine young citizens. They are an example to us all.

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary meeting

Ruby booties, bonnets, sweaters and shawls, in beautiful colours were displayed by volunteer assistant chairwoman Phyllis Manning at the M.D. and Provost was still distinguished to allow credits for out-of-school activities of their High School students. With this they presented several worthy reasons and substantiate their stand. Therefore young people from the Amisk and Highland area may serve as volunteers in the hospital, but they will not be able to earn credits towards their high school diploma. The Auxiliary was pleased to grant a $100 bursary to former Vernon student Shelly Dion who is presently in her second year of nursing in Edmonton. Good luck Shelly in your chosen career. Donnie also stated that Meals-on-Wheels program was now in operation with four persons meeting a hot meal daily. If you are aware of someone who could benefit from this program, please notify the hospital. President Mrs. Erma Mathews told the gathering that Hospital Chairman George and his wife and Adm. Margaret Will West had met with hospital officials in view of our new hospital plans. She exhibited the on-site plans for the new hospital. Plans are going ahead on schedule with some changes being made to the size of some of the rooms, with the start being scheduled for next summer. We were pleased at this meeting to welcome Joale Peller as a new member and to have Mr. Harvey Bank as a guest. Speaking of guests, next member is expected to invite a guest to our next meeting which will include our Christmas party. It was joyfully greeted that the Christmas guest should be younger, and if possible, more fun than the leaving member. That is easy on the first count but providing a fun, double task on the second! The meeting and party will take place December 9 at 8 p.m. in the Drop-In Centre.

Club resumes meetings

Irene Towers

The November meeting of the South Bend Club was held on Friday, November 14 at the home of Sheila Miller. There were seven members and one visitor present who we are now glad to welcome as a new member to our club.

This was the first meeting since August so there was a bit of unfinished business. Mrs. Marie Randa was elected to be the secretary-treasurer since Lucille Connors has moved to Blatch.

The club will send her a souvenir gift.

The card reporter stated having sent a get-well card to Grandma Davidson when she was a patient in Kilham Hospital. Also, a sympathy card was sent to Charlene Beall.

The roll call was forgotten in the rush and bustle of the day so we will be able to have it at some other meeting. The mystery box, was won by Colleen Rombough after a lot of guessing by all.

The next meeting will be held on December 19 at Lynn Miller's home in Alliston. This is the Christmas meeting and names were drawn for the gift exchange with the gifts not to exceed $5. The hostess for the next meeting will be Irene Towers and Colleen Rombough. The roll call will be answered with anything pertaining to Christmas.

The meeting closed with lunch served by the hostess assisted by Carol Kuefler and Irene Towers. A few members who weren't in a hurry lingered on for another cup of coffee.

Raymond and Carol Kuefler attended the wedding of Goshire Wart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wart of Castor, to Gerry Kim at Edmonton last Monday.

While looking to see if my news made the deadline last week, I noticed the picture of the new arena crusher on Highway 26. The odd thing about it was that the truck, belonging to Walter, Nelson Miller of Lacomb, Fortunately the driver escaped serious injury.

Hardisty Good Deed Club

The November meeting of the Good Deed Club was held at the home of Violet Meek, with almost perfect attendance, missing only one member. We were pleased to have Margaret Denham with us as a visitor. Our October meeting was cancelled due to the busy harvest season.

President Connie Sutter called the meeting to order and welcomed everyone. Following roll call, minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Treasurer's report was read and its adoption moved. The report included two generous donations from Mrs. Swanson and Barbara De-Beck, who we wish to say a special thank you to, for their generosity.

Correspondence included cards of thanks from the Loughhead Library for the donation, from Karen Croxey, Diana Wilson and Jo-Anne McClements for gifts given by the club. Also a lovely letter from the Redkey Home at Cayman, thanking us for our donation to them.

The towels and pillow cases left over from the bazaar were sold among the members, and the remaining bags left on hand were taken by members to assist for future sales.

Outstanding bills were presented and paid. Discussion took place regarding exchanging some small gifts as well as a card to members who are hospitalized. A motion was made by Margaret that a gift be sent, and a vote was taken for this. This motion covers our hand, wife and children at home.

Our treasurer's report on the ten and ticket money was discussed. It will take the same format as usual, with turkey supper at 6 o'clock, followed by a "volunteer" program, and finishing, of course, with the arrival of Santa. It will be held this year in the Elks Hall in Hardisty on December 6.

Hostess draw was won by Olive Love - a pair of tea towels.

Connie Sutter was our birthday girl, and after singing Happy Birthday to her, we all sat down to lunch and helped her set her cake.

Next meeting will be held at Josephine's on Wednesday, January 25, 1989.

Locals attend quilt show

F. Nelson

Isabel Nelson accompanied Fred Nelson to Edmonton for the weekend with reservations at the Chateau Lacoste.

On Saturday, they enjoyed the Edmonton and District Quilters Guild display commemorating Alberta's 75th anniversary. This was the first time the quilt show was held at the Executive House Inn and was very interesting. There were many prizes given in many of the quilt categories.

The Kinella GORP #189 was third in contemporary quilt. Alberta (special effect) contemporary pictorial by Jackie Riley of Kinella received third, traditionally pieced was awarded third to Marianne Richards of Kilm.

There were many other beautiful quilts on display from different parts of the province. One lovely one entitled "Hawaiian Bread Fruit" with a white background and very complicated green applique was exhibited by Hazel Skoberg of Lougheed. Another one entitled "School Days" made by Kinella Rose Seaton of Chateau Club and owned by Sandra Harding was on display. Many were very original such as the one from Walworth entitled "Heritage Quilt" commemorating 10 years of prairie provinces and it just takes a shoe like this to bring it out.

Sunday, Isabel and Freda attended a quilt show at the Chateau Lacoste. There were some for sale for as high as $200. They spoke to one woman who makes her own doll heads, which is a real creative art. Another table of dolls and books was displayed by Edna Eckler of Wetaskiwin. She surprised the two by asking if they knew Herb and Jean Homburg and Herb's sister, Marion Homburg.

Jack McLeod, our former bus driver, was seen in Edmonton on Sunday evening. When asked if he had any message for Hardisty, he said, "Tell all my Hardisty fans hello." He still drives the Fort McMurray bus. He must have had a full bus, but he was surely busy taking tickets.

We are pleased to hear that Colin Downie has his commercial pilot's license with headquarters at Fort Vermilion.

Ruth Moore had an eye appointment in Calgary recently, so enjoyed a visit to Crossley in an eye evening. Who should recognize her but Robert Larsen who has come to school here sometime ago.

Monica and Gabriela Chavarrin have returned to their home in Durango, Mexico. Monica went to Irma School during the '79-'80 term. This was through the students exchange international fellowship program from Buffalo, New York.

They found Canada and Alberta very friendly, and the girls had been very welcome. Surrounding and school were very different from their way of living. Monica and Gabriela thought the farm life at Terry and Doreen Bell's was very exciting and really enjoyed Alberta's seasons with more and freedom. Irving and Doreen were guests at the Chavarrin home for three weeks. They found Mexico very different and the people were and friendly. They enjoyed Maunila - it was very beautiful but also very expensive. Temperatures ranged from 100 to 120 degrees so they were glad to return home to more moderate temperatures.

However, to find out how other people live is educational, so it was a wonderful opportunity for the Bells to visit their new Mexican friends.

Roy and Ethel Ansell of Anish had a very happy 40th wedding anniversary with many people coming to home them.

A one-time neighbour, Nellie Jones of Canmore, and her daughter, Elaine Wetaskiwin, and Allan Straskiwski of Canmore were among those attending.

They were also guests from Saskatchewan. Red Deer and Wainwright.

We all wish Roy and Ethel many more happy celebrations.

Gwen Baumgartner would like the readers of the press to know that she is the coordinator for Further Education in the Hardisty area.

Mrs. Bob Quast and Isabel Nelson called on Joe and Linda at the Lodge last Wednesday. They went to Killam where they lived and school were very different from their way of living. Monica and Gabriela thought the farm life at Terry and Doreen Bell's was very exciting and really enjoyed Alberta's seasons with more and freedom. Irving and Doreen were guests at the Chavarrin home for three weeks. Hardisty and enjoyed Mele on Wheels until he went to the hospital.

Charles came to the Fairfield district in 1906 with his parents and two brothers. The mission of the last meeting were read by the secretary and approved. The correspondence consisted of a notice of a Cancer Society Meeting that has already passed. We also received a notice letter from U.S.C. courtesy of Letta Hutchinson. It was quite an interesting letter, explaining some of the main projects that require our financial support. Two of the main things are: bamboo and cement water tanks to store water, for use in the dry periods; and clay stoves to cook and bake in. The stoves are made from local clay with local labor and a cost of about $10 each. The water tanks are made with cheap labour and about $400. With no water storage tanks, during the dry periods, the water has to be pumped from the mountains in jugs.

The annual Christmas party was discussed, with a tentative date set for December 29 at Belhili. This will be in the form of a pot luck supper and is open to the community.

The next meeting will be held at Melba Cameron's on Thursday, December 11 with Marion Simpson as co-hostess. Roll call is an exchange of Christmas gifts. A list of new ideas went in to the roll call box.

The hostess prize was won by Marion and the lucky line left home was Melba. The meeting closed with a lovely lunch served by the hostess. See you all at Melba's December 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Orland Nekoch of Lynn, B.C. are visiting friends and looking the old town over.

Mary and Everett Goodrich, Brad Moody's and Jim Thomson were in Calgary attending the Super Star Angus sale recently.

Fred Blackwell and Isabel Nelson enjoyed an afternoon visit with Gladys Snider in Edmonton. How and is in the Glenora Hospital.

Heary and Maureen Hays were in Edmonton last week to the Farm Fair to show their Lamotte cattle.

Alberta's challenge

Alberta's challenge to the federal natural gas tax will be heard by the Alberta Court of Appeal next week.

Attorney General Neil Crawford announced details of the test case, promised by Premier Peter Lougheed in his province-wide TV address, in the legislature a week after the approval of cutbacks of oil production to eastern Canada.

Although the federal gas tax applied to both domestic and export sales, the provision, initially at least, is only challenging the tax on exports, even though it has declared wellhead taxes which the gas tax is as repugnant as export taxes.

Crawford was vague when asked why the province was confident the challenge to exports, but he did not rule out possible further court challenges down the road.

The province is losing the test case on a natural gas well drilled by the government in southern Alberta last summer expressly for the purposes of providing the facts for the suit.

the National Energy Board. From the province's point of view, the most favorable outcome would be a decision by the court that the federal government is prohibited by the constitution from imposing taxes on provincially-owned property in the form of a resource.

But such a decision would not be directly applicable to most gas wells in Alberta because they are owned and operated by private companies.

However, the government could drastically alter the structure of its resource taxes to make private companies the service contractors for provincially-owned wells.

The change need not affect the companies' revenues or their ability to continue business in the province, but it would be a means to protect provincial resources from the grasp of the federal taxman.

In short, the provincial government would be setting up a legal fiction to protect its interests without altering the economic reality for the companies.

It is expected that the case will not be resolved for at least a year. Once it has been heard by the Alberta Court of Appeal, the issue of the decision will inevitably appeal the question to the Supreme Court.

Unfortunately for the province, the Supreme Court does not have strong record in defense of provincial ownership rights.

Sedgewick girl obtains equestrian coaching status

Angela Doody of Sedgewick has been notified that she has obtained Level 1 Coaching status from the Canadian Equestrian Federation in Ottawa. The examination was held at Kelowna Equestrian Centre October 30 and 31.

In preparation for this, Angela spent September and October in Kelowna at an equestrian course that emphasized riding, on the flat and jumping, training horses, stable management and teaching.

Because she was also barrel racing in Lakeland Rodeo Association, she flew home two weekends for rodeo. However, she narrowly missed top places in the year's standings, finishing in second place.

Angela is currently at home where she is training horses and has also, because of her new Level 1 Coaching status, been able to organize a pony club in our area.

She plans to return to University next fall where she will work toward her Bachelor of Education degree.

The second resolution stated that the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties are opposed to separate tax billing for municipal and school purposes.

This resolution came after recent statements by members of the Provincial Cabinet indicating that the Departments of Municipal Affairs and Education are studying the feasibility to have school boards collect their own taxes.

This would mean duplication of tax and assessment rolls, adding administrative costs to tax collections. Also, tax recovery proceedings would be complicated in that two caveats would be filed.

Apparently, the theme to the talk presented by top government officials at the meeting was on the one hand, the primary highways would be complicated in that two caveats would be filed.

Support the key

It is possible for small communities to bring in good outside talent without going broke. The key is public support.

On November 20, the Village of Alliance proved this as the Rainbow Theatre was packed with over 200 people watching a performance by Bim Bom Boom.

The most the audience knew about the clown trio was that they used to be a part of the Moscow Circus. Although this may sound impressive, most of the gathering were guessing that it would be a good show.

It was, and those who showed up enjoyed themselves.

If Alberta Culture didn't sponsor the show, it wouldn't have come to Alliance. Such is the case across the county and those who are losing out are the residents.

The performing arts is something that one must learn to appreciate. It is spontaneous and personal. But, it isn't as easy as watching mindless shows on television.

It takes the efforts of individuals to get to the concert, maybe from miles away. But, far more is remembered and appreciated from these performances.

Hopefully after the Alliance concert series is over, it will not be long before more live performances are brought to Flagstaff. With support like demonstrated with Bim Bom Boom this can become a reality, even without government funding.

Letters to the Editor

The following is a letter sent to all Members of the Legislative Assembly, Government of Alberta, regarding the Alberta Fish and Game Association stand on hunter training

The Alberta Fish and Game Association is recognized as the voice of organized sportsmen in Alberta. Our Association was formed in 1929 making us the oldest and largest conservation group in the province. We currently have a membership of approximately 25,000 in 115 district clubs.

Alberta Fish and Game Association has had a policy supporting mandatory hunter training. This assumes a government-controlled examination is completed at the end of a course. The option of writing the examination without benefit of instruction was not available until we have been able to achieve that time in mandatory training for the revised Wildlife Act offense. This came into effect on April 1, 1990.

In 1964 the Alberta Fish and Game Association recommended and got the government-sponsored "Training in Wildlife Conservation Course." Since that time, approximately 2,000 members have been trained as instructors out of a total of 3,800. The instructors, in turn, have trained approximately 70,000 apprentices. The course was designed and intended as a 0,000 new residents from other parts of Canada each year. At least 10 per cent of these newcomers are active sportsmen and take out licenses for hunting as Alberta residents. Our Fish and Game office in Edmonton sells licenses to these new people. Typically, they are people arriving that have grown up in the U.S. where the ethics of behavior on private land, and handling of firearms would not be restricted to Fish and Game clubs. Hopefully, existing community service organizations would step in to fill the need in areas where no Fish and Game club is active.

Dear Editor,
I would like to comment on and commend Reverend Conrad on his article, "Last Year, Kid Ourselves" in the November 5 issue of this paper, and his message at the Remembrance Day Service in Loughheed. He really never knew. They must know through us. Remembrance Day should not be considered a holiday, but a special day with a purpose. If children do not attend the service on November 11, then rightfully they should go to school and have time off during school hours to attend the service and stand at the cenotaph. In this way, they will realize that some of the people that they know, served in the war.

Some stores stay open and advertise sales, encouraging people to disregard and neglect their right and duty to join with thousands

How can the future generation not forget if they have our "Remember" to read about our PWs on the occasion of when they can "Remember" by being a part of Remembrance Day next year.

Thank you for opening our eyes, Reverend Conrad.

"I Write as I Please"

WHILE THERE HAS ALWAYS BEEN a kind of flaky and shaky sort of sentiment in the West toward Separation from the west of Canada, it is not quite as flaky now that the Government of Trudeau is pushing the idea of unilateral patriation of the Constitution and trying to grab control of oil and gas. But for the media to play up the met together at a meeting in Calgary as an indication that the wave of separatism beginning to sweep the prairies adds up more to a conventionalism than a true understanding of the basic principles of a people who have been constituting a distinct country. After all 500 people are an infinitesimal number when related to the total population of Alberta, let alone the entire population of the four Western provinces. But these smozzle when it comes to design; the sea, mountains, wheat fields, all nature

wheat fields, oil, potash mining and all the rest? It could be the most congealed emblem ever to grace a flag pole, and nobody giving an inch. What about currency? What will we use for a medium of exchange? Oh no you don't! What we have now is Canadian and we are no longer Canadians, or did you forget? What about railroads? What if stop signs are erected at the Ontario

Manitoba border? What about your mail, especially your pension cheques? Or no you don't; the Post Office is a Canadian institution and we are not Canadian any more. Remember? Do you want to be required to produce a passport in order to visit your Aunt Hattie in Nova Scotia? Well after all you're a foreigner you know and you are visiting a foreign land. And believe me the immigration officials will go over you with a fine tooth comb. After all they wouldn't want you smuggling in your "kooky" ideas and undermining the police.

Dennis C. Martin, I understand that the absence of the Anglican Church has been noticed - and perhaps even missed. New books in library

Milly Faraway

The Lougheed Women's Institute Library Committee has just put about 100 new books on the shelves. There is a good selection of novels, Canadian and true adventure stories. Also books on handicrafts, sports and new books for the kindergarten class up to the teenage group readers. We also have the Galahad History Book among other history books from other towns. Come in and look over the books; we are sure there is something you would enjoy. The library is open Thursdays and Fridays, 2:30 to 4:30.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ramden of Dauphin, Manitoba have been visiting with their son Jack and Elaine and grandson.

Welcome back to Lougheed to Mrs. Edna Duffield and Mrs. Jean Himmagren of Gahad were up to visit their mother Mrs. Margaret Deaton on Friday.

Lougheed.

Well, we had a little taste of winter on Friday with a little snow flurry. However, the sun is shining again today.

Mr. Herb Looness is in the University Hospital now. We wish you a speedy recovery Herb.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peterson have taken up residence in Sedgewick and Billy and Yvonne have moved onto the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Margaret Looness have also taken up residence in Sedgewick, and Ron and Margaret and family are living on Martin's farm. It is so nice to know the young couples are taking over the farm and not moving away.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Beaton visited in Cora with Mr. and Mrs. Don Beaton and family last weekend.

A whist drive was held at Bellshill on Friday night with eight tables playing. First - Marjorie Simpson, Arlie Adamson, Swap - Helen Sutherland, Col. Eckhardt, Mystery - Shirley Simpson a cut with Dora Carson; Travelling - Mary Cameron, Helen Sutherland playing as guest; Constantine - Charlie Armstrong, Arnold Markey.

Mrs. Fanny Harnoe of South St. Mary's visited with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Horvick last week on her way from Hlasek Court.

Sandra and family at Gandy.

Following the service, Legion and Auxiliary members, veterans and families joined in a pot luck luncheon that was much enjoyed by all. Following the luncheon, Comrade Krosner gave a short talk, especially thanking the ladies for their help in past years. An Auxiliary brooch was presented to Mrs. Marie Mathews in recognition of 30 years of leading the poppy campaign. Miss Pauline Gately was also given recognition for her work on the committee.

While the Auxiliary had a slightly better membership record, the same conditions applied to the Auxiliary, as well. It was suggested that more joint social functions would be interesting to both groups. After much discussion, it was decided to use every effort to increase interest in both groups and to welcome new members. Legion meetings are held on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. Legion members are urged to attend whenever possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mathews visited in Edmonton on Saturday to visit with Barney and the family at the Minto Hotel. He plans to spend the week with his sister, Mrs. Doris Mathews. Get well wishes go out to Barney from the community.

The History Book Committee met on Wednesday afternoon, November 18, with Al Granger of Preston Priests present. The group is nearing the end of the first part of their project. Any stories completed must be turned in at once, and pictures properly marked must be turned in by the end of November. Mr. Granger is very pleased with progress so far. Pressed orders have been high and everything points to a fine book to be presented to the public at the Legion homecoming.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Johanson were recently celebrated their 32 wedding anniversary with all their family members but two. May they enjoy many more anniversaries.

Sympathy is extended to Nellie Johnston and family, who were present at the Hardisty School Awards Night by Mr. Marshall Hansen to Joie Sobes in Grade 1, 7, 9, in Miller in Grade 2, Treva Soutjens in Grade 2, Michael Sobes in Grade 4, Jay Hansen in Grade 4, Diana Hooper, Grade 4, and Everett Alderton in Grade 5.

A large crowd attended the Farmer's Market last Thursday, where there was a great assortment of articles for sale. Last one for 1988, we understand.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Horn of Calgary made a quick visit to Ruth and Sam Moor's home; also to Camrose to visit Donald's mother, Mrs. Nellie Scott and Gerald.

Remembrance Day services

Local Notes

November 11 was celebrated in Hardisty in the usual way. The Legion branch organized the service held in the High School at 11:00 a.m. There was a little better turnout than last year's. Comrade Krosner presided, and the speaker Mr. Jackson gave a most timely and thought-provoking address.

Following the service, Legion and Auxiliary members, veterans and families joined in a pot luck luncheon that was much enjoyed by all. Following the luncheon, Comrade Krosner gave a short talk, especially thanking the ladies for their help in past years. An Auxiliary brooch was presented to Mrs. Marie Mathews in recognition of 30 years of leading the poppy campaign. Miss Pauline Gately was also given recognition for her work on the committee.

While the Auxiliary had a slightly better membership record, the same conditions applied to the Auxiliary, as well. It was suggested that more joint social functions would be interesting to both groups. After much discussion, it was decided to use every effort to increase interest in both groups and to welcome new members. Legion meetings are held on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. Legion members are urged to attend whenever possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mathews visited in Edmonton on Saturday to visit with Barney and the family at the Minto Hotel. He plans to spend the week with his sister, Mrs. Doris Mathews. Get well wishes go out to Barney from the community.

The History Book Committee met on Wednesday afternoon, November 18, with Al Granger of Preston Priests present. The group is nearing the end of the first part of their project. Any stories completed must be turned in at once, and pictures properly marked must be turned in by the end of November. Mr. Granger is very pleased with progress so far. Pressed orders have been high and everything points to a fine book to be presented to the public at the Legion homecoming.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Johanson were recently celebrated their 32 wedding anniversary with all their family members but two. May they enjoy many more anniversaries.

County Meeting
Ambulances get radios

It was reported that eight portable radios were bought for the County of Flagstaff ambulances at a county council meeting in the County Office in Sedgewick, November 15.

The guns cost $500 a piece and will replace the pager system formerly used by the ambulances.

The pager system involved ambulance personnel being called when they heard their radio "beep". After the noise ended, a volunteer worker would have to get to a phone to find out what the call is about.

The portable radios keep the personnel in constant contact and are able to reply immediately.

Edmonton Meeting
The County Council felt that the Edmonton meeting of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties was impressive with Municipal Affairs Minister Marvin Moore in particular.

The councillors said that they felt that he has done a lot for the organization. One councillor added, "He does not beat around the bush".

One problem a councillor brought up was that since the meeting costs are not high after the municipal elections, many of the delegates at the meeting were new. In his view, some of the delegates were not totally aware of the problems presented in resolution form.

The Sedgewick council agreed that this would be a way to control the problem and stated that it would leave the road for $1.

Leaving the road makes it a private road and thus the town could control who uses it.

Sedgewick Mayor Ernie Koehl contacted the County of Flagstaff the following day and said the town was prepared to lease the road. The county will discuss the proceedings on the temporary road closure at its next meeting, on December 11.

After such time, the county would have to advise that it intends to lease the road. The county will discuss the proceedings on the temporary road closure at its next meeting, on December 11.

Controlling Sedgewick Lake

Due to the property damage that occurs at Sedgewick Lake in the winter, the Sedgewick Klansmen (in charge of maintenance) are attempting to control the lake's usage by fencing off the entrance way.

situation and the threat of separation. Opposition leader O'Neil Clark stated that we should stay and fight for our rights in Canada.

In talking to Environment Minister Jack Cookson privately, the County Council of Flagstaff expressed a concern with the problems the county has encountered while setting up the landfill site. Mr. Cookson replied that he felt that the problems have arisen because it is a new program. He feels that municipalities setting up a landfill site in the future will not have the same issues.

Also at the meeting, Trans-Alberta Minister Henry Kroeger assured the delegation that the provincial government will be putting more money into the Secondary Road System in the future.

All seven members of the Flagstaff County Council and the Secretary-Treasurer attended the meetings and felt that much was accomplished.

Editorially

Flagstaff uninformed

Elected municipal officials in the County of Flagstaff are not keeping those who elected them informed as to the goings on in their respective municipality.

Mayors and councillors are elected to not only run a municipality, but to keep their electors informed about what they are doing and to see if the community agrees. At least this is how it should be in a democratic society.

Although sometimes it is not in the best interest of the people to know everything about the dealings of the government, there should be far more news reaching the people in this county.

Rarely do any of the municipalities in Flagstaff volunteer news to The Community Press.

It is the job of a newspaper to gather news, but as everything in this large and sparsely populated county, it takes a community effort. Besides, unknown to most people, the bulk of most news is compiled after people have volunteered information.

As is the case with most weeklies, there is not enough manpower to collect enough news to fill the pages. Thus, the newspapers hire correspondents to write news columns each week.

County Council operates a government representing 4,500 people, and being by far the largest municipality, The Community Press sees fit to attend its meetings in part.

But, the other 5,000 people in the county living in urban areas have little knowledge of what their council is doing.

However, the solution to this problem is simple. The remaining 10 municipalities should send The Community Press an unabridged copy of their minutes. With this they could write marginal notes specifying what it would not like to see published. If within reason, the paper will respect these requests.

Also, the municipalities should volunteer information to the paper about other interesting happenings.

The Community Press and the second section The Enterprise cover over 90 percent of the households in the county. This news therefore will be available to almost everybody.

As electors, we should insist on this knowledge presently not readily available.

What Others Say

"Fool laws for fools"

There is an ever growing feeling in this country that there are too many laws, at all levels of government. We agree. You can hardly turn around in the field of individual initiative and endeavor but what there is not some form of law or regulation.

Many of these laws have been brought upon ourselves, fools. "Fool laws for fools" to be more explicit. For example there are laws providing punishment for those who overdrink; laws for speeding; laws for illegal use of drugs; laws against fraud, etc., and to get down to the regulations at the grass roots level, there are laws prohibiting you letting your dog run at large or harkening a cow within the town limits. The statute books containing the "laws of the land" grow thicker every year, and all of them seem foolish, simply because we are fools enough to bring them upon ourselves and seemingly prefer letting the legislators govern our lives and conduct rather than governing ourselves. "Fool laws," yes to "govern fools!" — The Hanna Herald.

Letters to the Editor

In response to your article "Board concerned about driving students" and your accompanying editorial "Student Rights," we feel that the editorial was inadequate in its presentation of "Student Rights." The point you should have made in the first place is that the schools and the Board of Education are concerned about the welfare and rights of all the students under their charge and not only the welfare of the few who use their vehicles in possession of vehicles represents a small percentage of the student population. As an example, in Dayland School only four students are over 18 years of age and only between 20 and 25 students periodically bring their vehicles to school.

3. Except for Killam, there is no resident police force or adequate law enforcement personnel "to catch them if they are not abiding by the law" as you suggested. Taking the last point into consideration, let us ask the following questions: Since School Boards through the schools are responsible for the safety of their pupils during the school day, is it unreasonable for the schools to limit the activities of a few students in the interest of the safety of the majority? Whose rights are more important - the rights of a few students or the rights of the majority? Is it the schools' freedom given them through the driver's license - the welfare and rights of all the students under their charge, or the rights of the majority of students to be safe at all times when driving? Many such activities are available to the students if they are prepared to be involved.

Yours truly,
Dayland School Staff

Philosophy for the Birds

The Third Column

BY TRUNCATE

"I Write as I Please" rush to save your own being. I fail to have much respect for a person who advocates what Mr. Christie is advocating entirely on negative themes, and failing to enlighten the listeners on the hazards of such an undertaking, the rapids that he is in mid-stream, the dangers to be encountered and the extreme possibility of failure of the mission. His current of hapless outside of Confederation is as dangerous as an alcoholic seeking sobriety with a bottle in his hip pocket. It just won't work.

WHEN NICK TAYLOR attempted to reason with the "crowd" by saying that their future welfare was within Confederation, he was practically booted off the platform, simply because his listeners were in no mood to listen to any sort of reasoned assessment of the situation. Christie had the mood however misguided he may have been. The truth is that while Confederation is having difficulties at present, it has had them before and pulled safely into harbour. And it will again. The ship is not sinking. It may be listing a bit but it will right itself. Have no fear of that. No need to man the lifeboats; they are not yet safe away in agony sea. Better stay aboard ship until rescue arrives.

THAT IT NOT TO SAY that such carry-ons as Christie is instituting will not have favourable repercussions on the sturdy wall of federalistic attitudes. Already I detect a crack or two in the wall softening of past rigidity and a faint recognition of the legitimacy of his claims. Once cracks appear in a wall, it doesn't take long for the structure to become unstable. Then the chore for all Canadians is to see that the cracks do not grow into a full-blown collapse. If this is the same ill-conceived manner. Once that is accomplished, Canada will still be the same ill-conceived manner. Once that is accomplished, Canada will still be the same ill-conceived manner. Once that is accomplished, Canada will still be the same ill-conceived manner.

Two birthdays celebrated

Many Ferryhough family members and Sedgewick friends and family gathered at the Hunter White home on Wednesday evening to help him celebrate his birthday. Janet James' birthday falls on the same date so she was present also.

Many Hamilton baked and decorated a lovely cake for Hunter and Helen made one for Janet.

The ladies enjoyed chicken soups, delicious and festive reading, conducted by Betty Cameron and Fay Davidson.

Hunter received a wealth of lovely and useful gifts, including a key ring in the form of the unitarian emblem that Christine Armstrong brought back on her last visit to the lake; also many humorous cards and dozens of tickets for forthcoming events.

Helen provided a tasty cold plate lunch assisted by Helen Sutherland and Annie Oliver, before the guests departed.

Many more happy birthdays. Hunter and Janet.

Correction for a news item last week: Mrs. Jean Lakens living with her son, Edna Duffield, not Blumhagen. Sorry Jean, this was my mistake, not the publisher's.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wylie and Violet's niece and husband Mr. and Mrs. Neil Parker from Australia visiting them for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probert and Doug and Janet Niehaus and daughters were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beraga in Hardisty a week ago last Saturday.

The Loughheed Sligo will be on December 9, not the eighth in the Loughheed Hall at 8 p.m.

Mr. Herb Louness came home from the hospital in Edmonton last Thursday night.

The Lions club auction that was held in Loughheed hall last Tuesday night was a great success. I'm sure the Lions will be thankful for your donations, as the proceeds of this auction went to a good cause.

Mr. Teddy Drager and Mr. Ted Drager of Wotah-Wein, and also Mr. George Hays of Hardisty Hospital enjoyed a lovely dinner and a very good play at the home of Mrs. Esma Drager last Thursday.

W.L. members don't forget December 9 at 8:00 in W.L. meeting at the home of Molly Ferryhough where there will be a Christmas exchange of gifts and a sample of your Christmas baking.

Mrs. Mildred Clouston accompanied Brenda Clouston and Ryan to Sedgewick one day last week to visit with Brenda's sister, Debbie Hays.

On November 28, the Hon. Mr. Hon. J. E. Kent Clark of Edmonton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Don Cookson. Then at 11 noon they all enjoyed a delicious dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Butcher.

Don't forget there is a play called "The Christmas Stranger" to be held in the Loughheed Hall, December 12. I understand this is a very good play, so let's have a full hall that evening.

Doug and Muriel Collier had their sister Edith and Bill Smith, Fanny and John Smith, Fred Dewar, also Edith and Bill's daughter, Any Hardy of Edmonton visiting them recently.

The whist drive at the Welcome Centre on November 18 was held with eight and a half tables playing. Winners were first, Mrs. Grace Davidson and Donna Cameron; sweep, Mrs. Christine Armstrong and Ralph Bell; mystery, Mrs. Kay Cox and Art Black; the cut from Carl Grove; consolation, Vera Bell and John Black; travelling, Beth Smith and John Hallman. See you all December 11.

Hardisty Chamber meeting

As several committee chairmen were missing from the November 28 meeting of the Hardisty and District Chamber of Commerce, this was accomplished in numerous departments. Specifically all of the executive and committee heads will be present at the next meeting which will be held at 7:00, January 7, 1981 in the Parkland Manor.

Some mark the date on your calendar as it is a departure from the regular meeting date.

The one committee which was well represented, and had done considerable work since the last meeting, was the Flag Committee. In their report it was stated that permission had been obtained from the Social Club to house the flags and messages in the Drop-In Centre. The ones received this far will be put on display shortly, and the Battle River Tourist Association will hold its January meeting in Hardisty at the Drop-In Centre on January 14. At this time the Chamber of Commerce will make a presentation of our project to them.

Considerable news coverage has been given to our flag project in the past month. The Journal story was picked up by Canadian Press and appeared in newspapers from coast to coast. This resulted in a flag from Labrador being sent to us by a director of the Labrador Historical Society, and a beautiful flag it is. An article also appeared in Alberta Report, an editorial in the Community Press and a picture in the Journal. Excerpts from the original articles were reported by numerous radio and T.V. stations, resulting in public affairs interviews with C.J.A.S. Radio in Vancouver and C.F.R.N. Radio in Edmonton, plus a lengthy interview with Edmonton News which made news items to radio stations across Canada.

Since last meeting, flags and messages have been received from America, Ireland, Jamaica, Gibraltar and Monrovia, with preliminary letters from London, Belgium and Mexico.

Thirty one different flags have been received thus far, however the committee will not be sending any more presents until after the New Year because of personal and business pressures at this time of year. Don't forget the Annual Meeting which will be coming up on Thursday, January 8, in the Elks Hall. This will be a major meeting and tickets will be available from Hugh and Mary Duncan. It is hoped that all club, group and organization

"Lougheed's younger cabinet"

A passer-by met me square on in front of the Village Cafe and asked, "You the new Secretary?" and I answered positively. "Why yes?" His stop never altered as he made his way for the daily mail, not leaving me one single second to introduce myself or ask him names! I guess that was my official Lougheed approval on behalf of all 227. Everybody knows the new one in town and you are left with the excitement of sorting out Jack from John and his mother-in-law's sister who will clean the office windows if you wish.

I set in my little brick office, built with the beginning of Lougheed, as a crick of tipped up the alcove from somewhere behind the old steel case, (Barney Sales and Lock Co. of Pittsburgh PA to be exact). The room was cozy with the smell of oak and carbon paper on memories everywhere. The day would hold surprises and situations beyond my wildest dreams and already

I loved every bit of it. Yes, it's true - we are probably Lougheed's young cabinet - council if you prefer. We have Mayor Jack Remenda, Councillor and Deputy Mayor Bobby Smith and Councillor Bruce Bowman, all sharing their first twelfth, making the Secretary-Treasurer Stan Towns how many sport activities and clubs it can organize in one season. My first week covered everything from study of the new blueprint of the proposed Municipal Building to the decision of a plan, to an in-depth tour of the over $250,000 sewage lagoon system recently constructed in co-operation with Alberta Environment. This meant passing up the judge duty for the annual County Fair Parade as well as not being able to attend a Municipal Planning session in the evening.

Why doesn't you buy an old mansion build during World War I, simply for the price of the Village today? When last have you

Lougheed Rebekah Lodge

Nineteen members of Lougheed Rebekah Lodge met for their regular meeting on Wednesday evening, November 30. Lodge opened in regular form with N.G.

Lougheed Lions report

I must apologize to my fellow Lion members, as I'm two weeks late, but then, better late than never. At our last meeting, we had a good turnout with Leo Taylor, International, Underwriting, and Cooperation Chairmen visiting with us.

Report on the patrol of Balaire to night showed that it was successful, with no vandalism being reported. Report by Leo Marchand on the whiskey tickets was favourable. He stated he would be turning money over to the treasury in the near future. January 6, 1989 is the official visit of the District

Governor, so Lions, don't forget that date. Report was given on the auction sale at the Community Hall. It was suggested that we canvass the rural area, which was carried out. I can say the auction was a great success. Leo Taylor spoke on twinning with another Lions club in the area or with a twinning in the country. He also reminded us that when travelling, we should have our Lion card handy, and when in another country or city, contact the local Lions president or member. He talks us the fellowship and hospitality is tremendous. That's all for this week. See you all December 11.

the plan" for Christmas. Sis I. White was reported to be caring for her grandson who is also ill. Get well soon. Members visited the local hospitals as well as Parkland Nursing Home in Villing and Bethany in Camrose.

Word was received that Lougheed Lodge is now a part of District 4 along with Silver Link, Walkerton and Chawville.

A motion was carried to send a eulogy to the Salvation Army. Under Good of the Order, we were pleased to have the John Jones read an amazing verse. Somewhat ago he got her orders mixed and wound up "being a man". The members agreed that it was not so. After years drill, lodge closed in harmony.

Sis Wallace served a most delicious meal. The discussion during lunch was controversial, enlightening, and highly entertaining. The next meeting will coincide with the Christmas meal. Members come with your smiles and gifts for the gift exchange. The snow didn't last but it was here by December 18.

Weekend for housewarmings

It must have been the weekend for housewarmings. Friday night, friends and relatives gathered at Marie and Joy Arsenault's for a party. Needless to say, it was a surprise.

Nine couples from the Sedgewick R-40 Club enjoyed a pre-Christmas dinner and dancing at the Cam rose Legion on Friday, November 18.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davidson celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary. Their five children and families and their nephews Donald MacKinnon and his family were all present along with other relatives at a family dinner held in the community hall. This was followed by open house when friends came to express their good wishes to Jim and Marge. The community office has congratulated wishes for many more anniversaries together to Jim and Marge.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Haines of Camrose had supper and stayed overnight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lane on Friday. On Saturday, they visited with other friends in the district.

Honoured guests at the Devision family dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Halm of Camrose.

Mr. Jeanne Baker and Bill were in Camrose last Tuesday to attend the funeral of a friend.

Kevin, of Calgary spent the weekend at his parental home, the Larry Tru's.

75th Anniversary Salute to a pioneer

Like the privacy one can have by living on a farm and the friendship she made. Friendship is an important part of Mrs. Lixness's life and history has been all over the world due to extensive travelling since her husband passed away. "I have around 80 people from different countries that I write to," said Doris.

In 1972, Mrs. Lixness taught the natives in Papua, New Guinea and still receives letters from these former students. Aside from this, she has travelled to Hawaii, California, Australia, Israel, throughout Canada, Europe and the U.S.

She likes to travel with tour groups as much as possible and has made countless friends doing so. "I am interested in both history and geography," said Doris of her desire to travel. "I like to do it now while I am still active and able."

Now that Mrs. Lixness is in town, she is also becoming active within the community and is fact joined the Senior Citizens' Bowling League although she had only bowled three other times in her life. Besides her interest in travelling and making friends, Doris enjoys reading and writing. She also plays the organ although she prefers the piano.

The taught music in school along with just about every other subject as well, including French. "I just do a bit of everything," says Mrs. Lixness modestly.

M.L.A. Report

Tom Lyman
Again this week the Federal government's constitutional and budget proposals have taken up a lot of our time. It hardly seems reasonable that Federal issues can have such a devastating effect on provincial activities. We presently are studying every possible avenue that is available in order to put some of our concerns at rest.

On Monday, November 17, Bill 84, The Health Occupations Act was introduced for second reading. Mr. Beggs, Minister of Social Services and Community Health made some introductory remarks. One of the objectives of this Bill is to provide the public with safeguards where there is a risk from the practice of unregulated health occupations.

The largest portion of the Bill budget was allocated to our municipalities in the form of cultural, recreational and community facilities. Also there is a sharp warning to the minister when his appointment to the hospital post early last year.

On Wednesday, November 19, Mrs. Le Moine, Minister Responsible for Culture reported on the successful 75th anniversary celebration to date time. It hardly seems reasonable that Federal issues can have such a devastating effect on provincial activities. We presently are studying every possible avenue that is available in order to put some of our concerns at rest.

Legislature Report

Controversial practice continues

Despite earlier promises to have extra billing doctors out of the medical system, Hospitals Minister Dave Russell will allow the controversial practice to continue.

Instead of compelling doctors who charge their patients extra to opt out of medicine, Russell introduced legislation that will set up a doctor-appointed committee to review patients' complaints about bills they believe are excessive. "I don't know if it will have any effect on the number of doctors who are extra-billing," Russell said after introducing the bill in the house.

But he expects the legislation to bring to heel the fewer than 100 doctors in Alberta who are collecting nearly half the revenues from bill sent directly to patients.

The legislation marks a major retreat from the sharp warnings the minister issued when he appointed to the hospital post early last year.

But it appears that strong sentiment in the Conservative caucus opposing any government interference in doctors' rights to set their own fees prevailed over Russell's plan to bring in extra-billing legislation.

Passage of the law setting up the billing review committee, however, has not brought the debate over the extra-billing issue to an end.

Federal Health Minister Monique Gagné has threatened that provinces who don't ban extra-billing and opt out of the massive federal contribution to the provincial medical insurance plans.

The federal minister says she won't move without first consulting the provinces, but she has made clear she favors the recommendation of Mr. Justice Bennett's Bill in a federally-commissioned task force last summer.

Bill argued that doctors must be forced to remain in medicine, that they not be allowed to charge patients more than they collect under a negotiated schedule of fees and that statements in negotiations between doctors and provinces be settled by binding arbitration.

Bill also advocated abolition of medicare premiums. The basic principle for his recommendation was that medical care be accessible to everyone, regardless of income, at no direct cost.

NDP Leader Grant Notley supports this view, saying Russell's plan to bring in extra-billing legislation will be destroyed unless the principle is enshrined.

But Russell calls Bill's recommendations "an awesome package" that constitutes "socialized, state medicine in its purest form."

The bill establishing the extra-billing review panel corresponds to a proposal made public by the Alberta Medical Association, the doctors' lobby, earlier this year. But Russell said it originated with the Tory caucus's 1979 extra-billing task force.

Alberta Agriculture

VIENNA A THUNDERBOLT

By Dallas W. Sedgewick

Slightly more than three years ago, this province had an opportunity to help keep its agricultural values and its people, especially in this Province.

Considering start-up time, farming for the future has been actively underway for just over two years. In that time the program has received more than 600 project proposals representing total development requests exceeding $40 million. Of submitted applications, 18 have been approved. By last March 31, total allocations had reached $5.3 of the $10 million committed to this program from the Federal Heritage Savings Trust Fund.

I think it's important to note that while farming for the future was designed to be a relatively short-term program, agricultural research is not a short-term effort. Breeding of new crop varieties from conception to licensing, selection takes less than a decade. Development costs for that variety may easily exceed $10 million.

The final improvement may not even seem all that significant — until you check the marketplace. If average canola yields could be raised by just one bushel per acre, that production increase would have represented in 1980 an additional $15 million for Alberta producers. Our decade of development would have been repaid in less than eight months.

Of course, that example is only hypothetical. To date, farming for the future projects have undoubtedly raised more questions than answers. Past problems are just becoming better understood, and it will take time, maybe years, maybe even decades, to develop solutions to some of them.

Often, we expect on single narrower will be sufficient. Minor changes in weather patterns may enhance use of a particular variety in one year, reduce it in another. But the weather is forever being introduced, insect adaptation never stops, and animal health can always be improved.

These types of problems led to farming for the future. Universities and the federal government had always held the prime responsibility for agricultural research. Until the development of the Alberta Agricultural Research Trust in 1967, the province's research presence was generally limited to an extension role where farmers were urged to use the developments of research.

In the 1970's Alberta Agriculture

Services held for Nils Eldey

Funeral services were held at Sedgewick United Church on October 25, 1980 for Nils Eldey who passed away suddenly at the age of 68.

Nils was born in Norway on July 3, 1914. At the age of 17, he moved to Canada, and was active in the Nils Nees, in the Grouta district. He spent a few years in the state of Washington as a logger, then moved back to the Sedgewick district where he farmed. After retirement, he lived on his farm until his passing.

He was united in marriage to Lillian Eldey on April 28, 1939, and to this union, four daughters and three sons were born.

He is survived by his loving wife Margaret, four daughters, Lyle Jacobsen of Kirkland, Washington, Anna Foutayeg of Watkinson, and three sons, all of whom are in the service.

However, we need to remember that many farming for the future projects, while displaying great promise in understanding current problems, still require time to obtain solutions. Seed access in livestock, agro-climatic compatibility of crops, breed enhancement — work into these problems cannot be allowed to expire before solutions appear.

Meanwhile, research costs have risen. Many places of research are no longer supported. Labour has become more expensive. More than 52% of direct farming for the future funding goes toward manpower support, and that excludes the salaries of those professional researchers who are paid out by farming for the future but by their employing institutions.

At farming for the future's inception, the Agricultural Research Council of Alberta has proven that additional research funding in this province can be used wisely. There is very active competition for the research dollars available, and performance obtained with those dollars has been good.

Therefore, I am pleased to announce that we intend to increase our support to farming for the future. In addition to the $10 million now available over five years, an additional $15 million from the Heritage Savings Trust Fund will be allocated to farming for the future, starting next April.

To accommodate this increased funding, the program will also have a new five-year mandate starting next spring.

Sedgewick, Elin Jacobsen of Brooks and one son, Olaf of Sedgewick. He is also survived by 17 grand children and many relatives in Norway and B.C.

He was predeceased by his first wife Lillian in 1970, two sons, Arne in 1967 and Edward in 1960.

Nils was an avid gardener and enjoyed planting trees in his own yard as well as for others. He also enjoyed several trips to Scandinavia and retirement, he lived on his farm until his passing.

Battle River Beef Club Awards Night

On November 28, the awards night of the Battle River Beef Club took place. After everybody arrived, the night got underway by Coase Miller leading the pledge and grace, followed by a pot luck supper.

When the supper was finished, the yearly awards were presented by Leader Bill Barnes, assisted by Mrs. V. Spady. Plaques were presented to all the members. A trophy was presented to Craig Spady by Rick Sundness for having the champion steer last year. Travis Spady then gave an update on last year's activities followed by a presentation to Achievement Day and sale on June 2.

The club would like to welcome two new members, Orin and Cindy Reister. The next meeting of the Battle River Beef Club will be held at Battle River School on December 2.

Spring Lake Stitches 4-H News

The third meeting of the Spring Lake Stitches started with the dreaded inspection. There were some fairly good.

It has been decided that our volleyball tournament will be held December 6. On this day, eight clubs of the surrounding district will gather at the Federer gymnasium at 6 o'clock for a fun-filled day. Call on a bus, pop and chips will be available.

What shall we do for Christmas? It was discussed and concluded that we join the other four Reister clubs for a Christmas party. Judy Club Reporter, Kristy Sullivan Both, Kristy Sullivan, Elin Zimmer and Tracy Zimmer were appointed for a committee. They will meet with the representatives of the other four clubs to discuss the Christmas party. Names were picked for gifts under $2.

Nancy Walker introduced our guest speaker, Betty Blatz. Mrs. Blatz showed us how to do paper tape; as well, she displayed many of her paper tape pictures. Kristy Sullivan thanked Mrs. Blatz. The meeting was then adjourned.

Alberta Chamber concerned

Unilateral constitutional amendments, such as those proposed by the federal government in the "Canada Act, 1982" (more establishment of Canadian constitutional tradition and could well divide Canada and Canadians, according to a position released November 6 by the Alberta Chamber of Commerce.

The Alberta Chamber stated its support for patriation of Canada's Constitution as a symbolic confirmation to Canadians of their government's commitment to renew Canadian federalism.

However, the Chamber placed a strong caveat on this position — against unilateral federal government action which would at the same time introduce fundamental changes to the Constitution. Both unilateral action by the federal government, the Chamber stated, would be contrary to the long standing Canadian tradition that constitutional change to areas of provincial responsibility require provincial consent.

The Chamber maintained that most Canadians agreed the Constitution should be "brought home." But, it submitted that "few Canadians would wish patriation to occur in an atmosphere of adversity and suspicion."

The Alberta Chamber's submission reflected the view that the proposed "Canada Act, 1982" did not meet Canada's needs and took a strong position on the desirability of re-evaluating the current constitutional debate. The Chamber recommended that all governments work together to achieve any agreement on patriation of the Constitution with a unanimously agreed upon amending formula as the first step towards the renewal of a cooperative Canadian federalism.

Keeping in Touch

Arnold Mahan, M.P.

On a New Front
Throughout last summer's parliamentary session I had frequent discussions with constituents who were fed up with the federal government. Many were still hurting from the fact that the outcome of the last federal election was sealed and delivered before they had even been elected in Canada. They felt frustrated and irrelevant.

The discontent has now stepped into genuine anger and many constituents are looking for a medium through which their anger can be expressed. Many are writing letters to the Queen, Margaret Thatcher, the Canadian Prime Minister, the Leader of the Opposition and others. Some are joining separatist groups that favour a western federation.

I know full well both the extent and the reasons for western anger. In my view that anger is legitimate. The heavy hand of force by the Feds on the constitution and energy package is enough to anger any thinking westerner. It is therefore, not the anger itself that is of concern but rather, the chosen target towards which that anger is directed. Those who have chosen to associate with separatist have, in my view, acted prematurely.

My first objective ought to be to redefine a stronger and more just Canada. What Canadian with any sense of national pride would want to dissociate from Lake of the Woods, Ontario, Quebec City, Summerside, or Heart's Desire and Heart's Content, Newfoundland? Surely, it is not the politicians and their cliques that we are mad at, but rather an unfair system that fails to hear and act on western aspirations.

Towards an attempt to bring about a greater degree of understanding of this tide of deep-felt expression by westerners, I have been devoting a lot of my weekend time on speaking tours throughout Ontario. These tours are all accompanied with local press interviews, radio and television coverage of the speech content, and appearances on local radio talk-back shows.

The theme and purpose is always the same: to educate central Canada to the history of western provinces so that they might better understand the issues of today. It is, I am convinced, useful for those Canadians to know that there were decades in which we could not market our oil or petroleum products yet brought virtually every manufactured product at above world prices.

C.P.R. heart course held

The evenings of November 8 and 9 saw a lot of action at the Happy Hour Drop in Centre at Herdley.

Local people gathered to learn the technique of C.P.R. (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation). This course is designed to aid victims of cardiac and/or respiratory arrest. It stresses heart attack victims, and how to deal with them in order to increase their chance of living and decreasing the likelihood of irreversible damage.

Those participating were Cathy Berek, Judy Berns, Deb and Tim Johansson, Ether Johansson, Penny Clark, Jeanette Rind, Elsie Allen, Lyane Elm, Linda Stuart, Barbara Baskin and Phyllis Manning.

Instructing the course were Lynn Oyster, Cindy Clark and Dorothy Devey.

W.W.II escapee visits school

Several students and English classes had the pleasure of being visited by Mr. Tom Watt, who was an escapee from Stakel Luff III during World War II.

Mr. Watt, who is presently Alberta's Director of Aviation, held his audience spellbound as he related the escape attempt. The escape from Stakel Luff III formed the basis for the book and the movie, The Great Escape. In the movie, James Garner played the role of Tom Watt. Mr. Watt says The Great

They needed everything from best black to cameras to large documents, compasses and even civilian clothes. Since the English class is presently reading the novel The Great Escape, and Social Studies 30 is in the movie, James Garner played the role of Tom Watt. Mr. Watt says The Great

There will be parent-teacher interviews scheduled, but appointments can be made to discuss your child's progress.

Mr. Lawrence Caste, who has been school principal for the past few years has resigned from his position effective November 30. We will miss Lawrence and wish ment to allow a fourth year apprenticeship board exam.

The program was set up by AGT with the assistance of Alberta Advanced Education and Manpower. Darcy said Canada Manpower or Allowance paid a certain amount of his wages while he went to school and AGT covered the rest.

Completing his fourth year apprenticeship program makes him a journeyman electrician. He said he was previously an electronic engineer which allowed him to write his first exam without having to go to class for two months.

Darcy said he didn't find it tough to go back to school.

Darcy has worked for AGT for 5 1/2 years. 1 1/2 years in Edmonton and now in Grande Cache. He grew up in Sedgewick, Alberta.

The course covers all aspects of pre-hospital emergency care. The students are taught on computer terminals and are able to work on their own speed and whenever they wish. The terminal is set up in a room at the Killam Fire Hall and the key is available at all times of the day.

Students must receive 100 per cent on the module exams, which are open book exams issued and marked

But, if a person is unable to join until the mid-way point, for example, and is unable to move along fast enough, he can complete the course at its next location. From Killam, the students and course will move to Viking.

Course organizers, Tom Bruce of Sedgewick and Darcy, said that in Killam, feel the course has gotten off to a good start.

Slow C.P. grain movement

Be it an attempt to get a change in the Crow's Nest Pass Rate or another reason, there has been a definite slowdown in the movement of grain by Canadian Pacific Railway and it is affecting this country.

"The movement of grain has been pretty poor," said Flagstaff District Agriculturist Peter Gasmach. "I am not accusing C.P. of a deliberate work slowdown in this area, but it just seems a little strange."

This year, C.P. delivered an average of between 700 and 900 cars to Vancouver per week, while C.N. delivered over 2,000 per week.

Few people would argue that the price of shipping grain is ridiculously low under the Crow Rate which was fixed by the government in the late 1800s. Presently it costs $6.91 per ton to have grain delivered from Flagstaff to the west coast. The price would have to increase by about $30 before C.P. would make any money from it.

But, there must be a better way to dispute the prices without having to slow down production, such as in Revelstoke. It is already known that C.P. have in the past made no effort to upgrade its car supply.

In any case, the grain elevators in the county are plugged continuously on C.P. lines. Farmers are forced to take their grain to elevators along C.N. lines and in doing so, take their business away from local communities.

The elevator managers along the line tend to agree that they never get enough cars and are losing business to elevators along C.N. lines.

Bob McBride, Alberta Wheat Pool manager in Sedgewick, estimates that this year he has lost about 150,000 bushels. Carl Schuster, Pioneer elevator manager in Killam, estimates 100,000 bushels lost.

"We're not getting enough cars, but I wonder where the problem lies," said Lloyd Sand, A.W.P. manager in Killam. He said that he is getting the number of cars allocated to him, but that is not enough. The Alberta Wheat Board determines the number of cars to be sent.

However, Wheat Board Superintendent Lloyd Cassebeer believes "C.P. doesn't have an adequate car supply."

Wheat Pool manager in Hardisty, Don MacFadyen stated that he has been getting cars off and on. He said that where it used to take a day to get cars, it is now taking far longer.

Whether the problem is local or on a much broader scale is unknown. But, when I asked C.P. in Hardisty if they were involved in a work slowdown, the reply was, "no comment."

Strange indeed.

What Others Say

Beer dollars

Alberta's second annual beer strike — a strike which should have ended months ago — still continues. If it goes on much longer there is a danger that we might have to change the designation from "annual" to "continuing".

The only Brewer in Alberta not affected by the strike is Uncle Ben in Red Deer, and the strike seems to have been his salvation. In the space of a few months that facility has moved from near closure to need for expansion. Not all of its customers are in Alberta though, quite a bit of the product is going to the United States where, unlike Alberta beer drinkers, the consumers of the Red Deer product seem to take at face value the high rating it got amongst beers around the world.

The beer strike has contributed to the deficit side of the balance of trade with other countries, as Albertans are currently tossing back American beers to the tune of several million dollars a week. The big winner in this instance seems to be the ALCB, although even here long distance freight charges may be cutting into the control board's profits.

When they go are normal in the beer industry Alberta receives $3.78 from the board for each case, and the selling price was in the neighborhood of $5.50. American brewers are paid $2.92 per case for the product which retails at $7 or better.

Union connections across Canada rule out the possibility of buying from other provinces so as long as the strike lasts we can look to more and more dollars going south of the border.

Letters to the Editor

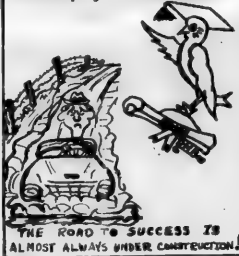

Dear Editor: Alberta's 75th anniversary is a time when we should be celebrating. It has been a year of exciting celebrations and a year when Albertans paid tribute to a proud heritage a year when the people and communities of Alberta participated in a glorious salute to our 75 years in Confederation. The print media have made a significant contribution to a successful year of celebrating. Your newspaper has played a major role. Your coverage of 75th activities and your printing of historically oriented features have kept the public informed of birth-day events and programs and have renewed the spirit of Alberta 75.

On behalf of the 75th anniversary commission, I extend my sincerest thanks to your newspaper for making 1986 a year to truly remember.

Best wishes for a Happy New Year!
B.W. Dvorling, Commissioner.

Philosophy for the Birds

The Third Column

BY TRUNCATE

"I Write as I Please"

GOVERNMENTS AND IN FACT PEOPLE move in contravention of their blunders to pervert. This abbreviation of an ancient and well-known maxim is in variance of course with the ancient truth, yet in view of modern proceedings it seems to satisfy the inquiring mind in an attempt to learn what things are all about. Still the deeper one delves into the mystery of human behavior the more confused one becomes. This is especially true, it seems, of the actions of governments and their reactions to those who seek sane answers as to the "why" of certain procedures and decisions; almost as though their decisions are not to be questioned, just accepted and obeyed. Not much allowance is made for a rallying point of dissent, but the rumparts are quickly manned in defence of a superior knowledge of what is best for the country and its citizens. Such policies, when carried to the extreme, attract a flavor of dictatorial distance, for just as blind food fails to arouse the taste buds, so decisions made without some input from those imposed upon, fail to create the acceptance necessary to make it a practical and workable piece of legislation. Yet this continues to be the hall-mark of government action, and once contemplated action is revealed there is seldom any retreat, for governments do not admit wrong doing. Nor do they retreat easily from established policy.

AS AN EXAMPLE, and one which comes easily to mind because it is very current, is the Federal limitation on "mating down" the price of Western dairy at half the accepted price of the world market simply because of a deep-rooted passion for protection of Central Canadian consumers, is an abdication of duty to the whole of Canada. To continue with the policy in view of prevailing discontent, to subsidize Eastern consumers at the expense of the entire nation and search the actions of the OFPC actions with public funds which are denied to the Canadian regions producing oil, to send billions out of the country, much of which could be kept at home to bolster the economy, is an absolute dereliction of trust and duty. This is bad enough, but to continue the practice from this point on simply because of a promise to protect the manufacturing consumers of the East, knowing by now that the move was a retrograde reaction to private pleas, indicates a stubborn resolve to continue the practice rather than retreat and admit a mistake has been made.

IT IS JUST SUCH stupid and resolute policies which trigger what has become the separation movement in western areas, and the continuation of such silly decisions only adds fuel to the fire. If any one of the so-called "big four" of the Federal Caucus had ever had the experience of cornering a badger, he would have learned that this small animal becomes a very vicious quadruped when his existence is threatened. The big four may not know a badger from a four-legged circus but they do know how to "badger" the regions of their country into dissent and disgruntled reaction. Once again I am forced to state that power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely. Unless attitudes change there are troubled times ahead. There is no better backing off of absolutism and a return to sensibility. There is just time to calm the waters of dissent and provide clear sailing in the future.

GETTING FURTHER AWAY from home we find that governments and government leaders are a similar breed wherever we find them. In fact the government has reaped all the propaganda that can possibly accumulate from the homes of its citizens in carrying on the farce to the point where it has become pointless and useless. Doing simply because of a reluctance to admit an absurdity and a misadventure. In further proof, if any is needed, that governments wherever you find them seldom admit to having made a mistake. They are all politicians, but very few are statesmen, and that is what the world is very short of.

The Amalgamated Hobbyists of Flagstaff met on the evening of November 19 with 24 present. Guest for evening was Mr. Norman Holt of Alliance, who presented very interesting slides and enjoyable commentary of South America and Mexico. Most interesting were some of the ancient ruins of the Mayans, their pyramids and temples in Mexico and the Yucatan Peninsula. Local crop production above average

The County of Plagiat is above its typical yields, said District Agricultural Officer G. Macpherson, of the county's crop production for this season.

Projected yields for September in Canada had risen in some areas over 1979 and dropped in others. Increases were: wheat, +5.5%; oats, +5.4%; barley, +2.8%; corn, +1.2%. Decreasing compared to last year were: rapeseed, -28.8%; fax, -39.3%.

Mr. Macpherson said that although the county is above typical yields there has been a drop in quality. There are a lot of grade three crops and feed crops.

With the poor crops in China and Russia, farmers are hoping for a substantial final return. "It's a fairly encouraging picture," said Mr. Macpherson.

Inflation-Fighting Travel Ideas

Here are some energy-saving and inflation-fighting hints to get the most "mileage" out of this year's vacation:

1. Before starting your trip, check your car's tire alignment, brakes, steering, suspension and exhaust system. If you don't get a tune-up, have a mechanic check the air cleaner, spark plugs and ignition system. (Misfiring plugs alone can add about 10 percent to fuel costs.)
2. Plan the route for your trip. The AAA Travel Guide, America's leading vacation guide, comes in seven regional editions. It describes and gives prices for more than 50,000 hotels, motels, resorts, restaurants and sightseeing attractions. It also contains four-color road maps, discount travelers' coupons, estimated mileage between major cities, and car maintenance tips.
3. Make a reservation early to avoid similar driving, disappointment and unexpected costs.
4. Plan a budget and stick to it.
5. Select hotels or restaurants that are within your price range. If you splurge at a fancy restaurant one night, cut back the next day—have a picnic lunch—to make up for it.
6. Leave early in the morning. Early clear of rush-hour traffic as much as possible. You'll use less gasoline by avoiding lots of stops and starts.
7. Use your car's air conditioner as little as possible. The less air conditioning, the less you stop, the less you idle or "revving" of the engine.
8. Maintain the 55 mph speed limit. A car stopping along at more than 55 mph uses much more gasoline.

Propping in for a minute or so was Georgina Fyfe (see Dragger) from Edmonton who was down for the exciting bonspiel.

The Paul Mazures have returned home again after a two week visit in Vancouver and area.

They report the passing away of Mrs. Wilkington, her son Dick and daughter Lenore. Wilkington were well known around Hardisty as they lived just north of town and Lenore worked in the hospital soon after it opened and for some years after.

The Hardisty School held their annual Christmas party with a pot luck supper of turkey and all the trimmings. There was enough left over for a beautiful lunch afterwards.

An amusing short skit was put on and then about tables of what were arranged.

It was very nice to see Mabel (Patsy) Pinsky attend, also Algerine Manning from Amisk.

Gifts were exchanged after cards, and lunch was enjoyed, with time to socialize.

Isabel Nelson and, along with some Neil Allen, wives of John Nelson and Doug Nelson, were in charge of the draw.

The Legion ladies had a small meeting Wednesday night due to the materials needed. However, they did draw the knife-bone chicken, Frances Boudreau of Watrous, winning the prize.

Another attending the re-union was Mrs. Urs (Shaples) Downing who moved in the hospital here for sometime, later becoming a health nurse in our area.

The Hardisty Trap Club held their first draw at the 25th of November on December 8, Annie Whitehead drew the first name, which was that of Mrs. Patsy Pinsky.

The first league game for Sedgewick Bantams was played in Sedgewick Dec 4 against Kilian. It's nice to see so many fans out to enjoy the game and give the boys some support. Due to, Lougheed not having enough players to loan them, we have some imports this year. Welcome to Lloyd Cox, Scott Cookson, Larry Ness and Mark Piers. With the capable coaching of Darren Lewis and Mike Peters, Sedgewick won 7-4.

Ben Fee was in goal for Kilian playing an outstanding game making one beautiful save after another. Scoring for Sedgewick was: Perry Sparrow, 2 goals, and singles to Larry Ness, Garnet Wahlund, Scott Cookson, Zane Schmitt and Jay Wahlund. Scoring for K.B. was Kevin Martin, 2 goals, and singles to Michael North. I see Robert North is coaching Kilian and has a new assistant, Bill Peters. Hope you enjoy coaching.

'81 Year of the Disabled

A person doesn't have to be of different ethnic origin or have a different colour skin for people to discriminate against him or her. Just ask the disabled, they've been holding the pointy end of the stick for years.

What would it be like to be blind, deaf or crippled? The disabled are usually free to talk about their handicap; however others are not. It seems that they prefer to stare.

The General Assembly of the United Nations recently proclaimed 1981 the International Year of Disabled Persons. Presently government and non-government organisations are planning events for the year.

The Alberta government will be spending hundreds of thousands and probably millions of dollars which will be disbursed according to priority at local or provincial levels for programming.

In addition, $150,000 will be provided for a public awareness program. This may be the best spent money because the public needs an understanding of the disabled.

This special year has been a long time coming. After it is over, hopefully the public will not be quite so ignorant.

Courtesy, common sense and council

I hope a recent act by Sedgewick's Town Centre is not an indication of short-range thinking. After 10 years of a by-law allowing snowmobilers reasonable access to their homes, a change is being made.

According to council report the by-law is being changed because "flagrant abuses and almost complete disregard" for the present by-law and "because of numerous complaints." Poppycock! A by-law is seldom taken note of until it is enforced, even a token action is often needed. And what about the complaints? No doubt this is at least 50% of the rate-payers or a few vocal objectors speak for everyone?

As one who enjoys snowmobiling I find no reason for such drastic actions for I would much sooner see young people, and young at heart, going round and round at the Rec Centre on a snow machine, than going round and round the streets in cars.

It can be argued that some centres do not allow their streets for this popular winter pastime but a review of this shows almost all are larger centres that require numerous blocks of travelling along streets and lanes. Certainly no one needs to travel on more than 5 to 10 blocks to get out of our town. It does seem strange that without exception, no other town or village in the county has acted in such a harsh manner.

It is a good thing our council are not called upon for action on the removal of such a trivial thing as a mole on one's face or neck; they would probably cut off the whole head.

What Others Say

Economy depressed by high interest

Ouch! That hurts. Every Thursday it is the same story, with great trepidation many wait the word on high... the weekly Bank of Canada rate.

The rate set by the bank established our financial barometric pressure for the following week.

Continuing with that analogy, our economic reading has been steadily loosing pressure in the past few weeks and we appear headed for stormy weather.

It doesn't take an MBA or an economics degree to realise that the sky-high interest rates have a depressing effect on the economy. Who can afford to borrow, for vehicles, housing or whatever?

Business and farm expansion is held in check and the high borrowing rate pushes the costs for mega-energy projects such as pipelines, tar sands and heavy oil plants even higher.

Where will it end? We are told that the Canadian bank rate follows the U.S. figures, which are some three points above our rates. If the spread gets too great then the investment in Canada drops off and the value of the Canadian dollar in relation to the U.S. dollar falls.

Perhaps the question should be asked, is maintaining the value of the Canadian dollar worth the loss of jobs and other economic malaises as a result of the high interest policies adopted by the Central Bank?

While many are caught in this financial wringer, one group hit particularly hard are those few unfortunate having to renew mortgages. The jump from the 10 per cent level to 15 per cent or more borders on the immoral.

The Third Column

BY TRUCATE

A LITTLE BIT OF NOSTALGIA won't hurt you. In fact it may help to dilute and soften some of the tribulations of modernization and carry you back to the time when things were different and time itself seemed not to pass so quickly, and more was done with the time than there was. It will take you back to the days before extreme modernization made it so easy for man to escape the physical that his muscles almost atrophied, back to the time of the 10 cent cream, 10 cent beer and unadorned bread. A lot of the things I remember as a youngster and had a lot of fun doing at the time.

WHEN OLD NO. 0000 rolled and pulled its way back to Alberta and a small home in Edmonton, it brought back a lot of memories of the coal-fired and mighty steam locomotives whose piercing whistle heralded the arrival of a coal train. To look onto full grain cars on the side track while the main boxcars were unloaded with ton after ton of local goods destined for the local merchants and dealers. Then pulling over to the local stockyard to push and shove cattle and hogs into the cattle cars for the market place. First of all though the trains loaded up with water while the farmers shook down the crates, leaving a huge pile of debris to be hauled away to "between tracks" by the section crew; the cinders were later hauled away by local authorities to embellish sidewalks and surface all the local streets.

And then of COURSE, a part of it all for the local kids was the opportunity to "ride" the engine on the invitation of friendly engineers while all this was going on. When we became too persistent we were dealt with by a burst of steam to make us stop our play. There was one very friendly engineer who had a relative in our town, and my job was to take a well-prepared lunch to him. That way I got extra rides, and once was even permitted to blow the whistle of departure — you know, two short toots, and then a final long toot. The old steam locomotive was a very special part of early Alberta, and it is with satisfaction that we witness the return of some of the treasure to the province just to keep the past up to date.

ANOTHER MEMORY was the grain elevator with the old fly wheel engine as high as I was tall. They consumed a lot of water and often I was hired to pump the tank full down in the pit under the office, a sweat-soaked chore that didn't pay too well. Often the local agent worked hours over-time unloading wagons and doing the book work. All grain was delivered by horse-drawn wagons, and what a sight it was to see two-horse, four-horse and even six-horse double teams and grain tanks lined up for a quarter mile from early morning to dark while in load. I particularly recall one farmer I always watched for. He drove six pitch-black horses hauling two grain tanks loaded with No. 1 Northern. It was a real sight to see the outfit coming down the road, lines and the horses pulling evenly and it seemed almost to step with heads held high. Quite a sight as I saw it. Most elevators also handled coal and many a dollar I earned unloading boxcars of the stuff as much as a ton. It was hard work but it sure brought a lot of 5 cent ice cream cones. Sometimes we would rob the local gardens and take the results over to the "hunger" where the "bees" hung out between trains. They made darn good muligins stew over the open fire and boiled delicious coffee in a hard pit. It tasted far better out in the open. Besides we got to know a lot of hoboes. Wonder what ever happened to them.

AND THEN OF COURSE, there was the old threshing machine turning the bundles into golden wheat, with horses teams ranging from four to twenty depending on size. Here was there you would meet the farmer who had to go much further in this field, but first the stocking had to be laid out. During the war days we formed a "group of twelve" who went around stocking in a labor shortage. Many hundreds of acres fall to our meagre efforts and many the fine midnight meal we had at the end of the day, or should we say with a light for that when we did the work.

MAYBE THERE WOULD'NT much business here for some of you, but for the rest of us it was a nice journey into the past.

Church holds pot luck supper

L. Nelson

St. Paul's United Church held a congregational pot luck supper on December 7 which was enjoyed by all.

This was held instead of the U.C.W. Christmas party as the men and children attended as well. The children looked forward to Santa coming. After a sing song, Santa came in and treated everyone to an orange and candy cane.

We are happy to report that Barney Matthews is home again after being in a city hospital for four weeks and a week in Hardisty. He got back just in time to celebrate his birthday last Monday.

The neighborhood in the Battle Bend area was very shocked to learn that Dave Livingston had passed away while watching T.V. His funeral was December 9. Dave was an old timer, having gone to school at Battle Bend.

Sympathy is extended to his children and other relatives. Doris Powell, accompanied by her daughter Dorcas Bell, spent last Wednesday in Edmonton where Doris visited with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Art Sampson. They looked through some of the stores and were amazed at the very high prices on some of the dry goods.

Congratulations to Fay rather who won a plethoric rocker at Waterwright. Correction: It was St. Mary's Women Guild who had the meeting and made the draw for the half-thousand dollars - not the Legion Ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Korth, Todd and Doreen Fisher enjoyed a trip to Disneyland and have just returned via Las Vegas. Here, they saw the damage at the MGM Grand Hotel that was done recently by the very hard they had there.

Todd was just the right age to enjoy the wonders of Disneyland and Mary and Ken enjoyed Knott's Berry Farm. They drove past some movie star homes but the real thrill was the terrific amount of traffic on the freeway.

On the way down, they drove through snow to the California border but once there, had no weather. They came a different way home and found it much better weatherwise.

A good crowd attended the minor hockey bingoes on Dec. 8, where a number of proxy tickets were winners. Congratulations to Dennis Schmidt on winning the blackout turkey by proxy. The Hardisty Ladies Guild hosted a very successful Grey Cup Dinner on November 22, with everyone present enjoying the great music and midnight supper. The Annual Ski-Doo Race will be held on the third Sunday of every month, starting January 18, 1981.

Winners of the Sedgewick Legion Bingo held on Monday, December 8, were:
1. Neillie Brumard, Viking
2. Pauline Britter
3. Mary Jamieson
4. Mary Kobner
5. Marie Scott (proxy), Dayland

Lougheed W.I.

Meeting and Christmas party

The Lougheed W.I. held its annual meeting and Christmas party at the home of Miss Molly Tervey, December 9 with 18 members present and four little visitors. President Mrs. J. Johnson opened the meeting with a welcome and led the crowd.

A poem was read by Miss Molly Tervey. The minutes of the last meeting and the last annual meeting were read. Mrs. Johnson thanked the ladies for their support during her four years as president and wished them all the best in 1981.

The Secretary's, treasurer's and committee annual reports were given.

A letter from the Salvation Army, requesting a donation was read. This will be sent. A letter from President Marie Plummer concerning the 1981 convention was also read. This matter was dealt with and then a Christmas card was read from our Constituency Convener Mrs. H. Swainson.

The quilt committee of Mrs. M. Skoberg, Mrs. V. Skoberg and Miss M. Farneyhough will be making a quilt. Mrs. Skoberg had a few sample blocks and Molly displayed her lovely quilt quilt that she is making for the W.I. In the new year, there will be a quilting bee held.

Since Library Days fall

on the Dec. 25 and 26 and January 1 and 2, the Library will be closed, to re-open again on January 8 and 9. The kindergarten will receive little books and treats from the W.I. on their last visit to the Library before the holidays.

The roll call was answered with payment of dues. We wish to welcome Janet Neilson to our W.I. and we would welcome more new members.

Mrs. J. McClements read a very timely poem entitled "Somewhere Else".

The new state of officers for 1981 are:
Pres. - Mrs. H. Probst
1st Vice-Pres. - Mrs. M. Skoberg
2nd Vice-Pres. - Mrs. Wm. Probst

Sec. - Mrs. G. Coates
Treas. - Mrs. V. Storhaugen
Reporter - Mrs. J. Johnson
Directors are Mrs. H. Swainson, Mrs. D. McClements and Mrs. D. Neilson.

On behalf of the W.I., I wish to thank Molly for all her work in preparing for our Christmas meeting. A most delicious lunch and an exchange of gifts brought a lovely afternoon to a close. I wish each W.I. member a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. An executive meeting will be held at the Welcome Centre on January 8 at 2:00, with the regular meeting to be held on January 18.

Reporter, J. Johnson

Mrs. Bill Russell, lifemember of the Metropolitan Ladies Club was honoured by the ladies group at her and Bill's 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, December 14. A colorful and enjoyable musical skit was presented depicting highlights of the couple's lives.

Hardisty St. Paul's hold Sunday School concert

The well known Christmas Carol "Joy to the World" ended a unique Christmas program sponsored by the Sunday School classes, on Sunday evening December 14. Ministers of Ceremonies, Lynn Alderton, also kept the program in order, as children sang three to three, their parts.

Two numbers, one staged by grades three and four, under the leadership of Gill Bunt and Justin Morrison, "I Have a Dream" and the other by grades five and six, under the direction of Beth Schmidt, "The Governor's Dream," delighted the audience by presenting the Christmas theme through song and dance.

The kindergarten class, led by Lynn Alderton, capably responded to the "Ten Questions About Christmas."

Grades one and two, directed by Vicki Cullen and Bev Driver, presented "The Friendly Beasts," using cardboard cutouts drawn and painted by Ivy May. The little girls in this class, dressed as angels, danced to Roger Whittaker's "Mistery Mary" under blue spotlights.

Mr. Driver read "The Myths of Christmas," Tina Mitchell, Christine Hanson, Lynn Alderton, our valuable junior assistants, also gave readings.

Treats were given out to the children at the conclusion (on behalf of the United Church Women) of a successful and enjoyable program.

The total of $18.44 was collected by the children over the hill and was recently sent to the Terry Fox Cancer Fund. B. Hahn

Allen Sisters entertain

Molly Parryhough

The Allen Sisters were entertaining in the Loughheed Hotel a couple weeks ago on Friday, December 12, they had supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gruninger.

Mr. Lawrence Wilson of Vancouver, B.C., has turned home after spending a week with his daughter, son-in-law and grandsons. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clement and son.

The past week or two we have had two new houses moved to Loughheed. Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Cooks are the recipients of one which is going to be located out of town in the southeast area. The other home belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ramsden. It is staying in Loughheed. It is up in the present division across the street from where Jim Patterson lives. So these couples will be busy working in their new homes.

The Loughheed Bingo was held Tuesday, December 16. The winners were: Door prize Mr. Pete Grov; 50/50 Mr. Edna Wells; Main prize Mrs. Gladys Caruth, Sedgewick; Sharon Larson, Hardisty; Club News, Loughheed; Brian Johnson, Loughheed; Alvin, Loughheed; Cathy Kelle, Forestburg; Randy Larson, Hardisty; Charlie Lane, Sedgewick.

Mrs. Clayton Johnson, Sedgewick; Larveta Oliver, Loughheed; Josephine McClements, Loughheed; Olive Dowsay, Hardisty; Mrs. Hope, Hardisty. Congratulations to all of you.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Martin along with other couples have returned home after spending a couple of weeks in Hawaii. They all enjoyed it very much.

Those that did not come out to hear the play "Christmas Eve" missed a good show. The play itself was good for soul and body and the crowd singing put the real Christmas spirit into our lives. The cost of how did their part so well. Mrs. Marna Martin was the lucky winner of the beautifully decorated cake. Mrs. Rosemary Kampen baked the cake and the steady hands of Vernon Cooks decorated. Thanks to the cast and Mr. Richard Conrad and all those who work so hard to make this evening a very enjoyable one.

The evening recently, a group of Loughheed people, armed with refreshments, arrived at the Loughheed (surprise) to Stan Towns.

This was a combination "house warming" and "welcome to Loughheed" party. For those you who have not already met Stan, he is the new village Secretary, Treasurer who has taken up residence in the former George Cornack house. Stan has been merrily making the most of his month, adjusting, installing and restoring this beautiful old home.

Everyone was given the "ground tour", including the new swimming pool upstairs. Mayor-Johnson presented a gift on behalf of those present, and there were some who left without being impressed by Stan's many talents.

Loughheed is fortunate in having its government administration in the hands of such a capable person. We wish you well Stan, and many, many years in Loughheed.

Twelve tables played what at the Welcome Centre on Thursday, December 11. Prize winners were: First - Roberta Biddick and Susan Chabrey; Sweep - Deanne Tiers and Cyril Hopworth; Mystery - Shirley Fitzgibbon and Lloyd Connor; Consolation - Mary Cameron and Bill Peters.

Travelling - Deanne Tiers and John Brunner. A generous donation came from Cyril and Jean Hopworth for which we thank you. Thank you everyone for coming and hope to see you all again on January 8, 1987.

Hardisty School News

Parent-Teacher interviews

Parent-Teacher interviews were held in Hardisty on Monday, December 1. Despite the cold temperatures and our early difficulties, 84 per cent of the parents attended the interviews.

At the same time that the interviews were being conducted, a Children's Book Fair was held in the library. The Book Fair was organized by Mrs. Judy Routledge and a large number of books were purchased during the day. Mrs. Routledge extended the display and sale over to the Tuesday to enable students to take advantage of this magnificent opportunity.

Mrs. Routledge devotes a great amount of time developing reading in terms with the elementary classes in the school by giving regular book talks to individual classes at the town library and by arranging visits by various children's authors. Mrs. Routledge is providing an invaluable service to the children and to the school by this voluntary work.

On Friday, December 8, Mr. Charles Stewart, M.L.A. for the West Knight constituency was invited to the school to present 75th anniversary medallions to the students.

The total amount collected by the Elementary students for U.N.I.C.E.F. on "Halloween" night was $18.21.

Work has now been completed in the school gym and the floor has been refitted. The gym is now available for use by community groups.

The school will close for the Christmas vacation on Tuesday, December 23. During the afternoon, a film "Vik's Diary's" "Steam-Head Express" will be shown to the students.

Until February 20, 1987, Hardisty School will be accepting labels from Campbell's Condensed Soups, Campbell's Chunky Soups, Franco-American Products "V-4" Cocktail Vegetable Juice and Campbell's Tomato Juice. Campbell's are able to collect certain numbers of these labels. It would be appreciated if anyone who uses these products would send the labels to the school.

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary Christmas party held

The warmth of the holiday season filled the Drop-In Centre as 18 members and seven guests of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary met for their December meeting and Christmas Party on Tuesday, December 8.

One highlight of the evening revolved around the presentation of Alberta 75th Anniversary certificates to several of our members who have attained or surpassed their 75th year. Showing a lady's age is a personal thing, we will not divulge just who did receive these certificates; we will only say that we are proud of the contributions made by each and every one of them.

We are delighted to report that seven young ladies have successfully completed their Volunteer training and two of them obtained over 80% in their exams. We are also pleased that seven people are now taking advantage of the Music-While program, offered through the hospital. Co-ordinator Dee Hahn stated that she is in desperate need of more drivers for the months of January and February. If you are able to help, please give Dee a call and offer your assistance.

Phyllis Manning reported that our Honorary members have been busy this past month keeping the showcase full, with Brenda Lukens donating five pairs of slippers, Myrtle Richardson making two scarves and two shawls, and Marguerite Devereaux creating a lovely pillowcase and a cushion. Very nice items for Christmas gifts!

The meeting was followed by fun and games plus a gift exchange and a lovely lunch.

Catching Christmas

Y snowflakes floating down. A couple of cars full of folk I knew passed and waved. I said that do you know I'd get it.

Often I've found it in other people's eyes. I've been told I'm a good singer by the conductor at his recitation at a Christmas concert. In my grandchild's eyes, I've been praised all about Jesus' birthday to me. Or one of my grandsons's as he told me that he was glad to see me in my husband's eyes as we talk of Christmas past and present.

Many times it's arrived at a Christmas Concert, especially in the Nativity scene. I've been asked to sing and never far from nervous giggles. Joseph standing by, somehow imbued with the words, "I will be the father of the child." I've been ways somehow managing to convey the special feeling of a new mother, a new father, a new child, a new and confused. The wise men, bringing gifts, the wise men, bringing gifts. And everywhere the faces of the children.

Then I've found it on T.V. I've found it on the radio. I've just the right way. Or in some of your oldest dishes. The menu was prepared by Mrs. Miller and Dotter Miller.

For our December roll call, the ladies of the club were made delightful! Christmas ornaments, some of the most beautiful ever seen, were on the tables. The ladies were wearing a special with gloves on and the lucky ones finally found the ornaments.

Everyone had a hard time guessing the mystery box after an extra clue from Lynn. Janet Peacock finally came up with a cheese nut.

Mario Randa got the gift out from under the lovely decorated Christmas tree and the little girls handed them around. Everyone showed their nice gift and the old who they were from.

A real Christmas lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Laura Towars and Colleen Rembough, while everyone else enjoyed a good glass of wine.

Congratulations to Gerlie Grant who was the top buyer's trophy in the Alliance Hamlet ball club this year. Sorry we didn't have a win-up party present to him. Keep up the good work.

May Kuefler and family. To the editor and staff, to all the readers and to everyone who has given their news over the past year, a very Merry Christmas and greetings for 1981.

Crashberry production is increasing a driving industry in Canada. In the last year, Canada ranks second in the world production of cranberries. The industry is based in B.C., Ontario, Quebec, and New Scotia.

Cranberry sauce, or cranberry relish, is as common as butter are very much a traditional part of Christmas dinner. In the past, cranberries were available in jellied and whole berry forms. However, in the past few years, cranberry sauce has become so inexpensive, it adds to the long list of home made foods that are available to the family over the holidays. And, that's a tradition many families are enjoying.

75th Anniversary Salute to a pioneer

Rhyla Grant, 90, was born and raised in Michigan before coming to Killam in 1907.

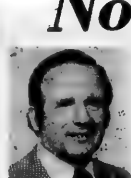

In 1911, Rhyla married Alexander Grant (brother of Joe, our second pioneer this week) and the couple farmed near Killam for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant let their two boys farm where they grew up and the couple moved into Killam. While in town, Alexander worked as an elevator agent. He passed away in 1979.

Rhyla lived everything about the farm the fresh air, the open country-side. "I felt free on the farm," said Mrs. Grant.

However, she said, the advantage of living in Killam are great too. She said that she especially likes the people.

Mrs. Grant was kept busy on the farm and in Killam doing housework and maintaining her garden. "If the

"He was in the world, and though the world was made through Him, the world did not recognize Him." What tragic words from the pen of the Apostle John! How amazing and staggering the thought! He the One who created all things, who upholds all things by the word of His power, was in the world but was not recognized. I'm sure that John the Evangelist had known that the Angel said to Mary, "The Holy One to be born will be called the Son of God," he would not have turned them away from the inn to the stable. He didn't recognize Him! The doctrine of the law in the temple, were amazed at this twelve year old boy, who was able to answer their questions with such understanding, but they didn't recognize Him! The people marvelled at His gracious words, praised God for His mighty works and yet failed to recognize who He was. They credited His outside the walls of the city of Jerusalem with two criminals - they didn't recognize Him. God raised Him from the dead and today He lives in heaven.

The record of the four gospels, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John bear out what John the Apostle goes on to say. (John 1:11) "The one to that which was His own, but His own did not receive Him."

At this Christmas season as we think again about the Savior coming into this world, here goes John, still more of what the Apostle John wrote on record, "Yet to all who receive Him, to those who believed in His name, He gave the right to become children of God."

How joy received Him? Perhaps you ask, how do I receive Him? The Word of God says, "those who believe in His name."

May your Christmas be a very joyful one in our wish for you.

Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh . . . Gifts For a King

"The (wise men) saw the young child with Mary his mother, and . . . presented unto him gifts: gold, frankincense, and myrrh."

Matthew 2:11 St. Matthew tells us that the Wise Men selected these exotic treasures, above all others, as their special offerings to the baby Jesus. They were the first Christmas gifts of all.

The gifts brought by the Three Kings all had magical associations: gold for the sun, myrrh, frankincense for the smoke-maker, and myrrh, the healer. The Wise Men were also believed to have had occult powers.

The Magi, kneeling in tribute, express the love and awe Christ evoked in all who believe in Him. The Bible names the gifts . . . gold, frankincense and myrrh. Each has its obvious worth; there are rich, symbolic meanings as well.

Church scholars consider Children love cone-cups . . . they love to eat 'em they love to bake them. Christmas "cone cups" are fun and a marvelous treat, iced and decorated with bright holiday graphics.

Full fill-bottom ice cream cones half full of cake batter and baked in a slow oven on a cookie sheet. Serve plain or, best of all, there are crumbly cupcake liners left over. They're also great to use along on a car trip for a snack, and again, no mess!

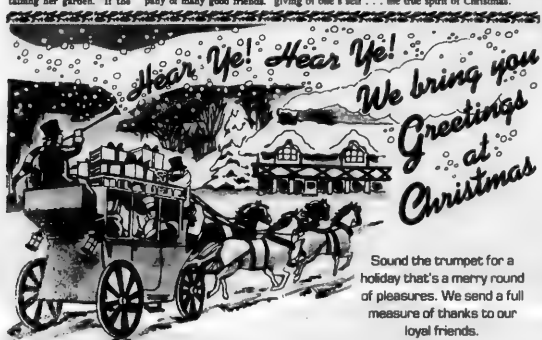

More than ever, at Christmas, home is where the heart is. In the special bond of friendship, we pray your hearts and homes are filled with peace and happiness.

Merry Christmas

The Reeve and County Councillors, Secretary-Treasurer and Staff of the COUNTY OF FLAGSTAFF

O Christmas Tree

Doris M. Stender

"O Christmas Tree," sang the carolers as they stood outside our door. As they sang of the wonders of a Christmas tree,

I thought of some of the Christmas trees I had known.

One that I have never forgot was a tree our family had when I was very small.

Living on the prairie where no traces of any kind grew except those labouriously planted and tended, we didn't have any kind of tree

we could chop down or buy for Christmas. The next best thing was to make one.

It was made from a tall pole with holes drilled in it at intervals and pieces of wood inserted for branches.

It didn't look much like a tree really; the branches were too stiff looking. But when the trunk was wound with green tissue and each of the branches wrapped with green fringed tissue strips it looked more tree-like. It stood almost ceiling high in the corner of the dining room.

By the time we children had carefully cut and pasted red and green tissue paper chains together and draped

the branches, our excitement had grown. A tinsel star on the top and looped strings on tinsel caught the lamplight, twinkling like the gleam in our eyes as we beheld our masterpiece. No

Christmas tree could have been more enchanting. There were gaily wrapped gifts

under it for us to shake, squeeze and imagine what was inside. What a glorious tree!

Many years later another

Christmas tree reflected the love of another child. I was teaching by this time and as Christmas time grew nearer so the anxiety grew in the blue eyes of one small grade two boy.

He was an only child who lived with his parents on a poor brick farm down near the river. They were poor - so poor it was whispered that his mother made her voluntinous bloomers from

Robin Hood four sacks.

Mrs. Cameron was a very big woman, and on very snowy days drove her son to school in a homesteader's bob sleigh. They had no money for gifts for the teacher. As the other people whispered to one another what they were getting for the teacher, Colin's anxiety grew.

In talking about Christmas traditions and customs

he had mentioned the fact that at his home we could not go out and chop down a spruce tree for Christmas.

A little gleam seemed to cross my little pupil's face and the next day his mother secretly whispered to me,

"If I bring you a little spruce tree would you be able to take it home?"

I had to travel about 600 miles by train but I needed and answered, "If I can put it in my suitcase I certainly will."

I packed my little pupil's spirits had risen by the next day and he was able to join in with the Christmas excitement.

The day of the Christmas concert at last arrived. Colin came in the school smiling, his eyes beaming with excitement. "Teacher, this is for you," he said proudly as he presented his gift - a perfect little spruce tree.

"Oh how lovely!" I exclaimed. "Thank you very much Colin. Won't it look beautiful when it's trimmed?

My folks will be surprised when I take this home."

Alberta Transportation moves to Sedgewick

Alberta Transportation has relocated a field office on January 1, from Hardisty to Sedgewick, where it is now set up at the County Office.

The field office, an extension of the head office at Stettler, has four workers and a Project Manager, Rob Burt of Camrose.

Presently, the office is involved with the preliminary survey of Secondary Road 969 and will remain in the area until 11 kms. of the road is constructed. The field office is using the facilities formerly used by the East Central Health Unit which relocated to a larger office space beside the Bank of Montreal.

The field office will remain in Sedgewick until it is required that the crew move to another road, said Mr. Burt. The office relocates to the town nearest to the road it is working on, if adequate office space can be found.

Mr. Burt has a wife and two children living in Camrose and has been working with Alberta Transportation for 15 years.

B.R.T.A. hosted over 100 homecomings

At the December 11, 1980 monthly meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association, it was reported that 101 homecomings/anniversary celebrations were held within Zone 5 during 1980. The Minister of Culture, Mary J. LeMessurier has reported that 800 homecomings were held in Alberta this year.

Ted Sample, Travel Alberta Homecoming Coordinator, reported that 1,700,000 former Albertans were brought to the province through the Homecoming Project. Sample, who addressed the Stettler Chamber of Commerce, stated that Zone 5 had more homecomings than any other zone in Alberta.

To kick off the program in Zone 5, B.R.T.A. President R. Brown and Association Manager S. Clemens organized and held ten Regional Meetings throughout the Zone 5 area. Travel Alberta representatives attended some of these meetings which were held in late 1979 and early 1980. About 180 individuals, from many communities, and representing about 50 organizations attended the meetings. Clemens reported that the Association was represented at 86 Zone 5 homecoming celebrations and that promotional literature and items were supplied to at least 80% of the events. Brown of Leduc stated that "thanks to the outstanding co-operation and hard work of volunteers throughout the Zone 5 area, homecoming and anniversary celebrations were tremendously successful."

Peggy Keindorfer proudly holds her new born baby Brooks Ellen, while Reg Fee presents her with a $50.00 cheque on behalf of the Killam Chamber of Commerce for having the New Years baby in Killam. Brooks weighed 7 pounds, 9 1/2 ounces and was born January 4. David Keindorfer is the father.

Surface rights

Farmers are renowned world wide for, among other things, complaining. However, complaining is all right if something is done for the better when given the opportunity.

On January 13 in Forestburg, farmers will have an opportunity to learn their options when landmen come calling. The meeting entitled Surface Rights and the Land Owner will undoubtedly be a hot and informative session.

With Alberta's oil explosion, farmers have often been caught with their pants down. Often landmen come to their doors and persuade farmers to sign contracts that they know little about.

Preparation for this situation will win half of the battle. Farmers must know, if not the legalities, who they can contact that does.

But, as so often seen in today's apathetic Canada, what is often in the best interest of the public is exactly what is so often ignored.

This listlessness was shown in the County of Flagstaff when it held its General Plan meetings. Held in three different centres in the county, the meetings designed to inform the public drew less than 20 participants in total.

Let's hope this is not the case in the upcoming surface rights meeting. Farmers have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

Philosophy for the Birds

The Third Column

BY TRUCATE

WHEN YOU WAKE UP in the morning to the cold and bleakness of an Alberta winter, the second thing you do is take a look at the thermometer to help register in your mind the kind of day you may look forward to. Usually the next move is to turn up the thermostat in defiance of what the second mover from the government would have you do. That's a good thing to do and it puts nature in her place, as long as you remain within the confines of your COMFORTABLE ZONE. If you have to leave the chilly elements for one reason or another, you simply don't wear the WARM FOOTWEAR and the DOWN-FILLED jacket in a counter move against the forces of frost and blizzard. And so you survive to look at the thermometer another day. But while you are "out there" listening to a malcontent spouse on the sufferings and agonies of remaining within Confederation, making the institution that allows you to have the warm boots and warmer jacket, the hot coffee that is heating up your innards and the friendly person beside you who offers you a ride home in his heated car, did you stop to think just how fortunate you are? And what's more important, did you take time to inform you that the man who is explaining friend just how FORTUNATE HE IS? How "lucky" he is in that he has the freedom to belabour the freedom in prison, the freedom of being thrown into a concentration camp, a prison or charged with "disloyalty"? It's a bit like the person who complained that he had no shoes, until he saw another who had no legs, and realized how fortunate he really was.

SURE YOUR CAR IS high (by 1980 comparison) but at least you have a COMFORTABLE ZONE with no restrictions on gas use; SURE it takes twenty dollars to fill the tank on your vehicle but at least YOU HAVE a vehicle and the freedom to drive it; SURE it takes a deal of money to fill your grocery cart with food, but at least the food is AVAILABLE in ever increasing variety and quantity, and you don't have to live with distended stomachs from hunger and starvation. SURE your clothes cost more money than ever BUT IT'S UPTURNABLE and we have so need to freedom to death for lack of it. Food, clothing and shelter! We've got the best of it. WE'VE GOT the lowest provincial incomes tax in Canada; we are the only area FREE FROM SALES TAX in the country; we have a low-cost Educational system that compares favourably with anything else where we have a health system that provides adequate care at extremely low cost to the individual user. I could go on and on relating the BLESSINGS that are ours, right here where we live, so why are we discontented? Why are we dissatisfied with our lot in life? Why are we becoming a "Gang of Malcontents"? Could it be that we are used to living higher on the curve of the wheel of life than the world average, that our only desire is to live still higher?

WE HAVE just turned another corner. We have, within the past week, entered upon a NEW YEAR as dictated by the calendar. But just because we were born on December 31st and awakened on January 1st doesn't really change anything except that we have adopted a new table of months and days. It has nothing whatever to do with changing attitudes, new endeavours, new new philosophies or new thankfulness for all that we have. WE WISE UP IT SO. While we are not MASTERS of our destiny course, we are in a position to design and controlling that destiny and help make it what we would like it to be. That is a determination we should all pursue with dignity and foresight, with sound thinking and the exercise of desire to make it so. It will never be accomplished with negative thinking. It is the way and the only way to make this NEW YEAR the kind of year we would all like to have. It will never be that kind of year by us sitting on our posteriors and expecting others to do it for us and then complaining if they don't.

ECONOMISTS are now, and have been for the past few weeks, predicting an even higher upturn in Alberta's economic situation during 1981, and even better in 1982. So what are we worried about? What are we complaining about? Dig in and help the economists to be right, and then it will COME ABOUT.

Couple receive call from Greece

The Barney Matthews home was a busy place over the holiday. On Christmas Eve they were surprised to get a phone call from Athens, Greece, where their granddaughter and husband, Pat and Ann Morrison, are holidaying. Christmas day was spent with their son Dick and family at Sedgewick, with Bill and Eleanor also there. On Saturday, their son Frank of Calgary with his wife Sheila and daughter Shanne of Toronto came for a weekend visit. Shanne tells us that Linda Zwicker is one of her best friends and that the Zwickers send greetings to all. On Sunday there was a surprise visit from Barby's brother and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Hutchinson of Thorold.

A bit of excitement was the coming of two Black-bell Swedish boys who would make the Brown home their headquarters while here in Alberta. They are part of the Swedish Jr. Hockey team. A senior team from Sweden was also in Camrose, as was a team from Finland.

George Hammett in the Veterans' Home in Edmonton was pleasantly surprised to be called on by an old friend from Hardisty.

George celebrated his 90 birthday on December 27, so he does not go out any more or send cards.

However, he asked about many of his old friends and he would be very happy to have them call on him as his visitors from this part are few and far between.

Ken Ross is still working for the Journal and Morley Brown is in a nursing home but is mobile and does odd jobs for the home. He is 80 years old.

Old Nelson and Isabel Nelson spent Christmas with the Lorne Brown family.

Lorne and Char Alderson from Elkford, B.C., spent Christmas with Char's parents and sister, Doug Harrison and Allen and Joann Nelson.

Agnes Bernacher treated a number of friends and family to turkey dinner on Christmas day. Among those attending were Mrs. Hazel Brown of Camrose, Jim, Fay and Dean Brown; also Debbie Pelletier and Dan Galka.

Ray MacKinnon had a beautiful New Year's dinner, treating his relatives to a good turkey dinner. His mother and father are from North Sydney, Cape Breton, his sister and young niece from Winnipeg, his brother Gilbert from Saskatoon, Ian from Drumheller and Vince of Hardisty, sister Enola and her husband Byron and Penny from Irma, as well as a few friends.

I would like to thank everyone who has helped me with news items. I have been writing news for several years and am hoping that the Editor can find someone to carry on in my place.

Another thing, those who have to have a driver's test, should check if the testers are in town. They plan to move every second week, instead of weekly as they will be spending some time teaching drivers at Young's.

May the readers have a good 1981; also the Editor and staff.

Amisk 4-H Beef Club

The Amisk 4-H Beef Club held their second meeting at the Amisk Arena on Dec. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting began by welcoming our new member, Tracy Larchman. His call was answered by giving the breed and weight of our calf.

This year our Christmas party will be held at Marina Pereno's place on Dec. 29 from 1:00 p.m. We will spend the afternoon skating.

We discussed various methods of raising money for the return visit of the Colorado 4-H Group. Our club decided to hold a White dove on January 18th to be held at the Amisk school at 7:30 p.m. A good turnout would be appreciated. We also plan on holding a raffle on 1000 lbs of quailine later in 1981. Our club will participate in selling tickets on the 4-H District Council Ball.

Our next meeting will be held January 18th, 1981. Club Reporter

The Viking Curling Club was kept busy for the weekend with the hosting of their 1981 Farmers Bonspiel.

A total of 57 rinks were entered in thespiel which ran from Wednesday evening, January 7 through to Sunday, January 11.

Teams enjoyed excellent weather for travelling to and from thespiel as well as very good ice conditions thanks to caretaker Bob Stevens.

Winner of the first event was the Don Mackinnon rink of Sedgewick who defeated the Vern Halse rink of Killam in a close game which ended with a final score of 8-6.

The Henry Halse rink of Viking defeated the J.I. Caw rink of St. Paul which was skipped by Murray Cumming. This was also a very close game.

In the third event the K. Bowtell rink from Wainwright and the G. Maxwell rink of Viking were to have played off in the finale but due to the late time of the draw and several players who had to return to Edmonton and elsewhere, an agreement was reached putting the Bowtell rink in first place.

2. Vern Halse
3. N. Brown
4. S. Davis

The Viking Curling Club would like to thank everyone who participated in the bonspiel and also to the ladies who brought food and donated their time in the snack bar.

Viking man wins $100,000

"How many good things can happen to a person at one time," asked 66 year old Palmer Nordstrom, a retired municipal administrator from Viking, B.C., winning a $100,000 prize on the December 17th Western Express lottery was just the beginning.

"We are expecting our first grandchild at any time. My daughter-in-law was rushed to the hospital this morning and we're all on pins and needles expecting to hear any moment," said the excited Mr. Nordstrom. "Then we find out that our ticket is worth $100,000," added Gerda Nordstrom, Palmer's wife.

Gerda and Palmer, two sons and a daughter.

"I promised one of my sons that if we ever win the lottery I would help him set up a veterinary office in Viking and I am going to do it," said Palmer. "Now our family will be together again," he concluded.

Former Sedgewick and Hardisty man flying in British Columbia by Don Vinkhede taken from article in a B.C. newspaper

Leon Gorman's main job is flying men, food and equipment to and from the little Diamond Lumber Mill on Taki Lake, 66 miles north-east of Bulkley and about 100 miles from Williams Lake.

Leon is a senior pilot for Phoenix and Therrien's parent company, B.C. Forest Products.

The plane was first owned by Leon but later sold to this company. It is a DC-8 and was sold for $60,000. Now one engine is worth $40,000 alone.

Leon is 36 years old and has been flying for 16 years and feels that he has logged at least 15,000 to 17,000 hours. He is the only one to fly this plane for 15 years.

He flies to Taki Lake Tuesday, Thursday and every alternate Monday and Friday, stopping at Prince George to pick up men for a 10-day shift at the lumber mill.

He also flies regularly to Vancouver with company men.

When B.C. Forest Products started three new mills in Western Alberta, he flew in a number of the personnel and still does that at times.

He carries a couple and an engineer and the DC-8 is used as an ambulance when required.

Leon says that the DC-8 logs about 700 hours of flying per year which is a high number for corporate flying.

He carries a million tons and about a million passengers each year.

He can haul 800 pounds of freight, mostly perishable and 30 passengers or just 6,000 pounds of freight.

The plane is so well equipped radio-wise that they hardly ever miss a day due to the weather.

The other Arctic which he flies keeps the plane in top notch shape, not waiting for parts to break, but pieces are replaced on a regular basis according to a maintenance schedule.

Two years ago as well as many other parts are kept on hand, so if a repair job is needed, they are not delayed by waiting for parts.

The DC-8 is called a slow plane as it's cruising speed is about 170 miles per hour and it is designed to carry large heavy loads out of bad strips. When it flies over miles it was 2000 feet.

where at Taki Lake, it is about 4,500 feet.

When Leon first flew in the Arctic, he had some very old planes to fly and no instruments like he has now.

The DC-8 is equipped with radio, etc., more costly than the plane itself.

Leon feels that flying for a corporation is one of the best jobs there is.

We would like to say that Hardisty and Sedgewick are very proud of their one-time pupil who has certainly made his mark in the DC-8 world.

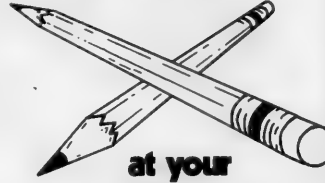

Leon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gorman and now their youngest son Paul is also flying. However, he is most fortunate to have a brand new plane to fly.

Gretna Goodwill Club meets

The Gretna ladies held their annual meeting at the home of Helen O'Reilly on January 6, with 19 in attendance. The year-end statement showed we have had a busy year and still have quite a healthy bank balance.

The old bills were all paid up and other old business attended to. It was also decided to donate the 1981 calendar to the Grade 12 Central High School holiday.

The secretary (Donna) gave a full account of the annual Christmas party, held at St. John's on Dec. 28. There were 45 people who shared the bounteous buffet pot luck supper, followed by games and contests, put on by Christine Armstrong and Helen Sutherland. These contests provided amusing and interesting as were the prizes awarded.

Etta Howe provided some background music on the piano with some of our group singing along with her.

Six tables of players then percolated in ten hands of Count Whist, which proved very entertaining. Marjorie Adamson and Hester Witte won the high score prize and Emilie MacKenzie and Scott Cameron got the low score prize.

Needless to say, the enjoyable evening closed with treats for everyone and a cash lunch.

The President (Christine A.) then declared the meeting open for election of officers. The results are as follows: President - Helen Sutherland; Vice-Pres. - Mary Bromberg; Sec. - Trina - Helen O'Reilly (re-elected); Sick Committee or Card Governor - Marlene Simpson; Reporter - Mary Albright (re-elected).

The secretary (Donna) has no guess how much money was in the birthday jar. No one

Hardisty

Chamber of Commerce

Business Manager Gerry Brille reported on the huge success of November. Mrs. Jean Dwan brought up all the date on the latest news from the Homecoming Committee.

Flag Committee Chairman Rose Marie Thompson reported that flags and bunting from homes were recently received from Barbados, Ireland, India, Netherlands and Luxembourg. Correspondence received from the offices of several heads of state indicates a desire to visit Hardisty in the future. Those who perhaps may pay a visit in the future include Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, Alberta Premier Peter Lougheed, Manitoba Premier Sterling Lyon, Yukon Commissioner David Ball, Illinois Governor James Thompson, and Louisiana Governor David T. McKeith.

It would seem that Hardisty is becoming a place of great interest to many people from all over the world. The roll call was a contribution of a whole drive prize.

Entertainment was provided by Elsie Simpson in the form of a contest which was won by Rosemary Kampan and Benita Simpson as 1980. They were awarded to Joan Heworth and Elsie Cookson.

Following the business meeting, the business served a delicious lunch and also gave the ladies a tour of a lovely new home. The afternoon was much enjoyed by all.

SNOWMOBILE POKER RALLY

Anglican Church News

New officers installed

Donna E. Martin

Well, the Christmas season is over, and we are now launching a new year with new enthusiasm and new dreams. Freshly dusted and polished for the occasion, the roster status that he has much to be thankful for, a list particularly emphasized at Christmas and New Year's. I'm sure the rest of us can share his sentiments.

In a ceremony held Sunday evening at St. John's Church, Sedgewick, Lay Reader Kenneth was presented to Mr. Ken Ashburn and Mr. Colin Sutherland and Mr. Edwin Butcher. Ken is undertaking lay readership for the first time. Colin is a seasoned veteran, and Ned, at 86 years of age, holds the distinction of being the oldest lay reader in the Diocese, and perhaps even in Canada. Blessings in all three of us.

Officers for 1981 were installed by Rev. Conrad at a meeting of All Saints A.C.W. on Friday. President is Marie Martin, Vice-President, Sandra Boudich; and Secretary, Trina. The Jahnke family has returned from Hawaii where they welcomed in the New Year.

Bad and Margaret Colbert are enjoying the sun in Hawaii, as is Jack Butcher. Cathy Schloesser and children of Prince Albert visited for several days with the Conrad family.

Tom Lester was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conrad Jr. at Oakton. Mrs. Margaret Jarouch of Edmonton was down to see Father Ned Butcher receive his lay reader license.

Margaret Martin has returned to ordinary life with her parents after a whirlwind week with Grandma and Grandpa in Finkhof. Greg and Donna Martin were visitors to Edmonton last week where Donna continued her work with the CNB Co-ordinating Committee for the International Year of the Disabled Person.

Historical Society formed

Art Eastly

Art Eastly was elected President of the newly formed Sedgewick Historical Society at a formation meeting in the Senior Drop-In Centre in Sedgewick, January 13.
The meeting transformed the former history book committee into a society to enable the group to receive provincial government funding easier.
The idea was brought forward by Elaine Keith and Helen Whitten after attending a November workshop sponsored by the government on the topic of writing a local history book.
It was suggested at the meeting that historical committees form a society in writing their own history book.
Presently the society has been allocated $6,000 from the province to publish a history book.
Upon completion of the history book, the Sedgewick Historical Society will not split up, said Helen Whitten. There will be a lot of unused material and a need to continue educating the children about the history of the town.

Airport commission being planned

Alberta Transportation advises that the town of Sedgewick is one of the 30 County of Flagstaff airports form an airport commission to assist in operation and maintenance.
Hardisty is presently operating its own airport, however it seems that soon there will be one between the towns of Killam and Sedgewick, and one at Fort-Elgin.
The operational duties would be to set fees for landing, control the airports' safety conditions and general planning.
Alberta Transportation suggests that the airport commission consist of both local government representatives and concerned private individuals.
Mr. Lohman would like to see the airport commission operate similarly to the ambulance. Although there are four ambulance units, they are all operated under the Flagstaff Ambulance service.

Embarrassing

The Alberta school system should be embarrassed that 50 per cent of the first-year education and science students at the University of Alberta failed recent tests of grammar, punctuation and argumentation. However, knowledge of English insufficiencies may spur better programming.

Already the U of A has set up a remedial English program that is showing improved results. But, waiting until university to become totally literate is ludicrous.

Such English programs should be set up in public schools to improve English skills before the students go to work or to higher educational facilities.

In public school, this semi-literacy is an even greater problem than the university tests show. Those that attend university are generally the upper portion of scholastic achievers.

The U of A deserves a pat on the back for attempting to correct the lack of literacy problem. If the school system took the same initiative, there would be no need for the University program.

What Others Say

Crow Rate up to the farmers

In the current Alberta atmosphere of profound estrangement from Central Canada, it is refreshing that the former deputy premier of the Loughheed Government does not blame Ontario and Quebec for one of the West's chronic problems. He said, "Where Canadian farmers don't have anyone but themselves to blame for the failure to solve the problem of statutory freight rates. 'This one we can't blame on Central Canada,' the former federal transportation co-ordinator told a Western Canada Economic Conference on the food industry.

His own solution also makes sense: Railways should be paid a compensatory rate, the difference between the artificially low Crow Rates and the real cost of shipping grain. The extra cost of about $300 million a year should be divided equally between Ottawa and producers.

What hope for democracy here?

The world has witnessed the decline of empires and the rise of dozens of new nations in the last generation. The new nations are mostly in poor regions where the economic problems would be extremely difficult even with the most efficient and experienced governments.

With inadequate resources, dissenting minorities and delusions of grandeur, the problems are frightful.

People of new nations have been inspired with the hope that freedom would bring standards of living comparable to the more fortunate nations of the world. But, even with large investments of capital, efficient management, hard work and good government, most of these nations are too poor and too backward to provide their peoples with a standard of living equal to the poorest of European nations (Portugal, for instance) by the end of the current century.

Those are the nations to which democracy was offered as a panacea for their economic backwardness. The frail hope is that the world will thus be safer for democracy.

Many years ago G.K. Chesterton, the English writer, observed, "The world will never be safe for democracy. It is too dangerous a trade."

COME ALIVE

Pastor Nolan Haring
Sedgewick Church of the Nazarene

Greetings is the name of the risen Lord:

"Please Love Me" is the title of a book by Keith Miller. Another book asks the question: "If you really knew me, would you still love me?" We live in a world that speaks constantly about love, with little understanding of its genuine nature. It seems so easy for us to say "I love you" with our lips, while the way we live shouts "I love me." In a self-centered world, people cry for genuine love.

Into such a world comes the message of Christ. The Bible tells us that God has loved us "with an everlasting love" (Jeremiah 31:3), and has given expression to that love by sending His Son to our world. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16).

How different the love of God is from our love. Our love is so centered in ourselves. When we say "I love you," if we were really being honest, we would confess that what we are really saying is "I love you because you love me."

or "I love you because you fulfill a need in my life." Such expressions of love are not wrong in themselves. The tragedy is that many people never discover that there is a far more powerful, joyful level of love, that goes far beyond the mere emotion of feeling good to the deep commitment of the will.

God's love flows from the very nature of God. God is love. He tells us that He loves us, and then gives expression to that love in specific action for our good. His love prompted Him to do something on our behalf, with no strings attached.

The cross stands as God's ultimate expression of love. Because of our sin we deserved the sentence of death, forever separated from the love of God. But God, in His great love, acted by taking our place on the cross. And as we place our faith in the death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, we find forgiveness and a personal realization and experience of how much God really loves us.

The exciting thing is that when we respond to the love of God by giving our lives to Him, His love begins to flow into and through us. For the first time we begin to sense that we are loved for ourselves, and that God has given us a love for others that we didn't realize was possible.

To love someone else the way God loves you is the deepest expression of love. To be able to sincerely and honestly say "God loves you and I love you" is a thrilling reality. It is a fulfilling way to live. It can be true, but only if we know that God loves us, and we respond to that love by a full commitment of our lives to God. May it be so!

While pursuing one of my non-essential pastimes, that of watching TV, the other evening, there appeared on the screen a young aspiring athlete who was boxing up on his baseball pitching abilities and being coached to develop and control his curve ball. He apparently was a freeball thrower but was learning the fact that more is required. The fact came out that Canada produces very few baseball players with the talent to land in the Major Leagues. This is understandable considering the climatic conditions, the shortness of the baseball season and the fact that the game itself is not a Canadian National Pastime. Our production line in sports is producing hockey players and in this field we rank with the best in the world and our export in this area has a very favorable credit balance. When we DO produce a ball player that makes it to the top ranks it produces headlines. Maybe we are on the way up though with the introduction of Triple AAA baseball in Edmonton. It may encourage native Canadians to try harder but we're not excited about it.

I DON'T RIGHTLY KNOW why I got started on the above theme because it isn't what I want to say, except that it is to do with production, and production is what I talk about.

LATER ON in the TV evening a "Newswatch" quoted a supposedly knowledgeable person who disclosed that "there are people starving in the world." Not a very startling revelation. When he went on to say that the grain is not getting to the starving, and that "the farmers are partly to blame for the situation" I became instantly alert and interested, because after all I am partly "stubble jumper" and live among people of the same stripe. There is some truth to the statement because some farmers hold back deliveries into the next financial year thinking that if they deliver the Tax Department will take a good chunk of the receipts, so they try to balance it out year to year. I see no other reason for holding back deliveries EXCEPT that the system will not allow continuous and "evened out" deliveries. You sell so much and that's it, then you wait until you are allowed to deliver more.

DO NOT BLAME the farmers for depriving the starving of food. They are not the problem. It's the system that's wrong. Improve the system of delivery and marketing and the farmers will DELIVER THE GRAIN. It's just as simple as that. Restrict deliveries from the farm and you force the farmer to build more bins for on-the-farm storage. Grain on the farm will never feed hungry people. Plug the elevators at the terminals for any number of insane reasons and you do not feed hungry people. Tying up scores of box cars on side-lanes filled to the roof, or empty, does not alleviate the situation but simply points up the fact that the SYSTEM is not functioning due to the inexperience of those in control. To declare that the pace of Canada's grain exports depends on the pace of the farmer deliveries to the elevators, is laughable if it were not so tragic. It depends more on the transportation system to keep the grain moving on a regular basis. Solve that problem, Mr. Leibfried of the Wheat Board and you will get your grain deliveries on a regular basis to meet the needs of your foreign customers, whom you declare "want grain on a regular basis." The declaration that country elevator stocks are now 15 percent less than at this time last year, could well be solved by allowing more deliveries and then moving it out. It is past time the Government took some positive action in arriving at a solution to the whole transportation mess, and appointing another task force to examine the situation is an exercise in futility. The answers are well known, so why not get on with it directly.

WINTER CLEARANCE SALE

Hardisty Public Library News

Children's Book Sale Very Successful
The Children's Book Sale, held Dec. 1 and 2, was a fantastic success! The book sale will be held again next year in late November or early December, coinciding with the Parents/Teacher Interview Day as before.

New Members
The Hardisty Library Board welcomes three new members who were appointed to the Library Board in January 1981: Barbara Davidson for one year, Jerry Davidson for two years and Beth Schmidt for three years.

Book Talks For Junior High
In January, a six week B-Option began for Junior years. The other board members, Belva DeMuel, President, Beatrice Hahn, Mary Goodrich, Vera Hendrich, Judy Routledge and Bert Jackson, will continue in office until the termination of their appointments. Hilary Gray was appointed as Hardisty Town Council representative. Irina Matthews is Secretary/Treasurer. Our Librarian is Jo-Anne Mitchell.

High students at Hardisty Public. Three times a week, Mrs. Joan Drager, Mrs. Beth Schmidt and Mrs. Judy Routledge take turns introducing 28 students to one novel in some depth and showing the students other audio-visual or tape-recorded novels. All books covered in the option are available in the young adult or adult sections of the library. The students are required to read one book (or more) introduced in the option and to record title and author only. The objectives of this course are to broaden the students' reading interests, to make the students aware of the book selection available at the public library and most importantly to promote reading for enjoyment.

New Children's Book Section
The Hardisty Library has begun to set up a new section of children's books. In this new section you will find books for the very young (ages 3 months to 3 years). The children's books in the library are now divided into five sections. Section 0: Books for the Very Young (ages 3 months to 3 years). Section 1: Picture Books (ages 4 and up). Section 2: Young Readers (ages 6 to 8). Section 3: Intermediate Readers (ages 9 to 13). Section 4: Young Adults (ages 13-up).

that you would like to donate or a cash donation to the Library Memorial Book Fund. Donations may be made to Jo-Anne, at the Library or to Belva, at the Bank of Commerce.

Anglican Church News

Donna C. Martin
We are happy to hear that Mrs. Ella Clouston and Mr. Bill Cookson appear to be on the mend after their recent illnesses. However, a number of parishioners have been having a hard time with the flu. Among them are Colin Rosseth, Greg Martin, and Kathy Leaman. Well, our good report is upset again. It seems that his congregations have been devolving in the same Christmas. He'd like to know what it is that we have all been doing to do on Sundays when he would like to see us in church. Is the January 2nd service boring? Could all of us be running ourselves into a southern beach? One thing is for sure—it can't be the weather or our usual Jasonia scene. To get with it, folks, let's keep our reader happy. Join us in church this Sunday, please.

Moody evening's meeting of wardens and treasurers for the January 2nd Parish was well attended and lively. The pot luck supper produced so much food that we'll have to call another meeting just to make use of the leftovers.

Everybody make a special effort to attend the megagalactic pot luck supper and annual meeting of St. Edmund's Anglican at the Parish Hall in Sedgewick on Thursday, February 5 at 6:00 p.m. This is a family affair. Come and find out how our churches are faring.

Does anyone happen to know the fate of two almost-new card tables purchased last fall by the A.C.W. seem to have gone astray. Let's jog our memories, and see if we can locate them.

Hardisty Playschool begins new season

Toddler Inc. Hardisty's playschool has begun its 1981 season. December saw Toddler Inc. mothers participating in the Farmers' Market and Moonlight Madness activities, both of which were profitable undertakings for the group.

Toddler Inc. has Mrs. Ruth Wustan as co-ordinator and Ruth with the assistance of the mothers conducts a program for the three year olds to kindergarten age. This is a non-academic experience and gives the children an opportunity to socialize at his or her own level.

Thompson-Fryer exchange vows

St. Paul's Anglican Church, Edmonton, was the scene of the double-ring ceremony uniting Deborah, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fryer of St. Albert, to Ronald Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Thompson of Sedgewick, on Tuesday, December 30, 1980, at 4:00 p.m.

Rev. Frank Wilson of Vermilion, long time friend of the bride's parents, performed the ceremony. Kathryn Wilson was the organist and Joan Boyarzin sang a solo while the register was being signed.

The bride looked lovely in a long white gown and jacket with white fur trim. Her head-piece and bouquet were made of red sweet heart roses, white baby's breath and baby's breath. She was given away by her father. Her attendants were her sister Diane, and friend Joan Boyarzin wearing long deep rose colored gowns with white fur capes. They carried bouquets of white baby's breath and baby's breath.

The groom was dressed in a light grey 3 piece suit and wore a boutonniere which matched the bride's bouquet. The groomsmen.

The couple have made their home in Edmonton.

Merna 4-H Multi Club meets

Well, we are really getting into the winter months. The camera, however, has brought many types of cameras that we all enjoyed looking at. We observed all the different types of cameras that we all enjoyed looking at. A simple camera's lens is not as simple as it seems to be. The camera, you can't adjust it, to allow it more light on a cloudy day or allow less on a bright day. An adjustable, allows you to make a wide range of exposure, for distance and the amount of light allowed in. An automatic works much like the adjustable, except its its name it's automatic. A movie camera, "records" action by taking sequences of still pictures that give the impression of motion when they're projected in rapid succession. They can be simple, adjustable, or automatic.

THE FILM: Here we were introduced on purchasing the correct film for your type of camera and film taking. Just about anything can make a good subject. It's all a matter of how you use it.

PROCESSING: In what the photo-finisher does to give you your prints or photos which were made from a negative, which he processes, was your film.

After our informative project meeting, Mrs. Bechthold served as all a very nice lunch and members were assigned to look over the next section of our book: "The Art of Your Camera," for Feb. 11th.

Hugh Murdoch passes

A resident of Alberta for the past 54 years, Hugh Murdoch passed away in the Coronation Hospital on Saturday, January 8, 1981 at the age of 89 years. He was born in Pukshila, Ireland on May 1, 1901 where he grew up and attended school, coming to Oregon, U.S.A. at the age of 18, working in the lumber mill near Hoodriver, Oregon for several years before he started farming in that area. He moved to the Talbot area in 1927 where he worked on farms and later moved to the Fairfield area. In 1960 he moved to the Coronation area where he resided for several years before moving to the Coronation Lodge in Sedgewick, later Castron, and then the Coronation Nursing Home where he lived until his passing.

Mr. Murdoch is survived by four daughters: Margaret, Janet, Joan and Helen; and two sons: Alton, Vancouver, Wash., and Myra, Norwalk, Cal. He is also survived by 13 great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife Della on January 1, 1980 and a grandson in 1976.

Funeral services were conducted from Fairfield Baptist Church, Brownfield, Alaska on Tuesday, January 13, 1981 at 2:00 p.m. by Rev. Alton Nelson, officiating. Mrs. Hilma Cole was organist and a choir selection was sung by Mrs. Myrtle Cole and Mrs. Gwen Scheffelmiller. The congregation sang "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "All the Way My Savior Leads Me."

Home insulation grants

If your house was built before 1981, you are eligible for a grant under the government's Canadian Home Insulation Program (CHIP).

Here is how the program works. If you do the insulating yourself, you are eligible for a grant that will cover 100 per cent of the insulating material you purchase to use in your attic, walls and floor or 85%, whichever is the lesser. The quality for the grant all the materials used must be approved by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

If you hire a licensed insulator to do the work, you are eligible for the above grant to cover the materials plus the cost of one-third of the required labor or $150, whichever is the lesser. This means that if you pay a licensed insulator $800 for his labor, you can claim $100. However, if you pay him $600, you can only claim $150. Therefore, the maximum grant you can receive if you hire somebody to do the work is $750.

It is important to remember that you will only be eligible for a grant under this part of the program if you hire a licensed insulator. If you are not sure whether the person you are planning to hire is licensed, be sure to check with Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs in Edmonton.

Another point to remember is that grants under CHIP are not tax deductible. They must not be included in your income.

Further information can be obtained by telephoning 403-5480 in Edmonton or by writing to the Canadian Home Insulation Program, P.O. Box 9800, Postal Station, C. Edmonton. Grant application forms can be obtained from the same address.

Modern X-Ray equipment in use at Killam Hospital

The Sisters of St. Joseph, who own and operate the Killam General Hospital, are pleased to announce the arrival of the new X-ray equipment, which is being used to upgrade equipment to keep pace with ever-changing modern requirements, have within the past ten months purchased and installed what is considered fully modern X-ray facilities, affordable and useful to rural hospitals. This modern equipment purchased and installed by Pickingup Engineering, Edmonton, has in a short ten months proven its worth.

To put it mildly, and to use a hackneyed but modern expression, "we have come a long way baby" from the days when Doctors "set" broken bones and diagnosed many-body ailments through a combination of knowledge and hopeful guessing. Now the location and nature of the ailment shows clearly on the exposed negative.

Jeri Blatz, who is a Registered Technician in Radiography, is responsible for explaining the operational and technical aspects of the new equipment, which for the most part was over the head of this reporter, but what was grasped, partially, is now passed on to you who may be "subjected" to the finer aspects of the machine, and want to know what they're doing to you.

Well, the "thing" consists of an Astra table which has the ability to tilt from 88 degrees vertical to 12 degrees horizontal to a community.

Beautiful Yards Chairman Jim Thomson then made the presentations of the framed, color photo of last summer's winners of the Best of the Year Contest. Mr. and Mrs. Pat Madden graciously accepted their award, but unfortunately the other two winning couples were not present.

Election of officers for the 1981 year saw last year's slate returned by acclamation with no further nominations from the floor. Doug Driver continues as President, with Louis Johnson as Vice-President, Jean Dunn as Secretary and Bob Taylor as Treasurer. Appointments of committees made will take place at the February meeting.

We were honored to have the meeting brought to a close with remarks by Mayor Rick Stutsen.

The membership drive is now under way, so it is hoped that we see a lot of new faces at the next meeting, which will be held Wednesday, February 25, 7:30 at the Parkland Manor.

radiation exposure to the patient. The set-up also includes a foot rest for the table end, a head clamp for precise skull radiology, shoulder rests for patient security, and hand grips. Also included is an infant "Rigo-Stat", a positioner and mobilizer which reduces restraints and so less radiation exposure.

All this along with a switch-over from manual developing of films, to an automatic processor making for a saving of time and less use of space makes the entire service more modern. It now takes only two minutes and six seconds to develop and dry the film of better quality.

Jeri informed me that the presentation has been timing well with only a minor problem, and meets all the standards that have been set by the Radiation Protection Act. As the Operator on the machine, she is assisted (on call) by a Registered Technologist in Radiography, and a Registered Technologist in Radiography, and a Registered Technologist in Radiography, and a Registered Technologist in Radiography.

The overall table right mounted is most useful in performing the routine chest X-rays. Operators on the machine can be positioned by the track and trolley assembly rigidly placed will support heavy X-ray tubes without vibration. Then there is the "Control Panel" situated behind a lead-lined wall with a generator which provides for well exposure latitudes. It has the capacity to stop in the ability to tilt from 88 degrees vertical to 12 degrees horizontal to a community.

LIVESTOCK BEHAVIOR

Some interesting insights into animal behavior are contained in an article by T. Tennenbaum, Department of Animal Science, University of Alberta. Perhaps some of the things animals are discovering are management schemes and machinery may create new problems for livestock.

T. Tennenbaum suggests that three aspects of animal environment stand out as sources of behavioral problems: crowding, handling and transport, and environmental monotony.

Crowding is probably the most common condition of intensive husbandry. The immediate result of crowding is to increase the level of agonistic encounters. Among cattle, stress, increases aggression does not pose the danger of a few angry runs and postures. Increased aggression leads to a more rigid dominance hierarchy. Although a rigid hierarchy may initially reduce fighting, it also has the effect of preventing subordinate animals from approaching food or water troughs.

Other effects of crowding, such as reduced fertility and deficient maternal behavior, also have been documented. Subordinate animals are the first to suffer from such crowding stress.

HANDLING AND MANAGEMENT
Very few generalizations can be made about the reactions of livestock to handling. So much depends on the tractability and degree of training of the animals. But livestock handlers should understand that rough handling leads to fear and excitement in the animals and may result in a loss of up to several days weight gain. As a rule, handlers should aim to keep livestock as calm as possible during routine management and transport.

While mixing unfamiliar animals before transport to the packing plant, it is especially important to keep them calm as possible during routine management and transport.

sure that the cattle are slaughtered immediately on arrival at the packing plant. Alternatively, perform the necessary regrouping of a couple of weeks before slaughter. This will allow cattle to become accustomed to the slaughterhouse and it will give each animal and its attendant some physiological and psychological effects of the initial stress.

ENVIRONMENTAL MONOTONY
Although the husbandry of agricultural animals often involves stimulus-intensive situations such as handling and over-crowding, there is a trend toward reducing environmental complexity in the housing of domestic animals. Facilities are designed to be clean, secure and necessary to provide animals with an adequate stimulating environment. Instead, livestock are often faced with constant monotony.

There is a saying that a contented cow is a productive cow. The problem lies in deciding what environmental characteristics are regarded by animals as being satisfying. Domestic livestock, like their wild relatives, crave familiarity in their surroundings (both physical and social), and they also thrive best when there is some outlet for their natural food-seeking behavior.

Hardisty Council stands alone

It appears that the Hardisty/Town Council is the only municipal council in the County of Flagstaff that sees fit to inform the public it's serving.

In an editorial on December 3, 1980 The Community Press suggested that the towns and villages in the county begin informing the public by reporting publicly after each council meeting. We feel that it's the only democratic way of doing things.

There are some councils in the county that have been boasting about how young and ambitious they are. Boasting is acceptable if claims are backed up. But thus far there is not proof.

Other councils seem too old and set in their ways to feel that it is necessary to report the happenings at their meetings. With this attitude possibly the public made a mistake in the October election.

Perhaps it's just sheer laziness that prevents these councils from reporting. Whatever the cause, we hope it's not that these councils' livelihood is more intact by keeping the public in the dark.

A personal decision

Even with all of the adverse evidence that smoking causes countless respiratory problems, all the anti-smoking groups and laws, and the millions of dollars spent advertising the effects of smoking, people continue to smoke. The numbers have dropped, but not as drastically as someones indicated. In comparing surveys carried out by Statistics Canada from 1965 to 1979 many facts become evident.

First of all, the common current phrase is "smokers are now the minority." Sure they are, but they were also the minority in 1965.

The percentage of non-smokers has increased in that time period from 50.2 to 60.1. An increase Health & Welfare Canada calls "slow."

Also, the percentage of regular cigarette smokers who smoke cigarettes with less than 14 mg. of tar has increased from 18.5 per cent in 1977 to 30.9 per cent in 1979.

The percentage of regular cigarette smokers has dropped from 42.8 to 34.2. Occasional cigarette smokers have increased from 3.4 percent to 3.5 and pipe and or cigar only smokers remains constant at just over two per cent of the population over 15 years of age.

The fact is that smokers cause respiratory problems among non-smokers who breathe the same air. But it has also been proven that so does car exhaust, fiberglass particles, all types of dust and countless other substances when inhaled.

There should be either an all out effort to eliminate things that cause respiratory problems or discontinue the attempt to eliminate one specific cause.

Still, the average hypocritical non-smoker who complains about smokers' polluting the air jumps in the car every morning for an environment polluting drive to work.

Although choosing to smoke may be a poor choice, it remains a personal choice; nothing more, nothing less.

What Others Say

Down ease opinion not that bad

Peter C. Newman, well known writer in Maclean's magazine has an "eastern opinion" that should be dear to the hearts of westerners, who don't want to, but are considering as a last resort the issue of secession.

Writing in the December 15 issue of Maclean's Newman's editorial "We've now learn to stop selling cheap and buying dear" deals in a cocaine way with a major economic problem in Canada. The fact that Canada last year brought in $17 billion more in finished goods than we sent out of the country, is one of his most pointed remarks. Another he refers to the Canadian Institute for Economic Policy which estimates that in one field alone - supplying equipment for energy-related investments between now and 1990 - new markets worth $67 billion will open up for Canadian manufacturing. Such opinions that the west has been trying to tell the east for the past year or so... but who is listening? As Newman points out, "Instead, the federal panjandrums who govern our collective destinies, should get their noses out of the constitutional textbooks long enough to formulate a decent industrial strategy for this country."

Mr. Newman need not say anymore on a mission of his own, if necessary, to turn the thinking around in the federal department of policy-making... for failing a more balanced approach to Canadian "home productivity" in relation to imports, we soon will have nothing with which to bargain with - The Hanna Herald

Last rites held for Phyllis Thompson

Phyllis Thompson of Camrose passed away suddenly January 10, 1981. Phyllis was united in marriage to Lillian Thompson on September 25, 1964. She resided in the Longhead and Sedgewick area until the fall of 1980 when she and her husband moved to Camrose where she resided until the time of her passing. Phyllis was a loving wife and mother and a sincere friend to many. She leaves to mourn her passing: her loving husband, Lillian, two sons, Clinton and Steven, all of Camrose; her mother, Maude Esther of Sedgewick; her father, James Edmondson and Lorraine of Creston, B.C.; three brothers, Leroy of Peace River and Dwayne of Sedgewick; a number of sisters, nephews, nieces and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held in Camrose at the Methodist Lutheran Church at two o'clock, Tuesday, January 13, with Pastor Vern Beagles officiating. Organist was Annabel Westby. Burial was in the cemetery at Camrose. Interment followed at the Camrose Cemetery. Burial was in the cemetery at Camrose. The kit for this seminar has now been received, and if you would be interested in studying and working through it with us, please register with Helen Alford at 864-3600 or Donna Martin at 864-3644. Time and location of the seminar will be decided according to the preference of the participants.

Marilyn Tutkank and daughters have returned to Clines, Saskatchewan, following a visit with her mother Thelma Tanton and family.

We welcome home brother-in-law, Gordon Ward of Sedgewick, who is getting along well.

It is a relief and joy to learn that the tiny baby son of Bill and Norma Felpete of Storm is now well on his way to a safe recovery in the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton.

Board announces school holiday

The Flaxstaff Board of Education decided to have a Farmers' Day this year and let the students out of school for a day on June 12, at its regular meeting, February 4, at the County Office in Sedgewick.

The Board of Education and five other surrounding school divisions form the E2B Island Association. The association must have a majority vote on the issue however, and the teachers will vote on the increase in the future.

Apparently in Hester, a seven year old with the help of a six year old accomplished blasted five windows at the school with a pellet gun. R.C.M.P. have two suspects.

The Board of Education as part of the E2B Island Regional School Authority Association, decided to sign a memorandum of agreement with the teachers to give them a 14.4 per cent wage increase for 1981.

The Board believes that it is good to have people who work with a large public knowing first aid.

The Board agreed that three students from Furberburg Junior High School be named to take part in a counselling service by Preventive Social Services.

Winter Wipe-out Days is a yearly celebration in Hardisty which began in the mid-1970's to raise money for the Arena Management Committee's operating fund.

All schools in the county are participating in the program and have been for some time. This year the Board of Education expects the counselling to cost about $1,000.

The fifth annual Olmest's Bonspiel is expecting more than the planned 48 entries this year, as an entry draw will take place on February 14.

The popular bonspiel, sponsored by the East Central Alberta Olmest's Bonspiel Association, will have about $4,000 in prize money up for grabs in 1981.

The bonspiel will be held in the same four courts as last year; Amisk, Hardisty, Lougheed and Sedgewick. It is scheduled for February 20-22.

Hardisty Winter Wipe-out Days

About $400 was raised towards the Arena Management Committee's operation fund during Winter Wipe-out Days at Community Centre 54, says Committee member Jim Powell.

The three day event has something for everyone in Wipe-out Days tradition. There was a skating party, hockey games, curl-golf, a curl tournament and sleigh rides and shows for the children.

The Hardisty Curling Club opened the sleigh rides, and the National Film Board donated the sleigh which were free to the children. The Hardisty Longhorns hockey team hosted a net tournament on Sunday. All proceeds during Wipe-out Days went to the arena.

Friday night hockey saw the Viking midget team defeat Hardisty 5-1. On Saturday, the Hughenden midgets beat Hardisty was the mens win-

Hardisty Town Council

Dog catcher a possibility

Dogs at large: It is a problem to you! It seems if these animals at large are not controlled, beware, we have no choice but to hire a dog catcher!

Look in the future to the meeting to be called in starting an Economic Development Committee for the Town of Hardisty. We need every one's support.

Major concern was expressed over the North-western Utilities estimates and how they seem at times very unreasonable and put unnecessary financial burden on certain people.

The Airport Terminal Building has arrived and will be put into use in the near future.

The Town Council has endorsed the purchase of a second fire alarm to be mounted on the Arena to help improve the second coverage.

Prepared by Councillor Bria.

The Killam Over the Hills took on the Killam peewees recently. Even with the help of a couple of miles, Over the Hills could manage a 7-7 tie. Members of Killam Over the Hills are: (l. to r.) Gene (Gino) Lafontaine, Reg (Father) Fee, Stan Antas, Gary Zettell, Ken (Easo) Stainthorpe, Gary (Mr. Zoro) Sperniti, Robert Borish, Steve Busse, Bill Stang, Robbie Borish, Bill (Lumper) Gair, Dan (Tom) Lewis, Brian (Bron) Brol, Steve Sorenson. Missing are Lloyd Franko, Doug Bangle, Bruce Gair and Dennis Boutin.

Killam Hospital Auxiliary meeting

On February 5, the Killam Ladies Hospital Auxiliary met in the hospital lounge with 16 members, 9 visitors and Sister Rose Elin. President Marian Brown welcomed the ladies. Meeting opened with all repeating the Auxiliary Prayer in unison. Shirley Fossen the Crafts Coordinator spoke to the meeting on helping with the Bingo on Saturday afternoons usually from 5 to 8 o'clock. Perhaps some could help on other days. Emma George read the minutes of the December meeting. From Betty the new Treasurer gave the financial report also for the past year. Helen Soller, Emma George, and Marie Moore are on the membership committee. Pending communities is Margaret Ward, Ruby Stainthorpe, Maria Brown and Marguerite Gibb. The executive will make out the birth-day, calendar card and lunch reminder for St. Mary's. There is 3000 paper bags made in the past year. Made. Mildred Tyisko and Cyrella Stainthorpe served luncheon supplied by the Sisters.

Anglican Church plans Bible study

Dean Martin
A Bible Study entitled "The Twelve Apostles" is scheduled to begin at the Parish Hall in Sedgewick on February 17 at 7:30 p.m. The second session will take place at the same time and location on March 3. Do come and join us.
Our best wishes to Mrs. Verne Shultz who is still in hospital.
We were saddened to hear of the death on Monday of "Buck" Moser, a treasured friend of many of us. Our sympathy goes out to her family.
The congregational support and meeting last Thursday was pleasant, although we missed the presence of representative from St. Martin's. It really does take five churches to make one Parish work.

Thomas Tuxton has accompanied us on his visit to Sedgewick where he is staying and also is conducting the Sunday school.
From the looks of the packages which the roster has been distributing to us, it looks like the parish visitation. Deacon's Tupperware party must have been a successful one. The next one is scheduled for the Longwood home of Verne Ovens. Give her a call if you need some tupperware or if you'd like a couple of hours away from your kitchen.
David Zwack has returned from his Jerusalem mission, well supplied with souvenirs.

Well, our good roster has done its work. He promised us faithfully at the congregational meeting that he would take a two-week vacation within the next couple of weeks. Now he's leaving to spend his time. Guess we'll just have to kidding him and carry him to the airport.
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw have been holidaying and visiting recently.
We're glad to hear that baby Nicholas Fyfe is now at home with his parents in Stormville after his stay in hospital.
To hear the latest news of baby James Martin? He completed his Daddy's cup of tea on his head - probably trying to raise the Blue Kites on his tail. Fortunately, he emerged relatively unharmed.

Alliance District News

If nothing else was accomplished this weekend, we certainly had our share of sports in various areas. Our 10 and under hockey team hosted the Tuxedo team and registered a 3-2 victory, in a good but very cold game. The senior men's hockey team lost their first game in the Loughheed tournament against the Loughheed Barons. Many of our team members, being the good sports they are, celebrated anyway!

In the badminton tournament at Sedgewick, several of our junior high people competed, with Jeff Bauman playing a trophy for the junior boys singles. Connie Miller and Lynette Sprecher made it to the finals in the senior doubles but were defeated.

Dean Bombough, Craig Spady and Tim Alton played with the Pastor 18 and under again on Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday, they were defeated by Camrose 4-0. On Sunday the team travelled to Provost where they were defeated by Provost in a provincial play down.

Dorothy Pindley, Beryl Bombough, Nancy Bauman, Verlene Spady and spare Helen Stedman took part in the Pastor's ladies' hospital on the weekend. In spite of some close and exciting games the girls were out of the hotel within 24 hours. However I'm sure they earned first prize for having the most fun and for being the most determined. They fought blizzard conditions to and from nearly every game!

Get well wishes go out to Don Johnston in Dayland Hospital. Glad to hear that you'll be home sometime this week. Jane.

Irma Baird is once again in Kilfin Hospital recuperating until she can once again return to the University Hospital in Edmonton. Mom was always ill and variety is her life. I never realized it included hospitals as well!

Edna Alton left Calgary to take and Margaret Alton in Carleton Place this weekend to go galavanting!

There are a few lovely new vehicles being lavished around town this week. One is a truck of Dean Smith's and another the car of Edna Alton's.

Dale and Lou Bauman left on Friday to visit Ruth and Dan and their son Shaun in Canyon Creek (west of Slave Lake). Ruth is the daughter of Harry and Edna, however, in case some of you didn't know.

On Friday evening the South Bend people had their annual wheel and chair party at the home of Carol and Raymond Kuefler. They had nine tables in spite of the wild weather. The winners were: first prize, Isabel Gahn and Gary Miller; second prize, Irene Towers and Bob Bombough; third prize, Carol Kuefler and Glen Miller; fourth prize, Sheila Miller and Bob Bombough.

Speaking of wild weather I've felt quite a few writers about the many people from this area spending their winter vacation in Arizona and missing all of our lovely weather. However this week it's their turn to go! Many the sun make them red and uncomfortable! Anyway hello to all you people that will be returning with the May flowers. Also hello to Percy Spout of Fleet who is also vacationing this week. The 4-5 blizz was held Roy and Beth Kelle of

Loughheed Barons

Rec hockey tournament

On Saturday, Feb. 7 at 10 a.m. saw the Loughheed Barons, a softball team in the summer turn into a rec. hockey team for the tournament with very little practice together. They played the Alliance teams and came out victorious by the score of 10-5.

The second game was between Edmonton and Loughheed with the latter winning 1-0.

Then at 4 o'clock, saw Maxwellville play Viking with Viking winning 4-2.

At 5 p.m. the Irma Lee team played the Loughheed Rec. team. Irma winning by the score of 8-4.

On Sunday at 11 noon, the Loughheed Barons played lots of excitement and good plays.

Congratulations Viking on winning the tournament and congratulations also to the Barons who got into the finals and had a very close final game. With more skilful and practice the Barons softball team could make an impressive hockey team, but on the skating, and the speed, and the teamwork, Monday morning oh yes! But it was fun too.

The final game of the tournament saw Loughheed playing against Viking. The last saw a hard fought battle with plenty of goals made at both ends. The score ended 6-4 for Viking; the winners of the Barons tournament.

All the hockey teams were good to watch with

Travelling in Canada

Possibly the main reason so many Canadians choose to spend their travel dollars in the United States is that they fail to see the opportunity of travel in Canada.

Although Canadians have a quiet pride in their country, they seem mesmerized by the highly publicized beauty of the U.S.A. What about the humble beauty found in this huge land?

The Canadian tourism industry surely won't be supported by the 250 million people down south. Somehow they are under the impression that we live in igloos and eat whale blubber.

Canadians must support their own travel industry instead of spending millions upon millions of 85 cent pieces in the United States. And, that really isn't such a tough chore.

One special week

Like Christmas, there is one special time that means a great deal. That is this time of year when we mark an event, not as long standing as the birth of Christ, but the birthday of another who subscribed to the same high ideals but in a different way. His movement has stood the test of time and his memory is honoured world wide.

When he first started he set out ten laws, much like the Ten Commandments and it was by these that young girls and boys promise on "their honour" to fill to the best of their ability.

In case you haven't already

In Alberta, we live next door to some of the most magnificent beauty in the world, the Rocky Mountains. Up north, they are at their best in scenery.

If it's beaches that are desired, one doesn't have to travel to California or Hawaii. Our neighboring province, British Columbia has picturesque sands.

However, Canada's biggest downfall when it comes to the travel industry is the winter. Canadians could probably enjoy the winter if they stopped complaining and started taking advantage of it.

There are big bucks to be found in the tourist industry. But, to get a chunk of them Canadians must not follow the example shown by its leaders, we must shop for travel at home.

guessed, the man is Baden Powell who started the scouting movement in 1907. It has grown until today and is the largest organization for girls and boys in the world. In over 100 countries young people learn about and why one should live clean wholesome, active lives. The learn to live in harmony with nature and each other based upon a very main ingredient, "honour".

It might be a good idea for the thousands who at one time were Guides or Scouts to review and even repledge our selves this special week February 15 to 22nd.

What Others say

What's going on?

Federal Energy Minister Marc Lalonde's visit to western Canada last week has left most westerners wondering just what is going on. What was the purpose of the visit? Was it the minister's hope that he could soothe western feelings of alienation by making a courtesy call on the west?

An on site inspection of Alberta's tar sands doesn't really accomplish too much in the eyes of Albertans at this point in time. Most would rather see the federal and provincial governments get down to a real hard bargaining session which would produce results which were beneficial to all areas of Canada - and not just to the areas where it could be of political advantage to either side.

When we talk about bargaining and getting down to the task at hand, just whose responsibility is it to set up the round of talks? Can the province lay down the time frame to the federal body? Not very likely in this particular case. Can, or for that matter should, the federal government demand the province's presence at the bargaining table? They could be accused of dictating to the province, and likely would be.

What Canada needs right now, more than anything else, are leaders who are prepared to set aside their political interests and for once place the interest of Canada first. Both sides must now make an effort to set up a round of talks that are aimed towards settling the energy question once and for all. It is not necessary to build in rigid timetables, any more than either side should approach the bargaining table with inflexible positions.

Our present situation points out the fact rather clearly that Canada today has an abundance of self-centred power hungry politicians, who are not prepared to put the good of the whole country before their own personal ambitions. Right now we could use a couple of good statesmen who could settle this whole energy question in a round of bargaining, but they don't appear to be on the horizon.

Mr. Lalonde's western excursion accomplished nothing in the field of energy, and his comments regarding the expected delays next fall in shipping western grain to markets won't endear him, or his government to western farmers. His government has the foresight to see difficulties almost a year in advance, but they didn't have the competence to seek out the solutions with all that lead time.

Make's one wonder just what is going on in the minds of our leaders. Watskiwin Times

30 YEARS AGO
At a rhapsody's meeting of the Village of Kilian it was decided to erect an additional land for cemetery purposes. This was moved by Ed Poe, seconded by J. Shennas.

The Sedgewick Barber Shop and Pool Room advertised their scenic sharpening service. Each customer was guaranteed 10 cents.

The Grand Challenge of the Daylight was won by Willard Fyke. Other members of his rink were Raymond Strain, Lawrence Hough and Graham Prynce.

From construction in the flour line. Had it not been for workers mending fire extinguishers, the flour line building would have been destroyed.

The team curling rinks entered the Men's Open Bumples in Alliance last week. The rink of B. Bennett, Darrell Bennett, Sig Foe and Jim Blarck won the Grand Challenge of the Daylight. The Girls' rink failed to get into the prize.

An enthusiastic crowd enjoyed the Red Cross dance held at Heider, February 14. The entertainment was sponsored by the community of Heider and the 901 which obtained will go toward the war effort.

MANKIND CONTINUES to labor and limp toward divided in opinion, with opposing factions advancing rhetorical and theological arguments as to the righteousness or wrongness of procedural conclusions. Especially is this so in the administering of justice. Some (lawyers) go so far as to cite "precedents" as the by-law and deal of judges' conclusions.

Because some judiciary in many years past came to what is termed a sensible, prudent and impartial conclusion upon which to base a verdict in a particular situation, does not necessarily mean that all following cases must be dealt with in similar fashion. Even judges have been wrong, have been uncertain or have even opted out of coming to a conclusion. This was demonstrated recently in Manitoba where three judges voted "two" against and three abstained from voting. Does this not illustrate that even judges are differing in judicial matter? Should this be set down as a precedent, showing that those who are not for it are against it and those who abstain cannot arrive at a conclusion? Could they not fall into the same category? Then where are the precedents? Because the first judge to ever sent once a felon to be hung by the neck until dead, set a precedent most assuredly, does that set the justification for hanging in all similar situations? Precedents set examples but not necessarily right references. There is always a conflict of vengeance and humanitarian instincts.

SOME YEARS AGO there was a man called Ellis. He was probably one among many of the same name throughout Canada, but his was a fictitious name designed to give him protective anonymity. He was called by the humanitarians "Hangman Ellis", for he was the man who "pulled the trigger" for all hangings in Canada. When capital punishment was abolished Hangman Ellis slithered away into obscurity, and so ended a "precedent". We became humanitarians in practice if not in conviction.

ANCIENT ISLAMIC LAW held to the decrees of strict punishment. The intrusion of Western philosophy, so it is claimed, led to easement of the law and creation of an increase in crime. Now, Iran has decided to return to the "Old Law" and the severity of punishment. Are they returning to old "precedents" or inventing new ones to re-establish the supremacy of law and order. Whatever the motive is, there is little doubt that it will have an effect on the crime rate. After all, the first law of man is self preservation. Just be thankful that you live where you do and are not subject to the new Islamic Law. Here is some of it. Perhaps the fiercest among us would like to see it. When the Bill becomes law, it would allow:

A PERSON injured by another, to inflict the same injury on the assailant. If he knocked out your tooth, you can knock his out. The charpented sabre would be brought back to decapitate murderers. The least is that private citizens will be allowed retribution against the offender rather than the State punishing him. With murder and other acts of violence causing injury the next-of-kin of a murder victim, can carry out the execution himself. In the case of the victim can inflict equal damage. In response to dissembowelment of a right hand, the right hand of the offender is cut off; if he has no right hand, then take the left; if he has no left hand then take the right. It's a case of a limb for a limb. The only humanitarian aspect of the Law is that the victim can waive his right to punish and waive the right to have the assailant punished at all. Some murderers are immune. If you insult a saint or a prophet and another kills you for it, he is not punishable. A husband who kills his wife and a "lover" in immune from punishment, but if he kills his child he is subject only to a beating.

AS IN CANADA, so the women say, they (women) are not equal under the law. In Islam two male witnesses are all that is needed to convict a murderer, but even a thousand female witnesses would not be enough. My, my, man's inhumanity to women make countless females mourn and keeps the battle of the sexes on the front gridline.

Overcoming Fear
Fear, like anxiety or stress, may be beneficial or harmful. As a friend, fear serves as an alarm system, alerting us to impending danger. Consequently, when threatened we may prepare for the appropriate reaction to fight, flee or freeze. However, if fear is not soon expelled, it can become a hindrance to our lives. We are called upon to have a "fear of God". This positive type of fear is an awesome respect and reverence for His power and grace. Such a fear will lead us to a deep confidence and trust in God as the Sovereign Ruler over us.

We can commit ourselves to Him. Such a "fear" results in our obedience to Him and His commandments, and this is rewarded by the outpouring of God's loving-kindness to us. The fear (or reverence) of the Lord leads to wisdom and righteousness and a precious relationship with the God who can handle our negative fears.

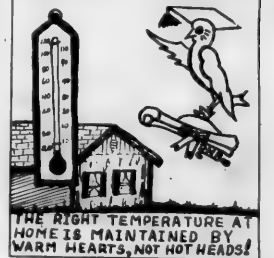

Fear, as an enemy, can debilitate, discourage, demoralize and destroy. The fear of death is perhaps one of the most prevalent and strongest fears to plague mankind. The fear of war, dread disease, accidents, or other catastrophic events related to death also haunts many. Regarding death, the Bible tells us in the Bible, "The sting of death is sin, and the power of sin is the law; but thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. When we receive Jesus Christ as our Lord and Savior, the law of death

His presence with us at all times will relieve the grasp that fear can have on our lives.

Another type of fear, and perhaps the most dangerous, is the unfounded fear of something that is not real. Many people chase paper dragons by means of dreams, role-playing the future, superstitions of the mind, and fears of the imagination. When we are faced with fear we need to ask ourselves, "What am I really afraid of?"

As we strive to live an actual reality now or in the real world, we need to ask ourselves, "What am I really afraid of?" Sometimes we need to seek out someone who can help counsel us when we are overcome by fear. We can't always conquer our fear but God can and He can use others to help us in times of need.

A chilly evening on February 11 brought photography members to meet at the home of Cheryl Cantin's home.

The business meeting got rolling at about 8:15. After the meeting, Cheryl announced that the club will go out to SuperRodeo on March 12. The club will be wearing a skating/tubing party on the 1st. of March. Some members will be attending the 4-H Fund in Kilauea on Feb. 21. A 4-H Fund is a great way to help out the club. We have a good time. You can participate in bowling, curling, swimming, volleyball.

This month, we benefited on "Coke" for Your Camera. We had a lot of "do's" of cleaning it and various other tips. Project leader, Cheryl Cantin, was the speaker.

An album full of black and white pictures and color pictures taken with a telephoto lens.

We observed, depth of field, background, foreground, and background, angle and light. We also saw the "you" in the photo.

Next meeting, each member was assigned to read on further in the United States. We will be taking 12 black and white photos. The photos were to be of 4 people, 4 of landscapes, 4 of animals, and 4 of people.

After the "practical" meeting a very nice lunch was served. The members and everyone sat around and talked.

Next meeting will be March 10 at Christin's, when we will look at each other's photo-taking talents.

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary

Two items to be purchased

A Neurologist Model 84, Transducer, Wave Stimulator, and a Crescendo are two items which shall be purchased by the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary for the Hardisty General Hospital. This decision was taken by the members at the February 10 meeting of the Auxiliary.

A letter was received from Director of Nursing Maureen Oberholzer stating that the need of an additional outpatient, Dr. Cecil paid us a visit to explain and the Nurse Stimulator, one of which is presently on loan from the Sisters at Gahleth. There can be no doubt regarding the need of another outpatient, as it seems that when conditions arise that one child requires such treatment, so do several more.

The Nurse Stimulator should be great benefit for many of our patients, particularly those in the Physiotherapy Department has been closed at Killam. Used in the treatment of pain as an alternate or adjunct to narcotics, this machine can be operated by a registered nurse and does not require the services of a trained physiotherapist, as one used previously.

matching one year old sweat suit as well as the need of this being the handiwork of one again of one of our members, Phyllis also had a large white teddy bear which she had never got to the showcase, but was purchased before she had the opportunity to place it there.

A special list of the members of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary for the Hardisty General Hospital was started in the U.S. several years ago and now is available all across the U.S. and over much of Canada. Funded by the Canadian Society, volunteers are trained to visit Cancer patients on a regular basis and now that Kathy has attended the initial seminar, she is hopeful that the program can get underway in our area. The volunteer must be a supportive, compassionate person, and in this regards we think Kathy will make an excellent volunteer when the program is set up.

As always on special occasions the Auxiliary furnished a little something for the Hospital patients on Valentine's Day. Jeanette Croon and Hilary Grey have purchased a lovely selection of Valentine Cards to be given to the patients, a nice change from the usual tray favors. The ones for the

85% Gas To Liquid

The Gas Liquefying Converter is a new method of converting ammonia to a liquid and applying it to the soil at a very low pressure. The ammonia enters the top of the converter and is expanded. As it expands it freezes, separating the liquid ammonia from the vapor and reducing the pressure. Two tubes from the converter - one for the liquid and one for the vapor - deliver the ammonia to the soil. This low-pressure allows for shallow application, reducing horse power and leaves more ammonia in the soil closer to the root zone.

Young people hold rally
A special speaker in this "Year of the Handicapped", Mrs. Donna Martin spoke about her experience as a youngster, growing up without full use of her eyes, she is not being able to recognize someone until they spoke or until she could recognize their voice, having to use her imagination to see television or the world of colors, counting the corners on the bus enroute to school, so that she would know where she was. Her talk gave the congregation much to think about.
The three Brownie Groups joined in singing "This Little Brownie Light of Mine" and the two Guide units sang "On My Honor". Following the service, a rally was held at Killam Airport where all the young people and their families enjoyed swimming and bowling.
The service was conducted by Rev. Gordon Campbell and the organist was Joyce George of Killam. Joyce Tracy Palmer read Psalm 121, and Bruce Don George read the lesson from 1 John 4.

Green light for waste management
The trucks and 40 cubic yard bins are in, and the County of Sedgewick waste management landfill site is expected to get underway soon.
The trucks came in at the end of January, while the bins were received on Monday. Both are painted in the county color, white.
The county has been waiting for the trucks and bins since late in 1980.
The County Council decided that they will present a similar brief at the Select Committee on surface Rights meeting this Friday in Killam as they did at the Cabinet Town meeting on October 6, 1980.
The following are points brought forward at the Cabinet Town meeting on October 6, 1980:
1) The County of Flagstaff has been asked to place a road allowance or in a corner of the road, to give the road a use as much land or create facilities with large farming machinery.
2) The County of Flagstaff has been asked to place a road allowance or in a corner of the road, to give the road a use as much land or create facilities with large farming machinery.
3) Arbitration awards are not consistent even in the same area.

The trucks came in at the end of January, while the bins were received on Monday. Both are painted in the county color, white.
The county has been waiting for the trucks and bins since late in 1980.
The County Council decided that they will present a similar brief at the Select Committee on surface Rights meeting this Friday in Killam as they did at the Cabinet Town meeting on October 6, 1980.
The following are points brought forward at the Cabinet Town meeting on October 6, 1980:
1) The County of Flagstaff has been asked to place a road allowance or in a corner of the road, to give the road a use as much land or create facilities with large farming machinery.
2) The County of Flagstaff has been asked to place a road allowance or in a corner of the road, to give the road a use as much land or create facilities with large farming machinery.
3) Arbitration awards are not consistent even in the same area.
4) Landfill waste management is expected to get underway soon.

Work opportunity still in Alberta

With the unstable Canadian economic situation, people continue to come to Alberta to find work.

The Statistics Canada Labour Force Survey released recently states that 67,000 more people are working in Alberta in January, 1981, than the same month last year. This is done while keeping the amount unemployed at 47,000, the same as in January of last year.

The Alberta unemployment rate in January was at 4.3 percent compared to 4.6 percent a year earlier. The number working in the province in January of this year was 1,046,000.

Alberta presently boasts of the lowest unadjusted unemployment rate in Canada, and the lowest seasonally adjusted rate at 3.6 percent.

Considering that there are over 50,000 people moving yearly to Calgary and Edmonton alone, these figures are impressive. They define the term "booming economy".

Crime a reality

At a Flagstaff Rural Crime Watch Directors' meeting last week, much discussion was on the fact that every town along the Highway 13 line from Daysland to Hardisty is represented except Sedgewick. The result could be staggering.

R.C.M.P. officer, Wally Purcell said that the rural area around Sedgewick could attract more criminal activity because around the other towns there will be Crime Watch posters and stickers. He added that more and more crime is occurring in rural areas these days.

The group is trying to attract more members but are having difficulties. Many of the directors say that people they talk to don't believe that there is much crime in the area.

However, this is not the case. In fact, Sergeant Frank of the Killam R.C.M.P. Detachment estimates the following amount of crime will occur in the detachment area during 1981: 200 offences to property, 50 break and enters, 300 liquor offences, 50 impaired driving charges, 20 assaults that go to court and 700 traffic offences.

Wake up Sedgewick. We live in a region where one sergeant, four constables and a steno-grapher patrol an area of 2,000 square miles. The County of Flagstaff Rural Crime Watch Association is one way to deter criminals from our relatively susceptible area.

What Others Say

The NDP

Whether we like it or not, Alberta may be the only free enterprise oasis in the NDP desert within the next few years.

British Columbia is in turmoil at the moment with half the province on strike but that isn't really anything new. What is new is that Premier Bill Bennett is looking up slowly but surely and Bill Barrett will most likely head an NDP government... again.

Saskatchewan is staunch NDP mainly because of the early days when the CCP turned on the lights in the province through a provincially run power corp and brought about many other popular changes in the 50's.

Manitoba though governed by Lyon's Conservative party, is on the edge of another NDP change-over.

So here we are with 74 of 79 going in the legislature conservative with the prospects of the full 79 going to the Conservatives in the next election.

Although this may be one-sided we don't really have any other choice. NDP policy such as non-ownership of land and nationalization under the pretense of Canadianization are affronts to our freedom.

IF IT WERE SAID in this column that Albertans are angry, even vengeful persons would likely agree. My too rubbers in the hope that I would slip on an icy street and break my neck. For you see that is the way we have become. One must say what is acceptable, and if he doesn't the finger of scorn is pointed, accompanied by the vitriolic poison of abuse. We are pregnant! Not in the commonly accepted meaning of the term; not with the pregnancy that finally puts one through the throes and travail of labour pains, but with one that produces intolerance, dislike, distaste and even hatred; the invidious variety that precludes opposition and forces the more temperate to enter the field with timorous trepidation. Albertans Blue! Some are false and some are true; others sit under the lone pine, and sit and sit and whine and whine. Not good metric! I must assay but it, just about says what I want to say.

THE ABOVE TIRADE was prompted by the recent meeting held at Rimbey where the theme speaker was a "born again" Westerner with separatist leanings; one who has "made it" financially in the United States and now desire to tear down the fabric that made his wealth possible and his country one of the most democratic in the entire world; a country where opportunity rears its head around every corner and where the freedom to pursue that opportunity waves its welcome hand like the maple leaf flag in a sprightly breeze. The main speaker's entire rantings were negative, stirring the pot of discontent, belabouring the government, the Prime Minister and the defects of the country which affords him protection. And the throng loved him. He was a great speaker, he followed without fear; for gladiators breaks like morning, where your magic words appear". He could go on in his inflated ego, for he was reading the smiles on the faces before him. He was saying what they came to hear. It was not necessary that he speak the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so long as he spoke acceptably.

THE "TRUE" BLUE of the listeners emerged when the "secondary" speaker took the opposite view. "Now this wasn't what we came to hear. We will not tolerate such brashness". How dare he? So they proceeded to put him in his place, with hoots, howls, interruptions, insults and invectives.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor,
I wish to express my interest in the letter which appeared in this column last week. The letter was signed by a "born again" Westerner with separatist leanings; one who has "made it" financially in the United States and now desire to tear down the fabric that made his wealth possible and his country one of the most democratic in the entire world; a country where opportunity rears its head around every corner and where the freedom to pursue that opportunity waves its welcome hand like the maple leaf flag in a sprightly breeze. The main speaker's entire rantings were negative, stirring the pot of discontent, belabouring the government, the Prime Minister and the defects of the country which affords him protection. And the throng loved him. He was a great speaker, he followed without fear; for gladiators breaks like morning, where your magic words appear". He could go on in his inflated ego, for he was reading the smiles on the faces before him. He was saying what they came to hear. It was not necessary that he speak the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so long as he spoke acceptably.

THE ABOVE TIRADE was prompted by the recent meeting held at Rimbey where the theme speaker was a "born again" Westerner with separatist leanings; one who has "made it" financially in the United States and now desire to tear down the fabric that made his wealth possible and his country one of the most democratic in the entire world; a country where opportunity rears its head around every corner and where the freedom to pursue that opportunity waves its welcome hand like the maple leaf flag in a sprightly breeze. You may be eligible for HAY AND PASTURE INSURANCE

Crop Insurance for hay crops and pasture is now offered in an extended area of Central and South-Western Alberta. If you farm in the areas indicated by shaded areas on map, you are eligible to insure your hay and pasture. Coverage up to $90 an acre is offered.

The Crop Insurance program for hay and pasture has proven its worth in areas where offered during the past two years and now is being extended to protect more Alberta farmers from feed losses.

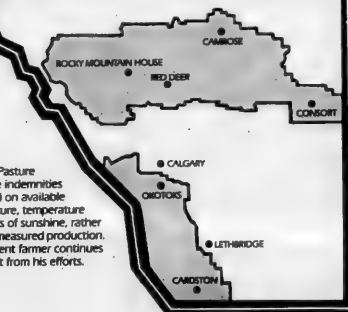

Check the map: see if your hay crops and pastures can be insured this year. If so, apply at once: the deadline for application is March 31.

One of Herb Rott's (of Killam) hens was brooding in January during the warm weather. Herb gave her the eggs, and they were hatched on February 17. Herb has heard others say that their hens were brooding early, and they attributed it to the unusually warm weather this winter. Usually a hen won't sit until late in March.

Hospital Board to hold 'Awards' night at Daysland

The regular monthly meeting of the Flagstaff-Huguenot General Hospital District No. 66 Board was held in the Board Room of the Daysland Hospital on Monday, February 23, with eight of nine members in attendance, along with the Director of Nursing and members of the Staff.

Further plans were made for the holding of an Awards Night, this year at Daysland, a night when valued members of the Staff are honored for long years of service to the institution.

A general review of the By-Laws of the District Board is currently under way and a completion of such was presented at the meeting by the committee delegated for this task. As the time for renewal was short, final acceptance was tabled to the next meeting.

The new hospital project for Hardisty was reviewed and as there is still some delay in the land survey, not much advancement was reported at this date. However, due to rearranging "Plans" and upgrading plant layouts it was indicated that "turning the first sod" would be further set back another three months, to the end of 1981. Further work is awaited from the Provincial Government.

Board members were introduced to the new Director of Nursing, Mrs. Joan Nevis, who had that day put in her first shift on duty.

The Board has decided to have each hospital under its jurisdiction seek Accreditation and plans are proceeding in this endeavor. "Accreditation" simply means reaching certain levels of perfection in various departments of a hospital acceptable by those who set out the standards. Staffs are working diligently to achieve these standards.

There are plans on stream to "go" for a new hospital at Daysland, and word from the Minister of Hospitals' office is that this matter is being reviewed and that we may expect further word on the matter by the year end. If this project were to be given the green light, additional land would be required, and in this matter word was received from the Sisters of Providence (who own the land sought) that such was not for sale at this time. The matter is to be further pursued locally.

A recent visit by members of the Health Facilities Review Committee to two of the hospitals, indicated that patient care is at a high level, with satisfaction having been expressed by the patients who were interviewed.

Several of the Board members will be attending a Trustee Institute in Edmonton from March 4 to 6 inclusive; the purpose of which is to upgrade Trustees in their duties and inform them of modern trends in the hospital field.

It is that time of year when the annual Budgets are drawn up for the current year, and some time was spent going over these documents for the three hospitals, before presenting to the Minister. The Board meets on the last Monday of each month, and the March meeting is to be held at Galsied.

Merna Multi attend Killam 4-H Fun Day

Fun! You can sum it all up in that one word. Yes, indeed February 21 was quite a busy, but fun day. About 12 Merna Multi members attended the 4-H Regional Fun Days at Killam.

The day got underway at about 10 a.m. after registration was done with at the public school. Approximately, 300 4-H members were divided into their individual age groups and were told where to go to play their first game.

Everyone enjoyed curling, bowling, broomball, swimming and volleyball - all in turn.

Every 4-H member received chili, a bun and chocolate milk for lunch which helped them have more energy for the rest of the day. At about 4 p.m. club members started to pack up their things and headed for home, feeling quite fulfilled with the day's happenings and the meeting of new friends. Club Reporter, Jane Christensen.

Nazarene News

Approximately 80 friends enjoyed a winter supper Friday evening in the lower auditorium of the Nazarene Church. Special guests were members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Cowboy Chapter.

President John Fitzhugh, Johnny and Merna Shidlo, Stan Munton, Jack Jackson, Hal Roddick, and Henry Fehr entertained and challenged the audience with song and testimony of their experiences with Jesus Christ.

Those friends loved to sing and accompanied by their guitars carried on with impromptu music. We hope to have the group return to a larger audience. Terry Lohs capably arranged and emceed the evening.

Home for the weekend was Mrs. Magoo who is in Edmonton receiving medical treatment.

Mr. Harding, Sr. is a guest at the persons this week while his wife is in hospital in Stettler. Forty two years a Bible class teacher. We sure we could learn much from this gentleman.
Wednesday evening adult Bible study is now meeting in the paragon basement. Studies continue in 1 John.

NH₃ Gas - Liquefying Converter
CHANGES GAS TO LIQUID - LESS BLOW AWAY - LESS DEPTH REDUCES LOSS - SEALS EASIER - LESS POWER REQUIRED

NEW - NON FREEZE UP (prevents shank and shovel freezing) 85% Gas To Liquid

The Gas Liquefying Converter is a new method of converting ammonia to a liquid and applying it to the soil at a very low pressure. The ammonia enters the top of the converter and is expanded. As it expands it freezes, separating the liquid ammonia from the vapor and reducing the pressure. Two tubes from the converter - one for the liquid and one for the vapor - deliver the ammonia to the soil. This low-pressure allows for shallow application, reducing horse power and leaves more ammonia in the soil closer to the root zone.

MLA Gordon Stromberg MLA Tom Lysons

Flagstaff meets with M.L.A.s

County Councillors, School and Hospital Board members and the public met with Tom Lysons and Gordon Stromberg, Members of the Legislative Assembly representing this county, in the County Office in Sedgewick, February 24.

The purpose of the meeting was to hear public and local government concerns and to discuss the number of County Councillors.

There were laws in the original plans and these plans now have to be re-drafted.

Mr. P. Lee said that most of the problems that the Board is having with the government is caused directly by the large staff turnover in the Hospital Department in Edmonton.

The Hospital Board is asking the provincial government for a total rebuilding of the Dayland Hospital. Originally it was planned that $400,000 be spent on renovating the building. However, engineers have said that the old building is not worthy of such a renovation.

Mr. Lee said that not only are the rooms too small, but there are only two bathrooms in the whole building. He said that this would cause a federal operated unit to a provincial system. He said that this would cause the quality of policing to drop.

Mr. Crawford stated that he is satisfied with the present system of R.C.M.P. and county police.

School Board members present said that they are not pleased with the present rotational system they have.

It allows one representative from each town and village in the county. But, the number voting can't exceed the number of County Councillors.

In Flagstaff there are seven on County Councillors and 10 School Board representatives. Therefore, three members have to sit out of the voting for a three month period. The Board rotates these three from the 10.

The members felt that this system is "frustrating" and "takes the incentive away."

Twenty-four people sat in on the meeting.

Airport Advisory Board formed

The Kilam-Sedgewick Airport Commission has formed an Advisory Board recently to help with the proceedings of the airport.

Dennis Burns and Mac Sorhan have been chosen from Kilam and Elmer Burns and Rose Davidson from Sedgewick.

The advisory Board is a separate entity from the commission, although the two men will sit in on commission meetings. They were picked because of their knowledge of airport operation and flying.

Commission members are: Chairman Gordon Hill, Len Dutton, Lawrence Damman, Wendell Brady, Dr. Herbert and Elmer Brundage.

The airport site has been officially bought and a south access road. The commission purchased 78 acres between the two towns. The runway will be 2,400 feet long with a 600 foot runoff.

Construction is planned to begin sometime this spring. The airport will be operated entirely by the two towns and the provincial government pays for the building and land costs.

Date change not the answer

At the yearly County of Flagstaff meeting with the M.L.A.s on February 24, strong objection was raised by council to wards' municipal nomination day being in mid-September and election day being in mid-October. Their reasoning is good, but is it valid?

Council complains that both dates are in the midst of harvest and it's inconvenient for farmers to come either to nominate or vote. One councillor said that he feels that counties are being "discriminated against".

Council backs up its statements by looking back almost half a year. On September 17, 1980, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon only one person was nominated in each respective county division.

The result being that Glen Miller, James Crawford, Carl Ness, Blanche Hagen, Marvin Kuntz, Rolf Jacobsen and Alex Blatz were re-elected by acclamation.

However, County Council seems to forget that not only are we living in apathetic Canada, but apathetic Flagstaff County. Other results from September 17 find elected by acclamation; two mayors, eight School Board representatives, five Separate School Board representatives, all three Storm Councillors and all three Loughheed Councillors.

Maybe it's just that people realize that the county council are a hard working bunch, doing a good job. Or perhaps people realize that nobody else wants to take on the task, giving up much of their free time.

The Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association would like to see, not necessarily a date change, but a day change. Most weekly newspapers publish on Tuesday or Wednesday. Both nomination day and election day are on Wednesdays and thus most papers have to carry the news the following week, making it odd.

The A.W.N.A. requests are valid, but one doubts if the county request would make much difference in the mid-September "elections".

What Others Say

Embarrassing?

The federal government's Advisory Council on the Status of Women cancelled their conference on the constitution which brought about the resignation of council president Doris Anderson. There were charges that the minister in charge Lloyd Axworthy had sought to have the constitutional conference put over until later because the results might be embarrassing to the government.

What should have been swept under the carpet failed to materialize, and several women's groups met this past weekend and went ahead with the conference anyway. The results could well be embarrassing to the Trudeau cause. The conference voted to call for the resignation of the Hon. Axworthy, plus three executive members of the advisory council who were thought to be under his influence.

The most damaging feature, from the government's point of view, lies in the resignation delegates gave Doris Anderson. They were solidly behind her.

Delegates also made a few demands as to what should be included in the government's charter of human rights.

If the Trudeau government was expecting little or no resistance to their constitutional package from the women of the country it would seem they have been misguided in their thinking. The ministerial handling of events preceding this weekend's meeting no doubt has much to do with the present atmosphere, and mostly it is hostile. The women of Canada are no longer content to suffer through discrimination, something which thinking politicians should realize.

Income tax affects farm spouses

This year Canadian farmers can, for the first time, deduct wages paid to their spouse as an expense on the income tax return. In a Ways and Means motion made on April 21, 1980, it was proposed that all small independent businessmen, including farmers, should be allowed to claim a deduction for wages paid to their spouse effective January 1, 1981.

Although the bill to enact this change has not yet been passed by Parliament, all venues Canada Taxation has advised that in light of the anticipated legislation, taxpayers may claim the deduction on their 1980 returns.

This means that a farm wife who has received wages for working part-time or full time must file her own income tax return by April 30, 1981, reporting the wages she has received. It also means that she can now contribute to the Canada Pension Plan (CPP).

Farmers who paid their spouse in 1980 should follow these steps to take advantage of the tax deduction: Obtain an employer number from any district tax office. CPP and income tax tables are also available there.

Calculate the CPP payable to the spouse for the year to January 1, 1980, according to your spouse's earnings from on-farm work. Any amount withheld for CPP purposes must be matched by the employer. The total amount should then be forwarded to Revenue Canada Taxation through any bank (cheques payable to the Receiver General of Canada).

Withheld the proper tax from your spouse's earnings and file a T4 information slip reporting the tax and CPP payments to the tax department.

Farmers who did not pay wages to their spouse during 1980 are not eligible for this tax deduction.

SOMETIMES I GET the impression that our politicians cannot even generate a decent buzz after a six-course meal. The word burp doesn't appear in any available dictionary so it is assumed that it is a modern addition to the language. However there does appear a like word belch which simply means wind from the mouth, and we all know there is a lot of that going on. The public is being besieged by millions of windy words most of which are devoid of any meaningful revelations. All they do is reiterate in annoying repetition a stated and firm stand. Where these stands differ there appears no compromise, for each side is reluctant to concede for fear of losing face and being forced to the possibility of being wrong. So stubbornness prevails no matter what the consequence. Such is the position we find ourselves in with regard to the energy problems and the patriation of the B.N.A. Act.

BOTH Lalonde and Leitch are adamant in their chosen positions and neither appears willing to compromise and arrive at a mutually acceptable agreement whereby the economy of the country can get rolling in a more satisfactory manner. They are playing a chess game where each has been checkmated. Personally I believe that the justification for willingness to lay out billions of dollars for imported oil at $40 or more a barrel for an inferior product, while at the same time refusing to lay out more adequate prices for domestic oil, which presently is under $20. That just simply doesn't make sense. If it does then perhaps we should all take a course in economics. To force that price higher and gain other justifications. Actually the general public is getting fed up with the childish and immature antics of stubborn and unrelenting politicians whose only objective seems to be political survival.

IN ALL PROBABILITY that cannot be said about the Prime Minister for by his own stated preference, he would rather be out of Canadian politics and into a social retirement where he can do as he pleases without accountability. What he believes is that Trudeau is an insatiable ambition to demolish the B.N.A. in Canada and go down in history as the Prime Minister who accomplished the feat. I firmly believe also that he is more concerned with the fact that he is with the procedure of doing so and what it is doing to the country. His statement that this is our last chance to do this, is baloney no matter how thin you slice it. The country can still work on these and other things long after he has retired to ski slopes, and long after many of his cohorts have retired with him. That there is something wrong with the whole matter is evident to all. He has alienated the Opposition (predictable), disturbed a large percentage of his own people, made himself distrustful to some of his own backbenchers, annoyed some Liberal Senators and earned the distrust of some British Parliamentarians. Yet he persists in his unchangeable, obdurate and inconsiderate desire without regard for any meaningful input of those he considers of less intelligence. Our differing does not make us any less Canadian, and there better be less belching and more listening.

The Third Column

"I Write as I Please"

COME ALIVE

FORESTBURG UNITED REV. ELIZABETH

NOW IS THE TIME

A fire-and-brimstone preacher was delivering his usual doomday sermon about the end of the world. "Before!" he boomed. "Before your lives become sinner or later the signs of end and time will appear in the sun, the moon and the stars. On the next nations will be in anguish, terrified at the roaring of the sea and the waves. Men will die of fright in anticipation of what is coming upon the earth. The powers in the heavens will be shaken. Then, lowering his voice, the preacher said: 'God hasn't told us when he will bring the world to an end. That's not for us to know. It could be a billion years from now.' A worried voice from the back of the church rang out: 'How long did you say?' 'It could be a billion years,' the preacher repeated. To this the much relieved voice replied, 'Thank God I thought you said a million years.'

Whether God has scheduled the end time for tomorrow, a million years from now or even a billion years isn't our problem. Our resurrection faith tells us that God's plan for creation's fulfillment will ultimately prevail. But ours is not to wonder "When?" Our problem is how do we respond to Jesus' Good News that each of us is an integral part of God's plan for his coming Kingdom? How do we respond, now, to the Good News that, in God's eyes, we count, we matter? How do we respond, now, to the good news that life is worthwhile, purposeful? How do we respond, now, to the good news of resurrection from the dead? How do we respond, now, to the awesome, wondrous revelation, through Jesus Christ, of God's tremendous love for us? How do we respond now to the place in the Bible where Jesus and others urgently commanded us to reform our lives? If we can believe Jesus, our lives are questions of the highest priority. If we can believe Jesus, our lives are questions of the highest priority. If we can believe Jesus, our lives are questions of the highest priority. If we can believe Jesus, our lives are questions of the highest priority.

A fruit tree that bears no fruit will be chopped down. But even before it is chopped down, we know that it is dead. To say that it is dead is to say that it will be destroyed is only stating the obvious: it has already been cut to waste, already dead. "Don't let that happen to you," Jesus urges us. "Don't wait until it is too late! Reform now!"

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
I hope you will find space in your paper to publish this letter of commendation to the people who were responsible and took part in the carnival put on today in the Loughheed Area. The original idea, the planning, the organizing, the training of the young citizens of tomorrow and the work and cooperation that went into executing such a wonderful showing of cooperation in the beautiful setting as it was today. I think there should be a hearty vote of thanks to anyone and everyone who had any part in making the whole thing possible. A Very Interested Citizen, A.M. Grive

When using eye shadow pencil you should use a light color. If you have light hair, use a gray or light brown pencil. If hair is medium dark, use a light brown pencil. If hair is very dark, use a dark brown or dark gray pencil. Use a black pencil only if you have black hair and very dark skin.

To apply use tiny hair-like upward strokes and use as few strokes as possible to blend the lines better. Blend the lifted-in areas with a brush for a still more natural look.

There are four basic eye shadow areas. There is the underbrow highlight which is usually the lightest shade of eye shadow. It is applied under the brow on the lower lid to reflect the light and make the space between the eye and brow seem larger.

Then the lid color and it should be coordinated with the color of clothes you are wearing. It is applied from the lashes to the crease in upper lid and may be a band of three colors with the lightest on inner part, the darkest at the middle and thinnest in the middle.

The contour is the darkest of the shadows and is applied above the crease in the upper lid and brought slightly up so it is visible when the eye is open.

Then is the shadow used below the eye toward the outer tip. It can be lid color or contour color but it should be blended as smooth as possible.

Give the green light to a bright idea.

If your organization has a project worth doing this summer, Summer Canada '81 will help pay for students to help get it done.

If you're in agreement with a student who also needs doing, remember that the closing date for applications for Summer Canada '81 is closing in March 1981. If you don't have your application in, we can't accept it. We need it before we can give you the go-ahead. Or the wherewithal to get it done.

Let's talk dollars and sense.

The projects should be the kind you can really get into, with your heart and your head. Projects involving priority to parks, recreation and day camp services, health and social services, energy conservation, resource and environmental education, and cultural development would certainly make sense to us. And for projects accepted, we'll put up salary contributions toward the project's minimum wage. And up to $35 on overhead, per person, per week.

Mystery play to be presented in Sedgewick

Mystery writer Agatha Christie's play, "The Mousetrap," will be presented on March 28 and 27 in Sedgewick.

With the longest continuous run in history, this very popular play has for 27 years on the London stage. The Playstage Players are working hard with the Community Hall Board to make renovations to the stage. Further renovations are planned, in order to encourage further productions of the performing arts at the hall.

The drama group is pleased with the cooperation received and the amount of progress made to date.

A matching grant to provide funding for further renovations is available through the Department of Culture. However, considerable local fund raising will be required if the full amount of the matching grant is to be obtained.

The Playstage Players will sponsor a number of performing arts groups at the Sedgewick Community Hall in the coming year. A full length opera is scheduled during May. A barbershop quartet presentation is also planned. The drama group hopes to experiment with the dinner theatre concept, which has proven so popular in larger centres.

East Central Catholic School Trustees meet

The role of the principal and the Kratzmann Report were two of several important topics discussed by trustees from the East Central Alberta Catholic School Association at a meeting in Vegreville on February 22.

The Association is made up of trustees from five Catholic School Districts located in Killam, Provost, Vegreville, Vermilion and Wainwright. Jointly these school jurisdictions employ a School Superintendent, a Deputy Superintendent, an Education Psychologist and a secretary. They also cooperate in matters related to school insurance, advertising, and making representation to the Minister and to organizations such as the Alberta School Trustees' Association and the Alberta Catholic School Trustees' Association.

The Chairman of the Association is George Tetreau of Vegreville, while Chester Novakowski acts as Secretary-Treasurer.

At the February meeting, several trustees expressed concern about the minimal information that has been received from Alberta Education with respect to pending changes in legislation. Consequently, the following resolution was approved unanimously:

"That we trustees advise the Minister of Education of our desire to be kept informed of pending changes in The School Act and The Teaching Profession Act, and that we be given an opportunity to react to proposed amendments well in advance of scheduled legislative changes."

Concern was expressed also about initial Ministerial reaction to the recommendations made to the Minister of Labour by the Fact Finding Commission in the publication entitled "A System in Conflict." The trustees discussed various approaches that may be used to convey to the Minister of Education and the Alberta School Trustees' Association the importance of this document and the need to review it thoroughly and to consider those recommendations that could improve significantly the quality of education in our Province.

Other matters discussed included the following: Agreement by trustees from Vermilion to draft a proposal to deal with future central office staff contracts.

A directive to Superintendent S. Dugout to discuss once again with the teaching staff the opportunity that has been offered by the Association for a teacher to participate in an In-service Conference of his choice.

Agreement to transfer the Executive Office of the Association to Wainwright at the September meetings. A request that ACSTA Zone representative George Tetreau approach the Provincial Executive with the intention of planning a Small School Districts Conference to discuss the in-plations of the Kratzmann Report. This conference would be organized by this Association and held in the Fall, possibly in Vermilion.

Encouragement to the trustees by Chairman Tetreau to have as many delegates as possible attend the Catholic School Conference in Grande Prairie.

Authorization for the Superintendent to replace the car he is presently driving because of the high mileage. Approval of a gift purchase to honor former trustee Van Novakowski of Wainwright for his many years of dedicated service as the Association's representative to the ACSTA Provincial Board of Directors.

The next meeting of the Association will be held in Wainwright on June 7. The trustees from Wainwright agreed to organize a social gathering for the families of visiting trustees at that time.

Anglican Church News

Doune Martin and Bev Martin have returned from a very pleasant trip to Reno, Virginia City and other points in Nevada. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClements, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bovecamp and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Pickett. The couple enjoyed the luxury of a guided tour. They were surprised to find that Virginia City is much more than a ghost town, and that mining activities continue to be conducted there. The town of the old, machine brought them to witness the winning of a $11,000.00 jackpot by a woman who had made a $3 bet. Unfortunately, none of Ab's party was quite so lucky, although Mrs. Bovecamp did emerge richer by $200. While we're on the subject of vacations, the reactor's vacation gathering came on. Good Father Richard now assures me that he is most definitely not taking a holiday during March. Now all of us know that dear Richard is a veritable super man who needs no rest and takes very little. But let him consider his poor parishioners. If he doesn't take a break soon, some of the faithful are certain to drop from exhaustion.

Mrs. Vera Shultz has moved from Flagstaff Lodge to the Provost Auxiliary Hospital. We will miss Vera very much, and hope that her health will permit her to visit us soon and often. Warmest congratulations to Elaine Manning and Randy Fox who were married by the Rev. Courard at St. John's, Sedgewick, on Saturday, February 28. All reports indicate it was a very lovely wedding.

Doreen Conrad and Ted Lister paid a visit to relatives in St. Paul. Things were hopping at the Greg Martin house over the weekend, but then it isn't every day that the great man himself stints the august age of 80. Reluctant though he was to mark the occasion, his brother Brian and family arrived from Edmonton to celebrate. Greg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Martin drove up from Penhold, and even his mother-in-law, Verona Cookson, appeared, bearing a huge cake, smothered in whipped cream and strawberries.

Killam Swimming Pool News

The past two weeks of February and the first part of March have proved to be very busy ones at the Killam Swimming pool. During the weekend of February 20, 21, and 22 there were almost 800 swimmers making waves there. The pool had been rented by a church group from Wainwright, the 4-Hers of this county and the Girl Guides, Brownies, Boy Scouts and the Red Cross.

The future weeks seem to hold a lot in store for the swimming pool as well. Lessons are getting under way this week, with the exception of the classes for the children after school. We have postponed these lessons for one more week in hopes of getting as much in-worked registration.

The classes for Adults, Pre-Schoolers, Ladies Learn to Swim, and Swimmers however are in progress. Our introduction of the Babysitting Service for the children while their mothers Seventeen people come from as far away as Wainwright, Coronation, Stettin and Hardisty are participating in the National Lifeguard course that we are very proud to be running here at our pool. This course involves many hours of hard and tiresome practice and requires a high level of aquatic skill to achieve this qualification. The staff of the pool are all taking the course as well as part of our in-service training. Through courses like these, we hope to increase our own levels of knowledge and aquatic ability and thus improving the safety level of our swimming pool.

Joan Gair, Pool Supervisor.

Stoners celebrate 60th anniversary

Glady and Howard Stoner celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary last month in Edmonton at the home of their nephew, Jim Cochrane.

A small group of close relatives were in attendance.

The couple were married in Hardisty on January 28, 1921 in a double wedding ceremony with Red Gollan and Ethel Armstrong of Battleford. The other couple died some years ago.

Mr. Stoner said he and Howard are very lucky to have lived to see their 60th.

Howard was born in Ontario, came to Alberta in 1909, and homesteaded in the Battleford (Hardisty) district. He farmed the same land until 1965, when they moved to Alliance. They moved to Edmonton in 1971.

Mr. Stoner was born in Portage LaPrairie, Manitoba, and moved to southern Saskatchewan in 1910, where he father homesteaded.

In 1919 she came to this district to keep house for her uncle, Al Rittenhouse.

Change warranted

Some School Board representatives in the county are unhappy with the present rotation system in use, and stated so at the M.L.A. meeting with the county late in February. Their complaints are justified and alternatives do exist.

School Board members representing a municipality with a population less than 1,000 must rotate voting positions because under provincial legislation voting members can't exceed the number of County Councilors. There are seven County Councillors in Flagstaff, therefore three representatives must sit out this year, another three next year, and so on.

Having to sit out for a year puts the representatives out of touch with Board proceedings. At the M.L.A. meeting, members said that the rotation system is "frustrating" and "takes the incentive away".

In the County of Lacombe, a change was made recently that the trustees seems happier with. It too could be used in Flagstaff so that the representatives could be kept informed on a monthly basis.

Lacombe has set up an advisory committee for those who, through the rotation system, lost their trustee status. Instead of representatives being rotated into oblivion, they are rotated to the advisory committee.

No member in Lacombe sits on the advisory committee for more than one meeting in succession and can still contribute to the discussions of the Board, although they can't vote.

There may even be a more suitable way than the system being used in Lacombe. But, the Lacombe School Board at least changed things for their benefit.

If the Flagstaff School Board representatives are unhappy with the rotation system, they too must change it.

The cool and dangerous dudes

Eyewitness report:
"His half-crazed around the corner at the west end of 50th Avenue, fashinating violently for a quarter of a block before he got it under control. I had to admire his stunt driving, but it would have wiped out a car waiting at the stop sign."

— Eyewitness report.

There is a new breed of cowboy. These cool dudes, with their girls on their right hip, ride the roads in fancy pickup trucks dangerously, burning their daddies' good farm cars.

They represent the latest farm expense dodge. It's prohibitive now to buy sonny a sports car, what with the costs of insurance, depreciation and fuel. So you buy an extra pickup with a heavy-duty motor, air conditioning, stereo, the whole bit, and give it to the kid to drive - the farm will absorb the expenses.

There are probably only a few of these spoiled brats, but they drive so erratically, burning doughnuts, passing when they should not, displaying boorish manners, that they brand all small-truck drivers as menaces to life on the roads.

"I Write as I Feel"

HAVING SPENT almost the entire bit of last week in the City of Edmonton (the big one) and in Sherwood Park (the little one which doesn't want to be part of the big one), and having some time on my hands, I couldn't help but observe a few things, hear a few things and therefore comment on a few things. Of course it is entirely strange to me to see people on the streets at 7:30 a.m. running like mad to cross "over" before the lights change; elbowing each other for space at the front; then running like crazy to catch the bus which is about to pull out if they miss they are late for work. I have never lived in the serene surroundings of the pastoral outdoors where the fastest moving thing is the lawn grass, such goings-on seem as unnatural as not having time to say good morning for fear someone will say "so what".

During that spare time I mentioned you don't go out on the street for fear some anxious taxi-driver will run you down, a car will run you in or some hard-faced blonde feel you out. So you go to your room, turn on the disturb-bell and listen to what the "foolishness" are cooking up next to take your mind off the real things of life.

THERE WAS ONE DAY it was snowing like mad and a lady and I just happened to be side-by-side in a window watching the scene. She said, "Just look at that, isn't it disgusting?" I retorted that I hoped it was snowing out where I came from, as we love snow here in the winter. It spells (she thinks) for the spring. Time, "Oh" she said, "you farmers are never satisfied" (you see I must look like a farmer). Anyway my reply was, "don't down the farmer with the snow month fall". She didn't seem to get the point, but give her 24 hours; out here we are generous with snow. Maybe by the next time she purchases a hog of wheat puffs the answer will come with cream and sugar.

Hear The Word of the Lord
It was on the eve of the great 1959 New England hurricane that a man living in the Stamford, Connecticut, house blew away even though he rejected the barometer reading. Jesus came out to him. "Accept the new life I am offering you now, before your opportunity to live hereover. Delighted with his purchase, he hurried home and proudly hung it on his living room wall. But what he saw made him very angry; the barometer reading indicated "hurricane" Convicted that he had been sold a defective instrument, he walked back to the Abernethy and Pith, handed the barometer to the sales clerk and snarled, "Fine barometer you sold me I put it up in my house but what do you suppose it registered?" "Hurricane!" said the sales clerk replied. "The problem, sir, We'll replace it with a perfect one." Again the man headed for home, his new barometer, but by the time he arrived there, his house had blown away.

The word of God is sound, reliable, trustworthy, sure and unchanging. Those who try to second-guess it or exchange it or replace it or improve on it are courting disaster. Our understanding of the Word needs to change, to grow, but the Word itself does not change. One word from God is that each of us, without exception, needs to do better, think better, pray better, share better, give better, love better, live better than ever before. Each one of us, without exception, needs to become more creative, more productive instrument of God's saving love. Each one of us, without exception, needs to become more dedicated, more devoted, more devoted follower of Jesus. At the very moment you begin not to believe your life's fulfillment depends on your willingness to change, you are like the man whose house blew away even though he rejected the barometer reading. Jesus came out to him. "Accept the new life I am offering you now, before your opportunity to live hereover. Delighted with his purchase, he hurried home and proudly hung it on his living room wall. But what he saw made him very angry; the barometer reading indicated "hurricane" Convicted that he had been sold a defective instrument, he walked back to the Abernethy and Pith, handed the barometer to the sales clerk and snarled, "Fine barometer you sold me I put it up in my house but what do you suppose it registered?" "Hurricane!" said the sales clerk replied. "The problem, sir, We'll replace it with a perfect one." Again the man headed for home, his new barometer, but by the time he arrived there, his house had blown away.

Maybe they hunger for financial security, maybe for sexual satisfaction, maybe for the chemical magic of mind-blowing drugs. Appetites are being fed among the middle-aged, and the old; among conservatives and liberals and radicals. But idolatry is idolatry. It comes in many forms.

Those who take up the cross also have appetite. They hunger for peace and justice and brotherhood. They hunger for the fulfillment of the promises of the Lord. Above all, they hunger for God himself. They hunger and thirst for the rule of the Lord, the King of God, when the hungry shall be filled, and the naked clothed, and the prisoners released, and the widows in the world shall be thrown down from the seats of power and the poor shall be exalted. They hunger and thirst for the grace and thirst for the truth to become effective instruments of change in the world, so that the rule of God may prevail in the affairs of human beings.

HARP SEAL

POSEA GRONLANDICA 3-47

(Probably the most important of the seals from the commercial point of view.)
Adults average about 3m in length with minimum weight ranging up to 500 lbs (225 kg). The pups, on the other hand, are covered with a grey, fluffy white fur when they are born. Their colour changes to "blackish" as they shed their pups down for many weeks on the ice but by October, and repeat all over again.

The pups nurse for only about 2 weeks and are then abandoned to fend for themselves. During that 2 week period, however, they grow enormously on their mother's milk, which is rich in butterfat, and when weaned weigh about 25-35 kg (between 50 and 75 lbs).
Harp seals feed primarily on small fish and crustaceans in the water. They are capable of diving to depths of 200 to 300 feet and can remain submerged for up to 30 minutes. They apparently live for up to 20 years or more.
Aside from seals, their principal predators are Greenland sharks, killer whales and polar bears.

C.I. hold annual meeting

The annual supper meeting of the Sedgewick County Implementers depot was held March 8 at the Anglican Church Hall in Sedgewick, with 70 people in attendance. After a delicious meal supper the meeting was called to order by Delegate Ben Chlart, Rod Jacobson was elected to chair the meeting and Francis Blue was elected as secretary.

A draw was made for two deer prizes. A. G. Judson went to Glenn Lundy and a grocery hamper was won by Mary Vanfleck. To attend were C.I. Director for this region, Mr. Ben Chlart and the District Manager, Mr. Boyd Greive. Both gave very informative talks.

along with slide presentations. Other reports were given by Delegate Ben Chlart, Sedgewick Depot Manager Blair Clark, and Depot Committee Chairman John Baker.

The various reports were supplemented by questions from the floor, turning the meeting into an information packed evening. C.I. is continuing to expand, with many innovations in machinery design, as well as an advanced research and development program and field testing program.

Elected to three year terms on the depot committee were Francis Blue, Zane Pearson, and Paul Vanfleck.

Changes in crop insurance program

A number of changes are being made in Alberta's crop insurance program for 1981, but they are mainly minor in nature and policy holders will find the program basically the same as last year, according to officials of Alberta Rail and Crop Insurance Corporation in Lacombe.

The most significant change is in the higher price options now being offered which will enable farmers to insure increased dollar coverage per acre. This is in line with improved market values for most crops and steadily rising production costs.

For the three main insured crops, the top price options per kilogram are: Wheat - 14 cents compared with 10 cents last year; Barley - 11 cents versus 9 cents; and Broomcorn - 18 cents versus 12 cents. The new prices are the equivalent of $8.22, $5.40 and $5.50 per bushel, respectively.

Coverage levels and premiums have been reduced to take into account last year's yields and loss experience, and the increased price options.

A new program is being introduced to cover crops for grain on irrigated land in the Bow Island area.

The hay and pasture which has operated on a trial basis in central Alberta for the past two years is being extended into the south-western portion of the province. New areas eligible for coverage include the Municipal Districts of Foothills, Willow Creek, Cardston, Pincher Creek and the Improvement Districts to the east of these M.D.'s.

Crop yields were generally above average in Alberta.

Over last year, though hail, drought, frost and excessive moisture late in the season in south-central regions caused extensive losses. The Corporation paid out a total of $14,988,000 in crop insurance claims under the basic policy and another $17,815,000 in crop insurance losses for a total distribution of $32,803,000 under the crop insurance plan. The total is up from the previous year's figure of $27,111,000 in total distribution of increased hail damage.

Under last year's hay and pasture plan, 818 out of 864 policy holders received indemnities amounting to $770,000 for loss due to drought. In 1980, over 19,100 farmers placed just over $880,000,000 coverage on the grain crops under the crop insurance program. E. A. Patching, General Manager of the Corporation, predicts an increase in coverage for the current year because of the need of farmers to cover spiralling costs of fuel, fertilizer, chemicals, machinery and other inputs. "No longer can the majority of farmers risk the possibility of crop failure."

Let's Talk It Over — With Gordon

Last week in Killam, six members of the Alberta Legislature who are members of a Committee of the Legislature heard seven submissions relating to the improvement of the Surface Rights Act. This M.L.A. committee is holding hearings across Alberta and will be making a report to the Legislature this Fall, hopefully recommending substantial changes as to rights of entry, land use and financial compensation. I also presented a brief to the hearing with some of my own ideas dealing with, mainly, land reclamation. With 25 townships in the Canadian Constitution, containing mineral or recoverable coal, (estimates from the E.R.C.B.) and with the advent of coal being moved to industrial by Survey pipelines and exporting to foreign countries to replace coal that is currently being used for generation of Thermal power plus either local liquefaction or gasification to replace our old depleting of oil. I really believe that when Open Up all his $80-$100, per barrel, we're going to see a lot of coal mined in Alberta. Any way my submission recommended as to how the food producer is treated before the bucket wheel and drag line hits his farm.

1. If there is a willing seller and a willing buyer, the land owner of leasing his land to the mining company for the period of the actual mining and length of time to restore the land he implemented. And for the time of this lease, the land owner be compensated for value of the revenues his farm would normally produce.

2. Since the water amplifier is usually in the coal seam, potable water be supplied and guaranteed to active farms after reclamation for an indefinite period of time.

3. Since after reclamation, the elevation of land is considerably higher than it was before and will probably be in the (study) hours 300 years to settle or compact, that all future roads and farm sites be completed to a depth of 30 feet. Can you imagine what kind of problems are going to be encountered with building foundations when 30 feet of coal has been removed and eventually the land will settle. Pigeon Lake and Wabamun Lake were formed thousands of years ago when the coal seam under them burned out.

4. That the Government of Alberta greatly subsidize the research needed in reclamation (study) hours 300 years to settle or compact, that all future roads and farm sites be completed to a depth of 30 feet. Can you imagine what kind of problems are going to be encountered with building foundations when 30 feet of coal has been removed and eventually the land will settle. Hilda Josephine Christenson

A life-time resident of the north Sedgewick area, Hilda Josephine Christenson was born in Montreal on March 12, 1900, on the farm of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Christenson. She passed away very suddenly after a short illness at St. Mary's Hospital, Camrose, on August 8, 1980, at the age of 80 years.

Hilda was the youngest child of six. She was baptized and confirmed at Bethany Lutheran Church, and was always very active and interested in her church activities. She loved music and served as church organist for several years, both before and after marriage. On March 8, 1928, she became the wife of Johannes Christenson. To this union were born two daughters. She lived her entire life on the farm north of Sedgewick, and was always busy with her family and community. In October 1964, she and her husband retired and moved to the town of Sedgewick. Here she remained busy with her church and family, her family and grandchildren being her pride and joy. She also had the honor of receiving the Life Membership pin of Bethany Lutheran Church Women. All who knew her were inspired by her love and concern for family and friends.

Left to mourn her passing are her loving husband, two daughters and son-in-laws, Helen and Cliff Lien of Camrose and Darlene and Joe Jans of New Norway. Also eight grandchildren, three great grandchildren, one sister, Lillian Davidson of Sedgewick and a host of nieces, nephews, friends and neighbors. She was predeceased by her parents, two sisters and two brothers. Burial was held at Bethany Lutheran Church, Sedgewick, on August 12, 1980.

Funeral services were held at Bethany Lutheran Church, Sedgewick, on August 12, 1980, at 10:00 a.m. The Rev. Canon W. W. Cross officiated. Burial was in the Camrose Cemetery.

Memorials on her behalf were received and forwarded to the following: Bethany Lutheran Church, Sedgewick; Camrose Viking Cultural Centre; Canadian Cancer Society; St. Mary's Hospital, Camrose; and the Elks Purple Cross Fund.

Johannes Edwin Christenson

A long time resident of the north Sedgewick area, Johannes Edwin Christenson was born in Paaske Norway on March 20, 1900, to Mr. and Mrs. John Christenson. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran Church in Norway. He passed away after a lengthy illness at St. Mary's Hospital, Camrose, on November 8, 1980, at the age of 81 years.

He immigrated to Canada with his parents and family in 1901. After several years, Johannes found employment at the Louis Kesteven homestead where he worked as a farm hand. It was here that he also met the youngest daughter of the Kesteven family. On March 8, 1928, he was united in marriage to Hilda Christenson. To this union were born two daughters. He worked hard and was always involved with the church and his neighbors. He always enjoyed helping his neighbors and was a true and honest friend to all. He and his wife retired to Sedgewick in October, 1964. Until his health failed, he remained active with his church and neighbors and spent many hours to volunteer help. In the building and renovating of Bethany Lutheran Church, he enjoyed the closeness of family and grandchildren and spent many hours visiting at their homes.

He leaves to mourn his passing, two loving daughters and son-in-laws, Helen and Cliff Lien of Camrose and Darlene and Joe Jans of New Norway. Also eight grandchildren, three great grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. Gudrun (Old) Johnson of Victoria, B.C., Mrs. Nees (Old) Olson of Vancouver, B.C., one brother, Thomas of Sedgewick, and many nieces, nephews, neighbors and friends. He was predeceased by his parents and five brothers.

Burial was held at Bethany Lutheran Church, Sedgewick, on November 11, 1980, with Pastor Allen Severn of Camrose and Pastor Quality of Sedgewick officiating. Mrs. Peter Myrland rendered the solo. Interment followed at the Bethany cemetery. Memorials on his behalf were received and forwarded to: Bethany Lutheran Church, Canadian Cancer Society, W.W. Cross Hospital, Sons of Norway, Camrose Viking Cultural Centre, C.I.B.L., St. Mary's Hospital.

The most efficient fertilizing programs begin at your Co-op

Deep placement, the latest break-through in fertilizer application, lets you place 90% of your fertilizer where it will count most—below the seed.

Fertilizer is distributed in compact bands about 12 inches apart at about twice the depth of seeding. Research shows that deep placement has given yield increases of 10-15% over the broadcast method.

Deep placement has two major advantages:
1. Soil/fertilizer contact is minimized, so that fewer nutrients are tied up by the soil.
2. Fertilizer is placed in the rooting zone for more efficient use—thus encouraging good rooting systems and increasing drought tolerance.

The Sedgewick Skating Club ended the skating season with a full week of events. The Power Skaters demonstration was held Wednesday evening with 22 skaters involved. Each of the Power Skaters elements were demonstrated in the group numbers. The Most Improved Jr. Power Skater was Chris McGowan and the Most Improved Sr. was Diana Wilson.

The skaters involved were: Russell Cumberland, Rusti Lewis, Corey Bernard, Chris Erickson, Cameron Baird, Mark Hagen, Michael Muirhead, Jason Noworothy, Jason Becken, Dallas Wilson, Chris McGowan, Jordy Hagen, Michael Dowler, Roger Maertis, Warren Timmerman, Bruce Pearson, Steven Cookson, Mark Meer, Dennis Maertis, Corby Wilson, Aaron Hagen, Chris Jovanovic.

The instructor was Herb Whitten and the host was Kathy Whitten. The Power Skating teaches skating skills which are beneficial to hockey players, figure skaters and pleasure skaters, through a series of drills. A total of seven badges, each consisting of six elements may be earned by a skater.

On Thursday, Canadian Figure Skating Tests for Preliminary and First Figure Skaters and Junior Bronze Dancers, were held at the Rec. Centre.

The judges were from Red Deer and Lacombe. Thirty-eight tests were administered.

County of Flagstaff Supports B.R.T.A. objection

The County of Flagstaff supports the Battle River Tourist Association in notifying the Minister of Tourism and Small Business that they are not pleased that Zone 5 has been left out of a government study.

The issue, discussed at a county meeting, March 11, was brought on by a letter sent to the Flagstaff County Council by the B.R.T.A.

The studies on tourism resources of various regions in Alberta are part of a three year program due to end in March, 1982.

Presently, these studies have been completed in south-eastern Alberta, Grande Centre/Bonnyville, south-western Alberta and Grande Cache. A study is being finished in west-central Alberta.

The county has been informed by the provincial government that it is all right to proceed with plans to spend the remaining $25,000 of last year's 75th anniversary grant.

The money will be used to finish the park at Fish Lake (near Hardisty) this summer.

The County of Flagstaff will send letters to M.L.A.s, the Minister and the County of Strathcona in support of Strathcona's fight against being annexed by the City of Edmonton.

Council feels that there is no need for the city to expand because they believe there is plenty of land available in Edmonton at the present time.

Also, Council doesn't want Edmonton to gain any more control in the legislature. Edmonton and Calgary combined have a large enough representation already, believes council.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hardisty Lions Club was held on Monday, March 9, 1981.

We would like to thank everyone for coming out and supporting the moveable rally. The winners from the rally held on February 15, 1981 were: first - Debbie Johansson - Hardisty, won the helmet donated by Winwright Equipment.

Edmonton opera in Flagstaff

The Edmonton Opera gave two performances at the County of Flagstaff, March 11.

The troupe of six performed the piece written in the late 1800s at Sedgewick. These Public School in the morning and at Forestburg School in the afternoon.

Alberta Culture paid most of the costs of the travelling opera to increase public awareness in rural areas, where it is seldomly performed.

Before it came to the schools, teachers familiarized students (mostly grades one to six) with the songs and elements of opera.

The Edmonton Opera performed Hansel & Gretel for elementary students at Sedgewick and Forestburg schools, March 11.

Junior Citizens Awards

Often, the greatest group of achievers in our society are under-rated, getting little or no recognition for tremendous efforts. However, those citizens ages six to 18 years of age are recognized in Alberta once a year by the Junior Citizen Awards.

These awards which initiated 20 years ago are sponsored this year by the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association in conjunction with Calgary Power and Alberta Power.

The award winners will be named at a luncheon on September 25 in Calgary. To be nominated, junior citizens must show admirable qualities, individually or as a group.

About 250 youngsters have won Junior Citizen of the Year Awards since 1961 including some from the County of Flagstaff. In 1965, Victor Wiart of Alliance was a recipient, as was Diane Greeley of Sedgewick, 1970; Diane Zimmer of Dayland, 1971; and Sharon Harrison of Hardisty, 1974.

Nominations for the 1961 awards end after June 30. They can be made through The Community Press or any other weekly newspaper having membership in the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association. A selection committee will look through the nominations and make their decisions.

These awards are a great chance for Flagstaff junior citizens to get recognition. There are young people in this county who are deserving of such an award, but it won't be presented without first a nomination.

During a severe dust storm a farmer was seen driving his combine at a high rate of speed down a major highway.

"Where are you going?" yelled a policeman.

"The farmer shouted over his shoulder, 'I planted the wheat and I'm going to harvest it if I have to chase it all the way to the border.'"

Criticism never yet built a house, wrote a play, painted a picture, nor built a business.

IF YOU ARE one of the multitude who believes that what happens has to happen, or if you subscribe to "Murphy's" Law that if it can happen it will happen, then you are one through whose veins the adrenalin never runs; you are the "acceptable" kind; you are passive; you are a patry, my friend. That is not to say that what happens doesn't happen. It is simply saying that everything that happens doesn't have to happen; it is saying that everything that can happen will not necessarily happen. If you've got that all clear in your mind maybe we can go on with a few things.

IF YOU ARE a confirmed reader of this column (I hope) you will recall that a short time ago some things were mentioned here that might not "sit well" with some readers, and that someone might snitch my rubbers going back to the alippery street and break my neck. Well it did happen. Some illegitimate shorthair or social libertine did make off with my rubbers right out of a public eating place. Sure my rubbers were lost but the point is, it didn't have to happen. You see, if the thief had his moral position properly categorized he wouldn't stoop to committing such a heinous crime, and his head would have known what his hands were doing and put a stop to it. Furthermore, the same thing doesn't have to happen again, for being altered, my rubbers stay on and to heck with the rug. I could have fallen down and fractured my tailbone, but it didn't happen, so you see what can happen will not always happen.

SET US TAKE for an instance: Was talking to a hockey fan lately, who expressed his delight at watching a game where skill was displayed in an extremely satisfying manner, with a minimum of violence and no fights. Why did this happen? My view is that coaching has all to do with it. This business of managers, owners and coaches believing that people want violence and that's what they pay their admission for, is a lot of tripe. As one spectator said, "I want a fight and hockey broke out on the ice. Any cheap hood can create violence, but it takes 'know-how' to play the game as it is intended to be played, and it takes talent to see that the game is played that way."

SO YOU ASK what's the answer? It's as simple as falling off a log. If two players engage in fist-clout, put them out of the game. If a player gets three penalties in any one game, he's out, not only for that game but gets an added 3 game suspension; if a third player gets involved in a fight, he's suspended for five games; a deliberate attempt to injure with a stick earns a five game suspension. Any player who leaves the player box during an altercation gets a five game suspension and a substantial fine. If a coach sends his players out of the box during a fight, or fails to restrain them from doing so, he gets a fine of $10,000.00. Individual fines to players are made high enough to "hurt", not just a token fine that still leaves him and his paycheck laughing all the way to the bank. They don't allow such rowdiness and hotheadism in baseball or football. These players get really wrapped and those games are the better for it. Are you telling me it can't be done in hockey? Of course it can, and I firmly believe that the players themselves would be a lot happier if such rules were instituted and adhered to. After all they don't want to take unnecessary chances with their lives. Hockey is a sport and not a system of gang warfare. We train players to be efficient but we certainly lack in training owners and coaches to act like human beings and not blood-thirsty animals. Let's get with it. Here's a good case of "what can happen will happen" if we make it so.

Riters Ramblings

A QUARTERLY COLUMN

Phyllis Alcorn

I sit alone in peaceful bliss and stare out at the world. With dappled sunlight on the ground and new leaves just unfurled.

Everything is hushed and still. Though I hear a robin sing. And a butterfly flitting past. The first one of the spring.

Above the trees I see the sky. There's a warm breeze on my cheek.

At last I've found the ideal spot. For the solitude I seek.

So many years have come and gone. My heart has been alone. To rest, and think, and find relief. From problems all well known.

Where is this spot? Why am I here? I'll just say this, my friend: There's nothing like an old outdoors when the sun's played again!

Thought of the week

Trouble... Why do we fear it? Why do we dread it? Every good thing that has been done was trouble for somebody. Our birth was trouble for our mothers. To support us was trouble for our fathers. School, paintings, music, great buildings, good food, ideas, the nameless joys and excitements which added up to what we call "a good life" came out of the travail of countless hearts and minds. Lillian Smith: Now Is The Time.

What Others Say

Grain cars were filled

For the first time in years, the old editor has been wrong. Last week, he stated that a string of hopper cars had stood "unfilled" for 10 days or two weeks on the railroad siding at Erskine.

A letter from Mr. Don Moxham appearing on this page and a telephone call from Alberta Wheat Pool Elevator Manager Peter Cornelissen point out these cars were filled with grain almost as soon as they were shunted onto the Erskine siding.

We apologize to Pete, whom we embarrassed.

However, filled or not filled, that string of cars was still an affront to farmers: It should have been on its way to its destination of Vancouver sooner than in 10 days or two weeks. We are told it is not unusual for filled cars to stand still for long periods on the C.P.R. branch line through Erskine and Blithers. We are inclined to lay the blame on the railroad, not as Mr. Moxham does, on lack of Federal Government arrangements. It must surely be Federal Government policy to move grain expeditiously. The situation at Erskine 10 days ago was paid something more for moving grain than the statutory Crow duty might allow, they could readily to ship grain more efficiently, and Dr. Horner also says western farmers don't have anyone to blame but themselves for the failure to solve the problem of statutory grain rates.

Neighbors

Our federal government may be caught off base if the US government goes ahead with its threat to disregard negotiations relative to offshore fishing rights. We as Canadians might call it dirty pool, but when you consider what our own government did to American oil companies operating in this country some sort of retaliation has to be expected.

It's the old story, when you start picking someone around you have to expect a bit of shoving coming back your way, particularly when the other fellow is bigger than you are. The other thing is that friends aren't too keen to do you a favour when they have been mistreated in the past. This is something Mr. Trudeau and his government have chosen to ignore.

REV. TED BLEZARD

Are You A Giant-Killer? Many of us remember the story of "David and Goliath" as part of our introduction to the Bible. Goliath was the champion warrior of the Philistines, who were enemies of the Israelites. Goliath was a giant, enormously strong in the story with the Philistines and Israelites armies facing each other. Goliath issues a challenge. None of the Israelites is prepared to accept his challenge - it is a one-on-one, life and death struggle, until a young shepherd boy named David comes forward. He chooses five smooth stones from a brook and with his sling in his hand sets out for the fight to the death engagement. David puts one of the stones into his sling, first it is at Goliath, and strikes him in the forehead. The giant falls to the ground mortally wounded. When the Philistines see the champion is dead, they flee. There was a certain preacher who used the technique of automatic driving up his sermon into several major points. He liked to preach on the "David and Goliath" story because it enabled him to use David's "five smooth stones" as the basis for dividing the sermon into five parts. He also loved to preach about a passage in the book of Acts in which "four angels" were dropped from a storm-ravaged ship. One Sunday morning, the congregation took with them when the preacher announced that he would now preach on the Gospel text in which Jesus disciplines a crowd out of a net and catch

IT TAKES A LOT TO EARN THIS PIN

Do you know someone who has what it takes? If you know a young Albertan, or group of young Albertans who have earned this kind of honour, we'd like to know too! In fact, we'd like all of Alberta to know. We need the names of young people between the ages of six and eighteen who through their selflessness, initiative and responsibility have contributed to their community.

In 1981, as in every year for the past 19, Alberta's investor-owned electric utilities, will honour the young Albertans with the title, Alberta Junior Citizens of the Year.

To nominate someone who has earned this pin, complete and send the nomination form below to the editor of this newspaper.

2, 4-D use in Canada

Two, four, dichlorophenoxyacetic acid (more commonly called 2,4-D), is the most widely used herbicide in the world today. 2,4-D was developed in the mid-1940s and is now an integral part of cereal grain production, used for the control of a wide spectrum of broad-leaved weeds.

In Canada, 2,4-D accounts for about 35 percent of total herbicide use. It is estimated that over three-quarters of all cereal grain crops in Canada are sprayed with 2,4-D for its close relative MCPA-A yearly. The effect of this one single herbicide on producer income through increased yields, and the subsequent multiplier effect through the economy is easily in the billion dollar range. Results of tests conducted by Agriculture Canada recently are certain to make its future role in Canada's agriculture industry a hot topic of debate.

Using extremely sensitive and sophisticated equipment, Agriculture Canada recently identified the contaminant dioxin in some 2,4-D products tested, but not in others. In the samples where dioxin was detected, the levels of dioxin ranged from a low of 5 ppb to a high of 4 ppm; and also varied with different formulations of the product. Dioxin has never before been detected in 2,4-D products.

Dioxin is a generic name that encompasses about 75 different types of compounds in the dioxin family. Each has its own specific level of toxicity. It is essential to note that the Agriculture Canada tests confirmed that the most acutely toxic member of the dioxin family, the 2,3,7,8-TCDD isomer, was not present in any of the 2,4-D samples.

Further tests are now underway by the Pesticides Section of the Food, Production, and Inspection branch of Agriculture Canada and the Federal Health and Welfare Department to determine the acute toxicity of the dioxin present in some of the 2,4-D samples and to determine why all of the samples did not contain the contaminant. The Agriculture Canada findings will undoubtedly stimulate debate over the future use of 2,4-D among scientists, environmentalists, and farmers to name only a few. While the debate and discussion generated will be intrinsically useful, it should be remembered that the tests conducted so far are mainly indicative of a need for additional data. Further investigations are essential to add to the existing empirical information so that rational decisions regarding the future use of 2,4-D can be made.

Local Fish & Game delegates attend conference

The Fifty Second Annual Fish and Game Conference was held in Red Deer at the Black Knight Inn on February 26, 27, and 28.

Two delegates from the Creek Fish and Game Association attended. Rick Davidson and Vern Simpson reported the conference as one of the most successful they had attended.

Bob Miller, Minister of Public Lands and Wildlife addressed the conference and stated the government is at present looking for a suitable site for a fish hatchery in northern Alberta. It will be used primarily for trout and walleye when it becomes operational.

His department has implemented a $40 million ten year improvement program study on Crown lands in the province to insure that all future use by oil, power and lumber companies will be done carefully.

The Brooks pheasant hatchery released 77,000 pheasants throughout southern and central Alberta in 1980. Thirty seven Fish and Game clubs were involved in raising pheasants this past year.

Hunting and fishing licenses sales continue to rise at an alarming rate, as a result, prosecution under the enforcement branch increased in 1980 by 18 percent, with loaded firearms as a motor vehicle accounting for one-third of all convictions. Once again a request for an increase in enforcement personnel was not approved.

Anti-gun and Anti-hunting groups are becoming very strong government lobbyists. However if the responsible hunters and fishers hope to continue to enjoy the privileges they now have they must become more organized by putting their support behind Fish and Game clubs so their views can be conveyed to government. If we as individuals see offences taking place in the field or on our lakes and streams, we must as responsible sportsmen report these incidents to the proper authorities through names or license numbers etc. so those offenders may be prosecuted. Records indicate that approximately 5 percent of hunters and fishers are responsible for giving the remainder of us a bad image. Ducks Unlimited continue to increase the waterfowl habitat in Alberta. Due to their work duck hatches continue. Fifteen million ducks are now raised in Alberta, with one million of these harvested in the province.

With the increase in waterfowl population, some of the problems of degradation on farmers' grain crops, therefore more financial help is needed from hunters and associations such as ours. One of the issues concerning Fish and Game Associations at the present time is the right of entry to Crown Land. A workshop on this subject was held during the conference and committees are meeting with the government and other involved groups to try to arrive at a suitable solution for all concerned.

Memberships in Fish and Game Clubs continue to be a concern throughout Alberta. More citizens are demanding more bird to hunt along with more fish stockings in lakes, ponds, and streams. Many of those asking these favors will not come forward and join their local Fish and Game Clubs, therefore there are fewer volunteers to help establish better hunting and fishing and also less dollars available to maintain such projects.

Provost School Division meets

The Provost School Division No. 31 trustees met for their regular meeting on Thursday evening, February 26. In attendance were the five trustees, Chairman Richard Ridgout, Diana Alderson, Diane Masil, Laili Anderson and Harry Snell, Superintendent of Schools Ron McCormick, Acting Secretary-Treasurer Laurie Swanson, Al Cleveland and Cleve Rea of A.S.T.A. A.T.A. rep. Clara Bie and John Debono, plus several delegates and observers. Mr. Cleveland outlined for the Board what some of their priorities should be. Basically these included the housing crisis and the budget. Delegations on Youth Services and Counselling were heard. Co-ordinator Dennis Paulsen described some of the numerous which students have brought to her attention. Mrs. Gladys Belman requested payment of the agreed grant for 1980 and 1981. Regular business included a discussion re. an addition to the renovations of the Provost School. The School Buildings Administration Branch is being approached for the cost of this major item of interest. The feasibility of using waiver of blame forms for school buses entering private yards was discussed, and more information of the use requested. A school bus driver Road-20 is being held in June in Red Deer, and the Board is encouraging new drivers to select a delegate to represent them.

The resignation of D.A. McInerney was accepted. The position of Secretary-Treasurer is being advertised and applications will be accepted until March 26. Teachers and Boards in the Elk Island Regional have accepted a Memorandum of Agreement for 1981 giving an average increase in Provost Division of 14.45 per cent on the grid, which is almost average for the rest of Alberta. Included in the agreement are the following: Board-paid premium benefits: 90% of Life and Disability Pension, 70% of Extended Health Care, and 80 per cent of Alberta Health Care. A starting teacher (with 4 years University) will earn $18,650, annually, and a teacher with 6 years of University and 11 or more years of experience will gross $24,000, annually. For this Division's current teaching staff that means $1,023,441.33 (exclusive of substitute teachers) will be spent on teaching salaries in 1981, and another estimated $27,400.00 for the Board-paid portions of the premiums. An annual meeting will be held on March 29 at 8:00 p.m. at the Metisville School. The financial report will be printed in the March 28 issue of the Provost News. The Minister of Education will be visiting Provost on Thursday morning, March 19. The next regular meeting of the Board will be at 8:00 p.m. on the 19th of March. Laurie Swanson.

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary

More items received

An appeal from last month's meeting, for more hand crafted articles for the bazaar, brought in the gratifying response at the March 10 meeting of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary, when Volunteer Chairman Phyllis Manning displayed items received for sale. These items included a pink baby sweater from Ben Hahn; a beautiful cream colored sweater donated by Alvin Parsons; a soft and cuddly baby quilt made by Margaret Elze; and an astonishing array of assorted size dolls cradled by Lila Orr. These included five variegated blue, four variegated green and four variegated yellow. The demand for these articles is very heavy and the supply requires constant replenishment. Vice-President Jeanette Cronse who chaired the meeting in the absence of the President, welcomed Director of Nursing Maureen Oberholzer who will be attending all meetings in the future to facilitate a better relationship between the Auxiliary and the Hospital. Maureen informed us that the nurse stimulator, purchase of which was approved at the last meeting, has already arrived, and is now in the hospital. She stated that there is some concern about how to keep some of the elderly patients occupied, when time lies heavy on their hands, and stated that she is going to look into activities supplied to other home care to get some ideas. The Auxiliary ladies expressed their support for this project, and the other home care brought an offer from the Assist Library Guild to donate books for the patient reading program, and these will be gratefully received, with the Auxiliary looking into the purchase of a bookcase. Hilary Gray, Joale Pedlar and Rose Marie Thompson, noted the group of a meeting held earlier in the day with Mr. Charles Warratt M.L.A. It is very discouraging to see the hospital being approved a year ago plans were readied and construction was well under way, but now, plans are being redrawn and in all probability it will not even go to tender till November of 1983 year. Hospital Board Representative Lila Goda had presented an excellent report to Mr. Stewart and it was interesting to see that the records show a new hospital was first approved for Hardisty in 1964. A list of 27 years to date, The mills of the Gods, grind

Deep placement, the latest break-through in fertilizer application, lets you place 90% of your fertilizer where it will count most—below the seed.

Fertilizer is distributed in compact bands about 12 inches apart at about twice the depth of seeding.

Research shows that deep placement has given yield increases of 10-15% over the broadcast method. Deep placement has two major advantages:

1. Soil/fertilizer contact is minimized, so that fewer nutrients are tied up by the soil.

2. Fertilizer is placed in the root zone for more efficient use—thus encouraging good rooting systems and increasing drought tolerance.

Research also indicates increases in plant protein, efficient use of moisture and dry matter yields through deep placement of fertilizer.

Deep placement, soil analysis, mini-bulk, custom application, equipment rental, and a full range of nutrient-rich fertilizers—your Co-op Agro Centre has them all.

Discuss your fertilizer program with the Co-op Agro Manager. He's backed by a team of agronomic specialists. Put the Co-op team to the test. You'll be glad you did!

The Goose Creek Ladies Club met at the home of Shirley Simpson on Tuesday, March 10 with 6 members and two adult visitors and one young visitor present. A very brief business meeting was held and then it was time for the real "business". This was a very great time was had by all and the end results were delicious.

per on Saturday night. This pot luck banquet was the climax to a day of activities. Daisies met with the children that morning and with the youth in the afternoon. Sunday evening, along with others from the church, she took part in a moving pageant. She ended her week-end by showing her slides at the Flagstaff Lodge and addressing the couples club meeting on Monday night.

This past Sunday began with special music in the Sunday School hour by Mary Walestein of Hardisty and Carol Gohl of Alliance. Carol's songs were her own compositions based on her own experiences. Among others visiting the service were Mrs. Beatrice Peterson and her daughter Evelyn Debray of Prince Albert. The late Rev. Bill Peterson pastored the Nazarene Church when it was still in Loughheed and later returned to live in the Sedgewick/Killam area for a time. Mr. Peterson now lives in Prince Albert.

Congratulations to Tony and Kathy Ellis on the birth of another girl, Teresa Jean. Happy grandparents are Lois and Doris Swanson.

There has been much speculation recently regarding old age and gray hair. In fact, the Pastor was told enough to leave his Sunday message on that touchy subject. However, he had been punished the week before by much recognition of his hilltop experience and a birthday cake so no further vindication is required.

To end this mature subject a definition, middle age is when you know all the answers and nobody asks you the questions.

Coming up and open to all interested, there will be a bridal shower for Melody Riet, March 28, at 8:00 at the church.

The Third Column

BY TRINACATE
"I Write as I Please"

BEING EMPLOYED as I am by a Historical Society as part of the Editing Staff to help prepare stories for a proposed Historical Book of Sedgewick and district, and of necessity being confronted with episodes of factually based in the early days of the century, it is a pleasant change to come in contact with facts related to more recent times. It was interesting therefore to glean through a release put out through the Department of Tourism and Small Business. While it may have been surprising to those commissioned to do the study, it had not shocked those of us who have resided in East-Central Alberta for years. This column has said before and now repeats that the above area is one of the most stable in the province. Now our estimate has been given credence.

THE COMMISSION has said, "The economy of East-Central Alberta is growing slowly but steadily and is not being left behind by the province's burgeoning activity." It has never "been left behind" in local opinion, but so far as economics is concerned, but has definitely been so considered by those who rated economic advancement to other areas considered of more importance to the entire situation. It is refreshing, therefore to find that our area is at least being recognized as an economically viable area. The only fault we find with the report is that it includes too large an area to be called East-Central. When you go so far south as to include Highway One you are really getting into what should be called southern Alberta. My estimate of our East-Central area goes from Highway 21 east to the Saskatchewan border, south from Highway 12 and down to Highway 12, or thereabouts.

HAPPILY the Commission through the Consulting Firm of Woods Gordon, which had been told "our" area was lagging behind the rest of Alberta, came up with some interesting facts such as: Employment rates are the lowest in Alberta, and incomes are rising at a quicker rate than the provincial average. Furthermore the study found that the economy was strong, growing steadily, with good long-term prospects. Heartening to know that others now realize what we have known for a long time.

AGRICULTURE is the base of our economy, but oil, gas and coal have helped to diversify the economy and greatly increase the number of people employed in trades and services.

Trade Minister Adair, while saying the report was prepared for information for the purposes for the government, and was not policy, his statement did prompt the executive director of regional business development to say that the government could assist the region's further economy through the Opportunity Company and Business Counselling.

NOW THAT we have been recognized as a sound economic locality, may we expect more attention by government departments, who have been a long time "seeing the light"?

ANOTHER REVEALING FACT is that our Sister Province of Saskatchewan is showing definite signs of economic stature and development. With a population that has been declining, it is now showing signs of getting back on stream and expects to pass the million mark this year.

WE ARE growing up in the west; we are becoming more important to the rest of the country; we are recognized at last; and if the trend continues, cannot longer be ignored. Let us not, in our ascension, throw it all away with silly talk of Separation. We are getting it, for all things come to him who waits if he knows where to wait; and it looks like this is the place.

Rev. Ted Hunsford

BY WORKS
"The Last Travelled Road" is the title of a new book, which presents a "Christian" approach to poetry. The book's very title and contents in "Life is difficult." The author says simply that this is a great truth about life which we are reluctant to accept. We mean about the enormity of the problems our burdens, our difficulties, as if life should be generally easy. We need to understand that life is not easy; that there are problems everywhere around us that we must confront in an attitude of faith. "Lord, increase our faith." Lord, when our troubles are very large indeed, and we seem to have no resources at all to deal with them, help us to understand that it is your divine presence that makes the difference. In the movie, "Old God," George Burns plays the role of a super-market clerk who receives a message from God. The scenario seems to follow the Biblical sequence. God comes to the supermarket clerk and says, "Go tell the people who I am!" This is an obvious reference to the Old Testament message in which God gave his name as "I am," and instructs Moses to go and tell it to all the people. And even though the supermarket clerk is unsuccessful in carrying out the task, God comes to him a second time, saying, "Go tell the people who I am." In reference, of course, to the great New Testament message that God is a Father who cares about his children. Although the supermarket clerk is unsuccessful in carrying out this second commission, nevertheless, God comes to him one more time, saying, "Go tell the people I work!"

When we feel surrounded by troubles, let us remember this message: it works!

Wheels still turning, but slowly

It has been said that the wheels of government turn slowly. This statement was never proven more true than at the last Flagstaff County Council meeting when a letter from the provincial government was read. It complimented the County for the speed in which the landfill site has progressed.

After all the work put into the waste management operation, three years of frustration working with the provincial government, it had the audacity to say "speed". Council just laughed.

There must be something said about a provincial government that defines the word

Recognizing the problem

With all of the complaints directed at the post office concerning its slow delivery, you'd think something would be done about it. Although the Canadian postal recognizes the problem, maybe the Postmaster General doesn't.

On March 13 in the House of Commons, Bill Wright (Calgary North) stated that Postmaster General Andre Ouellet "miled this House when he stated that for each letter there are 90 or 92 which reach the addressee on time". Apparently, Mr. Ouellet said this in the House late in January.

Mr. Wright continued by saying, "The Postmaster General should know that if the public believes such a statement, they also believe that the Pope is an atheist".

A motion was made by Mr. Wright that, "The Postmaster General immediately assume the responsibility of his office, remedy the deplorable state of postal delivery in this country, and quit living in a dream world". The motion was seconded by Mr. Cooper (Peace River).

If Mr. Ouellet doesn't believe that there are numerous delays in mail deliveries, perhaps he believes 24 million Canadians are living in a dream world.

Thought of the week

Mortality, said Deane, is kindness to the weak; mortality, said Nietzsche, is the bravery of the strong; mortality, said Plato, is the effective harmony of the whole. Probably all three doctrines must be combined to find a perfect ethic but we can doubt which of the elements is fundamental! Will Durant: The Story of Civilization.

What Others Say

Who will feed the world?

It is said a man's home is his castle. That may be so, but farmers have come to realize that the land he farms, and pays a high price for these days, does not belong to him. It would seem to belong to everyone but him.

If an oil company wishes to drill on it, it is only a matter of time until it does. If the power company wishes to put a line across the land, it does. If a pipeline company wishes to cross the farm, it does. If the government decides to put in a dam, and the farm is where the future lake will be, by far, the farmer. No matter that the farm, and others in the area, have been in the family for years; no matter that the farm was carved out of the bush by hard labour and put on a producing basis. If the government says there is to be a dam for industry, there will be a dam, and it does not matter either how good the soil that will be destroyed. New highway? Draw up the plans. Never mind how many farms are cut up that are in the way of the road. Farmers can't stop progress.

If the city wishes to expand and good farm land stands in the way, by far, it tear up the soil, build houses, pour concrete.

And then they have the coldest nerve to tell the farmer that he must produce more for them to feed a hungry world, though they cannot give any guarantees as to how that produce will get to market. Pity the poor farmer.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to publicly express my opinion on the recent election at Central. As a student I would like to say that it is not in the least Mr. Jewson's fault about those kids who were drinking on the bus trip to 42nd.

They were the ones at fault because they lowered their morals, but little did they know the blame would be centered on Mr. Jewson. This man has a heart of gold and the patience of a saint. And does not deserve the blame for this incident nor does he deserve to lose the trust he has in his students. A concerned student.

News from Killam Kindergarten

The kindergarten children have been very busy this month. On the 10th and 13th the children invited their fathers to join in on father's night. Both the fathers and the children had fun building bird houses, learning about farming, flowers, teaching, trucking, elevator construction.

The children enjoyed going to Sedgewick on the 11th of March to watch the opera Hannel and Gravel. The children were busy making shamrocks which they took to the Flanagan Auxiliary Hospital and the Martin Manor.

Birthday for the month of March are Jennifer Kueper and Irene Winner. February was also a busy month for the children. There was a very good turn out for the Valentine party.

The children have joined the Kenney Coast Safety club and are still completing their safety lessons. Birthdays for the month of February were Chris Frendrich and Chrissy Wey.

Students suspended

(Continued from Front Page) taking students. They can be suspended for up to five days, expelled for a year or criminal charges can be laid. If, for example, a student were laid on the person who dropped his pants, it would give him a criminal record and near his future.

"I have not been aware of school on buses, but if there is we must take steps to prevent it," said Mr. Erickson. Both are aware that there is alcohol in the schools but question any preventative measures that can be taken. They said that they can't totally police the schools or bring kids as they get on the bus.

The Flanagan Board of Education will be discussing the situation at its meeting April 7, at will the Central High Students Union this week.

Penetration of the person who dropped his pants on the bus will be discussed, as Mr. Erickson and Mr. Miller said that they will attempt to reveal the person's name by the April meeting.

Hardisty News

Conspicuous again

Oh yes, Hardisty is still here. Berry we have been conspicuous by our absence lately. As you can see we really missed our faithful reporter Isabel Nelson and it seems so one wants to follow her record. It still is not certain who will be the regular reporter, but some of us are trying to fill in for the time being.

Saturday, March 21, was the big day for Hardisty. There were two business holding official openings and in the evening the Figure Skating Club held its annual carnival.

Congratulations to Len and Quen on the opening of the shop since the entrance road to Hardisty from Highway 18.

Also officially opening Saturday, was the Corner Store and Arcade situated across the street from the post office in the building formerly occupied by International and later by Sherrill Irving. This business is owned and operated by Phoebe Buchanan and features a games arcade in one part and a craft shop in the other. There were three draws made at six for prizes, won by Betty Hissel of Calgary; a doll was by Perry Powell of Hardisty, and an Easter basket was by Nicole Larsen of Hardisty. Bob Cookson drew the winner for the prize. Best wishes for success to both these businesses.

On Friday, March 20, a shower for Linda McCormick was held at the home of Edna Wells. Linda is to be married next month to Raymond Shell. Some 15 or so ladies were present to attend and wish Linda and Raymond the best. A couple of cocktails were held and then the bride about opened her gifts. A lovely bride cake made by Sharon Larsen decorated the table. After Linda thanked everyone for coming, a tasty lunch was served by the hostess and a time of visiting was enjoyed by all.

John and Lillian Sherlock are enjoying a visit from their daughter Marla Lypovsky and grandchildren Greg and Christine. It is Spring Break at school in Calgary, so Greg and Christine have a week's holiday.

Congratulations to the proud new grandparents, Charlotte and Len Golla. Their daughter Lucene and husband Dwight Nixon, presented them with their first grandchild, a boy born March 21 in the Laidlaw Hospital. The baby weighed in at 7 lbs. and is named Jarrett Stephen. The Nixon family live at Edmonton and later by Sherrill Irving. This business is owned and operated by Phoebe Buchanan and features a games arcade in one part and a craft shop in the other. There were three draws made at six for prizes, won by Betty Hissel of Calgary; a doll was by Perry Powell of Hardisty, and an Easter basket was by Nicole Larsen of Hardisty. begin than on the first day of spring. Don't know why the town of Hardisty was so blessed with the amount of snow received Thursday night and Friday. Probably about to four inches while both east and west of us, had considerably lesser amounts. However, we certainly welcome the moisture and at this time of year, it will soon be gone.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. B. Sims, a baby girl, Mrs. Gerlie McNamee spent a few days in Camrose visiting her daughter Mrs. Ethel Sims.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Armstrong of B.C. stopped in to see E.S. Goodrich's on their way to Ontario.

Mrs. Mary Goodrich and Edna Woodcock (now of Kelowna) to visit their brother George Shymon and wife.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Bonnet (Korbi) of Westview is a brother for Jarrett, and Mrs. Herb Bonnet, David Goodrich and Mr. and Mrs. Brad Moody.

All attended the Angus Cross Country Club at Lacombe. Ed and Lori and Darcy Goodrich went down a few days earlier to get Lee Wil's cattle ready for the sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. D. Macdonald all left for a well earned holiday.

The town and community welcome Fiona Buchanan who opened a new business across from the post office. Mrs. Wanda Praeger moved into her new "Bessie" building, a nice improvement to main street.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Jean Rombough who underwent surgery in Edmonton, also her Mother Mrs. E. Landolt. Also, get well wishes to Lorne Hobson in Camrose Hospital and Mr. H. Shorpe in Medicine Hat and Calgary.

Kathleen Vandervark is visiting relatives at the coast for two or three weeks.

Congratulations to Lole and Ernie Remshaw on their chosen son, Robert William Vincent. He is now three weeks old.

Dianne, Lynne and Loraine Kells were visiting their mother, Grace Kells, for the weekend.

Alise Lowe has moved back to Hardisty. Welcome home!

Congratulations to Margaret and Ben O'Reilly on the birth of a son, Ben Charles, born on March 12.

J.C. Cavanaugh, had Marlene and Gerry (Glen) and family of Calgary visiting for the weekend.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schaefer (two Marlys) in Camrose on January 8, a son, Brian Luke Schaefer, Marlys and Bob live in Brampton, Ontario.

Brilliant Glenzie was the highlight at the Elks Bingo last week. Congratulations, Larry and Brenda Lukens spent several weeks this winter visiting their daughter Marlys and getting acquainted with their new grandson.

Irma and George Matthews have just returned from a 21 day, 6,000 mile bus tour to Texas and the Gulf of Mexico. The bus with 47 persons from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and Alberta, left Edmonton travelling through Montana, Wyoming, and Colorado. In Denver they were delayed for a hour with snow so didn't totally escape winter. Then they went on to Texas and spent some time in San Antonio where there was a river walk with shops and places to sit along the river bank. They were three days on South Padre Island but some of this part of the tour was spoiled by heavy rain. They went into Houston to shop, then to Houston and New Orleans. A three hour bus tour of New Orleans was very interesting and Irma wished they had had time to see more there. Then they came home by way of Little Rock where there were lovely trees and flowers - Kansas, Missouri, South and North Dakota, to Swift Current, Sask. and back to Medicine Hat and Calgary.

Adapted Aquatics at Killam Pool

For the past five weeks the Killam Pool has had the privilege of having the Special Opportunities classes from Sedgewick and Dayland coming to the pool. Along with the teachers Jan House (Sedgewick) Heather Ackersviller (assistant at Sedgewick) and Cam Newton (Dayland) the students have been coming to the pool every Wednesday afternoon for their lesson. The students are Sally Seto, Troy Granger, Brett Day and Corey Olschack from the Sedgewick class and Jeff Blaser, Jeff McDewitt and Danny Bond from the Dayland class.

Thanks to several other people as well as the teachers, the program has been very successful so far. Paul Boldt (Flagstaff Preventive Social Services office), Linda Olschack, Susan Sparrow and Janet Bernth, have all contributed immensely to the program.

The parents and county have consented to continuing the program until the end of June. In July and August another program will be set up and continue the aquatic progression.

Joan Gahr, Pool Supervisor.

Killam Chamber of Commerce

Trade Fair in planning stages

The last meeting of the Killam and District Chamber of Commerce was held on March 3, 1981 at the Killam Co-op Cafeteria with 8 members present.

Something new this year that the Chamber is contemplating is the sponsoring of a Citizens of the Year award. We are also considering the possibilities of holding a Trade Fair in Killam this fall. If anybody has any ideas on this matter please let the Chamber executive know.

The Killam Hospital and Staff have been operating in Killam for 80 years. The Chamber is planning to recognize their efforts in some way. Final preparations are being made by the Chamber for the community night.

It was reported that one of our executive attended the Social Credit Meeting that was held in Killam and presented "Killam" pins to the head dignitaries on behalf of the Chamber. Have you paid your 1981 Chamber of Commerce membership dues? This year as something new you will receive a lovely 8" x 2" engraved plaque if you are a paid member. Be contact any of the executive if you are interested and remember the Chamber is only as strong and effective as the people who support it. The Killam Chamber of Commerce along with the Department of Labor are sponsoring a Workshop on Wages. This will be held on April 2, 1981 at 7:00 p.m. in the Killam Catholic Church basement. Registration is open so it is hoped that interested individuals from all over the County will attend. Coffee will be served. For further information if interested call C. Reit at 385-3887 in Killam.

The next meeting of the Carnival held in Hardisty

Seventy members of the Hardisty Figure Skating Club entertained an enthusiastic audience at their annual Ice Carnival on Saturday evening, March 21.

This year's theme was "A Tribute to Disney" and depicted many of the stories and characters that Disney had created and animated in his lifetime. The scenery and costumes were indeed a credit to those many volunteers who worked on them. The effect was dazzling and a fitting environment for the excellent skating performed by the club members.

The crowd was treated to a very fine performance by Shari Lokum, this year's guest skater. Shari, whose home is in Hardisty, is working on her 7th figure and gave an excellent exhibition as an example to the younger club members. Skates were also sold, performed by Doreen Sunjeans, Susan Syder, Lana Sooke, Tina Mitchell, Andy Gray and club professional Connie Rekrutsk. Connie's choreography expertise was also apparent in a well executed dance by Lori Hall and Gail Bourque and the excellent precision number performed by the older girls.

During intermission the Skatathon Committee presented a number of trophies in connection with their event held early in February, after which the crowning of this year's carnival queen took place. The 1980 Queen, Lori Hall, handed over her crown and cape to Doreen Sunjeans who became the new queen. Her two princesses were Shana Dreyer and Sandy Allen. Club president Peter Gray presented certificates and gifts to the contestants and to Connie and Shari. After a lap of honour the girls helped draw five prizes of $200.00 with the lucky winners being Perry Powell, Anne Whitehead, Leonard Schmidt Sr. from Hardisty and Charlie and Annie Miller of Irma. The draw prize winner was Mrs. Hansen Sr. of Edmonton.

Another year's excellent production to round off the figure skating season was evidence of much cooperation and support from the community, one of which Hardisty can be justly proud.

People helping people

Helpers Exchange is a volunteer service where people use their skills in a barter system. Everyone has a skill that they are good at whether it is carpentry work, sewing or even listening. The principle is very simple. For example, you do something for someone that takes two hours. You then have two hours to your credit that can be used to deal with one of your needs.

This service is basically set up to meet the requirements of senior citizens and the handicapped. Examples of skills that could be exchanged: house sitting, baking, reading, business advice, small household repairs, painting (small jobs), minor plumbing jobs, mowing, preparing income tax forms and other papers and listening. There are only a few of the skills that could be exchanged.

The people who benefit from this service are the seniors that are reaching out to assist others. It is helping those who receive the service to remain in their homes with the security of a support service to encourage them. The community benefits when the older residents maintain their independence and continue to be active, concerned citizens.

If you wish to become a part of this valuable support service please contact Susan Stepmeyer, Family and Community Services, Killam, at 385-3876.

Crow information meeting to be held in Viking

The first Crow information meeting in Alberta that brings together the proponents of the two major proposals for Crow reform, is scheduled for Viking, in the Community Hall on April 18 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is being put on by the Palliser Wheat Growers Association, the Western Bakery Growers Association, and the Government of Alberta. It will bring out the platform for the first time the representatives of the Prairie Farm Community Council and of the United Farmers of Canada. Speaking for the United Farmers will be the organization's President Howard Falkenberg. Describing the Prairie Farm Community Council's viewpoint will be Palliser Wheat Growers Association President Jim Wright. Providing insights into the background of this vitally important issue will be Ken Strickland, Manager of Foodwest Resource Consultants and a Red Deer Farmer.

Palliser's Alberta Vice-President Ralph Child of Viking, says the issues being discussed at this meeting are the most crucial facing farmers today. "Without Crow reform, prairie agriculture will continue to be handicapped, the livestock industry impeded, and food processing held back," says Child. "This meeting could mark a significant step in identifying areas of agreement on just how Crow should be reformed, and setting the stage for government action on Crow. Everyone with an interest in agriculture should attend."

"Remember," he says, "The meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 18, at 7:30 p.m., in the Community Hall, Viking."

Sedgewick Mites win Viking tournament

On March 21 the Viking Mites hosted a four team tournament with Manville, Irma and Sedgewick invited. First on the ice, Viking drew up against Manville. This was a great game to watch with lots of end to end play, when the final buzzer sounded, Viking had defeated Manville by a score of 10-5. Viking then advanced to the "A" final and Manville dropped to the "B" final. Sedgewick and Irma then drew up to play at 18:00 with Sedgewick being victorious with a score of 7-4 over Irma.

Then it was Viking up against Sedgewick to determine the tournament winner. This turned out to be a real close game with the goalies, really coming up with some super saves. In the first period Sedgewick managed to net 3 goals and Viking popped in 2.

In the second period both teams were held to one goal apiece. In the third period Jason Clouston for Viking netted the first goal making it 5-3 for Viking. But Sedgewick did not let it go unanswered and came back to tie the game with 2 goals. And that

A sure sign today...for tomorrow

Your Heritage Fund is at work improving the quality of life for you, your children, and grandchildren. The Fund was established in 1976, in recognition that revenues now enjoyed from the sale of our non-renewable resources will decline as supplies are depleted. To provide a savings account for the future and to help diversify our economy, 30% of all our oil and gas revenues are placed in the Heritage Fund. The returns on your investment in the Heritage Fund are becoming more visible each day.

For example, above are some highlights from the Capital Projects Division of the Fund. These are programs to help people—they would not have been possible without the Heritage Fund.

Cancer and heart research receives extensive support. Farmers are assisted by programs of the Agricultural Development Corporation, irrigation upgrading, crop and livestock research, and a food processing project. School children are learning more about their province and Canada through Heritage Fund books. Alberta's precious environment is being protected, preserved and improved through selected initiatives.

In the next few months, you'll see more examples of what the Heritage Fund is doing. You will see how your Heritage Fund is working and why it is a sure sign today...for tomorrow.

Hardisty Chamber discuss homecoming plans

A large and vocal turnout, called the March meeting of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce, held March 25 at the Parkland Manor.

Homecoming Chairman Vera Hardisty spoke to the group about the progress of homecoming plans, and also brought up a timely suggestion for this year's Chamber of Commerce theme of "Homecoming: A time to be pleased for a group to receive constructive ideas."

A homecoming meeting is scheduled for Friday evening and Marion Harrison volunteered to represent the Chamber at the meeting in the absence of Doris Yukiv. The Chamber of Commerce is willing to help the Homecoming committee in any way to ensure the success of the endeavor. The Chamber has offered to run the bar on Friday night, and serving as function, ticket selling and taking and the parade, although these plans have not yet been finalized.

There is some concern regarding the fact that within two weeks, two major functions are scheduled. These being Round-Up Days and Homecoming. As those of you who worked three days solid on Round-Up Days last year can testify, we are dragging pretty low when Sunday night rolled around. Though not wanting to do this, the Chamber decided to cut back on the Friday activities, and perhaps have the way open for other groups to sponsor some events, if they so choose.

It was therefore decided to hold the Side-Walk Sales on Friday afternoon, and Secretary Grace Kella made the suggestion that perhaps a Childrens Bike Races or Roller skating Races could be held downtown instead. It would give the youngsters an opportunity to get involved and enjoy themselves. If any group would be interested in this type of activity or any other please contact Doug Dryver.

Treasurer Bob Taylor offered to look after arrangements for the Friday night Dinner. The remainder of the weekend will probably follow the usual format as in previous years.

The Chamber accepted with delight an offer from Margaret Driver, Virginia Johnson and Harriet Field for the donation of a Homecoming Flag Quilt to be raffled. Members who have seen this unique quilt say that it is just beautiful.

Pay-what-you-pull tickets are to be ordered with the draw to be held for August 2, final day of the Homecoming. Someone is going to go home with a beautiful reminder of these happy days. We can not express often enough that with co-operation and generosity like this, all our plans for the years ahead will meet with success. And speaking of low money, how many have had the pleasure of seeing the beautiful "Flag Capital of the World" wall hanging made by Gordy and Judy Brink?

Gordy reported that the souvenir shipment should arrive May 1st. The Chamber will set prices for them at the next meeting, and all Hardisty businesses will have the opportunity to handle these one-of-a-kind items. These will be offered by the Chamber on a consignment basis. It was heartening to note that two business people present said that they would be willing to sell them and turn all profits over to the Chamber to cut back on the Friday activities, and perhaps have the way open for other groups to sponsor some events, if they so choose.

It was therefore decided to hold the Side-Walk Sales on Friday afternoon, and Secretary Grace Kella made the suggestion that perhaps a Childrens Bike Races or Roller skating Races could be held downtown instead. It would give the youngsters an opportunity to get involved and enjoy themselves. If any group would be interested in this type of activity or any other please contact Doug Dryver.

Treasurer Bob Taylor offered to look after arrangements for the Friday night included please feel free to offer them. Things such as menu, book, matches, key rings or what-have-you in quantities of 70 would be gratefully received. We have already received several ideas and offers. The Caravan will be taken through town following the Flag Quilt, which hopefully will be completed by 2:00. To avoid confusion and fit everything into the time frame, the flags and message will be moved to the Elks Hall, where our guests will enjoy their Potluck lunch. What a feather in our cap that this group has chosen Hardisty for a major stop on this years Caravan.

Louise Johnson gave a comprehensive report on the Highway signs, and other plans having to do with the Flag project. Louise has drawn up a schedule for this summer for our outdoor displays. Various countries and states will be honored for a two week period, and other considerable research Louise has managed to put together a schedule that takes into account national holidays and special events in these countries. Each country and state will be notified in advance of this special honorary status and we hope to disseminate as much information as possible to the public in these countries at this time.

Rene Marie Thompson stated that the letters had once again begun to flow with the receipt of the message. The flag of the Dominican Republic has been received along with a message in Spanish from Prime Minister Antonio Guzman. Mrs. Cliff Moody was graciously offering to translate this for us. To give you some idea of the time frame involved in the letter of request to the Dominican Republic was mailed six months ago. Flags and messages have also been received from Iowa, Florida, Kentucky, Maine, Utah and the Commonwealth of Virginia.

The Town of Hardisty has approved our request to have a flag with the Town Logo inserted into the Homecoming parade. Mayor Suttone and Councilors Campbell and Brink were present at the meeting and we are grateful for their support of our endeavors to make Hardisty a major tourist destination. If we all work together for a common goal, much can be achieved. Co-operation is the key to success.

Lougheed and District News

Molly Perrybough
We had our first this weekend but we are flying around again where it is dry. Now the Spring break is here for the school children. The parents are taking advantage of the week by going for a visit near and far.

Finally the sick people all got well so that they could gather at the Hunter White home in Lougheed for that belated birthday supper. On Tuesday evening Helen served a delicious meal. Those present were the January birthday girls - Kathryn Larson and Helen White and their husbands Mel and Hunter, Margaret Denham, Isabel Johnson, Tom and Catherine Horricks. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Mick Hertel of Edmonton spent last week visiting with Mrs. and Mrs. Graham Beaton, also Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barton of Camrose called in for a visit one afternoon.

Mrs. Margorie Harris of Edmonton spent a few days recently visiting her brother Doug Collier and George and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wythe and Lionel, Louise and family were all to a family dinner at Lou and Sandra's home in Greyson on March 23 to celebrate Vivian's birthday. A very delicious dinner was served.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Barb Whitbeck on the passing of her brother in law, who last week also to Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Marchand and family on the passing of their Uncle who was spending the winter in the States. The funeral is on Monday in Rock Lake.

If Tom Horricks had an airplane running there would have been a place in his back yard. Tom Kenny Jr. of Saskatoon graciously flew his new plane via Edmonton to Hardisty Airport. There Tom Horricks met him and his passenger, Clint Armstrong.

Later in the evening Joe Horricks and Jeffery came from Edmonton and all spent the night at the Horricks home in Lougheed. On Saturday Tom treated all to flights over Lougheed and area. Catherine didn't go though. She is too chicken. She isn't so young and brave as Katie Gordon who flew with Tom the previous weekend. Congratulations Tom and happy flying.

On Sunday, March 22 Mr. and Mrs. Ed Swanson and Grace, also Alan, Debbie and Turti Gust were supper guests at Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White's home.

What drive was held at Bellville with 13 tables plus 1. Winners were: First, Gail Rasmussen and Lawrence Kneeland; Sweep, Vera Morris and Duncan Cameron; Mystery, Frances Garford and Joe Cameron; Travelling, Margie Adamson and Will Adamson; Consolation, Cheryl Krowch and Ralph Stiel. The last wheel drive of the season for Goose Creek will be on Friday, April 3.

Sheila Roberts and daughters of Calgary enjoyed the Spring Break visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Pat Frost also visiting the Woe Frost's and friends.

Equality... is it all in the tie?

The tie is a distinctive item of clothing. In the workplace it is distinctive as a symbol of male success and higher wages.

You don't think so? Take another look at who's wearing the tie in your workplace. If the money is in the tie, we've got some changes to make.

That's a pretty hefty penalty for not wearing a tie.

We are not out to ban the tie, but we can't afford to be tied to old symbols. If the money is in the tie, we've got some changes to make.

ALBERTA UNION OF PROVINCIAL EMPLOYEES
We're working for equality, join us!

We know, for example, that women in Provincial Government employment in Alberta make a minimum of $3000 per year less than their male counterparts.

Anglican Church News

Donna Martin
Wail, folks, he's back. Our wandering rector has returned from his travels in British Columbia. His feet are weary from a month's sight-seeing crammed into a week, and his luggage somehow didn't manage to return home when he did. But he is safely home with us again, and he's busy scheduling all sorts of programs and church services for us. His main stops were Vancouver and Chilliwack.

Our sympathy is extended to the Galsley family on the recent passing of Ronald Galsley of Camrose. Funeral services were conducted at St. John's Church, Sedgewick on Thursday, March 26.

Rev. R. Conrad announces that post-confirmation classes, intended for all those who have been confirmed and wish to deepen their knowledge and awareness of their church and faith will begin during the latter part of April. Please register immediately with the rector if you plan to participate. A minimum of six students must enter if the course is to be held.

We are glad to learn that Gordon Ward and Carol Parubash have returned home from hospital. We wish the best to Harry Abbot who is now a patient in an Edmonton hospital. Don't forget all those upcoming Holy Week services and believe me, there are plenty of them. The rector promises that our schedule will be issued shortly.

A meeting of General Parish Council is scheduled for Wednesday, April 8 at 8:00 p.m. at the Parish Hall in Sedgewick. All council members are urged to attend.

The second session will be David Tanton and his risk are busy on the hospital circuit, having emerged with praise from the Forrester hospital.

"A Visit to the Holy Land," a beautiful slide presentation, complete with music and commentary is available to any interested group or organization. Contact Mr. Conrad at 384-3006. A public showing of the slides will take place at the Anglican Parish Hall in Sedgewick on Thursday, April 22 at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited.

Carol Butcher has returned from a trip to Vancouver, and Vernon Cookson is home after visiting her newest granddaughter and her family in Edmonton.

Cathy Schlosser and family visited at the Conrad home, and have now returned to Prince Albert, Sask., to prepare for their move to Edmonton.

Congregations to young Nicholas Folgate, son of Bill and Norma Folgate, who was baptised at St. George's Church, Killam, on Sunday. The Wednesday Bible class, "Revelation Revealed," wished to announce that, after one and one half years of intensive study, the first section of the course has now been completed. The second session will be given after Easter.

If things seem a bit quiet this week, it's because some of the ladies are off to the A.C.W. Diocesan Annual meeting at St. Timothy's Church in Edmonton. I understand that some of the more daring among the group will be demonstrating their acting talents at the Conference.

The Greg Martin family is spending the week of spring break in Penhold with the Martin grandparents. During their visit, the debut of the most celebrated TV satellite receiver is scheduled.

Several of our parishioners are spending the week of the Flagstaff Players who presented a highly successful performance of "The Mountie" at the Sedgewick Community Hall last Thursday and Friday.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I was recently shocked and dismayed when I read an article "Handicapped hinder - teacher" in a daily paper. I quote "a teacher who says handicapped students in regular classes hamper the education of other children" was silent support from many Alberta teachers Tuesday.

Up to 25 per cent of the instruction day is lost to teachers who must respond to the needs of the handicapped child in the regular classroom, Volker Meier, of Flagstaff, told the annual representative assembly of the Alberta Teachers Association.

"At what point do we allow the handicapped child to interfere with the education of the regular child?" he said.

Mr. Meier was responding to a preliminary report on a task force looking at integration of handicapped children into public schools, and of course.

My concerns are many: 1. What is Mr. Meier's definition of a handicapped child? Is it some one with impaired vision, a speech impairment, hyperactivity, poor coordination, reading difficulties, etc., or is he singling out the child who is physically disabled, mentally disabled or all of the above.

2. What credentials does Mr. Meier have to enable him to make such a sweeping judgement of so many children?

3. Did Mr. Meier make a statement of his personal feelings or is this part of a policy statement of our local A.T.A.?

The article mentions "the regular child" and "regular classroom". Do such things exist? Who can accurately define a regular child or even a regular classroom?

4. Each of us knows of children who have gone through our school system who have had some disability, who have achieved above average marks and have participated in school activities. Surely they do not cause a teacher to lose 25 per cent of his instructional day.

5. It is easy to speak against integration of the "handicapped child" if one does not have a family where disabilities or handicaps just happen. The families of a disabled child have many problems, many times the least of which is education. Why burden them with this attitude? On the other hand an education is the only positive thing some disabled persons have going for them. Integration in the "regular" classroom allows each person to develop an awareness of other people's needs at an early age. This awareness is two sided as the "handicapped" child has much to offer a "regular child".

7. What alternative does Mr. Meier offer to learn in the "regular classroom"?

The above are only a few of my concerns, and I feel I am not alone. In this year 1981, which has been declared the International Year for the Disabled by the United Nations, each of us must realize that the disabled person is a person first and disabled second. Many of us are handicapped to a degree, some physically, some mentally, and some socially, but we must live, work, play, and be educated together, and the dividing line is so small that no mortal can sit in absolute judgement.

I write this letter to you Mr. Editor hoping you can solicit an interview or a review from Mr. Meier and/or the Local Alberta Teachers Association. I would also like to know the reaction of our local Board of Education and other parents.

Sincerely Helen Whitten.

M.L.A. Report

Tom Lyons
The 3rd session of the 19th Legislature opened on April 2 with the Speech from the Throne.
Lloyd and Betty Smith, along with Heather Child, attended the opening ceremony with Margaree and L. The opening day is always so colourful, with pomp and circumstance. May it always remain so.
The speech by the Lieutenant Governor, His Honour, the Honourable Frank Lynch-Staunton, was lengthy as it covered almost every aspect of government policy, including a call to the Government of Canada to bring about an atmosphere in which realistic negotiations can be undertaken on behalf of the constitutional and equity issues.
This is a year of special significance as nations throughout the world recognize the United Nations' designation of 1961 as the International Year of the Disabled Person. The government will make a number of proposals for special programs to bring improvements for the disabled in our province.
Housing: Expanded programs to ensure that more and more Albertans have access to good and affordable housing.
Health Care: Emphasis will again be placed on improved facilities throughout all parts of Alberta to ensure the highest quality of health care for our citizens.
Social Services: New and expanded programs for the disabled, support services for the family, improvements in foster care, and increased support for senior citizens are among the high priorities of our government.
Federal-Provincial Relations: Although the 605th session of the Legislature, our government will pursue its efforts for meaningful negotiations with the federal Government in all matters of energy and constitutional concern.
I would like to take this opportunity to say that Lloyd Smith is my new constituency secretary in Killam, and that he can be contacted at 863-4302.

Baby shower held for Lois Renshaw

On March 25, 1981 a baby shower was held for Mrs. Lois Renshaw and her three week old son, Robert William Vincent in the home of Blanche Nelson.

A nice crowd of ladies attended the shower which started at 2:00 with a couple of games for entertainment. Lunch was served to the new mother and her guests.

Then came the opening of gifts which were brought, they ranged from toys to helpful aids in keeping Robert healthy, to a nice wardrobe of sleepers, undershirts etc. to clothing for her to wear. Blanche Nelson appreciated the kindness shown by her friends in Hardisty.

On March 28, we went to the Rodeo in Edgerton; we all met at 9:30 in the morning. Ralph Manning was our bus driver. We stopped for dinner at Ponderosa Steak House in Edgerton; we all had fun at the rodeo. When we were coming back from the Rodeo we stopped in Camrose for supper at Boston Pizzeria. Those who didn't want pizza had fried chicken. On the way home we sang songs.

Donna C. Martin
St. Edmund's Parish was pleased and honoured to have as guest preacher on Sunday in Sedgewick and Hardisty the Rev. Tom James. Father James and the Rev. Richard Carroll celebrated the Holy Eucharist. Father James is Program Director for the Diocese of Edmonton, and was paying his first visit to our parish.

The Kan Affolder family has returned from a pleasant spring holiday in Vancouver. They stayed at the picturesque Hotel Biltmore and filled their time with visiting and sightseeing.

Many good wishes go out to that very popular young couple, Richard and Doreen Gordon, on the joyous occasion of their 28th wedding anniversary. They celebrated in their usual festive romantic fashion. He was off in Hughenden, directing somebody's else's wedding rehearsal, and she was busy waiting and dining with some lady friends at a convention in Edmonton.

Thelma Tanton, Donna Martin, Pat Swack and the Rev. Canon of Sedgewick, accompanied by Val Osse, of Camrose, were delegates to the annual meeting of the Diocese of A.C.W. at St. Timothy's Church in Edmonton. The highly informative meeting was addressed by the Rev. Murray Starr on world problems, the Rev. Vic Cable on missions, and Lee Buzzard and Alvin Law on disabilities. Congratulations are extended to Mrs. Doreen Gordon, who was elected to one of the two diocesan secretarial positions in the A.C.W. We know she will work very hard, and will make herself thoroughly indispensable to the diocesan executive.

One of the highlights of the conference was the amazingly successful performance (in view of the fact that it was locally rehearsed) of a humorous skit, "The Select-A-Rector Service", by the worthy delegates from Sedgewick and Camrose. The ladies exhibited acting talents TV but you never thought they had. Thelma is now busy distributing autographed copies of the skit to her admirers.

We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. John Craig of Sedgewick on the occasion of the golden wedding anniversary. A wedding in their honour took place in the Sedgewick Community Hall on April 4.

I understand that when our wandering rector returned from his recent vacation, he was not alone, but was accompanied or should I say accompanied by his much-travelled father-in-law, Mr. Ted Lester. I understand that, while en route, these two gentlemen made the acquaintance of two or should I say at least two very attractive and very unattached young ladies. No wonder our gentlemen misplaced their luggage.

Mr. Ted Lester was a visitor last week in Red Deer.

Rev. Ab and Kevin Martin, Scott Gordon and Victorian Keith and Mark Pritchard to Red Deer. They were joined by Terri, David and Michael Pritchard, Bob and Diane Martin of Cranbrook, B.C. joined the group, and the Ab Martin family returned with them to Cranbrook for a visit. Ab and Kevin made the time to get in a bit of golf, fishing and gold panning on the Wild Horse Creek. Ab reports that the odd farmer is on the land and the crocuses are blooming in southeastern British Columbia.

The Donald Cookson home was the scene of a family gathering on Saturday when Wendy and David Eley and family of Edmonton made the first trip home since the birth of their new baby daughter.

Mrs. Marion Palmer of Drayton Valley is visiting in Sedgewick.

Spring break meant a trip to Pembroke for the Greg Martin crew. Greg could scarcely be pried away from his position in front of the television set, flipping through the countless channels while being picked up by his parents' new satellite TV receiver.

Another anniversary to come to my attention is that of Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Peacock of Amisk. They are marking 30 years of marriage.

We wish a bright and happy future to Mr. and Mrs. David Fraser of Amisk who were married Saturday at Holy Trinity Church in Hughenden.

Everyone should now be in possession of a new schedule of services. Be sure to check the Holy Week services. Our esteemed rector is adamant that his churchmen be fully at least that they not be empty.

The good rector is still eager to share the slides of the Holy Land, complete with commentary. Do take advantage of him, lest he should come to feel neglected. The slides are available from the Rev. R. Connel at $4.00.

It had been brought to my attention that no one—absolutely no one—has yet registered for post-confirmation classes. Come, folks, you know where the phone is.

Nazarene Church News

It appears to be the "Merry Christmas and Happy Easter" season weather-wise! But the fellowship at the church is warm and spring-like! How good it was to have Molly Magee back in the service looking so well and smiling. Dr. Linda Stewart of Edmonton attended the morning worship service with her sister and brother-in-law, Elaine and Rich DeBoer. For some time Mrs. M. Cyr, formerly of Killam, has been living at Flagstaff Lodge and Sunday also joined with other lodge residents in worship at the Nazarene church. Mrs. Cyr is not hesitant to say how happy she is at the Lodge and has great praise for the good care also received there. The atmosphere was complete with the loving of cattle and presence of some of the horses to be used later. All this added to rather than detracted from a very beautiful service. Coy Hingham of Tulsa, Oklahoma was the speaker. Pat Doan of Circle Square Ranch shared his testimony, and auctioneer John Shields and his wife Myra of Hinton, Alberta sang and shared about the love of God. A young cowboy named Wayne, also sang and recited. The service was held right in the arena area.

Fillips people from the arena attended the funeral of Mrs. Minnie Abel, mother of Rev. Stewart, Pastor Abel and Sophie. He had been in the service for many years and was a very popular man. The service was held in the arena area.

At the church, Easter plans are already underway. Easter Sunday services will begin at 8:00 a.m. with a Sunrise Service. The day will close with a play put on by the Youth group. Greetings and love from

Road upgrading in Hardisty area

A Hardisty area secondary road is being upgraded under terms of a $1,100,151, 90 contract awarded to Leode Construction Ltd. of Edmonton by the Alberta Transportation Ministry.

Scheduled for completion by October 31 of this year, the project entails 21,572 kilometres of grading and other work on project Secondary Road 872.08, Junction Secondary Road 655 to junction Highway 15, west of Hardisty. The transportation ministry dealt with 17 bidders with the next highest bid, about $28,000 in excess of the Leode submission.

Unwanted gas line to be sold

An unwanted gas line should await the Sedgewick and Killam Gas Company's treasury by the tidy sum of $6,000 if a proposal presented to the Alberta Public Utilities Board proceeds without a hitch.

Out of gas production for more than four years, the pipeline is being sought by Canadian Superior Oil Ltd., owners of the adjoining wells, who have begun to extract oil.

L.A. Kneelaud, Sedgewick secretary-treasurer, informed The Community Press, that the gasline in its productive days, was connected to the main supply line, between Sedgewick and Killam. "But is something that is not needed any more."

"The hearing is just to make the arrangement legal," Mr. Kneelaud pointed out. While this week's Community Press carries an advertisement, notifying the public that it may file objections on or before April 28th, the description of the property involved in the proposed sale is very general and could lead to a misunderstanding.

The pipeline in discussion is located north of Range 13 in Township 44 and connects to the main supply line, between Sedgewick and Killam. "But is something that is not needed any more."

The price to be paid the Sedgewick and Killam Gas Co. includes purchase of the line, plus the easement. Copies of the material submitted by Canadian Superior Oil Ltd. to the Public Utilities Board, may however be secured by interested parties addressing a request to the Towns in care of the solicitor in the matter, Mr. R.J. Lane at Canadian Superior Oil Ltd., Three Calgary Place, 358 Fourth Avenue S.W., Calgary.

Patrons of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, The Mikado, in Sedgewick Community Hall on May 1 will enjoy the opportunity to enjoy themselves and at the same time contribute to hall improvement.

Operetta to aid Sedgewick Hall

The sponsoring Playstaff Players remind that proceeds from the production will be applied towards the Alberta Culture "matching grant" for upgrading stage facilities in the hall.

Made possible by the recently-developed community outreach program of the Edmonton Opera Association, and its touring production. The Mikado operetta is staged by George Costen, director of Edmonton Opera's in-school program, and stars Lester James McLean in the role of the wandering minstrel, Nanki-Poo with soprano Janet Nichol appearing as his leading lady, Yun-Yum. Complimenting the romance will be the lord high executioner, Ko-Ko, and the jealous plotter, Katisha, sung by baritone Ross Thompson and mezzo-soprano, June Hunt.

Lodge wins trophy

Killam Royal Purple were pleased to be awarded the Travelling gavel trophy for District No. 11. The trophy was presented to H.R.L. Blanche McGowan at the District Meeting at Haskay, April 9. The trophy represents the largest percentage of members travelling to another lodge, Killam being well ahead of the six other lodges.

Lougheed group sees and hears of nature's beauty

Screens depicting the magnificence of wildlife in Alberta and Northern Canada were brought to the attention of Lougheed and area residents last Friday, through the medium of a silent film, narrated by Andy Russell, renowned naturalist.

While dealing mainly with the life of the grizzly bear, the presentation included many splendid "shots" of moose, sheep, goats, caribou and fish, more than enough to enthrall those present at Lougheed Hall, including representation from Canmore, Viking, Vegreville and Cochrane.

Mr. Russell is a very interesting individual, having many books to his literary credit, also films, compiled as a result of extensive travel by every conceivable means.

The Andy Russell Show, was sponsored by Calgary Power as a 70th anniversary feature, with proceeds going to the Iron Creek Fish and Game Association to expand their pheasant-rearing project.

The evening got underway with Mr. Ed Davidson welcoming those present and introducing Mr. Bill Innes, manager of Calgary Power at Sedgewick. Mr. Innes explained his company's involvement with Mr. Russell who is the voice behind Calgary Power's "Our Alberta Heritage" series.

Russell answered questions from the audience and told many humorous and intriguing stories of the Great Outdoors.

A number of people attended the bridal shower for Marilyn Stoddard and Harold Haugen on April 7 in the Welcome Centre. There were people from Canmore, Sedgewick, and other places. Marilyn thanked everyone for the beautiful gifts and welcomed all to the open house and dance on Saturday evening, April 18, also to their home for coffee when they get settled. A lovely lunch was served afterwards.

Mrs. Anna Cook (Cove) of Edmonton was down recently visiting with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Pete Cove and family.

Eight ladies met at the home of Hestie Cameron on Wednesday, April 8. The minutes of the previous meeting and the financial standing was read by the secretary and adopted as read. Slippers made from wash cloths were turned in, and divided equally between the three local hospitals.

Christie Armstrong is to deliver Gahad's share, Helen O'Reilly was tending to Kilian's and Helen O'Reilly to Hardisty. There were thank you cards from Mrs. Carmine Simpson who has been in the hospital recently; and from the Melville McAnnans for a donation sent to the Merna Cemetery fund in memory of Mrs. Evelyn (Harry) Simpson.

The next meeting is to be on May 18 at Christie Armstrong's with Marlene Simpson as co-hostess.

The roll call brought forth many interesting and helpful household hints. Roll call next month is:

each member bring a friend to the meeting also as exchange of plants, slips or seeds. Helen O'Reilly won the hostess gift and Christie Armstrong the word puzzle which Helen Sutherland conducted. It was to make as many words as possible from "Happy Easter". The hostess served a lovely lunch and Melba Cameron won the "Lucky Tea Cup" prize.

See you all at Christie's next month. Happy Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Palmer and baby daughter of Rimbey spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Whitman. There were only three children and a half table of players at the Senior Citizens Norwegian Whist Party at their Drop-In Centre on Thursday evening. (The fact that the Edmonton Oilers were playing on T.V. could have had something to do with the low attendance.) Winners of first prize for the highest score were Mrs. Mary Cameron and Mr. Edna Ljungqvist. Consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. Myrtle Arntsen and Mr. Gustav Hope.

The Senior Citizens Club are the proud owners of a new film projector and some of the members enjoyed a film show at the Drop-In Centre on Saturday afternoon.

Iron Creek men now official measurers

Two members of the Iron Creek Fish and Game Association attended a Boone and Crockett trophy measuring clinic, sponsored by the Alberta Fish and Game Association. The clinic was partially funded by the Fish and Wildlife Department, was held in the Rivers Hotel in Edmonton, on April 10, 11, and 12. About 35 people, including one lady, attended. They came from as far north as Fairview and as far south as Medicine Hat. Both local Government spending to rise

Over-all government spending will rise 22 percent this year pushing total expenditures up more than $1 billion over last year's pay-out and more than $1.3 billion over last year's estimates. The province plans to spend $6.7 billion on both programs and public works with the latter - roads, hospitals, universities and other projects - experiencing a 48.2 per cent rise. Program spending will be 18 per cent higher than last year's estimates with the social services department being the major beneficiary. Child welfare services, a controversial area during the last year, will receive a 55 per cent boost in funding, and day care allowances of $19.1 million will be put into effect.

The increase in public works spending, which Provincial Treasurer Lou Hyndman called "wildly stimulative" will mean there has been a four-fold increase in capital expenditures in as many years. This year's boost in spending will take place at the same time as a predicted decline in provincial non-renewable resource revenues to $4.4 billion from last year's $5.8 billion estimate. Last year's resource revenue estimate represented a large increase over the previous year's estimate as provincial officials figure in natural gas exports authorized for the pre-bid portion of the Mackinac Highway pipeline. Only one leg of the "pre-bid" has yet been completed. But resource revenues will also be $475 million lower because of the province's own crude oil production cutbacks. Hyndman argues this doesn't constitute a loss for the province, but simply royalties deferred until the oil can be sold at a higher price.

What Others Say

Is it 'freedom' -- or death?

"Freedom of religion" is a concept that's never really been defined in Canada. Perhaps it's about time it was.

"REMEMBER,
IT'S RE-USABLE.
NOT A THROW-AWAY
— THAT'LL BE A $9 BILLION DEPOSIT, PLEASE!"

This loosely-defined freedom — which has led to a number of anti-Christian court decisions in the U.S. — is now being invoked in Canada to legitimize the activities of some of the least desirable cults and sects ever to cross the 49th parallel.

And it's rendering Canadian parents powerless to defend their children from the social, intellectual and spiritual suicide which follows once a young person is in the clutches of a cult.

"Freedom of religion" in the Canadian context has been a running debate through most of this nation's history, and any legal safeguards against cult activity will not be the final chapter in Canadian law in this sensitive area.

Cults and sects have, indeed, featured colorfully in much of Canada's story. Settlement of the west included acceptance of a number of pacifist sects; the Mennonites, Hutterites and others were granted exemption from military service. But the Doukhobors have been legally prevented from carrying on the nude demonstrations, dynamiting and arson that characterized their earlier days in the West Kootenays.

Jehovah's Witnesses have been defended against the infamous "Padlock Laws" of post-war Quebec. But their preference for death over blood transfusions has been outlawed by numerous court decisions any time an infant's life has been in danger.

In this province, Mormons were encouraged to help settle the south. But their religious belief in polygamy and other anti-Christian activities was forbidden by law.

Today, the law must be strengthened to protect the integrity of persons who are unable to escape cults — often unable even to form the resolve to make a break — but whose parents or family are willing to accept the responsibility of rescue.

There is no question that the Moonies, the Hare Krishnas and their ilk are able to completely block normal channels of reason and decision-making through a combination of techniques including hypnosis, diet deficiencies, constant lack of privacy, fatigue, concerted poor pressure and a myriad of subtle or brutal means.

A cult member, points out Treva Steele of Edmonton — a recent escapee — has neither the time nor the remaining mental faculties to think about returning to a normal life.

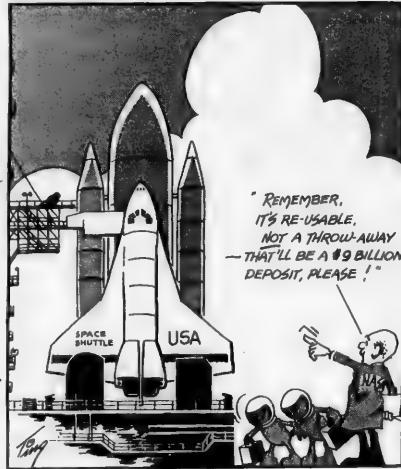

Only parents and loved ones can attempt to rescue. But the law, as it's now interpreted by police, seems to favour the power of the cults. Young Canadians are being left to perish in the kingdom of spiritual terror, all in the name of supposed "freedom of religion."

Indeed, the law is so one-sided today in this area, that parents of cult members can be, and are used by high-priced lawyers representing the cults' power structure.

Fortunately for Alberta parents, Treva and others are now setting up a cult information bureau in Edmonton, to suggest ways in which the law can be strengthened to protect Canadians from the cults.

Fortunate indeed, because we don't need another Jonestown here to convince us of the demonic powers these cults can wield.

What we do need, is public support for changes in the law to protect us — and to protect our sane, responsible Christian churches — from the psychological warfare which threatens both Canada's young people and the nation's history of religious toleration. — Wainwright Star Chronicle.

Editorial

Affliction affects all ages

There is not one of us who doesn't welcome the advent of spring with open arms, as slow as the weather is to extend its full co-operation, however this viewpoint refers to another phenomena which occurs in the same time period.

Each year about now, the annual elimination leading to the Stanley Cup Finals attracts thousands of viewers to arenas while a multitude of others are faithfully glued to their television screens and radios, "eating up" every little scrap of information about their heroes.

And glory be, two Alberta squads are in the thick of things for the silverware, with the Edmonton Oilers, featuring Wayne Gretzky and Company giving the New York Islanders a tough struggle after a slow start. The Calgary Flames led by Kent Nilsson are not behind holding their end up against the Philadelphia Flyers.

activities are scheduled, one can be sure that young or old, the hockey game won't be far from the mind.

Our Senior Citizens aren't about to be ignored, either. Last Thursday's Norwegian Whist Party at the Sedgewick Drop-In Centre suffered a noticeable drop in numbers, causing our correspondent to speculate: "The fact that Edmonton Oilers were playing on T.V. could have had something to do with the low attendance!"

Proof positive that age is no barrier when it comes to rooting for your favorite hockey team.

Good managers learn to share decisions with others even though they alone must accept responsibility for the results.

Never hold anyone by the button, or the hand, in order to be heard out; for if people are unwilling to hear you, you had better hold your tongue than them. — Lord Chesterfield.

The Third Column

BY TRUCATE
"I Write as I Please"

IT SEEMS TO HAPPEN every so often. Once again we are being deflected by headlines in the papers reminding us that we are living in a very rotten society, that crime is on the increase, that delinquency is rampant and that people's regard for the human rights of others is being trampled in the morbid, unwholesome and sickly behaviour of those who seek gain without honest effort.

THESE HEADLINES tell us that the police are frustrated and angry with the scene. Bleeding heart judges and magistrates are showing more concern for the evil doers than for the rights and protection of the law-abiding. To be quite honest I have to agree with them in most instances.

Whether this attitude stems from an honest and compelling feeling of compassion, or is an escape from the overall reality of what is good for the system as a whole, I am not quite certain; but of one thing I am certain. It is that the entire judicial system needs a complete overhaul. Protection of the ideal social must be motivated from the top down, with a judicial system that not only protects but administers that justice with only enough compassion to satisfy those who suffer from wrongdoing.

WHY THESE TRENDS seem to be busting out certain times remains a mystery. It may have something to do with the seasons, such as spring for instance, when renewal is the order of the day. Everything busts out in spring, seeking new life and activity. After a winter of restrictive climate, those inclined to such ways burst forth in a renewal of minor and major crime which upsets the balance of society and brings forth renewed anguish, distress and fear.

DELINQUENCY is a common expression in our day and our tendency is to associate the word with juveniles, forgetting entirely that there are probably as many delinquent adults, especially parents, as juveniles. If not more. Parents who run such a loose ship that the crew under their command knows nothing of freedom with duty, liberty with supremacy of the law, rights with responsibilities for others. Their voyage through troubled waters lacks steering and their lives end up on the rocks of destruction. For such lives there should be compensation in the administration of justice, but for those who have led them or permitted them to travel such a route should be administered enough punishment that they may see the error of their way. THEN THERE ARE THOSE who run such a tight ship, so rigidly controlled and restricted that the crew has no opportunity to express the natural "outflows" inherent in all people. Their activities are so disciplined that the nature's instincts are subdued to the point of explosion and they burst forth in such misadventures that bring them into the clutches of the law. If not checked at the outset, they continue on to the serious straits and end up in disaster.

REALIZING OF COURSE, having gone through the realism of childhood, adolescence and middle age, that there are those who are so full of vinegar that their pent-up urges give expression in acts, most of which are mischievous rather than criminal.

we are unconvinced that there are very many "bad" boys or girls. The word bad has an ugly connotation for its most applied meaning, as we use it, means, wicked, vile, unwholesome. But it also means, according to my dictionary, naughty, hurtful — and that is the meaning I choose to use.

BUT IN SUMMING UP my observations, the conclusion is that there are far more delinquent parents than there are juveniles. Too tight a rein; too loose a rein. Take your choice. They both end up in similar results in the finished product, one by compulsion and the other by training. Yet, in spite of all this, there are far more "good" people, both old and young, than there are those whom we choose to classify as "bad."

COME ALIVE

Bob Cochran, Pastor
Kilham Baptist Church

In one of the deep delts of the Black Forest a band of brigands were driving their spoil, the proceeds of the preceding night's robbery, according to their custom the stolen articles were being put up for auction among themselves. The last article held up for sale was found to be a New Testament. The man who acted as auctioneer introduced this 'article' with some blasphemous remarks which made the cavers round with laughter. One, who had a suggestion for the auctioneer suggested joking that a chapter should be read for their edification. This being unanimously applauded, the 'auctioneer' turned up a page at random, and began reading in a voice of mock devotion, much to the amusement of the company.

It was not observed, however, that one of their number had become suddenly silent and sat clasping his hands on his knees, as if in deep thought. He was a middle-aged man, was one of the oldest members of the gang, and had long been a leader in lawlessness and crime. The words read by the auctioneer, which were, in mockery though they were, the words of the New Testament, had reached his heart. The passage of Scripture taught by the 'auctioneer' had some wonderful memories in the heart of the poor wanderer. He had heard that passage of God's Word, thirty years before he had passed since then. He was in the old homestead, a young man just entering into life. The influences were favourable. His parents feared God, and sought to lead him in the paths of righteousness, and not before him a Christian example. But the young man lovely place, where he spent the whole day and night in the agonies of remorse. The Word of God revealed to him a Saviour, Jesus; and the message of peace and reconciliation was brought home to his heart. The next morning he entered a village; he was a minister of the whole life's story, and then gave himself up to the police. His repentance saved his life, for his comrades were all captured and put to death. After an imprisonment of seven years he was set free on account of exemplary conduct. A Christian nobleman took him into his service, and he proved a blessing to his master's household till he died in peace.

One of the most remarkable facts about the Bible is that it is a living book. We should read it daily. We should teach it to our children, claiming the faithful promise of God's Word: "As the rain and the snow come down from heaven, and do not return to it without saturating the earth and making it bud and flourish... so is My Word that goes out from my mouth; it will not return to me empty, but will accomplish what I desire and achieve the purpose for which I sent it." Isaiah 55: 10 & 11.

Hardisty District News

Blanche Nelson
Now that the pears are in abundance and the crocuses have poked their heads out of the ground, we can officially say that spring has sprung around Hardisty.

The weather is nice and the golfers are taking full advantage of the Hardisty golf course. According to Vera Hendrichs, she and Gertrude Terry have enjoyed a good game every morning for several weeks now. It's good exercise and a good way to keep in shape.

If you wish to renew or purchase a subscription to The Community Press, just present your payment and name to the Star's office in Hardisty or you can send it directly to The Community Press, Sedgewick.

As of April 1, Hardisty General Hospital has acquired the talents of Marlene Adams in the laboratory. Marlene who is a certified lab technician, will help ease the heavy workload for Phyllis and Glyceria on Wednesdays. Congratulations and good luck, Marlene in your new job.

A belated Happy Easter to all you readers!

A hearty congratulations goes out to Gordy and Judy Britz on the birth of a baby boy on April 8 at 11:05 a.m. The baby weighed 8 pounds, 11 ounces and is twenty-one inches long. The proud parents have named their new son, Craig Charles.

Craig should make Chris, Gordy's oldest child, very happy as until now he was the only boy in a family of four children. I bet he was prying his mother would give him a brother to help even out the odds.

Gordy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill of Red Deer were down to help Gordy look after the kids at home while Judy was in the hospital.

Isabel Nelson was the lucky one at a Camrose bistro, Isabel won $100. Congratulations Isabel, now let the rest of us bingo players see your secret.

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary

New members wanted

A problem which plagues many of our organizations, surfaced at the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary annual meeting, April 14. The non-profit committee had been unsuccessful in finding nominees for half of the executive positions, and for a time, the only solution seemed to be shutting down our group. As much as we would hate to see this happen, particularly at this time when we await the construction of our new hospital, for which we have worked so long and so hard, it did seem to be the only answer.

The bottom line is that we have been unsuccessful in attracting new, young members, and records show that for the past ten years, the same handful of people have had to alternate amongst the positions.

People do get weary of accepting the responsibilities of office, with never a break. The membership earnestly appeals to all ladies, particularly the young women of our community, to look into your hearts and see if it is possible for you to take part in this type of organization.

No other group of people make such consistent use of hospital facilities as do the mothers of young and growing children, so the next time one of your children is hospitalized, and making use of some piece of equipment, ask yourself where it came from. The answer will often be, through the efforts of the Hospital Auxiliary.

Being our annual meeting, it was a great pleasure to have our honorary members as guests for our dinner and meeting. They did not come empty-handed, however, and Volunteer Service Chairman, Phyllis Manning, literally had a table full of handicrafted articles for our shelves by the time the meeting commenced. Indeed, the Auxiliary will look into the purchase of a new showcase just for these types of articles, so that they may be displayed properly.

On display were two crucifixes made by Barb Mathews, three pairs of slippers from Brenda Lukosa, a yellow baby set and a green baby set made by Myrtle Richardson, a pillow and three pairs of slippers from Clara Wilder, a baby quilt and a beautiful coral and white baby dress and shawl made by Margaret Draver, two baby sets donated by our former member, Joan Dunn.

Also three placemats and a blue baby set from Gladys Johnson, a lovely pink and white baby jacket from Bea Hahn, blue hot water bottle warmers made by Virginia Johnson and a whole box full of goodies containing all different kinds of cushion tops made and donated by Mrs. Ernest White. Our thanks to each and every one of you lovely ladies.

In our business, Mrs. Ernest White reported that after much research she had concluded that a rug looking kit would be the most acceptable item for therapy use of long-term patients, and she will purchase one shortly.

The Volunteer Graduation was set for Sunday, May 3 at 7 p.m. at the Hospital. Five girls will be honored at this time. Final plans were made for the April 27 Cash Bingo, Bake Sale and Cake Baffle. See you all there!

An invitation to the Eastern Alberta Hospital Conference, May 29 in Dryden, as well as an invitation to the Dayland Ladies Auxiliary Annual Strawberry Tea were received. Membership in the Alberta Hospital Auxiliary Association was re-named at this meeting.

Easter trays favors brightened the trays of the patients on Easter Sunday. The honorary members received Easter flowers, compliments of the Auxiliary, in appreciation of all the work that they do for us all year long.

The Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary will sponsor a informative evening on Monday, May 25. Featured will be a film on Breast Self-Examination from the Cancer Society.

If you know a young Albertan, or group of young Albertans who have earned this kind of honour, we'd like to know too! In fact, we'd like all of Alberta to know. One of the nicest things about April is that all our Winter "birds" fly home. A big welcome back to Anne and Lloyd McKean, Ben and Homer Elm, Millie and Herb Redman, Phoebe and Phoebe Beazley and Mr. and Mrs. Reg Harrison.

Our sympathy is extended to the family of Wilfred Devitt who passed away Monday April 13. The Devitts lived on a farm directly across the road from the present site of the pumping station. Some years ago Wilfred moved his family to

The Royal Ladies of Uniform held a tea and bake sale on Thursday, April 16, that certainly appeared to be successful. It was obvious that their reputation for tasty baked goods was well known, as the tables were bare of baking in a very few minutes.

Did you see the big trailers up by the arena, April 10 to 12? They housed a Museummobile of Atlantic Canada and depicted the geographical formations of the Atlantic provinces of Canada, the west life, the archaeological finds of early people, early shipbuilding and pioneer schools. Of course there were also lovely scenes of the Maritimes as well as pictures of their cities and industries. A most interesting display.

The Boy's Women of Uniform held a convention in the Elks Hall, April 14. Many interesting speakers were in attendance. A complete account of this will appear in a later issue of this paper.

The Easter Tea and Bake Sale sponsored by the United Church Women was very well attended and enjoyed by all.

It is always a pleasure to see all the former residents of Hardisty home for the holiday weekend.

Congratulations to Raymond Shell and Linda McCormick who were married in St. Paul's United Church on April 15.

Killam Lions Club

Hold 14th Charter Night

Killam and District Lions Club held its 14th Charter Night and installation of officers at Killam Legion Hall, Saturday evening, April 25, with members and guest enjoying a banquet and dance.

One of the highlights was the presentation of a king-size cheque in the amount of $5,000 from President Louis Delange to Ken Lang, president of Killam Agricultural Society. The money is the first of two donations in the amount of $5,000 each, pledged by Killam Lions to assist in the drive for $300,000 required to install artificial ice in the arena section of the Agriplex. Greetings were brought from Jay Prichard on behalf of the town. He complimented the Lions Club for its community endeavours such as Manibus Manor, weekly bingo and assistance in the ice fund campaign. Clarence Rott, Chamber of Commerce president, said he was proud to have the Lions Club in the community, citing its promotion of sports. Mr. Rott stated all service groups are "trying to promote the town, and 'I'm all in it, it will be a better community."

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Bob Borth, who recounted that Forestry Lions Club has celebrated 25 years in existence and that "Dayland" organized us and we helped organize Louis. Election of officers, performed by Doug Bangio, a past president, for the 1981-82 term which commences July 1st are: President, Louis Delange; President, Joe Keldorier; 1st Vice-Pres., Dennis Strehg; 2nd Vice-Pres., Sam Smolci; 3rd Vice-Pres., Laurie George; Secretary, Dave Wesley; Treasurer, Vernon Coates, also recipient of a 10-year pin; Linn Zamer, Martin Moser; Tail Twister, Alan Gaurme.

Directors are: 2-year, Jay Prichard, Lawrence Damann; 1st-year, Stan Foster, Carl Schuster. The "Upward Way" gospel trip performed throughout the program, with dancing afterwards to Sparky's Orchestra.

Flagstaff - Hughenden Hospital Board meets

A regular monthly meeting of the Flagstaff-Hughenden General Hospital District Board No. 55 was held in the Board Room of the Hardisty General Hospital on Monday, April 27, with all board members, the three D.O.N.s, Administrator and Dr. Cahill in attendance.

Following the adoption of the minutes a report was submitted on the continuing preparations being made to earn Accreditation, which inspection is forthcoming in the near future.

It was decided that the Board would not send a delegate this year to the C.H.A. convention to be held in Winnipeg.

A new Read Nurse has been acquired for the Dayland Hospital. The D.O.N., reporting that Linda Schuler of Saskatchewan will assume that duty on the 4th of May. Joan Nevis also revealed that the Dayland Hospital is preparing a report on equipment priorities for this year, among which are two wheel chairs, an X-ray machine and a Post-Tension Monitor. The continuing Education program seems to be proceeding well with R.N.s attending Workshops and bringing back reports to the staff. The CPN program is also continuing satisfactorily.

The busy spring season is upon us again and this is reflected by the usual drop in the occupancy rate of the three hospitals concerned. To keep the staff occupied, staff members at Hardisty have volunteered to help with some needed painting and decorating which is appreciated by the Board.

Auditors are presently working at the hospitals and their reports are expected to be presented at the May meeting. Medical Staff reports were received, reviewed and discussed as thought necessary. A thank you note was received from Dr. Reist for the recent honours paid him for 25 years of active medical practice in Dayland.

The budgets which had been previously submitted for approval were found to be "short" of requirements for the year and all three being appealed. All contain financial shortages.

Trustees Gotsch and Waldorf are continuing efforts to finalize the building plans, and stated that a three D.O.N.s, Administrator and Dr. Cahill in attendance.

Killam youths win awards at festival

Two Killam youths fared well at the recent Music Festival Association of Alberta competition held in Coronation, bringing home three medals for first-place finishes.

Competing in the public speech arts section were Michael, 11, and Nathan, 8, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Becker. As a result of placing first in his narrative dramatic and lyric poetry classes, Nathan won a $25 scholarship donated by the Coronation Music Festival Association and on the recommendation of the adjudicator, he will be a contestant in the provincial finals at Edmonton on June 5 and 6.

Nathan has been competing in these events since he was four years old and constant practice paid off for him this time. His rendition of Tony by Kay Starbuck earned the judges' acclaim in the narrative dramatic category, 10 and under, and in lyric poetry, 8 and under, he took first with The Freight Train by Rowena Bennett.

Michael received The Blind Man and The Elephant by John Sax to take the narrative dramatic class, 12 and under. A mark of 85 per cent gave Michael second place in the 10 and under, lyric poetry division, reciting The Sea by James Breen.

Never stand irrigation pipe on end.

At most cases, irrigation pipes are long enough to reach overhead power lines and since they're also usually good conductors, the end result could be the end of you!

Calvin Besirovic pointed out that since Sedgewick "already has July 1st water courses," that date would be most appropriate. He said that if the Homecoming was held sooner time, it would probably conflict with events in other towns.

A calendar-garage remarked that July 1st of next year would fall on a Thursday, and on the basis of this, President Vio Alberts proposed that registration should be held on the Friday evening, with events following on Saturday and Sunday.

Monte Keith suggested that since the Hardy Homecoming takes place this year, people from Sedgewick could assist with le-

Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce

Plans for homecoming discussed

If the Town of Sedgewick's Homecoming '92 is to be a success, everybody in the community will have to be involved, Chamber of Commerce members determined, at the April 23rd meeting.

And to ensure this happens, organizers of homecomings in Strome and Hardy will be invited to join a Mayday meeting, so the event can be operated as smooth as possible. Each group participating will be asked to send two representatives to the information meeting.

Mayor Ernie Koehl reported that citizens at this point have not chosen to support the flag design.

It's better to have no flag than a disgruntled public," he commented. There had been no objections to the new subdivision, he reported.

Mayor Ernie Koehl said town council was willing to participate, but didn't know if the Homecoming should be held in conjunction with July 1st celebrations, or otherwise.

Art Eastly, chairman invited citizens to submit their ideas. "It's going to be a long haul," he told Chamber members. Anyone reading the news item is to "consider yourself asked."

Since the history also lacks a name, he would also be very receptive to title suggestions.

Town Council
With Co-Chairperson Carol Culbert, Mr. Eastly submitted that several changes would be required in the present town map of business concerns. Formulation was given to restructure the brochure and with executive approval, to proceed with printing of six thousand brochures, at the quoted price.

Doreen French reported that newcomers to Sedgewick would be presented with a stippled plastic carrying case, presented by a local bank, along with other items from local businesses, including pens, notebooks, key chains, and a one-year subscription to The Community Press. Because it had not proved out well, the coupon book idea had been voted down.

Homecoming Committee
A plan for beautification will be presented to Town Council, however, no decision was reached on a proposed clean-up drive. Councilor Al Stordal suggested that the Chamber members could conduct a clean-up in the downtown area, although it was agreed no such thing was required in that area. A member pointed out that it wouldn't be advisable to "go in and clean somebody else's backyard." With no majority opinion, the issue was dropped.

Garden Competition
Judging of gardens will take place in early August and advertisements will be placed in the local newspaper, advising citizens of the competition.

ber and time and Hardy residents could reciprocate next year.

Obtaining a caterer and entertainment also is a problem, with some bookings required up to two years in advance. Mr. Keith told the meeting.

Other Business

The subject of dogs and the problems presented, was discussed at length and even though the issue creates headaches for many, there is a light side. In one instance, a stray dog's favorite resting place is the front seat of a pick-up truck. It just so happens that the dogcatcher has such a vehicle, and catching the animal was just "no contest."

Another dog's favorite posturing is in front of a town church, and no amount of physical punishment will deter the dog from its favorite haunt.

Considerable discussion took place pertaining to the selection of the Alberta Farm Family Award recipient, and qualifications.

When the "smoke" had cleared, Mayor Koehl and Dave Black were returned to the selection committee.

A donation of $25 was made to the Central High School graduation Society Bursary Fund, which has two categories. The grant was made with the provision that sufficient funds are obtained to make the scholarship available.

40th anniversary celebrated

A large crowd of relatives and friends gathered in the Masonic Hall, Camrose on April 18 to help Bob and Ethel Harris celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. They are formerly of the Hardisty and Loughheed areas.

The entertainment was rather unique in that the bride of 40 years helped entertain at her anniversary.

Four very musical people of which Ethel is one, call themselves the Harmony Cats and their music was lovely. They played some of the old well-known pieces such as "The Bells of St. Mary's", and "Till We Meet Again".

Ethel and her 85-year-old partner play the harmonica while a guitarist and pianist complete the foursome.

They enjoy entertaining residents of various lodges and homes, and those who do not get out much.

So Ray was M.C. and he called upon Ruth Pearson who sang two lovely solos, one was "Memories", accompanied on the piano by Helen O'Reilly.

A special guest of honor was Mrs. Maggie Macdonald who is a resident in Bethany.

It was a thrill to be among her old friends and neighbors and they were thrilled to see her attending.

Bob's brother, Leonard, with all his family and grandchildren attended but it was with sadness that it was with sadness that Fred Devitt had been buried in Walbridge at the day before.

The guests were introduced to the family, all of whom had attended Sedgewick Central High and who have made a mark in life for themselves.

There is David and family of Medicine Hat, Ray and family of Hinton, Ann and family of Drayton Valley, Gloria and family of Sherwood Park, Ray and family of Tordburg.

Ann and John are still single. Amy working at the City Hall in Camrose while John is working for the C.N.R. at present in Walbridge. There are 16 grand children.

Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Love of Hardisty, Parter and Helen O'Reilly, Mary Albrecht, Grace Davidson, Dorothy and Charles Lane, all from Sedgewick area, and one-time neighbors.

Then there was Mr. and Mrs. Art Wilske, Isabel Nelson and Ruth Pearson.

Also many others from the Drop-In Centre. A very beautiful lunch was served and after opening of the gifts it was time to leave.

However, the family were taking their parents out to supper later on at the Crystal Springs Hotel. We wish Bob and Ethel many more happy anniversaries.

Hardisty Chamber of Commerce

Souvenirs arrive

The Hardisty "Flag Capital of the World" souvenirs have begun to arrive, and beer steins, coffee mugs, and ash trays were displayed at the April 22 meeting of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce. These are quality souvenirs items, manufactured here in Canada. They are one of a kind, available no where else in the world, and as soon as the final freight and insurance charges have been tabulated, they will be offered for sale in any Hardisty businesses wishing to handle them.

Manufacturers of such items have annual competitions in which their souvenir items compete against those of other companies for excellence of product and design. It is with no small amount of pride that the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce was informed that the manufacturer has chosen our souvenirs to represent them in the next major North American competition. Two types of spoons and chrome book marks are to arrive shortly.

The Chamber will offer a free book mark with each Hardisty History Book sold this summer. Business Manager Gerry Brisk is still compiling prices for the Hardisty Town Flags.

Since last meeting, Joyce Harrison has obtained some advertising price package for Round-Up Days advertising.

Joyce also reported on correspondence she had carried out with Tourism Minister Al Hunter in regard to the ignoring of the East Central Alberta region in the Department of the C.P.R. included in our collection and hopefully he will be presenting us with one early this fall. Phone calls and letters have also been received offering to donate flags, not obtainable from other sources. Another letter has been received that requires translation. This one, in Spanish, is from Costa Rica.

In closing, would anyone knowing who took the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce meeting sign from the main interaction downtown around supper time, Wednesday, April 22, please contact any chamber member. Next meeting is May 27, at 7:30 at Parkland Manor.

ted that he had obtained the materials and began work on the Highway sign, approval of which was received from Town Council at this meeting.

Discussions are to take place shortly between the Hardisty Colony and the Hardisty Chamber in regards to a combined effort to hold a series of barbecues this summer at Hardisty Lake Provincial Park. Several discussions have already taken place, and this would be a major undertaking for us over the summer months. It is hoped if all matters can be attended to that this first barbecue can take place the last Sunday in May, with other ones being held at approximately two week intervals.

Hopefully a real old-time atmosphere can be achieved with families spending the day at the lake and ending their pleasant afternoon with an all-you-can-eat barbecue. Please watch this paper for ads in regard to these events, once plans are finalized.

Rose Marie Thompson reported that the flags of Colorado had been received, and those from Nebraska were being held at customs in Edmonton. Rose Marie stated she had negotiated the release of the flags without paying the customs charges which had no authorization that no customs charges will be levied against any flags or other similar items received in future.

The Superintendent of C.P. Rail has expressed a desire to have the 100th Anniversary of the C.P.R. included in our collection and hopefully he will be presenting us with one early this fall. Phone calls and letters have also been received offering to donate flags, not obtainable from other sources. Another letter has been received that requires translation. This one, in Spanish, is from Costa Rica.

In closing, would anyone knowing who took the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce meeting sign from the main interaction downtown around supper time, Wednesday, April 22, please contact any chamber member. Next meeting is May 27, at 7:30 at Parkland Manor.

School holds gymnastics demonstration

Strome Elementary School held a gymnastics demonstration on Monday, April 27, at 9:00 a.m. They are in need of volunteers to drive trucks. If you are able to join them in their efforts, contact the school secretary, to leave your name.

A very successful carnival and tea party was held at the Drop-In Centre on Saturday, July Hawkins was the lucky winner of the draw, which was a potluck.

The Strome School also informed us that they will be inviting the community to join them for a community clean-up this Friday.

Victor and Ruth and Allan Auburns on Monday and Tuesday were Ruth's sisters, Eve Schwartz and her husband, Walter, from Tilly, Alberta.

Later the week Ruth and Allan went to Wetskin to look after Andrea and Bradley Burkart while their mother underwent surgery in Camrose Hospital. On their return home, they attended the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mrs. Bruce Zimmer's (Grace) parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Knebel, at the Moose Hall, Camrose.

We extend get well wishes to Mrs. Alice Balrose, who is a patient in the Dayland Hospital, having undergone surgery.

Ernie Auburns is home now after a stay in Edmonton Hospital.

A reminder to citizens of Strome that Saturday, May 2 is Brownie and Guide's cooley day.

Betty Walsh
(intended for last week)
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peterson a combined Birthday-Anniversary Party took place on Friday. The anniversaries were those of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peterson. All of Loughheed, celebrating birthdays were Mrs. Zora Walsh of St. Albert, Mrs. Yvonne Peterson of Loughheed and Mr. Bill Peterson (Sr.). The family were all present as well as Mrs. Clary Clarke from Flagstaff Lodge. Many more happy anniversaries and many happy returns of the day to all.

We welcome to town Mr. and Mrs. Ben Elia who are living in the former Johanna Christensen house. Miss Vivian Korgard of Edmonton spent the Easter weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kortgard.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Deltrich and son of East Coulee were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Andersen.

There were five tables of whist players at the Senior Citizens Wednesday afternoon Card Party at their Drop-In Centre. Winning prizes for the highest scores were Mrs. Ida May Black and Mr. A.B. Fiala. Consolation awards were presented to Mrs. Violet Thomas and Mr. Harry O'Brien who was tied with Mr. Frank Mayne but won on a tie of the count.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Peterson of Olds were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Brandingen and attended a wedding in Alton with them.

Mr. Ted Meditsky was home last weekend. After the completion of his University course he will be off on a field trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hagen were away from Friday to Tuesday to a convention at Fairmont Hot Springs. Aaron and Angie spent that time with their grandparents at the Dick Erickson. Three tables of players enjoyed Norwegian Whist at the Senior Citizens Evening. Mrs. Ida May Black and Mrs. David Davidson won prizes for the highest scores. Mrs. Stella Kneeland and Mr. Henry Hamilton were awarded consolation prizes.

A power pole near to the Ray Pottage home was blown over during the windstorm on Friday causing a short which set fire to some stubble. The Fire Brigade was called and soon had the fire under control. A telephone lead in wire was broken on the line to town from the south and some shingles and antennas suffered damage in the same wind storm. In Kiam a garage was pushed off its base and turned around. I imagine there was quite a bit of damage around the country.

Mrs. Elaine Delbeck attended a Writers Guild meeting in Edmonton at the weekend. Robert Walsh of St. Albert, who had spent the weekend at the Peterson farm at Loughheed, dropped in to see his grandparents, the Bill Petersons, and his grandpa, Mr. Jim Walsh on Sunday afternoon.

Little Miss Erin Leslie was in hospital here for a couple of days last week. I hear that Helen Davidson and Rhonda Tanton put up a good argument in the debate on television on Sunday morning. They were representing Central High.

Mr. Stuart Cameron, Mrs. Iris Bradley and children of Rocky Mountain House were at Mrs. Mary Camaroto's on Wednesday to help Mary celebrate her birthday. They stayed to attend Mr. and Mrs. Glen Roggenack's back from Hawaii. I well wish we both were wearing beautiful hats.

Another correction, Mr. Bill Hayes who was taken by ambulance from Killam Hospital to an Edmonton hospital last week. Mrs. Ellen Peterson drove Mrs. Clary Clarke and Mrs. Gwen Freeman out to the Peterson farm at Loughheed for a cup of tea on Sunday afternoon.

I'm still in the hospital so I'm able to report the comings and goings here. Returning to their homes were Mrs. Shirley Brandingen, Mr. John Brunner, Mr. Roy Krause, Mr. Steve Potlatch and Mr. Bill Cookson. Entering Killam Hospital last week were Mrs. Glenora Hope, Mrs. Elaine Barker, Mrs. Mamie Reynolds, Mrs. Valda Storbakken and Mr. Edward Ljungqvist. Let's hope we'll all soon be well and home. My yard and garden are calling.

Think I forgot to include Mrs. Rose Lindhale in the folk who are home after a stay in Killam Hospital. "If you have room, could you pick up a few sandbags?"

Editorially

Do it, but do it gradually

With the departure of the Edmonton Oilers from the Stanley Cup hockey play-off picture, most residents of East Central Alberta can give up their "arm chair" status and convert from passive observers to active participants. True, some have switched their allegiance to Calgary Flames, but at this writing, their passage from the hunt appears momentary.

It may be a touch too early to start direct planting outdoors, but we have already noticed that several gardeners have planted potatoes, in keeping with their annual pledge to "plant early".

To be sure, many of those with gardens partially planted, are in the "middle-age" category, and yes, much of the hard work has been accomplished through the use of rototillers. However, in our opinion, that's all well and good.

Many of us are comparatively "emerging" from our cocoons" into the great outdoors after a winter of TV viewing.

Anyone looking at a yard or garden knows that something has to be done before the weeds take over completely.

But our message to the "non-athletes", is to "take it easy". Medical experts agree that most humans push their body beyond its physical limits, too often.

The aim of this editorial is to improve people, no matter what their age, to carry on with their activities - but go about them gradually. Even though the job may take a little longer, the individual will feel much better physically, and probably mentally, as well.

And a word to the young athlete: even though you think you are "in shape" now, proper conditioning doesn't take place overnight. The athlete who gradually works himself or herself into condition, will come out on top in the long run.

Thought of the week

Straight talking would be more valued if it didn't hide so much crooked thinking.

Sign on the back bumper of a station wagon: "You Are Now Keeping Up With The Joneses."

In the simple old days, when a man got polluted, nobody asked, "Is water, or ground?" They knew.

What Others Say

The priority puzzle

We have taken our right to a basic freedom so much for granted. People came to this country seeking freedom from oppression. They found it. They endured so much hardship to settle this country. They fought two World Wars for the ideal of freedom. They raised their children to live by the premise of freedom. And we have taken it so much for granted. Yet, like it or not we are losing it.

The increasing contempt for law, not only in the area of major crimes but by the public at large bodes ill for the future. Many legal hassles are the result of public demands for protection of this freedom; others are the direct result of our own insistence on doing what we consider our right to do, regardless of the effects on others, for instance drinking and driving, speeding, etc.

Speed limits, helmet legislation, all infringe on what some consider their rights, yet others consider it necessary to control.

When we read that fines will be levied for non-payment of a parking ticket, threats of a jail sentence for one or some other infraction. When we see our courts overcrowded and legal system jammed, can we be concerned about all these threats for NEXT SUNDAY IS MOTHER'S DAY, the day that has been set aside to honor the mothers and the day when the mothers are honored as the backbone of the home and the nation. The tribute has been paid down through the centuries, even when a special day was not set aside for it. Why? Well, because after all, mothers today are not much different than they were centuries ago; not much different than, say, Jewish mothers in the first decade of the first century. Neither are babies much different that they are in the olden days, nor adolescent boys and girls for that matter. Down through the ages a child had depended on his mother for his birth and survival, both physical and spiritual, and the relationship of a child with his parents, especially his mother, has always dictated the development of his personality long before there is contact with the external environment.

To the young pre-school child it may well be said that the parents are the foundation is expressed by the infant and young children in the teachings of the home.

WHEN THE PARENTS (MOTHERS) are right in their beliefs, they teach partly by their words, but chiefly through what may be called the Language of Relationships. A child knows that the world is dependable because his parents are dependable, and the parents are dependable because they depend on the right. A child needs acceptance, love, discipline, freedom to grow and a sense of outreach toward mystery. When he is accepted for who he is, it means that the child is part of the fellowship of the family with recognition of his differences and peculiarities. The love that is offered him by his parents, especially by mothers, is a complete self-giving, a willingness to love when the child is most unwelcome, for it is when the child is most demanding that he needs love most desperately. The child must be accepted for what he is, because both acceptance and love operate within the framework of discipline, and only through law and order can consistency and simplicity be provided.

A PLAYERS is not primarily to keep the child in, to keep the world out, for after all, a fence is a law surrounding freedom. As a child, he continues to need acceptance, love and discipline, and these should continue to expand in order to stimulate growth. Always beyond him, and his parents, is a continual outreach toward mystery, so that the possibilities of development are unlimited.

THESE RELATIONSHIPS can exist in every home, for every member, no matter how young or old he may be. Who are I? Who are you? How did we get here? Where are we going? These are the basic questions we are all asking, and the child learns the answers to these questions by the language of relationships in the home. The child is not to be treated as in the home. He is wanted, loved, treated with the dignity due a child? Is he part of the fellowship of the home?

MOTHERS TODAY have no more difficult task than parents in the first century. It is the task that has always been, but perhaps mothers today see it more clearly. There is a deep responsibility in Motherhood, and that responsibility is the child's protection against all the pressures of the secular world. It gives him the rhythm of rejection and acceptance, of judgement and mercy, of sin and forgiving loving, that will follow him all the days of his life. Because he knows the security of the love of parents, he will grow in the assurance that all is well.

ALL OF THIS MAY BE tiring and frustrating at times, but listen to these words from the pen of Amy Elizabeth Taylor: "Hear my whispered prayer to Thee, Oh Father, my God, keep me. Keep my voice soft, gentle, low; Help me serene and calm to grow. The little hands that clutch and cling. The wilted flowers they often bring. The restless feet that track in dirt, The many little cuts and burns, that fill my day, So often I am tired and hurried, When I have need to be unfurried. Help me to know which things are real: Their true importance help me feel. And may I rise the clinging hands, my eagerness receive their flowers. Help me to guide aright their feet, Each hour to bind, and then repeat. Soft soothing words."

POSSIBILITY OF GROWTH

Discard, unneeded, unharmonious, harsh, out of tune and even at times jarring are only a few adjectives I could have used to describe the music of the piano and afterward call it music. Such was the first day I could have used the most harmonious but done in great skill.

Get away from such trial and error over a period of a year, I began to see the change developing which encouraged me in my little "practice matter". Harmony replaced discord, melody surpassed confusion and rhythm dominated monotonous hammering. Progression succeeds as it is based in patience and long-suffering. Both of these qualities grow on the tree of unselfishness and are nurtured by wisdom and understanding. In a society of rushing and what seems at times to be fruitless occupation, we need to rest awhile at these stations of learning to allow character to develop, for the better functioning within the family, church and social circles. Such should be the priority, evidenced in patience, long-suffering, gentleness, love, faith, joy, meekness, and temperance. Bless these in wisdom with thyself! "Love thy neighbour as thyself" and our country will be a land beehiving from star to peace and prosperity.

Merna 4-H Horse Club

Our club has been very busy during the past couple of weeks. First, we held a very successful trimming and clipping demonstration at Whitlocks.

Kenny Alderton brought two horses to demonstrate on. The first one stood perfectly still while he showed us how to cut a belly path, clip up his face and jaw line as well as trim his ears.

He stood quietly while Kenny showed us how he trims up the hocks and legs. After he finished he brought his other horse out and what a difference! This normal quiet horse just went absolutely crazy at the first sound of the clippers. Kenny then proceeded to show us how to clip a horse like this, and finally he had to trip the horse and lay him down, and lie him up to get the job done.

The horse was a lot more willing to stand and he finished clipping after he got up.

We all felt this was a very practical worthwhile lesson since quite a few horses aren't as quiet as those people usually use to demonstrate on.

On May 2, our club turned out in full force along with four adults for highway cleanup.

We cleaned 18 miles from Highway 12, north on 36. It was a perfect day weather-wise and we were all relieved to finish up the job and enjoy a winter roast with all the trimmings at the Alliance Camrose afterwards.

Our next meeting will be May 11 at Bellhill Hall.

Kirby Whitlock.

FOUR YEARS

This past week in the Legislature has been a busy one. The House sat until 11:00 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights.

On Monday, April 27th, the Honourable David King, Minister of Education announced the beginning of Education Week. The purpose of Education Week is to highlight education in the province, both inside and outside the classroom.

A quality education is the basic tool we can give our youth to equip them to be full and contributory citizens. This is why our school must be an integral part of our communities. It is this reality that also triggered the Education Week Committee to place special emphasis on developing volunteer resource programs in our schools.

These programs are the product of team effort by teachers and community members to bring the resources of our neighbourhood into our classrooms.

Also on Monday, April 27th, the Honourable Jim Horne described in detail the Alberta Heritage Scholarship Fund, announced last September. The Government of Alberta has chosen to recognize the significant contributions of 10 percent by naming Alberta Heritage Scholarships in their honour.

One such scholarship for high school achievement has been named in honour of Alexander Rutherford, Alberta's first Premier and first Minister of Education. The Alexander Rutherford scholarship will encourage and reward more than 1,500 high school students who have demonstrated outstanding academic ability in Grades 10, 11, and 12. Students who qualify in each grade for this scholarship will receive $1,500 during their first semester at a post-secondary institution.

There will be scholarships for undergraduate students at post-secondary institutions, awards of distinction for study in Alberta to top scholars in Alberta universities, and also awards of distinction for study outside Alberta. These are just a few of the scholarships to be awarded.

One of the most prestigious award has been named in honour of Sir Frederick Hamilton, who led Alberta and Saskatchewan into Confederation in 1905. This prize will acknowledge exceptional accomplishment by Albertans in the categories of fine, applied, or performing arts, social or physical sciences and education or humanities.

The Alberta Heritage Scholarship Fund is the most comprehensive scholarship program in the western world. I am confident that for many years to come this province will benefit from this exciting investment in its people and their abilities.

On Thursday, April 30, the Honourable Jack Cockson, Minister of Environment, made a statement in the House. The Alberta government is increasing the amount of money it will grant to communities for the improvement of water and sewage facilities, with particular emphasis on smaller communities.

Essentially the change is being made to recognize that smaller communities do not enjoy the economies of scale that are available to our larger communities. The upper limit has been increased to $2,100 per capita for communities of 600 or more population.

Smaller communities will now be eligible for a proportionately larger grant. For example, a village with a population of 300 would have an upper limit of $3,600 per capita, and a hamlet with a population of 75 would have an upper limit of $4,745 per capita.

During the 1980-81 fiscal year, 156 communities spent about $66 million to assist 105 communities. While the same number of communities are expected to benefit this year, the total provincial grant should rise to around $75 million.

Lloyd Smith will be in the Vermilion office five days a week, from 9 - 12 a.m. and from 1 - 5:00 p.m., at 963-0225. Please feel free to phone me in Edmonton collect at 427-1835.

Sharon Edgington

An error I wish to correct was concerning an announcement in regards to the Community Clean-up. Which I reported as being scheduled May 1. I was informed the date is actually May 8, (for the first day of the weather permit). Sorry for the inconvenience.

As the hospital got better established, more beds were badly needed. Sister Loyola was administrator at that time, and together with some of the hospital members in town and the Sisters of the Order, it was decided to build a new wing and renovate the original building.

to the west of the existing hospital. Construction commenced in October of 1943, and was completed in May 15, 1946. The new building contained 18 beds, a large operating area, and good service areas.

The original hospital contained Maternity services and beds and a much larger nursery. X-ray and Laboratory services.

The hospital with the new addition accommodated 30 beds, with seven children's beds. It also provided room for the Sisters and staff on the second floor.

As the hospital was filled to capacity all the time, it became necessary to start thinking of building again, so in the early 1960's Sister Lourdes then Administrator, started consulting with her Board and the Government as well as with the Superiors of the Order.

The Counties of Beaver and Flagstaff were considered for the construction of an Auxiliary Hospital, so after much planning and research it was decided to combine the two hospitals under one management. As this was the first time such a scheme had been attempted, a great deal of thought and planning had to be done and a lot of effort made to convince everyone that it would be workable.

A complete new site was needed and the long waiting list for the Auxiliary Hospital.

The new building program also provided for a convent for the Sisters as well as a beautiful large chapel. Interdenominational services were arranged for the patients, particularly the patients in the Auxiliary Hospital.

The original hospital was retained as a residence for the nurses and staff for a few years and sold later as a private home.

Included in business were the payment of memberships for 1981 and plans to attend the annual regional A.C.W. meeting in Irma on April 29. The next meeting will be held June 26.

Following adjournment, a delicious lunch and lots of friendly chatting were enjoyed.

Those attending were Dorothy Krosser, Dolly Hearn, Florence VanCoughnet, Pauline Gately and Barb Matthews.

In 1963 the new 'Hospital Complex' was completed and officially opened. This new Complex accommodates 30 active beds and 50 Auxiliary beds, as well as complete and very adequate service facilities in both hospitals.

This 30-bed Complex is filled to capacity all the time and there is a long waiting list for the Auxiliary Hospital.

Effective May 1st flashing light regulations

New legislation prohibiting flashing lights on motor vehicles unless authorized by regulation became effective May 1, 1981. Alberta Transportation safety branch announced today.

The revised regulation was required because of misunderstanding and abuse of existing requirements. "With the great proliferation of flashing lights on vehicles during the last several years, they've almost lost their effectiveness as warning devices," explained George R. Barker, acting director of the transportation safety branch. "It is expected that these restrictions will control the use of flashing lights and thereby restore their role as warning devices for specific vehicles," he added.

Flashing amber lights are required on vehicles according to carrying wide loads, and on all tow trucks. However, tow trucks may also use flashing lights only while hooking onto or drawing vehicles onto the travel portion of the roadway, and not while towing along highway.

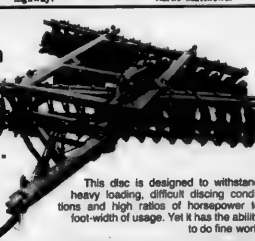

Flashing red lights are required on ambulances and fire vehicles, and gas-disconnecting vehicles may display a flashing red light. School buses are the only vehicles permitted to show alternately flashing red lights.

Police vehicles are normally required to show flashing red on the left and flashing lights on the right. Flashing blue is only permitted on Peace Officer vehicles.

No red lights of any description are permitted on the front of vehicles unless authorized by this regulation.

Flashing amber lights are required on vehicles according to carrying wide loads, and on all tow trucks. However, tow trucks may also use flashing lights only while hooking onto or drawing vehicles onto the travel portion of the roadway, and not while towing along highway.

Sedgewick plans homecoming

Plans for Sedgewick and district's Homecoming next year, took another step forward on Tuesday night (of this week) with the choosing of the dates: Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 2, 3, and 4 of 1982; the choosing of an official title "Sedgewick Homecoming '82" but the naming of an overall chair-person remains to be completed.

A list of prospective candidates for the organizational part of the activities was placed before the meeting, and it is hoped that committee heads can be named in time for the next meeting, called for Tuesday, June 8, at the Drop-In Centre, which is open to all interested parties.

Vic Allrecht, chairman, for the evening, emphasized that the Chamber of Commerce group had started the ball rolling for weeks providing a base for the homecoming, this was not to be construed by the general public, that the Chamber was indeed going to control it.

Considerable input was obtained from Lisa Rowe and Nina Curtis from Strome, who provided much pertinent information on the operation of a homecoming, having participated actively in the Strome Homecoming, held in 1980.

From their observations, the Sedgewick group agreed on the formation of a committee structure, consisting of persons in charge of food, administration, finances, lodging, entertainment, registration, security, and clean-up, and possibly others, to be named later.

Mr. Allrecht said there appears to be a misunderstanding that the homecoming is restricted to former residents and residents of the Town of Sedgewick. He said this couldn't be further from the truth.

"It's a community homecoming — not a Sedgewick homecoming," he remarked, adding that assistance from the rural areas would be more than welcome, and certainly visitors from the district are considered part of the homecoming celebrations.

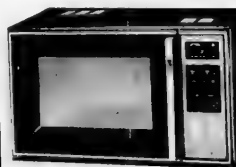

While there had been some previous discussion on holding the homecoming, other than near July 1, which has been traditionally Sedgewick's over the year's, those present agreed with Jim Tidball, agricultural society representative, that the "long week-end" would fit in better with plans of most, especially those coming from afar.

It was agreed that Sedgewick's annual July 1 sportsday would not be touched. Since July 1, 1982 is on a Thursday, registration for the homecoming could take place Friday, with possibly a "Book Bash" to publicize the area history book, followed by other homecoming activities, Saturday and Sunday.

Medallion Quilt for a twin-sized bed made by Bea Elm of Hardisty for her grandson, Christmas 1979. Medium tones of blue, red and green are paired with lighter tones of the same colours for the border and the side medallions. The central medallion is a checkerboard design in blue and red.

Hardisty lady described as a profile quilter

"Profile Of A Quilter" is the title given to a recent article in the Canadian Quilter, relating to others the quilting prowess of Bea Elm of Hardisty.

The article portrays Bea as a "profile quilter" who has made all types of quilts, who at one time published her own newsletter for quilters in Alberta, entitled "The Beehive".

"I started to quilt about 1972 and learned by trial and error along with reading every article and book that I could find," she said.

An aunt showed her some shortcuts and originally, she wanted to use up remnants "and quilting was one way to do it."

Although she likes to make applique and reverse quills the best, she does make some pieced quilts along with many crib quilts. Bea hasn't tried wall hangings yet and not much embroidery, except on some of the crib quilts. Crib quilts are often machine quilted but she prefers to put hand-quilting on the larger ones.

For the past few years, Bea has had a booth of quilts and patch-work items for sale at the summer Farmers' Market in Hardisty. Usually she has large used quilts as well as many smaller items.

She has made two quilts to order but most of the others were made as gifts for family members.

The first step in Bea's planning a quilt consists of placing the proposed design on paper, colouring in the colours she plans to use. Usually this is done before the material is purchased.

Bea Elm prefers to work with the diacron-polyester materials "and of course 100 percent cotton when it is available", although sometimes it could be taffeta, crepe and satin.

Because satin ravelle so badly, she likes to use a close zig-zag (satin stitch) on the sewing machine to applique satin and also does that occasionally with other fabrics, too.

She describes her quilting primarily as "a hobby," but has aspirations as well. "I hope sometime to make up a book of my own designs and have it published," she confided.

As she quilts mainly in the evenings and not every evening at that, Bea Elm finds it takes her anywhere from nine months to two years to complete a hand-quilted quilt.

Quilting in Alberta at the present time is reported as "really alive and well".

Hardisty Social Club

The Hardisty Social Club met in the Drop-In Centre on Tuesday evening, April 28, with 18 members present. Following the reading of the minutes, Vera Hendricks reported attending the Chamber of Commerce Meeting and putting forward suggestions for the town that were very favourably received.

Material for the Heritage Quilt was bought and squares given out for embroidery. The treasurer's report was given by Orma Therp, and approved.

Notice was received of a workshop to be held in Friesburg on May 7, and a number of members plan to attend. Other workshops will be held through the district, discussing the development of Drop-In Centres, advice on medication for seniors, help for depressed persons, and others.

The Ceramics Club has been paying one-third of the heating cost of the building as well as one-half of the cover bill. It was decided that in view of the number of other groups using the Centre and sharing heating costs, the Ceramics Club pay only one-quarter of the heating.

The work schedule for work at the river campsite has been drawn up and members will receive copies soon.

EDMONTON TIGERS vs KILLAM BRAVES—3:00 P.M. SUNDAY, MAY 10 - Killam Centennial Park

The playground is the only thing a lot of little kids have

Students at Selkirk elementary school are very disappointed with the department of their children in this community—probably emergency adults only a few years' older than themselves—who apparently have nothing better to do than use the playgrounds at the school as a "proving grounds" for their motorist and vehicles.

Recently some of the equipment at the playgrounds has been subjected to damage by clearly irresponsible persons, who would do well to "do their thing" elsewhere, judging by the views expressed by students up to Grade 6, in letters to The Community Press.

Certainly these incidents have caused the youngsters to see first-hand, the effects of vandalism, and through the news media, reveal their inner-most feelings on the matter, for all to see.

Perhaps the sincerely expressed, will have a notable impact on those responsible, and hopefully the acts of vandalism will cease.

To recap, the playground recently was victimized by persons operating motorized vehicles, who caused extensive damage to most key equipment. Also, at an earlier time, trees planted to improve the appearance of the playground, were "removed" — stolen — during the summer.

Principal Ken Allford states the only recourse left is to fence the playgrounds if vandalism continues, but he wonders where the financial assistance would come from. He believes that if such funds are available, they should be put to better use — in an educational way — and in that we entirely agree.

Undoubtedly, the students are receiving a certain degree of experience in letter-writing and have afforded the opportunity to try out their grammar, but every citizen should be aware that the next time letters of this nature are sent to The Community Press, they will be on a much happier subject.

Space decrees that the letters cannot be published in their entirety, but the reader, public can be assured, the "meat" of each letter, will be transmitted.

Rich McArthur reports to rhyme to express his discontent: "Selkirk is being wrecked, I've learned; by people whose lives haven't been earned. Selkirk's playground is being wrecked, I think. So I've decided to kick up a stink. Lots of nerds are wrecking this place: Where rampaging is a race. Jerks have been driving trucks onto things; And throwing, and wrecking, and beating swings." He suggests the nerds do it to impress their friends.

Diana Harris, Grade 6, comments that "We don't want a fence around the schoolyard because it would be like a jail. We don't want a fence to keep the children going out on the street, it would be to protect the school grounds equipment. If we didn't have any playing equipment, it would be just a bare piece of land with a school on it."

Chris Jessewicz suggests: "The problem is caused by an 'incompetent jerk' who is destroying our school grounds and play equipment. We students don't want a fence for two reasons: First, a fence costs money, money that could be used for better things. Second, a fence would make this place look like a prison. So, whenever you hear 'God gave you a brain, use them.'"

Brenda Bruce asks the of students to "Just think how we will feel with a fence around us—we'll be kept in jail but in funatics out. A few years ago, the school planted some trees. This year, Grade 2 students are planting some like bushes and pines, could people avoid running over them or pulling them out? Even the grass doesn't have a chance to grow!"

Sherril Sparrow, Grade 6, states that "To put up a fence is really unfair because we are not doing anything to harm it. But will they (the guilty parties) get pleasure out of bagging into our playing areas? After they are done, they aren't any wackier or poorer. So why then burn around in a field out of town? At least then they wouldn't be wrecking anything. Really, the only ones that can do anything about it are the people that are doing all the damage." Cindy Mackay, Grade 6, comments: "If people don't take things into things when children are on the playground, one of the kids could be hurt. The school might have to put up a fence to keep Lunsdale out."

Max Beirato said: "Someone or something tried to knock over our key bars, and if you ask me that was fairly stupid. And talking about 'wrecking', what did we do to them. They are not bawling from it."

Marlene Hallam, Grade 6, points out that: "The playground means a lot to the children who go to school. It gives us something to do, but it would be like a jail and no-one like a jail."

Tracy Peller, Grade 6, points out: "Everybody in elementary from Grade 1 to 6, is really trying to make the schoolyard a nice place, but if the lunatics come and wreck it, this is really unfair to all of us. If those lunatics keep doing it, there will be nothing left for the future boys and girls. Next time you go by the school, just stop and look, just imagine that the schoolyard is filled with new equipment and flowers. And then imagine seeing the same equipment, half-wrecked, an old ragged fence, no trees or flowers."

Donna Gruninger, Grade 6, remarks: "The schoolyard can be a lot of fun. When we're in Grade 6 you don't play on the equipment. We play soccer or baseball. The little kids like the playground. They like to play on swings, and all. The Grade 6's are growing like. They will probably be run over or turn down by the jerks out there."

Murray Dolan, Grade 6, says: "I would like to tell everyone about all the ripping around, like some lunatics spinning doughnuts, then losing control and running into our monkey bars. Also, some people on motorbikes, roaring around our track and football field and making big ruts. And then almost run over some like the Grade Three's playground. I hope you see our problem."

Lorne Vanderwood reports: "People are damaging the school playground equipment and tearing around on motorbikes and cars or trucks. If this keeps up, the playground will be demolished. We don't want a fence to keep the children out, but to keep trespassers out."

Hardisty Council proposes road change

Town Prepares Road Alterations
The Town of Hardisty Council is proposing to alter the road system at the intersection of Main Street and Highway 10 in order to provide more and better parking for the arena complex.

The proposal is to close the road from the school corner to the approach road and to build a new road to connect Churchill St. to Hawthorne Street opposite the hospital. The old road would then be converted to a car park in conjunction with a vacant lot opposite the arena and the existing parking space.

Many towns - people will have evidenced the upgrading of the school grounds and boundaries. This has effectively reduced the parking space.

Also as the road along the side of the arena is an official highway it is prohibited from use as a parking space.

Thus it is felt by councillors that another parking arrangement must be made before the next winter season. Council is interested in receiving feedback from the community on this proposal before any action is taken.

The town has purchased a road packer with the intention of improving road conditions in town. The costs involved in tendering road improvements are so great, that the town had decided to do its own work. It is hoped the packer will prove to be a wise investment and the towns people will see it in action soon.

Hardisty Council
The council gave its approval for a new sanitary landfill site, south of the town of the Airport Road. The development of the site will be subject to approval by the Department for the Environment.

Push to 11
The week of May 11-17 has been declared as "Pitch-In '81" week and the school has accepted the challenge to take part in a community clean-up.

Construction Crew
The employees of Leduc Construction have set up their temporary home in Hardisty. They will be working on resurfacing the Coronation Road for the next three months.

Requisition
Due to the increase in the town's general assessment, it has experienced an increase in each requisition for funds that has been received by the office. Thus for requisitions have arrived from Flagstaff Lodge, Flagstaff Education, Provincial School Foundations, Alberta Planning Fund. Some of the increases have been considerable.

Parade Award
In the month of April, the town received applications for eight building permits and three business licenses. All were granted by town council.

The Hardisty Homecoming Committee has set the date for August 1 and 2. Due to the large crowds expected, the town will make application to the R.C.M.P. for special patrols during that time.

Labour
Preparation for the summer season will shortly be underway at the lake. The lake committee is to draw up a list of recommendations and all pertinent items will be re-evaluated.

The town is fortunate to have such a beautiful recreation site, so close at hand and it is hoped that both local and visiting families will treat it with respect.

All fires should thoroughly be doused before leaving and only the dead wood provided, should be used as firewood.

Grants
The grant for the Golf Club building project has been received from the Department of Parks and Recreation and town council passed it into the hands of the executive. The municipal grant to the library was passed for payment. The History Book Committee also received the balance of its grant. Submitted by Councillor Gray.

Larry Keller, left, and Red Fee of Killam Chamber of Commerce, present a plaque to Sister Rose Ellen in recognition of 50 years of service to the community by the Sisters of St. Joseph, through their hospital work.

50th anniversary of Killam General Hospital

Tuesday was Visitors Day at Killam, but it just wasn't any ordinary day for people to stroll around the grounds of the Killam Hospital complex.

It was the 50th anniversary of Killam General Hospital, the coming of the Sisters of St. Joseph to Killam, and the forming of the Ladies Auxiliary.

An Open House, Tea, and Mini Bazaar were planned to mark the occasion.

The facilities of the Killam-Beaver Auxiliary Hospital recreation area were tastefully decorated with reminders of the occasion, with prospective purchasers lining up to purchase various items from the Mini Bazaar, well before the 1:30 p.m. starting time.

Another highlight, was the presentation of a plaque to Sister Rose Ellen, present hospital administrator, in tribute for the 50 years of service the Sisters of St. Joseph have contributed to the Killam, Sedgewick and Strome areas.

The presentation was made to Sister Rose Ellen by Larry Keller and Red Fee, on behalf of Killam Chamber of Commerce.

Articles in the Mini Bazaar were completed by residents of the Auxiliary Hospital, assisted by Shirley Foss, head of the arts and crafts department, and Darlene Jensen, her helper.

Many residents of the hospital participated in making the products which ranged from paintings to basketweaving, mosaics to knitting, and from crocheting to the making of stuffed animals, with John Fortier, a non-resident, doing the woodwork cutting which enabled many of the items to be completed.

Residents who contributed their talents were Mrs. Black, Mr. Saur, Mr. Ross Fox, Mrs. Seward, Mrs. Grant, Mr. Genisior, Mrs. Barry, Mrs. Koutledge, Mr. McKelton, Orville Lewis, Hilda VanGrinthuisen, Mrs. Dill, Mrs. Dumont, Mrs. McDadden, Mr. Grant, and Mr. Kliger.

The first patients were admitted on December 13, 1930 to Killam Hospital and early in 1931, the first Sisters of St. Joseph arrived.

"The Genera Hospital" as it was named, accommodated about nine patients with four baby bassinets.

There were three doctors (Continued on Page 7)

Loughheed youths babysitting course

Eleven more youngsters Loughheed are much better qualified to babysit, thanks to six-month-old Graham Burden.

According to his mother, the 17 students enrolled in the five-week class at Loughheed school "practiced on him."

Mrs. Burden is a volunteer who assisted in the Loughheed V sponsored course, which was patterned after Alberta Red Cross requirements. Successful students were obliged to pass a right examination before certificates and awards were made.

Jerry-Lynn Burden and other volunteer mothers made the course tick for the 10 to 15-year-olds who coveted the awards.

The remainder of the time was devoted to timely tips and advice from Mrs. Burden and her assistants.

Tuesday of this week, presentations were made to eleven children who passed the test. Three special marks went to Vera Bovenkamp, with a 95 - and two boys - of all people, tied for second best mark. Jeff Rostchuk and Shane Groat each received a mark of 92.

Other receiving awards besides those mentioned include Nolan Lennox, Anthony Chelaw, Ramon Duggan, Murray Dolly, Donna Gruninger, Connie Stoddard, Patty Grove, and Cory McEneaney.

Shows here are some of the participants in the Babysitting Course, sponsored by Loughheed W.J. Burden, instructor, smiles at Vera Bovenkamp, top in exams; Shane Grove, tied for top boy in the exams, and six-month-old Graham Burden, the eye of everyone's affection.

Miss Fawcett
We have had a variety of weather, throughout Alberta in this past week. Snow in the southern part, rain and dust storms. We did enjoy the rain we got a couple of days ago. Could use more of it too.

The farmers are all busy with their farm work, and the women are busy helping all they can in between working in the gardens and keeping up with the meals and housework.

Miss Debbie Richards has returned home after spending a term at the University of Alberta in Edmonton. Debbie is from White-

Joan Wright is home spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Agnes Wright.

Ball teams need coaches

One again all the children are swinging bats and throwing balls around so it's time that ball is organized for another year. The Sedgewick annual ball meeting was held April 28, at the Rec Centre with 38 parents and interested coaches in attendance.

Uniforms were a much discussed item on the agenda. It was decided to order uniforms for the two oldest teams of boys and girls but there will be no uniforms for T-ball.

Uniforms will be close to the men's colours of red and grey if available, each parent will give a post-dated cheque for the cost of a uniform when receiving one and will receive it back when the uniform is handed over. Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, who coached a number of years ago on the quarter of north-east from Grosvenor School corner. Sympathy is extended to the family.

On Monday, April 27, nine of the Good Deed Club members motored to Maidstone, Saskatchewan to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Copeland. They all enjoyed their visit immensely.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dave Colson on the birth of a son, Mr. C. Congratulations also to the granddaughters, Mrs. Joan Watts, Mrs. Verma Dick of Edmonton and Mrs. Gerry Krause of Swan Hills, spent the week-end with the Toms and Ray Herricks families, also visiting their mother Mrs. Horvick in the Killam Auxiliary Hospital.

Mrs. Roseetta Johnson of Vancouver, B.C. is visiting her sister, Mrs. Marie Martin for awhile, also other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Beaton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Don Beaton, Kelly and Mark of Coronation, for Mother's Day.

Mrs. Margaret Dehaan was in Galtstad for the Mother's Day weekend visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Alf Blumhagen and family. On the Sunday, Kevin and Suzanne Blumhagen had their baby, Tara Dawn, christened.

There were four Senior Citizens from Lougheed attending the Senior Citizens workshop held in Furberburg on Thursday. They said it was all very interesting. There were guest speakers from Edmonton. A very nice meal was served at noon.

Kindergarten News

At the monthly kindergarten meeting on April 16, the annual election of officers was held. The officers for the 1981-82 year are: President: Vera Hinkley, Vice President: Lana Leva, and Secretary-Treasurer: Marie Masure.

The Alberta Educational Department has decided that the Early Childhood Service, as they wish Kindergarten to be called, can no longer have the teacher act as co-ordinator. In accordance with this decree, Lynn Miller will be the volunteer co-ordinator.

The Kindergarten group have begun their yearly field trips and already have spent a most enjoyable and informative day at Wainwright as well as the Irma Hutterite colony. There are local trips planned to the hospital, fire hall, etc., and it is hoped that a visit to the printing press can be arranged for next month. On April 29, the Hardisty Kindergarten hosted the workshop "Nature Awareness" and twenty-four teachers and mothers availed of the opportunity to learn from naturalist Joseph Carroll how to guide and foster in our children an appreciation and respect for the environment.

New hospital in Hardisty still delayed

Residents of Hardisty, and area have been urged to write Dave Russell, Minister of Health, or their M.L.A. to protest the delay in providing necessary approvals for a new hospital.

Appearing at the May 12 meeting of Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary, Mr. L. J. Gohla, chairman of the hospital board, provided first-hand information on progress achieved to date, in the quest for a new building.

He outlined to Auxiliary members the reasons for delays, and touched on the frustrations the Board has experienced at the numerous meetings held, as well as the progress made.

But he encouraged everyone to write a letter to the hospital's minister, commenting on the desperate need for a new hospital, reporting on the condition of the present hospital, as well as the distance between the hospitals in case of emergency.

The Auxiliary press reporter suggests that "if a deluge of letters streaming our way shows state of need, keeps arriving on their desks, maybe our new hospital will materialize sooner".

Mr. Gohla stated to members that he hoped he had cleared up some of the questions about the delay in proceeding with the new hospital.

"Maybe after our next meeting, he will have some good news for us," the press reporter commented.

The Sisters of St. Joseph from Kilham General Hospital honored the Kilham Hospital Auxiliary on their 50th anniversary at a dinner Thursday, May 14, in the Bethania Lutheran Church, Sedgewick. From left are Mrs. Marion Brown, Auxiliary vice-president; Mrs. Edna Fee, guest; Mrs. Emma George, secretary; Mrs. Margaret Ward, president; Edward Fee, board chairman and Mrs. Freda Rott, treasurer.

Sisters host dinner

At a dinner Thursday evening, May 14, the Sisters of St. Joseph from Kilham General Hospital, honored the Ladies Auxiliary of Kilham Hospital, at their 50th year of service at Sedgewick Lutheran Church.

Mr. Edward Fee, chairman of the hospital board, paid glowing tributes to both groups, congratulating them on their years of volunteer service. The board chairman praised the Sisters and Auxiliary for their efforts in obtaining equipment, at times when government funding was not available, and for their care of the sick and injured.

Members of the Hospital Auxiliary also were commended for their dedication and ability to provide the little comforts to the elderly.

The guest speaker was thanked by Sister Rose Ellen Administrator of Kilham General Hospital.

Seated with Mr. Fee at the head table were Mrs.

Editorially

It's nice to be at the top, but . . .

The attempted assassination of Pope John Paul II Wednesday is just another example of the theory that "those in high places reap the wrath of the populace".

Analysis of provocateurs in the past has brought out the fact that by taking such action, non-descript individuals with no hope of ever becoming the object of hero worship, draw world-wide attention upon themselves.

And in its desire to bring sensationalism to the masses, the news media perhaps, (mainly television) can accept some of the blame, if this is the thinking of the violator.

We only need mention the names of President Reagan, President Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr., or Abraham Lincoln, and a picture of horror is presented.

Everyone of these famous personalities felt their own strong beliefs in a cause, and bravely defended their views.

Pope John Paul has re-iterated time and again his outright objections to abortion, and much ill-will has developed in Italy over the Vatican's so-called interference into the internal affairs of Italy, which is soon to have a referendum, which would relax abortion laws, if successful. This may have precipitated the attempt on his life.

After the attempt on President Reagan's life, security was beefed up for Canada's Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, with the fear of a back-lash from anti-separatists. No doubt in many people's minds, there is cause for such a measure.

But most of us don't strive for the top, we're just content to sit back and watch the rest of the world go by.

A man who is a success never has to prove it. The reason why spectacular spenders throw their money around so conspicuously is because they are trying to prove to others — and to themselves — that they are successful. What they are really demonstrating is their spiritual poverty. Success — the real, not the flashing kind — can never be measured by bank balances; money measured only properly. Success is a matter of character.

Congratulations went to Miss Madge York, Vernon Wilson, Hugh and Arthur Large who were all successful in passing all their exams at the University of Alberta.

In the Lougheed district, frost damaged the wheat, much of it being 4 inches high. Those who had their gardens planted early are disappointed, as corn, beans, and all vines are ruined.

The home of George Fisher in the Crickdale district was completely destroyed by fire last Wednesday morning. The fire started in the chimney.

30 YEARS AGO
Friday evening about three hundred High School students and friends from Hardisty, Lougheed, Sedgewick, Killam, Strome, Dayland and Bawli were guests of the Killam High School Union at a "J.I. Anniversary" party. The hall was nicely decorated for this occasion with streamers, balloons, and artistic carvings.

"Top Hats" orchestra supplied the music and contorts and noise making added to the enjoyment.

Mr. Miller, K.C. of Edmonton, Chairman of the new Canadian War Loan Committee and Mr. Sadding, business manager, addressed a meeting of citizens from Hardisty to Killam at the Killam High School Union. Messrs Gray, Leah, Desjardis, Macdonald and Fells were the Sedgewick representatives present.

Stan Suter of Hardisty suffered a painful accident last week while combining. Stan threw a crowbar, which he had been working atop the rig and followed it down in a jump. The crowbar, instead of landing flat, stuck upright in the ground, and Stan landed broadside on top of it. The implement pierced his side badly, and he was rushed to hospital where surgery was performed. At last reports, Stan is progressing nicely. In Strome on May 24.

In Hardisty, a fire which could have been serious occurred near the home of Les Tennie on Friday. Mrs. Carter was able to sound the fire alarm, and with the quick action of the fire department, the fire was soon put out. Another fire about the same time badly burned the inside of Louis Shawley's which he had been working on. It is not known how the fire started as no one was at home.

Students from the High School and Junior High School participated in a County Track Meet in Dayland on Saturday, many bringing home trophies. Congratulations to Max Peterson. Written on winning a gold medal at the track meet is the midgey girls division.

A.P. Crop Report: Good rains were received during the past week in the western and southern parts of Alberta, with lighter rains in the north. In this area, seeding is well advanced but over most of the province, farm operations have been held up by cold rainy weather.

The regular meeting of the Village Council of Sedgewick was held on May 5. Business arising out of the meeting included: One new sewer connection was approved; three building permits were approved; a motion to build a kitchen camp at the lake was passed, with the winter work program being used; and the Legion and Klansmen supplying the material.

Killam Co-op had a sale on with a rack of jackets going from $2.00 to $3.95, also hardware for Lawns Mowers going for only 99¢ cents to $1.98. Terrific savings at the Co-op!

ALL OVER THE WORLD from the very day of the emergence of man on the scene, there has been warring, wailing and gnashing of teeth. The wailing wall of Jerusalem, if it could speak, could recount tales of war and sorrow beyond imagination. It could tell of countless people who have returned time and again to the same spot attempting to shed themselves of evil inflicted upon them or to cleanse their souls of harm done to others. That this is necessary is a direct reflection on man, that he has failed to heed the lessons and warnings of his past days; that he has not heeded the admonition to go hence and not repeat the act. It is all of little consequence unless and until he realizes that much of his discomfort has been initiated by his inability to treat others as he would like them to treat him. Hundreds of thousands die annually simply because man is not really concerned. His own situation comes first however bountiful that might be.

YET HOP SPRINGS ETERNAL in human breast and right now that we are in the midst of spring that eternal hope gets a boost. There are few things that revive the spirit of man more than the retreat of winter with its accompanying cold, snow and ever mounting fuel costs. The appearance of pussy willows and crows, the harbinger of spring, delight the hearts of the hopeful. The long, down filled jackets and mittens and scarves are stored away to await the return of weather more suitable to their use. Windows will receive their annual spring cleaning, the house will be gone through thoroughly (at least once), and to escape this arduous task men will betake themselves to the golf course. Little Johnny will clear out his system and prepare him for the mounting activity of the warmer months.

THE FARMER in whose breast hope really springs eternal, has been engaged in toiling up his machinery, getting seed in shape and land in condition for seedtime hopeful that an abundant harvest will reward him. Yes, spring is the hopeful time, the time of renewal and the time of bountiful joy in the heart of all men. It is a time too when he is thankful that his "survival kit" has brought him through another winter and into another season and the warmth of spring and summer.

LET US ALL HOPE that the warmth of this season will warm the hearts of those who have authority over the multitudes and with cooperation be able to arrive at sane conclusions that will bring "peace at last" to a maddened and bedeviled world. I believe that peace is really desired by most, because situations have become so grave, that if sanity is not displayed a major confrontation could ensue, which would be disastrous to the masses. The problems are not unanswerable; the will is real and honest. There cannot be peace on everybody's terms; there has to be give and take. If we fail to use this and to resolve our differences the only alternative is the resumption of armed conflict. That this should be allowed to take place is to the shame of mankind. War mongers who promote armed conflict should be sanctioned against the utmost by peace-loving nations of the world. Another all-out effort, conflict cannot be tolerated. It is way past time that we learned to live together in peace. Man's inhumanity to man is our curse, and that is our hope for this new springtime.

YET IN SPITE of all this I fear that the world will continue to breed the individual whose only ambition is to exert power over the masses.

Such power that breeds corruption, disrupts and hate. Power tempts men to pride and corruption and arrogance, and a kind of cruel self-righteousness. The exercise of power without accountability to the masses is evident, while the responsible exercise of power involves that it be used according to established rules. Political democracy does not insure good government to be sure, but by preventing the monopolization of power in the hands of one or a few, it will prevent the evils of slavery or serfdom for the many. Here democracy holds out the best hope and its extension into the economic sphere and the social area, is necessary in modern civilization to prevent the evils of economic exploitation of the many to the benefit of the few.

THE TASK OF MAN is not to flee from power, but to use it for the material and social welfare of all men, rather than the exercise of power over men. That is why we may predict and hope that the absolute power over people by a few will eventually fail, by that same power of the masses. People over the world are emerging and will not much longer tolerate complete rule over their rights and freedoms.

THE TRUTH OF OUR Faith
There are two ways of approaching truth but it is in the light of truth that we find the meaning of normal life. One way is to enjoy in the excitement of the moment and permit yourself to be bound by chains of resentment and locked together with feelings of bitterness and despair. Or, one can believe in a God who can bring life to the dead and turn the trial into a challenge of faith.

Let us in January of this year, our son Chad (10 years old) was diagnosed by a group of doctors and specialists as having Rheumatoid Arthritis. It had progressed to involving a severe swelling of all major joints in his arms and legs. We were told by the doctors that his movements would continue to decrease. He would be with crutches. At this time we were not super spiritual here. We had battled great temptation to give up, ask the all important question - Why God? We were sure of the fact that the Bible is really the Word of God and we could depend on it. Also great strength was given through the encouragement and prayers of many friends.

St. Marks Women's Guild met at the home of Nelliga Johnson on Wednesday evening. The business led the devotion. The main business of the meeting was the planning of the annual Kitchissippi, the date set for June 13th. Any Kitchissippi interested in taking part please contact any member of the Guild. The proceeds this year will be divided between the Guild and the Harvey Hospital Auxiliary.

Members were glad to learn that George Ellis was home again, and showing improvement after his treatment. The meeting closed with prayer, and the business served a delicious lunch.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Sending is cheque for renewal of paper. Hope you will find someone to write news from Killam and district, soon.

Blossie, Elizabeth James Edmonson.

Every newspaper would expect "Letters to the Editor" in which citizens may express their views through a "public forum" without ever having to mount the soap-box, and a perhaps irritate or disintegrated audience.

A letter to the newspaper is a much more painful approach, and doesn't involve the hiring of a hall, or in some cases, the procurement of a licence before your "side of the story" can be presented.

But there is such an embarrassment in the newspaper business as a "lack of time" in which, which does not allow the complete article to be presented.

It is our desire that future "Letters to the Editor" be written with this point in mind, all must carry a signature.

Such as item from W. M. Herlihy details at length on the topic, "What is a handicap?" With his indignation, and in the sake of brevity, he will endeavour to transmit some of the thoughts he wishes to share.

With this subject, as with many others, there is a message of considerable importance which has a far-reaching impact.

It is pointed out in the letter, there are visual handicaps such as crippled legs which are easily distinguishable, and internal handicaps such as heart problems.

On Tuesday, May 12 over 300 guests attended the 50th Anniversary of the Sisters of St. Joseph and the Killam Ladies Auxiliary Tea. The rooms were decorated with bouquets of flowers given the Sisters from various groups.

Sister Rose Ellen on behalf of the Sisters of St. Joseph's received a plaque presented by the Chamber of Commerce with Reg. P. and Larry Keller doing the honors. A substantial cheque was donated by Syd Walker. A tidy sum was realized from the sale of crafts made by the Killam Ladies Auxiliary served squares and tea.

Prizes were drawn for by Mrs. Vera Dreger guest.

blems, and disorders of the mind, which are not visible to the eye.

The letter begins: "What is a handicap? Life is not fair for people who are afflicted in any way. We are all human with a heart, soul and the intelligence God gave us. We use our faculties in the best way we know how. There are many problems that present themselves at times when we least expect them. If there is a way to overcome them, we can usually find a solution. It takes courage and perseverance to find a lot of faith, trust in God, and the inner strength that can only come from God.

People often show lack of understanding as to why a handicapped person keeps living on the way he or she does. Some feel as soon as Joe Doe or Jane Smith is stricken and left infirmed, that his or her life is over. In some cases, yes, in others, no.

Actually, life is just a beginning, not an end. To learn to walk again, to dress oneself and general personal care of oneself. To learn to walk again, to dress oneself and general personal care of oneself. To learn to walk again, to dress oneself and general personal care of oneself.

There are many men and women, who have been crippled, maimed, and even disfigured, but who have made a success of themselves. Helen Keller, blind and deaf since birth, she was a writer and scholar. President F. D. Roosevelt, married and ran a large country (the United States) in a time of considerable adversity. The March of Dimes in the U.S. Canada has the Polio Foundation as a result.

There are the men injured during the Second World War. The Paraplegic Association was started by them. A lady who had polio as a child, is now married with two children, raises them, keeps her own house, and drives her own car. She has also done counselling at the "retreat" house in her area.

You see, where there is a will there is a way, and that is to have God's love in your heart. This applies to everyone, not just the handicapped. W. M. Herlihy

M.L.A. Report

Tom Lyman
This past week in Legislature has been as usual, quiet, hectic. We met until 10:30 p.m. five nights this week.

Early this week, Education Minister David King announced a $2 million training program to assist the province's teachers and school systems to implement the 1981 Alberta Social Studies curriculum. About 155 experienced social studies teachers will be selected to conduct workshops and provide follow-up assistance for their fellow teachers, from the period September 1981, to January 1982.

The resource teachers will be chosen in the coming weeks using criteria selected by a steering committee. The committee will be made up of representatives from Alberta Education, the Alberta School Trustees' Association, Conference of Alberta School Superintendents, Alberta universities, Alberta Teachers' Association, and the Social Studies Curriculum Co-ordinating Committee.

This announcement of the social studies implementation project addresses a major need in school programs based on the current interest in social studies and Canadian studies. This project will be assessed extensively to determine the potential for government assistance in curriculum implementation when other new programs are announced.

It was also announced by David King that there will be a change in the financing of the Building Quality Restoration Program (BQRPR). BQRPR provides assistance to school boards to restore or upgrade existing school buildings by improving heating, plumbing, and lighting components to meet standards of energy conservation, or provincial building codes, as well as to meet modern educational requirements.

Direct grants to school boards for projects approved under the 1981-82 BQRPR will increase from $30,000 to a maximum of $50,000 for each school board per year. The change in the financing will reduce the debt service and short-term loan indebtedness of the many boards that undertake building restoration programs.

Further, in the area of education, the Calgary Board of Education and Minister David King signed an agreement to improve the schooling of the sensory-handicapped children of Southern Alberta. This agreement will provide three-pronged services to children from 2½ to 18 years, who have hearing or visual impairment, in addition to other learning handicaps.

This program will be of great benefit to Alberta children who previously had to go out of province for their education. This is a unique delivery system for the sensory multi-handicapped and hopefully an agreement will be signed with the Edmonton Board in the near future to supply similar services to the sensory-handicapped in Northern Alberta.

On Tuesday, May 19, I will be going to Churchill, Manitoba, with officials of the Alberta government, to examine the harbour there with a view to improvement.

Lloyd Smith is naming my constituency office in Vermilion from 9 - 12 a.m. and from 1 - 2 p.m. If you have a political hangover, try Jeffrey Simpson's Discipline of Power (about the short-lived Conservative government). Richard Guyer's story of Trudeau entitled The Northern Man, or Peter Foster's The Blue-eyed Shanks (a book on the Western Canadian petroleum industry).

Thursday afternoons the library has posted "Story Hour" for pre-school children. The children enjoyed an hour of stories and activities.

Remember there is any book that you would like to read that is not on our library shelves, the librarian can order it for you from the extension library.

Killam and District Public Library News

The new directors appointed to the library board are Mary Boutin and Margaret Stang. The new library hours are: Monday to Thursday, 8:45 to 5:15; Friday, 8:45 to 12:30; Saturday and Sunday, 8:45 to 5:00; Monday evening, 7:00 to 8:00; and Saturday 2:00 to 4:00.

The library is attractively decorated for the month of May with a collection of Ragny Ann and Andy dolls. The dolls, many of which are home-made, are on loan from various people in Killam.

The library has recently purchased many new books. For those interested in the early Canadian West, some interesting and often humorous tales are told in Rufus on My Longhorns by Isabel Edwards. It Could Have Been Worse by Peg gy Holmes and Butler Down the Well by Robert Collins. If you have a political hangover, try Jeffrey Simpson's Discipline of Power (about the short-lived Conservative government). Richard Guyer's story of Trudeau entitled The Northern Man, or Peter Foster's The Blue-eyed Shanks (a book on the Western Canadian petroleum industry).

Safety with gasoline

With the outdoor season now upon us, the Alberta Safety Council warns citizens about the improper use and storage of gasoline.

Next to water, gasoline is the most commonly used liquid in our society, and perhaps the least understood. Yet it is one of the most dangerous substances we use.

Never use gasoline for any other purpose than as a gasoline engine. Never keep gasoline in the home, but in an unobstructed garage, or tool shed. Avoid using plastic or glass containers for gasoline storage. Always transport or store gasoline in the correct type CSA approved safety container.

Many people are injured without even having realized that they were in danger. Accidents happen when people are doing something routine, like refuelling a lawnmower, using a flammable liquid for cleaning purposes, or simply transporting gasoline from one place to another.

Tourists trek through region

The annual Battle River Tourist Association trek to show campers the East Central Alberta Region will take place this Saturday. Len Dutton, chairman reports that the caravan has been very successful in the past, with participants from throughout the area, and "last year some even came from the Medicine Hat and Edmonton areas".

About 70 vehicles are expected to take part this year, with the procession leaving Camrose at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, arriving at Killam, about 10 a.m., then proceeding to Hardisty. Saturday evening there is a campfire at Half Moon Lake, followed by a Sunday hike through Polar Park, Ft. Saskatchewan.

Anglican Church Killam Tiny Tots

Dennis Martin
My infants indicate that the Sunday School closing service at St. John's was a marvelous success. We hope to see the children and their teachers back at work in the fall.

Mrs. Amelia Richardson is home now from hospital and is making a good recovery.

Mr. Ed Collins is now in hospital, and we hope to see him home soon.

Congratulations are extended to Mary Jane Roth of Foreburg and Doug Markwart of Sedgewick, who were united in marriage at St. John's Church on Saturday evening.

Harold and June Soultor of Sylvan Lake were overnight guests with June's sister, Verona Cookson and family of Loughheed.

The Greg Martin family spent Victoria Day weekend with the Penhold grandparents. They took the long way home so that Grandpa Martin could have a look at the TV, satellite receiving dish in Consort.

Dorothy Pegel and Donna Martin attended an A.C.W. Diocesan Executive meeting in Edmonton on May 15. They were chauffeured home by Margaret Manning, and on the way were serenaded by the protesting screams of little James Martin, who decided he was not in the mood for travelling.

The Killam Tiny Tots Playgroup mothers held a meeting on Thursday, May 14, in the Kenna United Church Hall. Six interested mothers were present.

Discussions were held and plans were made to hold a bake sale on Saturday, May 23 at Killam-Strome, to begin at 10:30 a.m. in order to raise funds for the coming year.

A yard sale will be held on Friday, May 29 at regular Playgroup hours. A trip to the playground was planned to include all mothers and tots where a picnic will be enjoyed, weather permitting.

If enough interest is shown next term, September 1981 we will plan to have a morning and an afternoon session each week. The purpose of the Playgroup is to offer children between the ages of two and half and 5 the opportunity to improve their motor skills and co-ordinate their creativity to socialize with their peers and their social interaction among their parents and siblings. The program offers both structured and free play time in a controlled environment. During this term, there were sixteen children registered who thoroughly enjoyed the program planned by the coordinator, Mrs. Fay Bangle. We're hoping to have a large enrollment for the coming year and that the next year will be as successful.

Nazarene News

Seven of our young people spent the past weekend at a Youth Convention at James River Bible Camp. They were accompanied by their leaders, Gordon and Lepette Graft.

Teresa Joan, infant daughter of Tony and Kathy Ellis, was presented for baby dedication during the morning worship service on Sunday May 17.

The music students of Glenys Rott, Ruth Potter and Ethel Macleod, will give to their recital which will be held at the church on Thursday, May 21 at 7:30 p.m.

Lougheed Sports

In the first local baseball game of the season at Loughheed on Monday the Killam Indians beat Lougheed. The second game was close with Hardisty coming from behind to beat Annie 4 to 3. The third game between Sedgewick and Killam was also close with Sedgewick coming from behind to lead for awhile but finally losing 9 to 7. Hardisty had the edge in the final and thoroughly killed the best team. So Killam wins the Ross-Bushall Tournament of the year.

Hardisty Auxiliary meet

The regular meeting of the Hardisty Auxiliary met on Tuesday, May 18, with 14 members present. The lengthy minutes of our Annual Meeting were read and approved. Memorial donations were received from the Barbes family plus others were gratefully received. The report was read on the spring bazaar sale, and cake raffish, which the time-being to hold our annual bazaar sale. The show-case item, a new baby set, was done by Nettie Johnson. We discussed purchasing a new show-case to display items of handwork. Molly Ferguson! Well, we hope it will soon warm up. It has been very cold the last couple of days and freezing some nights. So many gardeners have plants to set out. I think the best place for them is inside and hope no one has gardens in and up early with such windy and cold weather.

Last Sunday, Mrs. Margaret Denham, Mrs. Helen Sutherland and Mr. Arnold Marlow were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Helen White.

Sympathy is extended to relatives and friends of Mr. Norman Drager of the Marne district who passed away first of last week. The funeral was on Friday, May 15, in the Merna Church.

The Lougheed 10 and under Mongolian baseball team played on May 12 with Sedgewick and they won their game. Lougheed Mosquitoes 29 and Sedgewick 15.

Kelman and Garth Arnes of Edmonton were recent visitors with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Riddoch. Get-well wishes to Mr. George Marlow who is in the Kilm Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schaeppmeyer of Singapore are here for two months' holiday, visiting with relatives and friends. They were supper guests at their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White, last Saturday night. Wayne works in the oil business over in Singapore and other countries close by. It's nice to have you make a holiday back home, Wayne and Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jeffery and daughter Eric of Whitecourt were home for a couple of days visiting Sheryl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probst and family. Also Mr. and Mrs. Bob Piro of Sherwood Park was home.

Would the Senior Citizens that have a "Lica" Lougheed Interested Senior Citizens application form to fill out and have not done so yet, would they do so soon, and return to Mrs. Roberta Riddoch. It takes eight to ten filled out applications before the other four self-contained units will get underway close to where the Verdant Valley Villa units are now.

Tom Lyons, M.L.A., plus a provincial emblem on the lapel of Lillian Holmes at Friday's opening of new East Central Alberta Health Unit facilities in Sedgewick, as Nelson Fok, Leona Palynchuk, Marcia Hagen, Dr. J. MacQuarrie, MOH, Joy Arntsen and Agnes Hilker look on.

New Health Unit office

After many years in the basement of the Flanagan County building, East Alberta Health Unit No. 10 has moved to new premises on Sedgewick's main street, north of the Bank of Montreal.

While the premises has been occupied since Dec. 1, the decision was made recently to hold an Official Opening on Friday, with many Health Unit dignitaries in attendance, including Leona Palynchuk from Alberta Social Services and Community Health, and Tom Lyons, M.L.A. for Vermilion-Viking constituency, as well as the general public.

The local Health Unit had its beginnings in Stettler in 1961, opening a Sedgewick location during the mid-fifties in the present taxiway building, moving to the County building in 1968.

It was a one-nurse operation until 1960, serving Alliance, Galahad, Forestburg, Loughheed, Sedgewick, Killam and Strome, with a part-time nurse eventually hired.

With the coming of additional staff, the Health Unit has provided service for the entire county since the fall of 1973.

"As with all health groups, the general premise is that every program is preventive in scope, and designed to maintain health, rather than curing ill," stated Lillian Holmes, a member of the nursing staff. Headquarters for the local unit is Stettler, with nurses covering the County of Flanagan, although the area encompasses the Territory from Camrose to Provost, and Stettler to Coronation.

Mrs. Marjorie Tait of Stettler is the director of nursing, with Dr. Janette MacQuarrie, MOH for the area, also working out of Stettler. Mr. Francis Blos, board chairman, is in charge of Galahad, stationed at Dayland, and with three clinics already held, where in those attending are asked to discuss their problems. There is also an in-home surveillance program for seniors.

A home care program for senior citizens, 65 and over, particularly those discharged from hospital and in need of personal care, is in charge of Kay McLaughlin, stationed at Dayland, and Gerry Gopill, who has an office in Galahad.

The school immunization program also involves hearing and vision checks in some grades. The Unit conducts tuberculosis surveillance in all age groups, and communicable disease follow-up for persons who have been struck in other countries, with an exotic-type disease, however this type of attention is required on infrequent occasions.

Flagstaff Council confirms tax hike

The budget of Flanagan Community and Family Services was discussed at length.

A merit rebate of $18,780 was received from the Workmen's Compensation Board.

An order was received from the province approving the annexation of approximately 90 acres to the Town of Forestburg; the annexation being retroactive to January 1, 1961.

Sedgewick Chamber to install more lights

Town beautification got a real boost from the report given to the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce at the regular dinner meeting May 18. Plans to install lights all the way from the highway into the town and continuing on north were well received by the Town Council and a sizeable grant was given to the Chamber.

Work parties were planned to paint and repair the picnic booth at the highway and repaint the windmill.

A Firm Family Award candidate has been named and the paper sent in.

Hardisty has invited us to enter a flag in their parade August 1.

At the June meeting, which will be a barbecue at the home of the Ray Potters, there will be a guest speaker and members are encouraged to bring along their friends. The date is June 16.

Road work discussed

Various aspects of the County of Flanagan's road programs were discussed at a May 22 meeting of councillors with officials of Alberta Transportation.

Jim Bonard of Red Deer, regional director, and Keith Halberg of Stettler, district engineer, considered this year's secondary road projects with council.

Through Alberta Transportation contracts, there is road construction this year on a 14-mile portion of No. 877, for five miles on No. 870, and on No. 861, south of Galahad, where a new bridge under construction, is due to be opened by August.

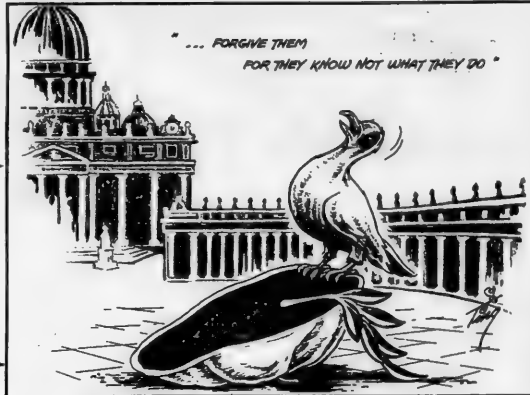

Flagstaff's own road forces are involved with construction of a four-mile section of No. 866, and sustaining work for five miles on No. 870.

Engineering surveys are being undertaken on 10 miles of No. 855, seven miles of No. 789, and 12 miles of No. 825.

His forecast 1981 - the 70th anniversary of service to Alberta - will provide additional challenge and opportunity based on a solid resource foundation and continued expansion in the province's economy.

New facilities in 1981 will require $500 million in capital, most of which will have to come from external sources.

The company reported an 8.7 percent growth rate during 1980, compared to an estimated provincial electricity sales increase of 8.6 percent.

Vaccination for dogs suggested

Dog owners should have their pets vaccinated against Parvo Virus before the beginning of summer. This prevention measure is urged by the Alberta Veterinary Medical Association.

Dr. M.M. Williams, Community President. He told shareholders very large cost reserves under the company's control is a major factor in the current low cost of electric power production and is forecast to continue as the main fuel source as the company experiences growth rates at almost double the national average.

Parvo Virus, that acts with alarming swiftness, causes severe vomiting and diarrhea in dogs, and can be fatal.

Veterinarian research indicates that not all dogs vacinated against Parvo Virus are fully protected for as long as one year. So the A.V.M.A. strongly recommends a Parvo booster now, before the start of warmer weather, even if the dog has received Parvo vaccine within the past 12 month period.

Especially susceptible to the disease are puppies less than one year of age that have not received the protection of the vaccine.

If in doubt the vaccination status of your dog you are urged to contact your veterinarian.

Such was not the case at the Battle River Tourist Association Cavalcade on May 23 and 24 when Bob Rutten (left) of Provost to the east, was caught by The Press talking to Allan Thompson and Rick Sunjens of Hardisty and Len Dutton, Killam from the west side. All four of these gentlemen are active in their towns Chamber of Commerce but still find time for Tourist Association activities.

Good Deed Club

The April meeting of the Good Deed Club was held at the home of Connie Sutter. The president, extended a warm welcome to all, followed by roll call. Minutes and treasurer's report were read and adopted.

Olivia thanked the club for gift and card sent to her while in hospital and Doris, on behalf of Mrs. Swanson extended thanks for the card sent to her while hospitalized. A note of thanks was read from Josephine for flowers, VI extended thanks for flowers. Bills were presented and paid.

The club received application forms to fill out for our ticket books for our quilt. These were filled out ready to be mailed.

Our annual donations to health, cancer, crippled children and rheumatoid arthritis funds were ready for mailing. The dates for our fall bazaar and Christmas party were verified. The bazaar and tea will be held on October 31 and the Christmas party on December 5, both in Louisa Head Community Hall.

The club had long planned to make a trip to Maidstone, Sask. to visit an ex-miner in the person of Vi Copeland. The date was discussed and set for April 27. Our present slate of officers were all voted in by acclamation for another year.

It was decided not to have a May meeting. The next meeting will be June 17 at the home of Mrs. Parson. Adjournment was moved by Doris, seconded by Kay. Hostess gift was given by Kay, a container of Chastilly lotion. Orna was the birthday girl for the month, and since Orna hadn't been present for her birthday at the previous meeting, we celebrated both their birthdays with a delicious lunch.

Our trip to Maidstone proved to be a most enjoyable one. We had been phoned before hand so was forewarned of our invasion. The day turned out to be a gorgeous one, and around 9:30 a.m. two car-loads left Killam with loads of all kinds, buns, and other goodies.

We arrived in Maidstone around 1:30 p.m. and found Vi home with no trouble. She had the kettle hot, and was waiting for us, so we immediately filled our plates, and for the next hour all that could be heard was the clinking of dishes and silverware, and wagging tongues, as we enjoyed our bountiful luncheon together.

The afternoon passed with all too quick, and Vi kept us well entertained with reports of her many activities, which, as usual are wide and varied. Before leaving for home around 4:00 clock we took pictures of the group, commemorating our lovely afternoon.

While speaking of pictures, our photographers really let a good one slip through their fingers, when Adele locked her key in the car and a policeman had to be called to get them out for her. However, said photographers shouldn't have felt too let down, as earlier in the day, while enroute to Maidstone, they managed to click their cameras, catching unaware some of their members making their exit from some other conspicuous place.

However, all told, it was a day well spent, and thoroughly enjoyed and we all agreed it would be nice to make it an annual event.

Everything the home baker has always wanted to know about baking equipment

With the proper equipment, even the most complicated baking task can become a "piece of cake."

You'll be amazed when you stop to consider the elaborate and beautiful—not to mention detachable—connections which can be created with the help of specialty equipment with such names as Croquet, dough bouche tie, Madeleine pan and Kugelhupf mold.

And, something as elementary as the proper rolling pin or an accurate thermometer for your oven can simplify baking processes greatly, and ensure excellent results.

Baking equipment can be broken down into two categories—the essentials and the luxuries. As far as luxuries go, it's up to the individual baker to determine what he or she wants to pay up. Essentials:

• Measuring spoons and cups. Make sure you have the correct cups for both liquid and dry measures. Measure liquids in large cups which have markings along the sides to gauge the liquid—best resistance is best, and you may want more than one size.

Some measuring cups are marked with metric measurements—not a bad investment, considering that the number of cups and cups are doubled. Dry ingredients should be measured into cups which, when filled, contain the precise amount desired (e.g., 1/2, 1/4, 1/8, etc.).

Place the cup with a mound of was paper, fill to the shoulder of flour, sugar or whatever, and level it off with the blade of a knife or spatula. The excess flour or sugar which falls on the was paper can be returned to the container from whence it came.

• Mixing bowls. You'll probably want two or three in various sizes. Stainless steel is the most practical, as it's irrefragible, dishwasher-safe, and will not react chemically with any food you put into it.

• A variety of stirring and mixing tools. Wire whisk and wooden spoons in several sizes.

• Baking pan or egg beater, or both.

• Rolling pin. Preferably a large one, with a spring-action handle to control rolling, rather than the old-fashioned crank.

• Rubber or plastic spatula. Useful for consistency while running an electric mixer. Its pointed tip is excellent for scraping the last bits of dough out of a bowl. Also excellent for folding egg whites into a mixture.

• A rolling pin. Of heavy hardwood, it should have a smooth finish and be well-balanced. The American style has a handle at each end; the French rolling pin is handleless. Make sure that the one you choose is long enough to accommodate large masses of dough.

• A pastry board. Of wood or marble, the latter is the best. It should be long enough to roll out dough, but too heavy to roll out.

• Make sure you have the correct cups for both liquid and dry measures. Measure liquids in large cups which have markings along the sides to gauge the liquid—best resistance is best, and you may want more than one size.

• Some measuring cups are marked with metric measurements—not a bad investment, considering that the number of cups and cups are doubled. Dry ingredients should be measured into cups which, when filled, contain the precise amount desired (e.g., 1/2, 1/4, 1/8, etc.).

• A variety of stirring and mixing tools. Wire whisk and wooden spoons in several sizes.

• Parchment paper. Sold in rolls, it's used to line baking pans and ensures an effortless removal of the finished product without damage to it. A necessity for meringues and fruit-takes.

• Cake rack. A wire stand which allows air to circulate around your freshly baked cake, cookies or pies, it's essential for proper cooling.

• Oven thermometer. It's amazing how many people make do without one, despite notoriously inaccurate oven thermostats. A good one will ensure baking at the proper temperature, which in turn will yield better results.

• Dough thermometer. For the bread-baking enthusiast. This handy device is the only accurate way of knowing the temperature of the dough. It's essential to activate the yeast without killing it.

• Pastry brush. Glazing pie crusts, breads, etc. It's also helpful when you're glazing a pie as it's the perfect tool for getting into corners. Most modern bakers like small paint brushes; others are made of goose feathers.

• Ice spatula. This looks like a long-bladed knife with a rounded tip. It's used primarily (you guessed it) to spread icing on a cake. It's also useful for folding ingredients into a mixture.

• Baking pans. A variety is essential. Must include a cookie sheet, a jelly roll pan which can double as a second cookie sheet, a square cake pan, two round cake pans (same diameter, so you can make a layer cake), a rectangular loaf pan, a muffin tin and a pie plate.

• Aluminum foil. All of these come in metal, some in ceramic or glass. If you opt for metal, make sure that the pans you choose are sturdy and relatively heavy—a lightweight pan that buckles easily can ruin a cake.

• Cake tester. Probably your least expensive investment and one which will repay you a thousandfold. It usually comes in the form of a variety of shapes—rounds, "T" curves, wreaths, etc. A must for the cake-lover.

• Pastry wheel. Available with either jagged or plain edges, this rotating round knife is used for cutting out strips of dough for a lattice pie, or around the edges of an unbaked pie.

• Dough cutter. An indispensable baking extra. It's formed by binding two concentric circular cutters with a bridge on top.

• Pie weights. Of cast aluminum, these heavy nuggets are spread over wasted paper which has been placed over an unfilled, unbaked pie shell, to prevent air from bubbling during baking. Better than dry beans, as they last forever.

• Specialty pans. For the bread-baking enthusiast. This handy device is the only accurate way of knowing the temperature of the dough. It's essential to activate the yeast without killing it.

• Pastry brush. Glazing pie crusts, breads, etc. It's also helpful when you're glazing a pie as it's the perfect tool for getting into corners. Most modern bakers like small paint brushes; others are made of goose feathers.

Census looks at technology

The word "plough" is invariably conjured up in the minds of those of us who were raised on Hollywood westerns, the image of a lone, leather-farmer and his lathered horse struggling to keep the wooden plough on course while grazing out rows of furrows for spring planting.

It is a long way from that stereotype, man and horse versus the land, today's reality, with Canadian farmers comfortably ensconced on mechanical monoliths, some of which consume as much energy as the members of a four bedroom household.

In just over 50 years, the tractor and other more sophisticated farm machinery have drastically transformed the face of Canadian agriculture. While to some this agricultural revolution is romantic, most will agree that it is a more efficient way of producing food.

Farm mechanization has had far-reaching effects on the economy, on rural life, on demand for labour, on energy, dependence on agriculture, and on the scale of production.

The Census of Agriculture has recorded the history and impact of mechanization on farming and the rural community since 1911 when 714,646 farms and 2.6 million horses worked 110 million acres of farmland. By the time the 1971 census was taken, only 354,297 farms remained and many of these animals were being kept for recreation rather than for farm work.

From census to census, questions on farm machinery have had to become more detailed as farmers turned to such specialized equipment as larger grain combines, sweaters and large hay balers.

A comparison of the number of tractors reported from 1921 through 1976 illustrates the rapid adoption of engine power on Canadian farms. In 1921, farmers reported 47,455 tractors. By ten years later, this figure had more than doubled to 105,360.

After the Second World War, advances in farm technology and rising wages for farm labour accelerated the mechanization of farms even more and tractors rapidly replaced ed horses as the main source of power in agriculture. Between 1931 and 1956, the number of tractors increased five-fold, with almost 500,000 reported in the 1956 census. The majority of farms had converted to tractor power. Only 135,000 reported in the 1956 census were reported 20 years later.

Statistics Canada will ask, for the first time since 1941, for a breakdown of tractors by horsepower or kilowatts. This classification by size will give a more precise measure of the extent of mechanization in agriculture.

Mechanization has considerably reduced the demand for labour in rural areas. In 1911, farmers and their paid labour averaged 37.6 weeks of work per year for every 100 acres of farmland. By 1956, the workload was reduced by almost one-half and, in 1976, farm labour totals only 12.6 weeks a year per 100 acres.

In total, between 1931 and 1976, farm labour has decreased by 461,413 man-years. This number is equal to approximately one-half of the number of people now unemployed in Canada. In addition, more than one-third of farm operators have branched out into some off-farm work, placing a further strain on the job market.

Because of the exodus of farm labour, the rural community has changed dramatically in the last 50 years. In 1931, nearly one-third of the population of Canada lived on farms, compared with only five per cent in 1976.

The increasing capital input needed for sophisticated farm machinery has become an important consideration in the development of farm policies and in decisions made by the operator. Farm operators, particularly younger ones just starting out, increasingly require substantial loans in order to commence farming.

Mechanization has also been an important factor in the trend towards larger farms and the increase in the number of corporate farms. Average farm size has grown from 124.1 acres in 1901 to 699 acres in 1976.

The 1981 census of agriculture will measure the present mechanization and energy dependence of Canadian agriculture. Although the number of tractors may have risen considerably in the interim, it will show the relative importance of the different size categories of tractors and other farm machinery.

With the current energy situation, this type of information will be even more critical in the future. It is very likely that policies focusing on energy conservation and use will have to be developed in the years ahead. We may see in the future a greater acceptance of alternate methods of farming, such as minimum tillage agriculture. It is possible that horses may be put back to work for less intensive jobs.

The 1981 Census of Agriculture will present an up-to-date picture of Canadian agriculture with respect to mechanization and energy use. This comprehensive source of information on agriculture is one of the country's most valuable tools in the production of an adequate and dependable supply of food.

The increasing capital input needed for sophisticated farm machinery has

Work starting on Galahad Senior Citizens residence

A $145,900 contract has been awarded to Saddle Lake Investments Ltd., Saddle Lake, for the construction of a four-unit senior citizens' residence in Galahad.

The one-story residence, designed by Alberta Housing Corporation's in-house architects, will be comprised of four one-bedroom units.

Site stakes have been erected with construction to start immediately. Anticipated completion date is October, 1981.

Miss Bonnie Sandmeyer, pharmacist of the Forestburg drug store, spoke to members of the Galahad Senior Citizens Club about prescriptions and over-the-counter drugs.

She explained the long, medical names in simple language, telling the adverse effects each drug could have on the elderly.

She answered questions and explained the reasons for the care each elderly person should take with drugs.

After the talk was over coffee was enjoyed. Miss Sandmeyer was given a vote of thanks and appreciation.

We plan our annual picnic on Monday, June 29. We have been asked to look after the booth for our ball tournament in July. With no further business, we adjourned.

Hydro out two times

Hydro consumers in a wide area were without service for minor periods, both Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, due to an updating of equipment by Calgary Power.

Bill Hinds, district general manager for the utility, apologized for the public not being made more aware of the impending early morning disruption, but said that he received notification at last moment that the work was planned.

Service was interrupted for about 15 minutes each morning around 6 a.m., and affected Drysdale, Strome, Redgwick, Killam, Loughheed, and all rural communities in surrounding areas.

Mr. Hinds said the work at the main sub-station, was scheduled for these times, to fit in with the area power grid.

The work involved replacing a regulator with a larger one, and temporary displacement of the work which was returned to its correct position on Wednesday morning.

Brooks Bulletin

THE MONTH OF JUNE is upon us once again. The month that heralds the advent of summer and a month known traditionally for other things as well. For instance June signifies the month of graduation from school even though University students experience that event earlier in the year. June is also the month when marriage takes place in greater numbers than other months; or so they tell me.

I recall a lady who once remarked that her daughter was getting married just after she had graduated with a B.A. degree, and she wondered whether good it would do her after becoming a housewife. Well, I guess that's a matter of opinion. Personally I believe that it is going to need all the B.A.'s she can get for the business of marriage. Let's take a look and see how such an opinion stands up.

THERE IS PROBABLY no profession today that takes more thought or more talent for that matter than homemaking. You see, marriage is not a mere contract or an agreement. It is rather a dedication to a very high achievement and this world holds no experience that is finer than the creating and maintaining of a happy home. Take a look at the high experience of separation and divorce that is around us today. Doesn't it prove that not too many hold B.A.'s in homemaking? Every person who is happily married in a successful person even is who he has failed in other areas. Likewise every person whose marriage is a failure is not a successful person even if success has been achieved in other areas. It is a truism that good homes mean good people, good communities and a much needed something for a better world, and to establish such a home, the young married can use all the B.A.'s. They can get their hands on. Let's take a look at a few.

BE ATTRACTIVE, or perhaps I should say remain attractive. Calling your mate to the breakfast table with a "Come and get it" while you appear in a wrinkled housecoat and a head full of curlers is hardly for goodness sake put on a shirt and at least how a sense of gladness to be in her company.

BE ALERT. You don't live happily ever afterwards unless you do something to build for it and this is a process that never ceases. Be alert to maintaining health and character, to improving your disposition and gaining added skills. You are the only one who can bring out the best in yourself. You know, it is not position but disposition that will make for happy marriages.

Be appreciative. You know what is meant; the art of expressing appreciation is one of life's nicest talents. It not only does a lot for you, but it does even more for you. A few expressions of niceties in a home can go a long way. It will impress to the good points of the members of the family rather than dwelling on their irritating characteristics does a pretty good job of bringing out the best in people.

BE ADEQUATE. You just can't wait and see how a marriage is going to work out. Put your best into it and attempt to make the partnership a success. It is essential to be adequate to make adjustments throughout the years, for these are bound to be present.

A CAREFUL STUDY of marital adjustments suggests that many couples today who go the way of failure and divorce might have found the path to achievement had they realized that happiness cannot be claimed as a right. It must be achieved. Happiness is something to be created, not found.

BE AWARE. The true home, the happy home, is the home that is aware that there is a higher structure. Building a happy home is to great a venture to be undertaken simply by two people, for that kind of awareness brings a certain measure of peace and stability that pulls the family life up to its best level. Then it is that the personalities and the live of two people who are in love comes in harmony with each other. By being drawn to a common centre, a man and wife are drawn toward each other.

YES INDEED, June is a great month of the year. A month of renewal and a month of hope. May it come true for you. (Thanks H.F.)

Safety should be everywhere

No doubt it's travelling time throughout East Central Alberta, as campers, and just plain folk out for a drive, congregate on the thoroughfares of East Central Alberta.

Fun in the sun and "just getting away from it all," are usually foremost in the minds of motorists, or perhaps someone is thinking about the visit with relatives and friends.

Regardless of the reason for being there, many drivers really don't have the care and control of their vehicles that they should have.

A 'good' driver is supposed to be alert and drive defensively look out for the other fellow. That's where 'safety' comes into the picture.

There was an incident in Sedgewick this past week, wherein a young lad's tricycle was smashed, apparently victim to the large wheels of a truck.

Naturally his parents don't think very highly of the person who exhibited such carelessness.

Thankfully, the lad was elsewhere, and was only a 'second-hand' participant.

But minor incidents such as this, should 'remind people' to put 'safety' in the foremost this summer.

No one wants to be the victim of a tragedy, and surely not the cause.

Various programs teach adults and children alike to 'think safety' but 'safety' is full-time. Just let-up for an instant and one's life dreams can be washed away.

Some motorists have the mechanical aptitude to be behind the wheel, but certainly not the right mental attitude.

While motor vehicles cause much misery, quite often to the innocent, 'safety' isn't just limited to the roads.

There are the swimmers and boaters, who must realize their capabilities, and not exceed them.

Safety should be everywhere. And that doesn't mean everyone has to be a 'stick-in-the-mud'.

Wholesome entertainment and exercise are medicines for one's being, so enjoy yourself, but be able to come back and tell about it.

Thought of the week

A New Water Safety Program has been developed as part of the continuing Red Cross Safety Services program. It is impossible to determine the development costs of developing the new program and continuing the old program, were overlapping.

Thousands of Albertans took up the challenge this year to "Back A Fighter" and supported 1981's Easter Seal Campaign. Funds raised to assist disabled children and young adults totalled $281,781.67, about $8,000 in excess of the provincial target of $273,000.

Transportation is indeed many things - a job, a vacation, a move, a way to school, a way home, a visit to a neighbour, a product going to market, a nation's economic backbone. So says the Northern Alberta Transportation Club during Transportation Week, May 31 to June 6.

WHAT IS THE STANDARD?
The Council of Christian Disciples gives this definition of the standard. It is a weight of measure to which others or by which the accuracy of others is judged. It is a thing serving as a basis of comparison.

In our country there are many standards by which businesses and services are evaluated. One specific example will serve to bring understanding. The health inspector usually sends employees securing when he phones to test the restaurant of an imminent visit. His standard book is law to the restaurant. The list could go on, but today I want to question the standard by which a church is judged.

In this light, I could begin to berate you for every inconsistency of your living in comparison to the life of Jesus Christ. Example - adultery, stealing, profane language, drunken living etc. These are obviously contrary to the teaching of Jesus. I want to question the reason that some people attend one service a week, listen to the pastor give his well prepared or not so well prepared dissertation, and pray a short memorized prayer for blessing to God when we are leaving.

A way everyone can save money— Conserve Energy

THE SOLUTION TO RISING ENERGY PRICES IS TO USE LESS ENERGY. WE CAN HELP.

The Government of Canada offers a number of ways almost everyone in this country can save energy - and money. By taking advantage of federal grants and conservation ideas, you can economize by reducing energy bills.

SWITCHING OFF OIL

A major goal of Canada's National Energy Program is to reduce household oil consumption across the country by conservation and the use of fuels other than oil.

Canada has energy alternatives that are plentiful and ultimately cheaper than oil. Renewable sources of energy such as solar power are becoming an economic option for home space and water heating. Wind and wood are old energy sources that now have a new life.

Conversion from oil to natural gas is a good possibility in many parts of northern Alberta. Wind and solar power interests many Albertans, especially in the south.

The Canada Oil Substitution Program (COSP), offers taxable grants of up to $800 covering half the cost of equipment and labour for replacing oil used for space or water heating with natural gas or propane, or a renewable energy source such as wood, solar or wind power. An oil substitution in a centrally heated building that has two or more self-contained units can qualify for COSP grants ranging from $1,000 to $5,500.

ENERSAVE FOR HOME INSULATION

It costs you nothing to get an evaluation of how well your home is keeping the heat in. A simple questionnaire, a few minutes of your time and you'll receive a computerized analysis of your present insulation situation. Included will be recommended actions you can take, the approximate costs, and how long it will take to pay back your investment. The Enersave service is free - you've nothing to lose - so why not write today?

CHIP HOME INSULATION GRANTS

If you can save money by insulating - and many homeowners can - you may be eligible for a taxable grant of up to $500 to do so. Starting insulation improvements as soon as possible means more long-term returns on your home-heating investment. Get details on the Canadian Home Insulation Program - CHIP - by sending in the coupon at the bottom of this advertisement.

DO-IT-YOURSELF HELP

You can improve, update and change your energy consumption habits using free booklets, brochures, fact sheets, how-to-do-it instructions, even a toll-free "EnerSave Hotline" (1-800-267-9565) staffed by experts to answer your questions and give you personal technical advice.

Home heating conservation means making more efficient use of energy. It helps all Canadians control their energy future. Conservation is a goal of the National Energy Program.

Legislature Report

Chemical ban dismissed

Environment Minister Jack Cookson's threat to ban agricultural chemicals if they aren't properly used has been dismissed as bluster by NDP Leader Grant Notley.

Cookson's remarks came at the end of a week in which he was peppered with questions from Notley about spills of the dangerous chemical PCB at industrial sites in Grande Prairie and Edmonton.

Cookson attempted to quash any fears that PCB contaminated highland cattle discovered in the Wapiti River near Grande Prairie constituted a danger to downstream communities and fishermen.

Asked to outline his department's criteria for assessing the danger, Cookson said "there's a lot of difference between a truckload of butter and a truckload of dynamite."

The environment minister was unaware, however, of two PCB spills that occurred at Grande Prairie's Procter and Gamble pulp mill in 1974, and the Bialco plant in Camrose, earlier this year.

In the former case, a Grande Prairie woman has testified she took part in the clean-up of the spill, which was contained in the Wapiti River without any form of protective clothing, as advised today by Environment Canada.

The woman says she now suffers from severe headaches that last a week or two at a time and her eyes are continually sore and red.

Remarkably, said PCB accumulates in body tissue and can't be flushed out. It is also believed to be a cancer-causing agent.

Cookson's threat to ban pesticides and herbicides came after students at a Turner Valley school became ill after chemical spraying in the school yard.

"If we don't use chemicals properly and continue to abuse the privilege of cleaning them, we will have to take steps in the province of Alberta to ban them," said Notley.

"The Hardisty Chamber of Commerce had their concern about this kind of real mean action unless you have a department that has some credibility with respect to enforcement," he said.

Cookson has been under attack throughout the current legislative session for a wide variety of pollution problems, including sulphur dioxide emissions from oil sands plants, mercury deposits in the Slave River, PCB spills and crude oil spills from pipelines.

Cookson has kept out under the criticism, but opposition members are accusing him of indifference and taking a "casual" attitude toward protection of the environment.

Formed in 1987 to foster instruction in art and to develop an interest in the knowledge of art, the A.C.A.C.A. has had over 600 members across the province.

During the instruction activities include: sponsoring workshops in art; publishing and circulating a newsletter among members; and sponsoring juried art shows on a regional basis.

Battle River Tourist Cavalcade is successful

Seventy-one recreational vehicles plus the van owned by the Battle River Tourist Association participated in the 1981 Cavalcade on Saturday and Sunday, May 23 and 24. An estimated two hundred people of all ages were involved in the event, sponsored by the Zone 5 tourist group.

This was the sixth consecutive year that BRTA has organized this event, the purpose being to introduce people to some of the attractions in Battle River Country. This year, the Cavalcade took in the northeast section of the Zone.

The Cavalcade gathered at the Camrose Fairgrounds, travelling east on Highway 16 to the Agri-plex at Killam, arriving mid-morning.

Here the group was hosted to coffee and donuts compliments of the Killam Chamber of Commerce and the Town of Killam, and had the opportunity to have a look at a time and her eyes are continually sore and red.

Remarkably, said PCB accumulates in body tissue and can't be flushed out. It is also believed to be a cancer-causing agent.

Cookson's threat to ban pesticides and herbicides came after students at a Turner Valley school became ill after chemical spraying in the school yard.

"If we don't use chemicals properly and continue to abuse the privilege of cleaning them, we will have to take steps in the province of Alberta to ban them," said Notley.

"The Hardisty Chamber of Commerce had their concern about this kind of real mean action unless you have a department that has some credibility with respect to enforcement," he said.

Cookson has been under attack throughout the current legislative session for a wide variety of pollution problems, including sulphur dioxide emissions from oil sands plants, mercury deposits in the Slave River, PCB spills and crude oil spills from pipelines.

Formed in 1987 to foster instruction in art and to develop an interest in the knowledge of art, the A.C.A.C.A. has had over 600 members across the province.

For young and old alike, Henry Hagen of Camrose had a beautiful "alar-style" bonfire ready to go. This unique bonfire burns from the top down and is indeed a masterpiece. The group feasted on wieners, buns, pop, coffee, marshmallows, and all the trimmings. The evening concluded with a visit from "Cantor, the Bee-ve" and a fine sing-song.

Sunday morning, a tour of Polar park was enjoyed by about 180 of the Cavalcade participants. While some were at Polar Park, others were enjoying the many facilities at Half Moon Lake. Participants had the opportunity to fish in the trout pond, play a game of ball, enjoy a rowboat or pedal boat ride, horse-back ride, play horseshoes, swim or to simply relax, visit and enjoy the clean, sandy beach or the lovely grassy campground area.

Following the activities-filled morning, the group moved to the Agri-plex at Killam, arriving mid-morning. Here the group was hosted to coffee and donuts compliments of the Killam Chamber of Commerce and the Town of Killam, and had the opportunity to have a look at a time and her eyes are continually sore and red.

Steve Bussie may appear to be looking rather wildly at the Killam Pool but that isn't really the case, as he looks at brother, Rick. Actually, Steve had completed more than 100 laps of the pool before yielding to his sore foot. The Aquas-Aces were having a swim-a-thon on Saturday to raise funds.

It was a beautiful, sunny weekend, spirits were high and already a number of participants have indicated that they want to take part in the 1982 affair.

When members of Killam's Aqua-Ace Swim Club decide to do something, they go out and do it in grand style.

And the club members have enthusiasm, witness the effort of Steve Bussie at last Saturday's swim-a-thon in Killam Pool.

Although he had to bobble about on dry land with crutches, Steve performed 106 laps in the pool, with a painful foot, caused when a cultivator fell.

All but four of the 23 swimmers turning out for the fund-raising project, are members of the Aqua-Ace.

The profits from this year's function are devoted to various projects, including $1,000 to assist the Agri-plex artificial ice fund drive, and a similar amount to assist the pool maintenance and travel costs of the swim team.

One of the club's pride and joys is Donna Wylie who won a provincial gold medal last year in the 15- and 16-year age bracket.

The Aqua-Aces are participating in competitive meets in Red Deer and La-

Central High News

Last week was certainly a busy one for the students and teachers of Central High School. On Tuesday, May 20 and 21 classes to Edmonton to wait the Provincial and Supreme Courts. The students were able to witness actual trials in progress.

On Wednesday, the Central Soccer team defeated the Camrose High School team in Sedgewick, by a score of 3-1. The winning goal came with only two minutes left in regular playing time. This is a unique sport in that teachers and students play together as a unit, thus bonding the teacher-pupil relationship.

Grease Days at Central High on Friday. One walk down the hallway put one in mind of the 1960's, the greased hair, the rolled-up jeans, the knee socks, and pigtails, etc.

In conjunction with Grease Days was our 2nd annual Central Road Rally. Thanks to Mr. Doody, Mr. Meier and a great number of other teachers and students, the participants of the rally had a wonderful time while, believe it or not, driving below the accepted speed limits.

The idea of the rally was to test driving and navigation skills and it was a tremendous success. The winners were: 1st, Driver Jean Yull, with Todd Armitage as the Navigator; 2nd, Ken Rawluk, driver; Greg Rempel, navigator.

3rd, Cindy Harding, driver; Joanne Doody, navigator; 4th, Garret Eckstrand, driver; and Allan Steadman as the navigator.

The day was topped off by the Central King and Queen contest and dance. The winners of the contest were: 1st, King and Marcella; 2nd, King and Marcella; 3rd, King and Marcella.

First above all other S-A High School in the Zone, and second overall in the entire meet. S-A schools were also in attendance.

As a result of this, we have 9 people going to the Northern Alberta Track and Field competition.

The results were: Todd Power, 4th in 200 and Triple Jump; Gary Poyson, 1st in 400 and 2nd in 800; Paul Taylor, 1st in Pole Vault; Paul Maise, 1st in Pole Vault; Don Steadman, 2nd in Pole Vault; Judy Watkins, 2nd in Discus; Lana Sack, 2nd in Hurdict. Todd Baumgartner, 2nd in Javelin, and St. Wilson, 2nd in Shot-put.

We wish them all the best. As the year comes to a close, both students and teachers are concentrating on their final exams and are wondering where the time has gone. The students plan to close out the school year with one final dance at the Sedgewick Rec Centre and are fastening the well-known Jensen Interceptor hand band from Edmonton.

Toni was chosen as the recipient of Sunday's good sportsmanship award.

There are seven major claim procedures, perhaps one of the most important being, not to work down and re-insure insured acreage, without it first being in the insured.

As insured crop should not be worked down, cut for feed, pastured or destroyed without an inspection by the hail commission.

Those eligible for the un-insured acreage (excess moisture) provisions must make their claims by June 23, and hail damage claimants must do so within three days of the storm.

After-harvest claims for "production shortages" must be filed within 15 days of harvest and not later than November 30th. "Storage" under-acreage claims must be reported by November 30th. For the past two years, public hearings held by hail corporation directors throughout the province have proven popular, and will be held in mid-June at Camrose and Carter. Also there is a hail insurance meeting, June 9, in Killam.

At these meetings, farmers and representatives of interested organizations present their views on various aspects of the crop insurance program such as re-insuring, under-acreage, coverage for new crops, and soil classification.

Hunter Under Saddle, and 4th in the Command Class.

Angie Bleaser won 2nd in Bareback Equitation, 2nd in Stock Saddle Seat, 2nd in Western Pleasure and 1st in Egg and Spoon Race.

Angela Doody was 1st in English Showmanship, 1st in Hunt Seat Equitation, 2nd in English Pleasure, 2nd in Working Hunter Under Saddle, 4th in Hunt Seat over Fences and 2nd in Baby Green Jumper.

Heather Parsons placed 1st in Second Year Green Working and 2nd in Junior Working Hunter. Congratulations are extended to Jackie Cates who received her Level One Coaching Certification. Well done, Jackie! Congratulations also to Paul Wallace who has successfully completed her first year at Grant MacEwan College.

Because Angela Doody was entered in the horses show at Tees only on Sunday, she was able to enter the Ladies Barrel Race at Gibsons; she was happy to again win the trophy and first place money.

Club members chosen to do the Grand Entry drill for the Killam rodeo will be:

meet Wednesday night at 8:30 at the Killam Arena in order to practice, and prepare for this.

Killam Baptists meet

The church upholds the trust in the perception of the truth, Dr. Gordon Johnson said during the weekend at the 75th anniversary of the Baptist General Conference of Alberta, meeting in Killam Baptist Church.

Dr. Johnson spoke on several occasions during the conference, which was attended by Baptist followers from many parts of the province, including Calgary, Drayton Valley, Hinton, Grande Prairie, Manning, Wetaskiwin, as well as Killam and surrounding area.

Conference moderator is Rev. Walter Weiser of Edmonton, while Rev. Alvin Pank, also of Edmonton, has served for 11 years in the role of Conference executive minister. Rev. Robert Dochow of Killam Baptist Church was host.

Dr. Johnson, vice-president and dean of Biblical Theological Seminary in St. Paul, Minn., speaking on the Heritage theme, said the Church is called the bride, and Jesus is the bridegroom, who has created a loving relationship.

The guest speaker described the church as not a building, but a spiritual company of people, which has a divine quality.

When people identify themselves as Christians, they become a sort of personality, he said. In this case, people on the outside can be the best judge.

He said that there is anonymity with the growing population, and that, in the mobile society of the present, one in five families moves every year, causing a great deal of insecurity.

Dr. Johnson said the Church is the community, and as such can provide a solid base and provide security through the Gospel.

The ministers attending were charged to come to grips with today and tomorrow's world.

Christians were pictured as people with a servant attitude, but Dr. Johnson said this factor is "not a weakness but a concern for people."

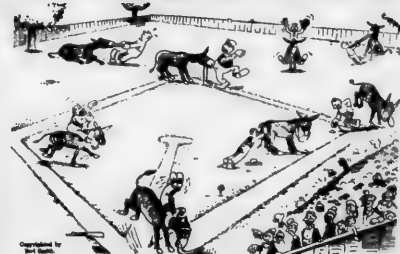

Another big service

Please a Church with this poster and tell the pastor to sponsor the service.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Molly Magee, Mr. Fritz Howarth, Mrs. Shirley McCoun, Mrs. Clara Fogelberg, Mr. John Bovenkamp, Mrs. Mania Reynolds and Mr. Nola Birchall who are all patients in the Kilham Hospital. And to any of our local folk who are under the weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hagen, Susan and Angie and Chris McGowan were camping at Big Lake Park over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Anderson were in Edmonton for a couple of days last week while Holly underwent medical treatment. Don's mother from Drumheller spent a couple of days here with them at the weekend. Kerry stayed with grandparents, the Dick Ericksons.

While her parents were away the Grades 1 to 6 had a lovely afternoon for their track meet last Friday. I think the parents (and others) present enjoyed it as much as the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh were supper guests at the Grand Blazer home in Hilda on Sunday. Grandma Mae came back with the Walshs and stayed until his mother dropped in for him on Monday afternoon.

Also attending the Dick Sparrow wedding in Edmonton last week were Mr. and Mrs. Heli Sparrow, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Bergum and Greg and Patsy Sparrow. Mr. and Mrs. Don Beets of Red Deer were also guests and Don played the drums for the orchestra at the dance which was held in the the Mayfield Inn, not the Mayfair.

Gail and Doug Hinks and Mr. and Mrs. Craig Hinks of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Harbottle of Zambie visited with the Tom Sparrow family and with his grandmother Mrs. Aitchison who lives in Kilham Auxiliary Hospital.

There were seven tables of whist players at the Senior Citizens Card Party at their Drop-In Centre on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Tonia Hinkley and Mr. Henry Jamieson were prize for the highest scores. Congratulations prizes were awarded to Mrs. Lorraine Beattie and Mr. Charlie Lane.

Mrs. Zena Walsh and son Todd of St. Albert spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peterson. They also spent time at the Jim Walsh home where they made a lot of differences in the look of the yard when they got there with two lawnmowers.

Beanie and Debbie Thompson and baby Kristie were down from the city at the weekend visiting Grandma and Gramma. Mrs. Edna is also relative and home.

Visitors at the Monte Keith home at the weekend included Mr. and Mrs. Ruby and Stan Furber, Tony and Marilyn of Red Deer, a nephew, Ruby and Nancy of Edmonton, and Donna and Ken Muehlbauer and Tami of Calgary.

Sedgewick youth has 'narrow miss'

Chris Barker is four years of age, and is alive and well, but he might not be if he hadn't 'parted' his tricycle at the road's edge near Sedgewick Trailer Court, in mid-afternoon on Tuesday last.

The youngster, temporarily left the tricycle while he played elsewhere. Now the tricycle lies in ruins - flattened by an ap truck driver, who backed up, without taking the proper safety precautions.

His parents, Wayne and Laura Barker, are quite upset by the incident, which could have claimed at the age of their son. So are other relatives.

Whoever did the damage, may not know he destroyed a child's play toy, but if proper precautions - adequate rear view mirror coverage, and alertness, had been taken, there wouldn't have been anything to report in the first place.

Two teachers who want to high school at Provost, were honored by fellow teachers, and members of Flagstaff County board of education, at a retirement banquet, Friday, June 5, at Sedgewick Community Hall.

Mrs. Isabel Sandmaier of Foreburg and Mrs. Eleanor Tweedy of Sedgewick were praised for their contributions to the upbringing of this country's future citizens, by Ken Offord, Alberta Teachers' Association district representative.

Mr. Offord spoke of the academic growth, awareness, and personal, emotional and social growth, students had gained from these two teachers.

"Your influence is like the ripples of a pebble thrown into a stream, you don't know how far it extends," the retiree was told.

Mr. V. Meier, local president, who was master of ceremonies, complimented Mrs. Sandmaier and Mrs. Tweedy on reaching the pinnacle of retirement, an event he was looking forward to, but he also warned that retirees are "almost shamed" by some people.

Mrs. Lis Marchand introduced Mrs. Sandmaier and spoke of the value of politeness and consideration, which she instilled into members of her family.

Mrs. Sandmaier who retired in January of this year, said the retirement tribute "brings back memories" of the first five years of her teaching career when she taught in a one-room school house (near Provost), teaching students in Grades 1 to 9.

"It was busy but most gratifying," she said. The highlight of the school year in those days was the Christmas concert, Mrs. Sandmaier stated.

Teaching and family life worked, because of the co-operation of her family, she explained. Three family members are teachers.

Following her marriage in 1944, Mrs. Sandmaier left to raise a family of six children, returning to teaching at Forestburg in 1963 and teaching until the beginning of this year.

A District Guide and Scout Camping Facility is being constructed on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Wieschore.

Teachers honoured

Mrs. Tweedy was introduced by Ken Offord, principal of Sedgewick elementary school, where Eleanor has taught for the last 14 years.

Mrs. Tweedy received praise for being "ever-willing to help" in school activities, and for imparting her knowledge of the community "and her good judgment on several occasions."

Mrs. Sandmaier who retired in January of this year, said the retirement tribute "brings back memories" of the first five years of her teaching career when she taught in a one-room school house (near Provost), teaching students in Grades 1 to 9.

Hardisty Council News

A report was heard from the Auxiliary Board of the Hardisty Council. Letters have been sent to the Flagstaff - Hughenden Hospital Board and the Auxiliary Hospital Board, concerning the possibility of having an auxiliary hospital built in this community.

The committee sent a delegation to the last board meeting in Kilham to present a letter expressing the communities' concerns, regarding an extended care facility.

A few weeks ago the Hardisty school children participated in a Pledge program designed to pick up garbage around town. A reported 220 bags of garbage were collected leaving the town looking much cleaner. The students were paid 80 cents per bag for their effort.

The Lake community was received with many recommendations as follows:

Site rental presently set at $10 per annum will be raised to $25 per annum.

The length of stay for campers at the lake will remain at seven days, with the exception of the two weeks of swimming instruction during July when a stay of 14 days will be acceptable.

He said the $2,000-gallon wooden water tank at Sedgewick Fire Station is city filled to one-third its capacity, due to deterioration.

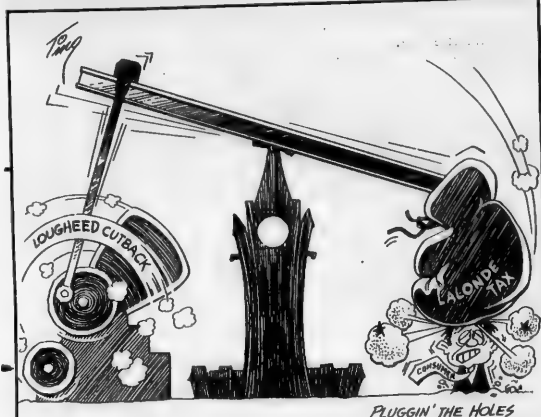

There was a major leak in the tank about a year ago, but it was sealed, and the wooden reservoir was formerly used by the CP Railway in the days of steam engines.

Miss Madate followed the incident, before the decision was reached to install a water system, Mayor Kohli said.

Provincial grants will pay for most of the system in Sedgewick, "but a small balance remaining will be assessed against taxpayers."

The Sisters of St. Joseph have been part of Kilham's lifestyle for 50 years, having that length of service to the community at Kilham Hospital. A fleet, depicting a hospital scene, with the Administrator, Sister Rose Ellen and other staff, was a most fitting entry in the Saturday afternoon parade during Kilham Rodos weekend. "50 Years of Caring" was the theme.

Democracy has its dangers

Democracy - many nations have started wars in their efforts to obtain it, and certainly the benefits of the democratic system can be considered far superior to the life-styles of communist regimes or other forms of dictatorship, such as prevail in many Central and South American countries.

Most Canadians have high standards of living, compared to the "have-not" nations, although statistics which say that this country isn't as close to the top of the list as it once was, mainly because our rate of productivity is shrinking.

But a large number of Canadians can be certainly classified as "affluent", owning modern homes with all the conveniences, and perhaps a cottage and a boat. This in spite of the ever-rising inflation factor.

There is a danger element present in the democratic system, however.

In our quest to attain the "good things in life", we have taken "short cuts". Take chemicals, for instance. Besides providing numerous articles to make life easier, chemicals are used in large quantities to make our crops grow faster and eradicate pesky weeds.

Then we have nuclear power in some provinces which provides cheap electricity to provide manufacturing plants with the energy to turn the wheels of production.

Then there are the necessary methods of transportation, to take the completed goods to the market-place.

Everything appears to fall into its proper niche, doesn't it? What a "perfect" system of government, we have! Wrong!

We as citizens need to be protected from ourselves.

Innumerable organizations have been formulated with the sole purpose in mind - to protect us from ourselves.

Environmentalist groups are gaining in prestige. They have more and more supporters, and even our legislators don't ignore their arguments.

Safety organizations have been around to protect us for years, and important as they should be, are taking a "back seat" to the new breed.

While it is only recently that Alberta has entered the industrial world on a large scale, providing a booming economy, there are pitfalls, too.

For example, the recent chemical plant explosion, near Edmonton, which severely injured several employees; or the Turner Valley "sears" to schoolchildren, supposedly caused by spraying of chemicals, or the accidents on our roadways, involving tanker trucks carrying lethal poisons.

And now the government of Alberta is holding enquiries into noise pollution.

It's certainly quite a democracy - enjoy it while you can.

History book wanted

The Battle River Tourist Association is trying to fill a large gap in its historical library.

Chairman Len Deaton of Killam is trying to collect someone who might be in possession of a book published by Hughenden in 1907.

The Historical Library committee is anxious to obtain a copy of "The Last Years, Buffalo Park to the Neutral Hills".

Mr. Deaton reports that through contact with the County of Flanagan and County of Camrose, three volumes pertaining to the history of both steam- and gas-powered engines had been obtained.

The "Encyclopedia of Gas Tractors" and "Farm Tractors in Color".

Environmentalist groups are gaining in prestige. They have more and more supporters, and even our legislators don't ignore their arguments.

THE MONTH OF JUNE has a lot going for it. Besides setting the time for a change of seasons, the time of marriages and Father's Day, it is also renowned for the month of Graduation from the halls of learning, the time when students lay aside the books and enter into the realm of realism. A time when they must face life in the raw and make some very serious decisions as to what their lives are to be and how spent. In some ways, graduating is the going out for dinner for those who can afford it and even for those who cannot, but go anyway. Here is where the choices are to be made.

VERY LITTLE IMAGINATION is needed to entertain your friends in a public restaurant, when the waiter presents you with a table d'hôte menu; you just sit back and accept whatever is set in front of you. That's one way of going through life. But it is quite another matter when the waiter with a swop of the arm distributes to you and your's a huge great menu card covered with strange hieroglyphics and weird names of the dishes in unpronounceable French, from which you must make your selection. You obviously cannot afford everything, even if you could afford it, and so a careful selection has to be made. This is the other way of going through life.

CHOOSE THE BEST DISH for nourishment and the best course for life, and don't be dragged away from the deliberations. Don't fuss over many choices and end up with nothing; make the deliberate choice and let that be the main course of life. Preserve yourself from false choices. Many are endangered by this, in making a choice and end up with nothing from life's bewildering menu. Life should be a carie. A life of protestation is offered and if life is to have coherent meaning, choices must be made. The table d'hôte is much easier but it never grows a character, for that grows only through choice of belief and behavior.

HOW MUCH HINGES on a choice of career. In a world of increasing opportunity, how are young people settling about that momentous choice, which once made determines the future course of their destiny? Do they look down the menu and choose the most logical and wise the career which seems to offer rich prizes and easy money for very little effort? That is the common way of settling the matter in our crazy society which offers a pittance for dedication and wears a star in a mink and jewels. Do we choose a career that offers security and prestige, or one that will bring out the best in talent.

BY TRUENAC
"I Write as I Please"

THEN THERE IS THE CHOICE of a set of values. In table d'hôte this is all arranged for you. You simply accept the standard of the table d'hôte and you make them the standard of your life. This is not very exciting for respectable social behaviour makes few demands. Remember the fashionable morals of the present time applied the man who beats the income tax, and cheats his firm on expense accounts and never examines the source of his wealth. There are four absolutes: honesty, purity, unselfishness and love. Quibble over them if you will, but they are absolutes. Choose this June who and what you will serve.

CHOICE OF CAREER, choice of values, choice of allegiance. Choice, choice, choice. That's what life is all about. It's all a matter of table d'hôte, making the proper choices. We've all had to make choices in life, and as you leave the halls of learning, this is one of the hard facts of life that will face you now. How you make those choices will frame your future, and each choice will influence future choices. Choose this June what your future will be, and stick to it, for on that depends your future life. May you choose well.

News from Central High

On Tuesday, June 2, the staff of Central High School honored the students who received academic and sports awards. With over 300 parents and students in attendance the evening was once again a great success. Our only regret about the evening was that Mr. Jesewitz, who is sick in the hospital, could not attend. Get well soon, Mr. J!

A new slate of student officers was elected to Student Union for next year and we wish them well in their upcoming term in office. The officers elected were: Renee DeBruin, President; Leona Wagman, Vice-President; Ken Powell, Secretary; Jackie Allen, Treasurer; Tracy Brading, Social Convener; Ken Moore, Boys Sports Rep; Tarrya Seke, Girls Sports Rep.

A strong and active Student Union helps to generate school spirit and we hope this coming year will be no exception. On Friday afternoon, students took part in a Walkathon to raise money for the Students Union. The students

Writes on aging and wins

"Never Stop Living," that is the philosophy of Mrs. Doris Likness of Redwood, who believes that to the fullest.

An ex-teacher, Mrs. Likness took up the challenge of entering a non-fiction article in the Alberta Council On Aging Magazine writer's contest, and came up as the winner in her category.

No newcomer to writing, Mrs. Likness has done "lots and lots of writing," (she was an English teacher), and has had several articles published in the senior section of an Edmonton daily newspaper. She is also a member of Killam Creative Writers Club.

And "Never Stop Living," the title of her submission, exemplifies Mrs. Likness, as she had little difficulty in transferring her thoughts to paper. The Alberta Council On Aging magazine is published by the Alberta government.

Mrs. Likness, in the 800-word article, wrote about the time in her life when she had reached the "90 mark when my teaching career had come to an end."

But recovering quickly from her disappointment, Mrs. Likness was sent as a teacher by the Lutheran Church to Papua, New Guinea (north of Australia) where she spent two years, (1973-75) teaching at the senior high level.

"I was needed and I was respected there," says Mrs. Likness.

She toured Asia en route home and sent back slides to New Guinea. And since then, has made two return visits.

Mrs. Likness reports the people are most lovable—I even have a nickname!

Mrs. Bill Kinghorn and Molly Fernyhough attended some of the games held for the Northern part of Alberta at the Burgess School. Contestants were from as far as Yellowknife, and went to Rocky Mountain House. It was a track meet for retarded children. Ramona and myself also helped at the banquet to the Moose Hall where 180 or 190 children, parents, and supervisors sat down to eat. These games started Thursday morning and finished with a banquet and dance on Friday evening. It was a very happy occasion for these children to get ribbons for their achievements at these games.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Patten of Buck Lake visited their son, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Patten and family last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probst, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Niehaus and daughters, and Molly Fernyhough were super guests last Tuesday at the home of Mr. and

Killam Rodeo successful

Another Killam Rodeo has become history, and the literally hundreds of people who were involved either as participants, spectators, or behind-the-scenes personnel making things work, can now enjoy a respite, in the knowledge that their event can be termed a success.

For many, the annual Saturday noon-hour parade was the highlight with the many tiny youngsters marching along the parade route, capturing the hearts of onlookers.

Winding its way down the Killam's main street, the parade entourage also delighted residents of Killam General and Auxiliary Hospitals and Manitoa Manor, who were brought outside to view the festivities.

Although rodeos have been held in Killam for many years, outdoors as well as indoors at the arena, this was the first event promoted by the Killam Rodeo Association, and was billed as the "first Annual Horse Show". The rodeo was held in conjunction with the Lakeland Amateur Rodeo Association.

An usual, numerous town organizations were staffing the various events which included an early Saturday morning pancake breakfast, noon parade, evening beef barbecue, Queen judging, Competition, and Friday and Saturday evening dances, when "a good time was had by all."

Crowded Killam Rodeo Queen was Angela Blaser, who was sponsored by Strains Skating Club, the place first ahead of six others.

Locals attend Special Games

Last week, the special education classes from Dayland and Sedgewick schools, took part in the Special Games sponsored by the Burgess School of Camrose. It was a first for either of these schools to participate, and by the looks of the children's faces, it won't be the last.

The events started Thursday with registration at the Camrose Lutheran College dorms. At this time the students met others from as far away as Rocky Mountain House, Ponoka, Vegreville, Wetaskiwin and even a team from Yellowknife, N.W.T.

After registration, a delicious hot lunch was served to all the competing athletes. Competing for Dayland were Mr. Oulton's class were Jeff Blaser, Jeff McDevitt, and Danny Rodi competing for Sedgewick's from Miss House's class were Sally Seto, Troy Granger and Kory Osbak. Following the lunch, there was a grand march onto the field, each team carrying its school banner. It was an impressive sight to see the 150 students and their supervisors parading onto the field. Following the grand march, the ceremonies were officially opened by a representative from the city of Camrose. Then, each school was presented with a wooden logo made by the workers at Center

Cam - a vocational workshop.

Following the ceremonies, the track and field events began. All schools were separated into nine different groups. Students took part in the following events: 50 metre run, 100 metre run, running broad jump, broad jump, ball throw, and high jump. Students competed against a certain standard as there were many firsts handed out to the Sedgewick and Dayland teams. Following the events, most teams went back to the dorms to rest for the hot dog roast. Since Sedgewick and Dayland teams were not staying over, they left in order to get enough sleep for Friday's events.

On Friday, the day started with the completion of the track and field events. After that, the students had free time, so were allowed to go to the Jaywalkers' Jamboree. The students certainly enjoyed the Jamboree, especially the rides. After a bag lunch, the students walked over to the Camrose pool for the start of the afternoon events.

At the pool, the students were divided into three groups - swimmers, flitterboards and walkers. Only Troy Granger from Sedgewick school competed in the swimmer's class, and that was allowed to go on the diving boards. Following the events, there was free time for all to enjoy themselves in the warm water. Camrose pool is climate-controlled, so that when one leaves the water, the air temperature is very warm - and one does not get cold.

Following the swimming events, there was time once more to enjoy the Jamboree. Again, the rides were a big attraction. However, the day was not over. A banquet at the Moose hall followed by a dance high-lighted the day's events. A great time was had by all, and was certainly worth it.

Mr. Oulton from Dayland school would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Rodi's family for coming to see the students participate, and Mrs. Heister for the loan of her car so that the students could go on Thursday. Miss House from Sedgewick school would like to thank Mrs. Heather Ackersville for assisting in supervision, as well as Mrs. Carol Granger, and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Osbak who drove, and watched the students participate. Special thanks must also go to Mrs. Eleanor Tweedy who helped make Sedgewick's banner. Without their help, neither school would have been able to do so well.

"Trinity Sound"

Is a musical team with a message. Gary and Doreen Kerychuk have been singing gospel music for over ten years. They enjoy singing and this comes through remarkably clear in their presentation. They will be presenting an evening of Gospel Music June 18 at Kilham Pentecostal Church at 8:00 p.m. The picnic is invited to attend.

"Trinity-Sound" have sung in auditoriums, camps, churches of different denominations, prisons, schools, open air meetings, and concerts in many parts of Canada. Music has always communicated with everyone in some way, in some style and their singing whether by the use of soundtrack or with Doreen's piano accompaniment will touch the heart. Their singing will leave an inspiring impression that will linger long past the concert.

They will be singing this one night only in the area, so don't miss this opportunity to hear and meet "Trinity-Sound", one of Canada's best loved gospel singing teams.

M.L.A. Report

The Session ended on June 2, 1981. In total, there were 34 bills given royal assent. These bills were from many departments of the government. Also, there were seven private members' bills passed, including my Private Bill, the Katherine Jean Jackson Adoption Act. I will now be taking a short break to attend to some committee work.

On Monday, June 1, my wife and I attended the official opening of the new Viking Hospital. It is a very well designed hospital and it displays considerable planning and concern by the local board and staff. It looks very functional.

It is always nice to see any new hospital open, but it is especially nice to know that we are having so many rural hospitals replaced. Even though special services are normally located in the large city hospitals, the rural hospitals, in my view, give by far the best patient care. It is far more personal, and we are not treated for a specific condition, but as a whole person.

I must apologize to the people in the Viking area for dashing away, the moment the ribbon was cut. I had to get back to the Legislature to move the Adoption Bill that I was sponsoring in the House.

I had not been more than ten seconds at my desk in the House when they called for the motion. My Private Bill was given royal assent, which means that Walter Smart will be able to adopt his wife's 18-year-old daughter.

I am very pleased that this situation was resolved and that I was able to assist my constituents. The fall Session will probably start in late October. In the meantime, please feel free to contact me in Vermilion at 863-4322, or at my Edmonton office at 427-3858. Lloyd Seath at the Vermilion office will be able to advise you of my whereabouts, if you cannot contact me. Tom Lysons.

Hardisty

Homecoming plans

Hardisty Drop-In Centre was the gathering place on June 3, for another meeting of Hardisty Homecoming Committee.

From reports, a truly successful week-end in the making. Peter Gray reported he had contacted local organizations - re-obtaining chairs and tables. After giving his report, Peter said he would have to resign because he would not be here for the two weeks prior to the homecoming.

Darlene Sloan, speaking on entertainment, said up, but they can still use some "talent" volunteers. Carol Bourque obtained the services of Wayne

(the cat) for the Saturday night teen dance.

President Vera Hendricks asked if she would also find some youth to work Saturday afternoon, evening, and Sunday morning, to assist the caterer.

Homecoming Committee has obtained the services of an Edmonton caterer that weekend.

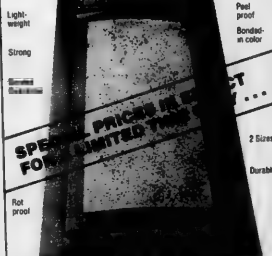

All organizations in the area will be contacted to see if they will donate squares to be served at registration and if one or more persons from each will volunteer to work.

The next meeting will be Monday, June 22. Men are asked to turn out as their assistance is greatly needed.

Zone 1 of the Royal Canadian Legion held its annual golf outing at Sedgewick Golf Club on Sunday, and the Killam team compiled the low score for three players. Lloyd Franks, Dennis Strebel and Colin McLennan receive the championship trophy from Zone Commander Arnold Gilroy of Oshawa.

Killam Legion wins golf

Golfers from Killam Branch 65 took the silverware at the annual Zone 1 Royal Canadian Legion Golf Tournament, hosted Sunday at Sedgewick Golf Club, by Branch 65.

The trio of Lloyd Franks, 67, Dennis Strebel, 64, and Colin McLennan, 61, combined to give their Branch the best team score.

Other members of the Killam entry were Joe Prince, Doug Bangle, Gordon Hamann, Gordon Elker and Wally Parcell.

Doug Bangle of Killam managed the best score with handicap of 73, thanks to two holes when 18 strokes were required before the golf ball found its destination.

Dennis Strebel of Killam scored a drive of 38 yards to reach the longest drive, while Yagvar Fadem of Bawld had the longest putt, a mere 18 inches from the cup. Mr. Fadem had the best score without handicap of 65, and his wife, Marie, took the ladies' division with a score of 74.

Provincial Building chances not great

Chances of Sedgewick getting a Provincial Building "are not great," M.L.A. Yon Lysons reported, at Tuesday's annual meeting of Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Lysons said that in many areas, people rent space to the government, and admitted that he himself is "under pressure," when the topic of a Provincial Building is raised.

The Vermilion-Viking M.L.A. urged citizens not to give up the struggle however, but to write to heads of the various governments, who would in turn, contact him.

Previously, Mr. Lysons said that to accomplish anything lobbying started from the top down, but this now appears to have changed.

Business development in every small centre has become "aggressive" due to the fact that the new young blood, and this included small towns, "are entering a new era," he said.

While some business in small towns emanates from outside firms, Sedgewick.

He concluded by saying, "If we lose our constitutional rights, we may have lost it, anyway."

Church formed in 1906

On January 8, 1906, sixteen men of the recently settled Norwegian district, north of Loughheed, met to discuss their spiritual needs.

As a result of that meeting, Trinity Lutheran Church congregation was formed.

From that day to this, Trinity has been an integral part of the community.

To mark that founding, the congregation will celebrate their 75th anniversary on June 27 next.

Many former pastors, parishioners, and friends will be in attendance.

Pictures and artifacts of the church history and the short term of its existence will be on display.

Sedgewick Town Council Report 1981 taxes increased

Taxes: Year 1981 property tax notices were to be sent out prior to June 15th. At the meeting held on May 14th, the 1981 budget was finalized. The levy for residential property will be 19.86 Mills, and the levy for commercial property will be 25.07 Mills.

A breakdown is as follows:

- Municipal Purposes - 9.53 Mills.
- School Foundation Reimbursement - 4.87 Mills.
- School Supplementary Reimbursement - 5.50 Mills.
- Flagstaff Lodge Reimbursement - 4.33 Mills.
- Recreation - 2.44 Mills.
- Planning Fund Reimbursement - 0.15 Mills.

Residential Property is not subject to the School Foundation Levy. While these mill rates are much lower than last year's, due to the change in our assessment, which was completed last year, your property taxes will in almost every instance be increased. But you will find that the increase for all purposes is less than half of the taxes which is obligated to collect.

A contractor has been selected, and the contract awarded to Lawrence Construction (Western) Ltd., to put in the main, service lines, and Greene Construction Co. Ltd. to construct the storage reservoir and pump house. Construction is expected to commence about July 1st.

Natural Gas

Your gas bill will be increased 15 cents per unit as a result of the Federal Excise Tax levied in regards to the importation of the Canadian Ownership Charge (purchase of Petrobras).

A delegation attended the meeting regarding their beautification program, and the installation of street lights from Highway 13 along Amber Street to the northern limits of the mobile home block. This matter will receive further consideration when final inspection is available from Calgary Power, and if approved, will be debentured in conjunction with the raising of Railway Avenue.

Sedgewick Lake

Campground inspection has been done by Tourism. This site has good potential but vandalism still presents a problem.

Residential-Purpose Trailers

Re Rental - Purchases: Committee recommendations have been received and after further consideration, and a check into the legal involvement and requirements, a decision will be reached.

Bin Bom Boom, a clown trio from the Moscow Circus entertained children and adults at Sedgewick Community Hall, Monday evening. Pipe balancing, spinning of plates, juggling and magic tricks provided laughter and amusement. The event was sponsored by Flagstaff Players.

Identity needed with views

Many well-intentioned people want to go through life carrying out an anonymous role, in which they are nothing but "a face in the crowd".

And if that is their philosophy, then they are welcome to it.

There is the philanthropist - the person who does good for his fellow man, usually by means of a direct financial contribution. And surprisingly, a few of this breed still exists in this money-mad world, who don't want the publicity, which the media is more than willing to give.

Their giving is done from the heart.

We know of many people who contribute to the community, other ways than financially, through participation. Many give of their labours freely, and are unwilling to accept the credit due to them. They would prefer to be anonymous, as well.

There are the authors, who resort to the use of pseudonyms - names other than their own. We don't happen to agree with that.

Nor do we agree with the anonymous letter-writer, who expresses concern about a particular topic, but prefers to remain unknown.

The policy of this newspaper, pertaining to the use of unsigned letters has been made known to the public on numerous occasions. No signature, no publicity for your point of view.

We will publish a letter, however, if the author makes him/herself known to us, and wishes to retain anonymity.

Just this past week, a Letter to the Editor was received bearing only a "pen name" but with no accompanying signature.

The writer scores some good points on the topic chosen, but unless we receive a name, we aren't handing out the points. In this instance, the letter writer felt he or she had a viewpoint to contribute to the community. We must deprive the public of the opportunity to share these feelings unless "Concerned Driver" comes forward.

Letters on any subject are solicited, but again may we remind you, "name, please".

What Others Say

So what if you are square

While attending a recent baseball game in which the Edmonton Trappers were trying to score a few runs against a tough Seattle squad, an incident took place which would have shook the heart and soul of almost anyone if they had been paying attention.

Prior to the game beginning, all in attendance were asked to stand for the respective National anthems. A group of young men remained sitting and when a teenager stood for the music he was rebuked by the sitting group.

"Don't be so square, you don't have to stand for that junk anymore!"

What the heck is wrong with being square. Is it so wrong to stand for the playing of any National Anthem? There was a time when being square was the best position to be in. Remember the days when getting a square deal was the rule rather than the exception. Getting a square meal meant a full and hearty plate of food. A square shooter meant a fellow would treat you with the respect and honesty that you expected. The village of town square was the meeting place of many of our early settlers so they could find out what was going on in the community.

However, it seems that now, being square, means you are out of touch with what is really going on in our society. Being square means that you're slow in understanding the real things which make up our lifestyle. Many people are always trying to play the angles, as though that is the only way to make their mark in life. Playing the angles used to be words used by George Raft and Edward G. Robinson in the early gangster movies and everybody knows what happens to gangsters.

Every day, it is not very hard to find some guy or gal playing the angles to get ahead or at least have something their neighbor hasn't got. Maybe, being a dumb square provides some degree of humor for a certain segment of the population, but by the end of the day, it is not hard to look at yourself in the eye and say, "Hey, I was a good person today!" The Third Column

BY THURSDAY
"I Write as I Please"

STUBBORNNESS. Now there's a nice cozy little word that sits well with most of us. You don't think so eh? Well, maybe not cozy in a true sense but at least one that fits in well as a familiar trait that rides along comfortably with most of us. If you still aren't convinced then listen to a detailed summary of its meaning, compiled by those who are wiser and more tuned-in than most of us. It derived from the base word stubborn, which means in essence, unreasonable obstinate; inflexibly fixed in opinion; not to be moved or persuaded by reasoning; inflexible. That simply describes what we are like if we are stubborn, and if we are such then we possess stubbornness and if we have it then we are unyielding, obstinate, headstrong and to the point of being pigheaded; and one who is obstinate makes of us one who will not yield to the appeals made to reason and better feelings, and one who is stubborn grows more obstinate and the more clearly his unreasonable is exposed, and the more powerfully his feelings are addressed.

THAT'S WHY we hear so many arguments going on around us today. We are all comfortably cozy with our own opinions and will not desert for fear of losing face and being considered a no-nothing; something none of us is ever going to accept graciously. Of course most of our little set-sets are of a minor nature and if both of us walk away convinced that we were the undisputed winner nothing very earthshaking is going to result. All that comes of it is that each one believes the other is a stupid clod. We Westerners are considered by the more cultured to be rather cloddish and not having too much above the clavicle; that we shoot from the lip most of the time and miss the target all of the time. We are stubborn in the lower ranks where the repercussions have only an indirect effect. It is when cloddish stubbornness rears its ugly head in those we trust to carry out our wishes and act with decor in setting up the public scene for our good and not for our own selfishness.

IF I WERE TO BE ASKED to choose the two most stubborn persons in our country today, I would almost have to be obliged to pick Marc Lalonde and Merv Leitch, who have whitened down a virtual forest in their unrelenting pursuit, not of settling important issues, but of pursuing a self-made policy with such unrelenting stubbornness that even charcoal to which the most obstinate mule yield has no effect, so hardened and so obstinate have their stances become. They both exhibit before public view the essence of stubbornness. They both know what their unrelenting stances are doing to the economy and they both know what this is doing to the frayed nerves of the people and the uncertainty being created across the nation. There is absolutely no reason why the economy should be in the condition it is today, except that those supposedly in charge are being led instead of leading, and if you haven't got good lead horses you might just as well leave the reaper in the shed. That's where it is today.

OF COURSE one can't make La-

Londe and Leitch the repository of all our animosity for after all they are taking their shooting orders from the higher ups. Loughheed and Trudeau who supply the ammunition and hire the two L's to do the shooting. Between them they make up a quartet that makes a lot of noise, but is not very pleasing to the delicate ears of the listeners because they're so out of tune that the harshness grates, and the only desire is to tune them out. Perhaps the time has arrived to do just that and go on to more pleasant tunes.

THE ONLY PROBLEM as I see it, is that there doesn't seem to be anybody backstage who has been tuned in and is ready and capable to step into the breach and carry the act to a successful conclusion.

Bishop to visit parish

Deanna Martin
A very special honor is to be paid to the Parish of St. Edmund's this weekend, when our bishop, the Rt. Rev. E. Kent Clarke, pays his second visit to us. Services of Holy Communion will take place in 4 points. Bishop will begin the day with a service in Sedgewick, followed by services in Hughton and Hardisty, with the final service of the day at Kilian.

The Bishop is still talking about the wonderful warm reception he received in St. Edmund's last November, so let's not disappoint him. A pot-luck supper in his honour will be held in St. John's Parish Hall, Sedgewick, at 5 p.m. Bring along your favorite dish, and join us.

The annual St. Edmund's picnic at Shorncliffe Park last Sunday afternoon lived up to highest expectation. The day began with a well-attended church service. The traditional ball game between the Angels and the Devils once again ended in a 11-1 tie. It's amazing the way the forces of evil never quite get the upper hand no matter how hard they try. But they get closer this time.

This year the rampaging rector had to enlist the aid of his entire family - including all the grandchildren and even his mother - to keep those Devils down.

A peanut scramble, races and lots of good food brought the day to a successful close.

At St. John's, Sedgewick, on June 28th, in the evening, five young Girl Guides will be receiving their Religion in Life badge. The girls and the Rev. Conrad have been working hard, and they are to be warmly congratulated for the achievement of their goal.

Guests at the Conrad home on the weekend were the Terry Brow-take family, the Cathy Schlosser family, the Rich Conrad family, and of course, Ted Lister. They gathered to say goodbye to Mrs. Doyle Young, Richard's mother, who has now returned to her home in Bridgewater, Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Young had a very pleasant stay in St. Edmund's and has even subscribed to The Community Press to keep up with the wanderings of Richard and his first. However, she would like to make it known that, contrary to the information erroneously communicated in this column her name is not Dora. Her name is Estelle. Our apologies.

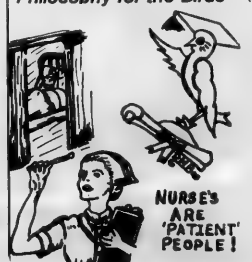

We wish a speedy recovery to Ron Picton in Dayland Hospital. He suffered an accidental injury at St. Edmund's picnic.

Get well wishes to Kilian Hospital patients Lorraine Rose, Mrs. Clary Clark, Ned Butcher, John Craig, Ida Mae Brodie, and Catherine McKee.

Deanna Roggenack and Nancy Otto are patients in Edmonton's University Hospital.

Letters to the Editor

The following views on the natural resources, which the Hardisty area has, and projects to promote the town, are mentioned in the following letter from Hardisty Chamber of Commerce. The writer suggests that although Hardisty is mentioned specifically, some of the thoughts expressed will apply to many communities.

Dear Editor: Every person living in a rural area or small town, in hopes that their area will not only survive, but maintain an orderly growth. Everyone expects a business closing, or a service being withdrawn in favor of larger centres. Each town works in the best way they think is best to attempt to attract people to the town, not just to shop, but to live and take part in the community life.

Recently, Woods-Garden Consulting firm, made a study for the Tourism and Small Business branch and reported, that although many think in terms of minerals or agriculture, or lumbering when they speak of resources, the fact is that "people" are our greatest resource and that East Central Alberta was a prime area for the development of tourism.

The Alberta government recognizes this, and has put thousands of dollars into tourism to attract "people". Campsites, parks, museums, literature, and leaflets, radio and TV advertising - all to attract "people".

Individual towns promote tourism by holding special events during the year; land donated and maintained for parks and recreation, such brochures printed and distributed to other areas.

It is the Hardisty area are richly blessed with reasons for tourists to come to our area. We have one of the finest potentials, for attracting tourists, in the province. It is difficult to find a more picturesque landscape than the rolling hills with towers winding around lakes, filled with water for the planters, owners and visited by many species of game and wildlife.

Hardisty Lake has always been an attraction, with its sandy beaches, and peacocks at atmosphere. Now, Fish Lake has also been made into a camping spot with benches, picnic tables, outdoor stoves and a boat dock in the lake. Both Lake park has been approved, and will shortly be a viable reality.

The Chamber of Commerce in Hardisty has been attempting to promote the area for some time. They sponsor beautiful year's projects to promote interest in beautifying the town, they placed planters filled with flowers on main street. Their time and effort resulted in the great for Devonian Park at the end of main street, which turned a neglected area into a resource. We are excited to see the fact that "people" are our greatest resource and that East Central Alberta was a prime area for the development of tourism.

SUNDAY, JUNE 28

Gretna Ladies Club

The Gretna Ladies Club met at the home of Rita Hase in Forestburg on June 17 with six members and three visitors in attendance. Meeting proceeded in the usual manner and business on hand dealt with. We had a notice from the D.R.E. on the "Farm Women's Week" to be held in July. The president asked for the opinions of those present on cancelling the July meeting, and due to holidays and visitors, it was agreed to have no meeting in July.

One of our members in hospital and all present signed a card to go to her. Hope you're home soon, Christine.

A flower bling was put on by Helen Sutherland. Winners were Marlene Simpson, Rita Hase, Mary Rombough, and Emmie McKenzie.

Emmie showed us some lovely slides of a Community Centre and a party at Bellville and also of the gardens, shrubs, and flowers at Adamson's.

The roll call on "Fathers" brought out interesting readings and many fond memories.

The next meeting is to be held at Helen O'Reilly on August 12. Roll call "What we did in July." A lovely lunch was served and we enjoyed visiting. Mrs. Rumbach was the raffie, and also had the "Lucky Cup."

Have a good holiday, folks, and see you all in August.

Agriplex swimming workshop

Synchronized swimming can be defined as "water ballet" and for each person has a great time for time spent on worthy causes and may not be able to help in person, but we feel that many would like to help promote our town.

The Chamber of Commerce is not considered to be a "non-profit" organization, we are restricted from raising funds, in many ways open to other groups.

We are asking any group or individual, rural or urban, who wants to see Hardisty promoted to become an active member, or sponsor, or offer financial support, for the Chamber of Commerce, to that group projects continue and some excellent future ideas may come about.

The government can see the potential and value in promoting the area for tourism. Towns of Hardisty have seen it too, and we are each group and individual need only be asked to help, as they are in the best position to make it happen.

Keeping in Touch with Arnold Malone

The politicians and administrators for the city want to dramatically increase the size of Edmonton's Corporate boundaries. I can appreciate the many reasons these future planners will have for seeking control over a land area that will greatly enhance corporate planning to the year 2000 and beyond.

I wish them well in acquiring land upon which they may plan and develop, however, the use of this article is to argue that the land they seek should be protected from urban growth and be owned by the provincial government for agricultural production.

The land they should receive is close, but elsewhere.

Canadians generally have been clinging to a dangerous myth that we have an abundance of agricultural land. That belief is false. By the year 2000, the major issue in Canada will not be the nation's constitution or energy pricing, but rather our ability to produce food for domestic consumption; let alone the luxury of a large export market.

Let's look at the facts. Today there is one acre of agricultural land for every citizen on earth. In Canada, there are three acres of agricultural land for every Canadian. However, at the present rate with which Canadians are permanently removing farm land from food production, there will only be 1/4 of an acre of agricultural land for every Canadian by the year 2000.

That trend, for our own survival, must be stopped.

Our problem originates with the fact that Canada has developed as an agrarian society. At the time of Confederation, over 90 per cent of Canadians lived on farms. Today we have a population of nearly 24 million people of whom 73.3 per cent live in cities; 30 per cent live in rural non-farm settings and only 1.5 per cent live on farms.

Important to our understanding of the impending "food production-food demand" crunch is the fact that the majority of cities are located in the midst of our most productive soils.

Today, more than one half of the original farm lands of Ontario have been permanently destroyed by urban sprawl and industrialization.

As to the prairie, the cities of Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina, Lethbridge, Red Deer, Edmonton, and Grande Prairie are all built in the middle of old geological lake beds, a silted soil of very high agricultural value.

Therefore, every major city except Calgary and Medicine Hat is developing on prime agricultural lands.

This phenomenon began by the fact that the early pioneers established their communities where the popular trees grew large, tall, and straight. The highly productive land yielded a flourishing local economy that enlarged the villages to towns and towns to cities.

The end result of all this natural growth is that our cities are situated where our farms should be. The restriction of semi-restricted agricultural hinterlands has left few cities even though 90 per cent of Canada's land area is grossly hindered in its ability to produce food.

The end result of our agrarian history is that 90 per cent of Canada's class one soil is within 10 miles of our country's largest 10 cities.

If Canada's present rate of farm land destruction is not significantly altered, we will at best lose an additional 7 million acres of agricultural land by the year 2000, and at worst 15 million acres.

It was found that urban growth around Edmonton irreversibly consumed 25,000 acres of food arable land between 1966-1973, and during the same period, Calgary's growth claimed 15,100 acres of prime land.

It should be noted that the average annual wheat production from the 40,000 acres consumed by these two cities would supply the grain requirements for 250,000 people for one year, in an underdeveloped area where three-quarters of the people's caloric intake amounts to 0.33 kilograms of food grain per day.

Continuing with the fact policies that have been used in Canada will mean that every time our population grows by 1,000 people, about 300 hectares (741 acres) of land will be lost to urban use. If we practice a policy of proper zoning then Canada's present agricultural land has the capability of producing food for 50 million people.

If we remain blind to the present trends, we will not be able to feed our own. In Alberta, 50 million acres are used for crop and livestock production, but only four per cent of that acreage is prime number one soil and most of that neighbours our larger cities.

Edmonton's application for corporate expansion would, however, increase the land area of the city six times and blanket 78 square miles of present and potential farmland.

The new enlarged city would destroy forever, 468,000 acres of farmable land, the vast majority of which is amongst the highest of agricultural quality.

What is needed is a land policy that treats agriculture as a priority; deserving of protection. Near Edmonton is a very large agricultural region that could easily host the city the size of Toronto. Also, the Cooking Lake Moraine could be utilized for higher density populations without destroying valuable farmland.

To be sure, we cannot point our fingers at Edmonton's city fathers for wanting to seek efficiency. That's their job. In every nation in the world where agricultural zoning is practised it has come as a result of legislation at the national, or state/provincial level.

Citizens must continue to report to themselves that there are only two sources to human food, one is soil and the other is water. Within a world where 12,800 children a day under the age of five, die of starvation and 70 million people per year suffer permanent and irreversible brain damage from a lack of protein, our moral conscience must dictate an obligation to protect our sources of food production.

Moreover, in a world that must need an additional 77 million mouths every year, there is no farmland that can justly be taken from production without the highest tests of scrutiny.

The history of the world's early civilizations is a story of destroyed farm lands. That is the legend of the Tigris-Euphrates-Taurus and most of the Roman Empire.

Once their land was destroyed citizens simply relinquished new lands and moved on. Today that option does not exist.

The sad irony is that while the people of Canada have yet to learn the proper value of farm and, the citizens of Holland have built much of their country with a system of dikes and pumps through an eleven-year process of making salt water into land.

We must act before it's too late because tomorrow will be terribly unforgiving.

Area farmers in satellite survey

Up to 600 randomly chosen farmers in the Peace River region of Alberta and British Columbia will be asked to participate in a satellite survey of their crop district 4A will keep a record of the "harvest" this summer.

Crop district 4A includes the communities of Sedgewick, Stettin, Coronation, and Provost. The farmers will be taking part in a highly technical crop acreage survey by satellite.

The farmer's part in the whole business comes between June 26 and July 27 when about 25 enumerators spread out across the area involved to carry out a detailed survey of farm operation known as the Farm Enumeration Survey.

In 30 of the farmers selected for the detailed enumeration survey will be asked to take five or 10 extra minutes of time to look over an aerial photograph of a one by three mile block of land covering all, or part of his farm.

He will be asked to identify the crop in each of his fields that appear in the aerial photo. Acreage of each crop will also be requested.

From the information given by the farmers, the computer using the satellite images will "translate" the "harvest" to identify certain fields. Images covering several thousand square miles of farmland can presumably, then be accurately tallied by the reconnaissance satellite-computer combination.

The project, if successful, will greatly reduce the expense and time involved in taking farm crop surveys.

Greater accuracy is also a likely result.

Residents keeping Loughheed in trim

It is nice to know the vacant lots are getting moved as well as residents keeping their lawns beautiful. So still, there is lots to be done. It keeps one busy, just moving the lawn in all these places.

Anyway, let us do our part to keep our town clean, trimmed, and garbage put where it should be.

when they are left there overnight. It would avoid serious accidents to children.
